THE Globe's exposure of the unfair system of assessment for personal taxes, that prevails in Toronto, is sure to bear fruit. The Trades' and Labor Council demand that a thorough revision of the assessment rolls be made in order to distribute the burdens of assessment equitably. As things are now, the laboring man has to bear a great deal more than his fair share of taxation. If all persons liable to pay income tax, were to be assessed to the full extent of their responsibility, a great portion of the burden would be lifted from the shoulders of the poorer taxpayers. It is hard enough for a hardworking laborer or mechanic to support his family in comfort and pay his own fair share of taxes, without paying the taxes of his wealthy fellow citizens, who lives on the interest of his money, and whose income is not easily ascertainable for purposes of taxation. The taxes must come anyway, and if the rich won't honestly admit his income, then the poor man has to make up the deficiency. Either the law or the practice, or both, should be so amended that the poor man will not be compelled to pay the rich man's taxes.

Civic Holiday

How it will be Spent—A Large List of Attractions.

By enactment of the town council to-morrow, Thursday, August 19th, is set apart as the annual civic holiday, a day of rest from the cares of business, and it becomes loyal citizens to observe the day as a public and general holiday, to be devoted to whatever pleasures are most agreeable. With characteristic energy the citizens have in several ways united to provide a programme of attractions that will please the most exacting.

The P. A. A. A. excursion to Sturgeon Point and Orillia leaves the G. T. R. depot at 7.30, and no doubt will be largely patronized by the pleasure seeking public. The P. A. A. A. Cricket Club will go along and will have a field engagement with the Orillia club.

The C. P. R. will run a $2 excursion to Toronto, while the G. T. R. offers reduced rates to parties wishing to travel east or west.

The steamer Golden Eye will make her usual Thursday trip to Idyl Wild and Harwood, leaving the wharf at 8 a.m.

During the forenoon, beginning at ten o'clock, the Gun Club will hold their weekly shoot at Riverside Park.

The chief attraction in town will be the lacrosse match between the Riversides and the Athletics of Madoc. This match will be the best of the season, and of course will be largely witnessed. The Fire Brigade Band will escort the rival teams to the field, leaving the Grand Central about two o'clock, and will provide music during the afternoon. At the conclusion of the match a series of athletic sports will be entered into, for which valuable trophies will be given.

In addition to these a number of private undertakings of a picnic nature will be in order. Indications point to a gay and lively day.

Poisoned by Weeds.

On Friday Mr. John Carnegie lost a valuable Jersey cow and calf by some unknown cause. The cattle seemed to be dull during the day and drank an unusually large quantity of water. On examining the contents of the animals' stomachs, a veterinary surgeon gave it as his opinion that the cattle had eaten freely of some poisonous weed.

The Coming Holiday.

On Thursday next many citizens are going out of town and a considerable number will doubtless take in the cheap excursion to Toronto. Train leaves 8.30 a.m. Return fare only two dollars, the tickets being good for two days. Alex. Elliott, C. P. R. agency, George street, will supply intending excursionists with tickets, and as only a limited number will be issued, early application is desirable. No crowding, promptness, and civility will characterize this excursion. Parties who prefer doing so can leave by the morning express, 5.30 a.m. No better chance for seeing your friends or for doing business in the Queen City will offer itself for some months to come. Therefore, be on hand on the Civic Holiday, Thursday, August 19th, and start on your pleasant journey by the well-known C. P. R. road, having a ticket in your pocket and a dollar or so for "incidentals." Return tickets, $2; children, half price.

Smoked Out.

A Canadian American and former resident of Peterborough, who, in company with a jolly companion, is visiting town, was made the victim of a cruel joke on Tuesday, which joke was worked by a number of his intimate friends. An official looking young man called at his hotel and served him with a summons to appear as a witness in a Scott Act case. As he read the document his jaw dropped and from his lips fell words of—not wisdom—but of indigestion, wrath and malediction. The bearer of the paper was offered a dollar to take it to—the infermer, (under a different name.) The would'nt-be witness then prepared for a speedy flight to the Rocky Mountains or Millbrook. After packing his trunk he sought counsel of his companions, who advised flight from the trouble to come, at the same time sympathizing with him in his affliction—they, or some of them, had been in the same box themselves, and one or two in the witness box. The victim of the joke farewelled his friends and the town of his nativity, and would not be comforted. Just as he was about to leave he explained to his landlord, who was in the intrigue. The landlord said the best and safest way to settle the matter would be to set up the cigars for the boys, who were patiently waiting outside. "A —— joke," he cried. "I'd set 'em up a dozen times to get out of this." That's why the streets were so smokey during the afternoon All's well now, but for goodness sake don't say I told you.

"Advertising the Town"

In Tuesday's impression we gave space to a letter referring to "Advertising the Town." With the first position assumed we cannot altogether agree, for it cannot be denied that a full page illustrated (though not in the highest style of the engraver's art) advertisement setting forth the industries and resources of the town, and having the advantage of the extensive circulation of Saturday's Mail, must have an immense effect in drawing the attention of the public to our position and advantages. The suggestion contained in the latter part of the letter, meets with our ideas of a judicious means of advertising the town. A pamphlet of the kind suggested, would be what printers call a "standing ad," and would be more permanently beneficial than a newspaper advertisement. The city of Brantford issued a very fine pamphlet of the kind recently, and if such a one were gotten up on behalf of Peterborough, no doubt the town would reap substantial advantage therefrom.

CHAPTER XLII.

LADY DARRELL'S WILL.

Two years passed away, and Sir Vane St. Lawrence's circumstances were rapidly improving; his letters were constant and cheerful—he spoke always of the time when he should come home and claim Pauline for his wife. She only sighed as she read the hopeful words, for she had resolved that duty should be her watchword while Lady Darrell lived—even should that frail, feeble life last for fifty years, she would never leave her.

There came to her chill doubts and fears, dim vague forebodings that she should never see Vane again—that their last parting was forever; not that she doubted him, but that it seemed hopeless to think he would wait until her hair was gray, and the light of her youth had left her.

Never mind—she had done her duty; she had sinned, but she had made the noblest atonement possible for her sin.

Two years had passed, and the summer was drawing to a close. To those who loved and tended her it seemed that Lady Darrell's life was closing with it. Even Lady Hampton had ceased to speak hopefully, and Darrell Court was gloomy with the shadow of the angel of death.

There came an evening when earth was very lovely—when the gold of the spring sun, the breath of the western wind, the fragrance of the flowers, the ripple of the fountains, the song of the birds, were all beautiful beyond words to tell; and Lady Darrell, who had lain watching the smiling summer heavens, said:

"I should like once more to see the sun set, Pauline. I should like to sit at the window, and watch the moon rise."

"So you shall," responded Pauline. "You are a fairy queen. You have but to wish, and the wish is granted."

Lady Darrell smiled—no one ever made her smile except Pauline; but the fulfillment of the wish was not so easy after all. Lady Hampton's forebodings were realized. Lady Darrell might have recovered from her long, serious illness but that her mother's complaint, the deadly inheritance of consumption, had seized upon her, and was gradually destroying her.

It was no easy matter now to dress the wasted figure; but Pauline seemed to have the strength, the energy of twenty nurses. She was always willing, always cheerful, always ready; night and day seemed alike to her; she would look at her hands, and say:

"Oh! Elinor, I wish I could give you one-half my strength—one-half my life!"

"Do you? Pauline, if you could give me half your life, would you do so?"

"As willingly as I am now speaking to you," she would answer.

They dressed the poor lady, whose delicate beauty had faded like some summer flower. She sat at the window in a soft nest of cushions which Pauline had prepared for her, her wasted hands folded, her worn face brightened with the summer sunshine. She was very silent and thoughtful for some time, and then Pauline, fearing that she was dull, knelt in the fashion that was usual to her at Lady Darrell's feet, and held the wasted hands in hers.

"What are you thinking about, Elinor?" Pauline asked. "Something as bright as the sunshine?"

Lady Darrell smiled.

"I was just fancying to myself that every blossom of that white magnolia seemed like a finger beckoning me away," she said; "and I was thinking also how full of mistakes life is, and how plainly they can be seen when we come to die."

Pauline kissed the thin fingers. Lady Darrell went on.

"I can see my own great mistake, Pauline. I should not have married Sir Oswald. I had no love for him—not the least in the world; I married him only for position and fortune. I would have taken your warning, and not have come between your uncle and you. His resentment would have died away, for I am quite sure that he loved her; he loved you; he would have forgiven you, and I should have had a happier, longer life. That was my mistake—my one great mistake. Another was that I had a certain kind of doubt about poor Aubrey. I cannot explain it; but I know that I doubted him even when I loved him, and I should have waited some time before placing the whole happiness of my life in his hands. Yet it seems hard to pay for those mistakes with my life, does it not?"

And Pauline, to whom all sweet womanly tenderness seemed to come by instinct, soothed Lady Darrell with loving words until she smiled again.

"Pauline," she said, suddenly, "I wish to communicate something to you. I wish to tell you that I have made my will, and have left Darrell Court to you, together with all the fortune Sir Oswald left me. I took your inheritance from you once, dear; now I restore it to you. I have left my aunt, Lady Hampton, a thousand a year; you will not mind that—it comes back to you at her death."

"I do not deserve your kindness," said Pauline, gravely.

"Yes, you do; and you will do better with your uncle's wealth than I have done. I have only been dead in life. My heart was broken—and I have had no energy. I have done literally nothing; but you will act differently, Pauline—you are a true Darrell, and you will keep up the true traditions of your race. In my poor, feeble hands they have all fallen through. If Sir Vane returns, you will marry him; and, oh! my darling, I wish you a happy life. As for me, I shall never see the sun set again."

The feeble voice died away in a tempest of tears; and Pauline, frightened, made haste to speak of something else to change the current of her thoughts.

But Lady Darrell was right. She never saw the sun set or the moon rise again—the frail life ended gently as a child falls asleep. She died the next day, when the sun was shining its brightest at noon; and her death was so calm that they thought it sleep.

She was buried, not in the Darrell vault, but, by Pauline's desire, in the pretty cemetery at Audleigh Royal. Her death proved no shock, for every one had expected it. Universal sympathy and kindness followed her to her grave. The short life was ended, and its annals were written in sand.

Lady Hampton had given way; her old dislike of Pauline had changed into deep admiration of her sweet, womanly virtues, her graceful humility.

"If any one had ever told me," she said, "that Pauline Darrell would have turned out as she has, I could not have believed it. The way in which she devoted herself to my niece was wonderful. I can only say that in my opinion she deserves Darrell Court."

The legacy made Lady Hampton very happy; it increased her income so handsomely that she resolved to live no longer at the Elms, but to return to London, where the happiest part of her life had been spent.

"I shall come to Darrell Court occasionally," she said, "so that you may not quite forget me;" and Pauline was surprised to find that she felt nothing save regret at parting with one whom she had disliked with all the injustice of youth.

A few months afterward came a still greater surprise. The lover from whom Miss Hastings had been parted in her early youth—who had left England for Russia long years ago, and whom she had believed dead—returned to England, and never rested until he had found his lost love.

In vain the gentle, kind-hearted lady protested that she was too old to marry—that she had given up all thoughts of love. Mr. Bereton would not hear of it, and Pauline added her entreaties to his.

"But I cannot leave you, my dear," said Miss Hastings. "You cannot live all by yourself."

"I shall most probably have to spend my life alone," she replied, "and I will not have your happiness sacrificed to mine."

Between her lover and her pupil Miss Hastings found all resistance hopeless. Pauline took a positive delight and pleasure in the preparations for the marriage, and, in spite of all that Miss Hastings could say to the contrary, she insisted upon settling a very handsome income upon her.

There was a tone of sadness in all that Pauline said with reference to her future which struck Miss Hastings with wonder.

"You never speak of your own marriage," she said, "or your own future—why is it, Pauline?"

The beautiful face was overshadowed for a moment, and then she replied.

"It is because I have no hope. I had a presentiment when Vane went away, that I should not see him again. There are some strange thoughts always haunting me. If I reap as I have sowed, what then?"

"My dear child, no one could do more than you have done. You repented of your fault, and atoned for it in the best way you were able."

But the lovely face only grew more sad.

"I was so willful, so proud, so scornful. I did not deserve a happy life. I am trying to forget all the romance and the love, all the poetry of my youth, and to live only for my duty."

"But Sir Vane will come back," said Miss Hastings.

"I do not know—all hope seemed to die in my heart when he went away. But let us talk of you and your future without reference to mine."

* * * * * *

Miss Hastings was married, and after she had gone away Pauline Darrell was left alone with her inheritance at last.

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of a moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure in Polson's Nerviline. Nothing equals Nerviline for penetrating power. GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, Scrofulous Tumors and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same number for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. THE GLANDS ARE THE KEY TO THE LIVER. Thoroughly established by many years' experience, Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and sound sleep may be confidently expected. If the Liver becomes torpid, or constipation, will be established.

CURES ALL HUMORS,

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-Bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headaches or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver. "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery" in many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

The Webb Property

in English town is to be offered for sale in three lots on Friday, 20th August, at 7 p.m. on the ground. The lots are large; the soil is good, and the situation is good. There is a small house on one lot. See posters.

Baseball.

The Whitby baseballists are expected to arrive on the 25th instant with the Whitby Cornet Band's excursion here. The local team will play them on the P. A. A. A. grounds during the afternoon.

Piano Recital.

Mr. J. S. Parker proposes giving a piano recital in his rooms, in Lynch's block, Hunter street, on the evening of September 3rd. Mr. McDuff, violin soloist, lately of Glasgow, Scotland, will make his first appearance before a Peterborough audience on that occasion. Invitations will be issued.

The Cricketers.

The following cricketers will compose the eleven who will represent the P. A. A. A. club at Orillia:—Messrs. A. Strathy, R. B. Rogers, T. Baker, C. J. Logan, J. Stirling, J. E. Hammond, H. Ray, E. Stratton, W. Salisbury, J. H. Long and C. H. Geale. Sam May will be unable to go owing to injuries to his hand, caused by a blow from the ball while batting.

Market Items.

The market was lively this morning, the supply of produce and the demand both being good. Prices were quoted:—Butter 15 to 17c.; eggs 12c. for shipment and 13c., for local use; chickens 30c. to 50c. per pair; lamb 8c. to 10c; potatoes 70c. per bag; carrots, beets, turnips, radishes, onions, etc., 5c. per bunch; cabbage 4c. to 7c. per head; cauliflower, 2c. to 20c. per head; squash, 5c to 25c.; celery, 10c. per bunch; apples, 20c. to 25c. per peck; corn, 20c. per dozen.

Card of Thanks.

At the last regular meeting of the Fire Brigade Band, held on Tuesday evening, a vote of thanks was passed, thanking the ladies of the different churches in town for the handsome manner in which they carried out their part of the lawn social, held on the grounds of St. John's Church, for the purpose of raising funds to assist in defraying the expense incurred by the purchasing of the new uniforms. Especial thanks are due to the ladies of St. Paul's Church for raising such a handsome sum of money, and to the ladies of St. John's Church for the use of their beautiful grounds.

Fowl Stolen.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, Secretary of the Peterborough Driving Park Association, has received a letter from M. T. Duffy, of Hartford, Conn., Secretary of the National Trotting Association of the United States, asking for a premium list for the meet to be held here on the 26th and 27th of August, and for regulations, etc. It is expected that a number of fast American horses will participate in the races, which will add to the interest of the occasion.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership which has heretofore existed between Messrs. F. J. and J. J. Daly, proprietors of the Grand Central hotel, was dissolved on Tuesday, Mr. J. J. Daly retiring and Mr. F. J. Daly assuming the sole proprietorship. Under the management of the Daly Bros. the Grand Central has become one of the best conducted hotels in Canada. There is no doubt that the genial "Joe" will be much missed by the patrons of the hotel, but Mr. F. J. Daly will spare no effort to keep up the good reputation of the house.

The Midsummer Meet.

Every indication points to the success of the midsummer meet to be held on the Peterborough Driving Park, on the 26th and 27th. The secretary every day receives letters from the owners of fast horses from all over the province, intimating their intention of entering their horses for the races. Several running horses from Port Hope and Toronto are the latest entries, and lively sport may be expected. Square races on a splendid track for large purses cannot fail to attract speedy horses and a large number of spectators.

A Sad Visitation.

Mr. Wm. Wand, of Ashburnham, has received the sad intelligence that Freddie, only son of Rev. Mr. McAmmond, recently pastor of the Mark street Methodist Church, Ashburnham, died on Monday, at Fenelon Falls, of diphtheria. The child was a bright little fellow, about seven years of age, and his death will be a grievous affliction to the bereaved parents who thus lose the light of their home. To add to the melancholy feature of the sad occasion, both Mr. and Mrs. McAmmond are prostrated with the same disease. Their many friends in Peterborough will mourn with them in their bereavement and sympathize with them in the affliction that is now visiting them.

W. C. T. U.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held a public meeting on Monday evening last, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The children's meeting which was announced for seven o'clock, was not as well attended as it might have been, owing we presume to the inclemency of the weather. However, Mrs. Jones, "Superintendent of Evangelical work," succeeded in organizing a Band of Hope. After the children were dismissed, Dr. Fife addressed those present on the Royal Templar's work. Miss Sanderson, President of the Union, who has been attending the convention of Royal Templars', recently held in Hamilton, gave a report of the proceedings there. Mrs. Jones then gave a short address.

To-morrow's P. A. A. A. Excursion.

Everything points to the civic holiday excursion under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. to Orillia and Sturgeon Point, being a great success. For the information of those who have decided to go, and for the benefit of those hesitating, it may be stated that on arrival at Orillia, excursionists will find that the steamer will leave the wharf for the charming resort of Strawberry Island at 10.30 and 1.30. Returning to town it will leave the Island at 12 30 and later in the day in time to catch the train for home. On the Island will be found abundant means of enjoyment—hot water and a pavilion, swings, hammocks, skiffs for boating, fishing tackle and good bass fishing—in fact everything that picnickers and pleasure seekers can desire. Any person wishing a full day's pleasure should go on this excursion.

A Wily Rascal.

George Whitney, alias Daly, who recently hired a vehicle from P. Hicks, of Picton, on a pretence of going into the country to set up a threshing machine, and forgot to return, has been creating trouble in this vicinity. It seems that he drove from Picton to Roseneath, where he traded the stolen horse with Mr. Brisbin of that place. He was arrested and fined at Lakefield for furious driving, after which he sold the horse to Mr. Elmhurst, of Smith, and skipped to parts unknown. Mr. Hicks can claim his horse and rig wherever found, but the other victims will have to catch Whitney before they can right matters. Whitney seems to take every fish that comes to his net, whether in close season or not. It is said that he served a term in the penitentiary for sheep stealing. He also has the reputation of having married three wives. He is well known in the neighborhood of Bobcaygeon, where he formerly acted as hostler at an hotel.

Coming!

A grand concert will be given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Thursday evening, Sept. 2nd. It will be a complimentary benefit to Miss Annie Delaney and the first opportunity for a public recognition of the kindness Miss Delaney has shown by playing at public entertainments during the past seven years. The programme to be presented on this occasion will be one of unusual excellence. The best local talent has been secured and several of the leading artists from the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, have consented to appear. Admission 50, 35 and 25 cents. The Great Forepaugh Show

Known as the WHd West, with its Indians hunters and cowboys, is now combined with Forepaugh's. This latter organization presents the most exciting, real Roman hippodrome racing, including one, two and four-horse chariots, jockey and standing [illegible] and the only, the 25 performing elephants, and the wonder moving Bismarck horse that walks the tight rope suspended 25 feet in mid air, under the direction of the most skillful, intrepid and distinguished wild beast tamer in the world, Adam Forepaugh, jun., together with the 19th century marvels, the wonderful Elliott family, bicyclists, champions of the rubber hoofed steed, six in number, father, mother and four pretty phenomenal child riders, appear [illegible] their [illegible] tricycles and unicycles, in driving, scout and pleasing performances, beyond the power of words to express—these and hundreds other never-before-seen startling, amusing and instructive features are all massed in one mighty combination eclipsing all efforts of all other managers anywhere on the face of the earth. It will be here Aug. 21st.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

St. Catharines, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, hearing others, recently, two particulars treated made by York State, costing me $50. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KNOX.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child under; send in case of every 100 of males. Be sure and don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, prices, testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

PARNELLITES ALREADY FIRE SHELLS AIMING THE TORIES.

[illegible] to-day. The Queen's speech was as follows:

"The Legislature [illegible] at this unusual season, for the transaction of indispensable business. The [illegible] before the ordinary work of the House had been completed, in order that the sense of my people might be taken on certain important proposals with regard to the government of Ireland. The result of that appeal has been to confirm the conclusion to which the late Parliament had come. The provisional nature of the arrangement made by the last Parliament for the public charge of the year renders it inexpedient to postpone any further the consideration of the necessary financial legislation.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons: The [illegible] shall be laid before you.

"My Lords and Gentlemen: At a period of the [illegible] and exceptional labors to which many of you have been subjected, I abstain from recommending now for your consideration any measures except those which are essential to the conduct of the public service during the remaining portion of the financial year. I am confident that they will receive your prompt and careful attention."

A Fine Opening.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—At the hour Parliament met a heavy rain was falling and the crowd gathered about the Westminster Palace was small. [illegible] arrival of members, particularly [illegible] was generally [illegible] The attendance in the House was [illegible] Many members arrived before they had breakfast in order to secure good seats.

Proceedings in the House.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Charles Bradlaugh (Radical) moved in the House of Commons this evening that the sessional order declaring the interference of peers in elections for members of the House of Commons a high infringement of the liberties and privileges of the Commons be not renewed this year. He said the order was constantly treated with contempt, and was therefore practically obsolete, and might as well be abandoned if it was not to be enforced. He pointed out the very active interference in behalf of the Tory and Unionist candidates and against the Gladstonians by the Earl of Leicester, Lord Montagu and the Dukes of Westminster, Norfolk and Argyle in the counties of Chester, Norfolk and Bucks and Argyle during the recent elections and contended that if the Peers were to be permitted thus to defy the ancient and much boasted rights of the Commons the latter might as well expunge the sessional order and save themselves from occupying a ridiculous position. Mr. Bradlaugh contended that the Earls and Dukes he had mentioned had violated the order wilfully during the past campaign.

Lord Randolph Churchill, speaking for the Government, asked if he was correct, in stating that Mr. Bradlaugh had intimated his intention to obstruct the business of the house every night till his motion was disposed of.

Many members responded to the inquiry by cries of "no," "no."

Mr. Bradlaugh denied that he had in any way indicated such an intention.

Lord Randolph Churchill suggested that the House allow the order complained of to be renewed, and that the House appoint a committee early next session to enquire into the whole matter.

Mr. Gladstone spoke in apparent approval of the Tory leader's suggestion, and intimated that he would support the Government.

A division was then taken and the order was sustained by a vote of 294 to 129.

Lord Randolph Churchill gave notice that on the conclusion of the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, he would move that the supply and appropriation bills have precedence.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replying to Mr. Thomas Sexton (Parnellite), said the Government would require notice before ascertaining whether or not they intended to withdraw the extra police from Belfast. He would say that the Government intended to increase the number of commissioners appointed to inquire into the Belfast riots and also intended to extend the scope of the inquiry. The Government had no present intention, however, to appoint a royal commission to investigate the disorders, although they would consider the advisability of enabling the existing commission to take testimony under oath.

J. O Kelly (Parnellite) gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill for the better government of Belfast, and of another to suspend evictions in certain cases.

Mr. Parnell took the oath and his seat for Cork City.

Rt. Hon. E. R. King Harman moved, and Mr. J. M. Maclean seconded, the address in answer to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Gladstone said he thought the conduct of the Irish police should remain in the hands of the Government, and under their primary responsibility. Continuing, he said that if it was supposed that anything then had happened had produced the slightest change in his convictions regarding the late Government's Irish policy, he was afraid he was unable to afford the slightest encouragement on that point. [Cheers.] What had happened, he continued, had rather confirmed his strong belief that they had not erred in the main principles of his scheme. Mr. Gladstone said he thought the late Opposition had dealt hardly with the late Government in pressing them for their Irish policy, but he would not retaliate. "Ireland," he said, "is the question of the day and the sooner this question is settled the sooner will the House be able to discuss of the arrears of legislation before it." [Cheers.]

Lord Randolph Churchill upon rising, said, he hoped the statement he was about to make would satisfy the House. After taunting Mr. Gladstone on the readiness to resort to coercion, which, he said the ex-Premier had in former times displayed. He stated that the Government had come to the conclusion that the adoption of coercive measures for Ireland would be unwise. Continuing, he said the Ministry wished the question of local government to be treated as a question affecting the United Kingdom. In regard to Belfast, the Government would take care that crime should not become chronic there, as was the case in some other parts of Ireland; nor would the Government tolerate any attack upon the Royal Irish Constabulary, whose services were deserving of praise. The Ministry were determined to restore order in Belfast, and would shrink from no responsibility in order to obtain that end without delay. With reference to Kerry, he said the Ministry had resolved to send there a special military officer of high rank invested with such powers as would enable him to restore order. The moment the Government became conscious that further powers were necessary they would summon Parliament to their assistance. Regarding the land question, he said, the Government were not prepared to adopt the judicial rents fixed by the Land Commission, as they were considered too high. For all present purposes the Ministry would take their stand on the Land Act of 1881 as a final settlement. At the same time the Government had decided to appoint a royal commission [illegible] Gallagher con. Parnellite branches—to make a careful inquiry during the coming autumn and winter into the working of the [illegible] and [illegible] in Ireland. The Government did not intend to deal with the land question by making any reduction in rents. That was contrary to their policy. The Government, he continued, also proposed to strike the cottage and garden by promoting the best information obtainable regarding Irish industries. They proposed to appoint a small commission of three gentlemen of position and experience who would be able to give conclusive information to the Government on such points as the creation of a deep sea fishery on the west, harbors of refuge, extension of railways, arterial drainage, etc. Continuing, he said the Government intended to devote the recess to careful consideration of the question of local government for all three kingdoms. They hoped that when Parliament reassembled in February they would be prepared to submit definite proposals on that most important of all questions. In conclusion, he said the Government took the verdict of the country in favor of maintaining the union as final and irreparable. Upon that verdict they based their policy, and by that policy they, both as a government and as a party, would stand or fall.

Lord Churchill was followed by several Parnellites, who declared that they were not satisfied with a policy of delay. Mr. Clancy said the Nationalists were determined not to allow the debate to close until the opinions of Mr. Matthews and others were revealed. The debate was then adjourned.

In the House of Lords.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Lord Granville (Liberal) asked in the House of Lords this afternoon that the new Government make a clear statement of its contemplated Irish policy.

The Duke of Argyle (Unionist), in reply, denied that a member of the late Government was pledged to [illegible] He made a long speech, "denouncing" as he called it, Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy which the Duke described as "the miserable fiasco of running up to the moorhead with the flag of Parnell and the Irish Nationalist party."

Baron Sa. Oswald moved, and Baron De Ros seconded, the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Lord Salisbury admitted that the situation in Burmah was unsatisfactory, but thought there was no reason for apprehension or alarm. The Afghan Boundary Commission had not been withdrawn. Although a difference had arisen in regard to the boundaries, it could be settled as easily in London and St. Petersburg as on the spot. There was a reasonable prospect of accord between England and Russia with regard to the Afghan boundary. Referring to Ireland, Lord Salisbury said the Government would take every step to maintain social order and protect individual rights. It was necessary to have a time for enquiry before entering into details. Regarding reform of the government office with respect to education and local government for Ireland, he was unable to furnish a sketch of the Government's proposals. There would be a special inquiry as to the means for healthily developing the national resources of Ireland. There would also be an inquiry into the Belfast rioting. There was no prima facie ground for impugning the conduct of the police of Belfast.

Lord Salisbury said that the Government hoped to stop outrages in the South and West of Ireland without a large extension of power. The most difficult problem was that of dealing with the organized system of intimidation, which the Government would do their utmost to diminish. It was their duty to grapple with illegal combinations to prevent the payment of rent. The Government must continue the conversion of judicial leaseholders into freeholders the multiplication of which was a blessing and security to the country. Legislatively it would be their duty to institute an inquiry into the causes of discontent in Ireland and executively to maintain law and order. Their policy was strictly limited by the decision of the constituencies. The address in reply to the Queen's speech was agreed to.

Meeting of Parnellites.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A meeting of Parnellite members was held in the Commons before the meeting of Parliament. Mr. Parnell presided. Seventy members were present. The meeting decided to discuss Irish affairs and especially the Belfast riots during the debate in the Commons in reply to the Queen's speech and also to endeavor to learn the intentions of the Government in regard to Ireland.

War to the Knife.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—United Ireland reiterates the declaration that there will be war to the knife against Lord Salisbury. The people of Ireland, it says, will resist him with a desperation and skill that have never before been displayed.

THOMAS NICHOLSON'S FATE ON THE STONY CREEK ROAD.

HAMILTON, Aug. 19.—Thomas Nicholson was too weak from loss of blood to be removed from the residence of Charles Anderson, Bartonville, near this city, to whose house he was taken after being stabbed in the back last night. It will be several days, perhaps a week, before he can be taken home, and a good deal longer before he will be able to appear at the Police Court. Wm. McMillan, who was arrested for the offence, was arraigned in court this morning. He pleaded not guilty. George Nicholson, brother of the victim, testified that on Wednesday night he was coming along the Stony Creek road towards the city, in company with his cousin, John Hopkins. His brother and Joseph McMonies were fifteen or twenty yards ahead of them. He saw the defendant and a woman by the roadside, and heard his brother tell them to get up or they would catch cold. The woman made an angry retort. The witness did not hear anything further, but saw a quarrel commence and hastened to see what was the matter. McMillan's hand was raised as if to strike a blow and he thought he had a revolver. Thomas Nicholson called out that he was stabbed, and the witness then went towards the defendant, who raised his hand at him. John Hopkins, was then supporting the wounded man, from whose ear blood was spurting. Nicholson was taken to Anderson's house, and his brother George asked McMillan to go there and see what was done. McMillan went and remained there until he was arrested. McMillan had said that he had no knife and had not struck or stabbed Nicholson. A big pocket knife was produced. The blade, about three and a half to four inches long and three-quarters of an inch broad, was covered with blood. McMillan admitted that the knife was his. He was sent to jail for eight days on remand to await the recovery of Nicholson, which is doubtful.

THE NIAGARA RIVER CRANES.

James Scott's Fatal Attempt to Swim the Niagara Rapids—Graham's Recent Act.

LEWISTON, Aug. 19.—James Scott, of this place, about 40 years of age, an athletic man and a good diver and expert swimmer, well known and celebrated as having crossed the whirlpool the old Suspension Bridge above this place, [illegible] to swim the Niagara rapids, which Captain Webb failed and lost his life in the endeavor. He had been owner when, disappeared of late and had told his friends that he intended swimming the rapids. They took no notice of him. This morning, unknown to them, he had [illegible] air life-preservers to his back and entered the river above the rapids. The body was found soon after ashore in the river by a young man of Youngstown, N. Y., and towed to Lewiston wharf. It was then warm. The air bags were on his back instead of under his shoulders. An inquest is to be held. His parents reside here.

Graham Saves Three More.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 19.—Graham went through the rapids to-day in his barrel, this time with his head out. He was pulled ashore when in the whirlpool.

TRACED TO MONTREAL.

Arrest of Supposed Jewel Robber Effected.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—Alex. Folds, who fled from New York after robbing his employer, Mr. J. Lesser, diamond broker of that city, of about $15,000 of diamonds and jewelry, was traced to Montreal and arrested by a fashionable [illegible] He had [illegible] for New York in company with Mr. Lesser and a detective. He had only $1,000, having squandered the remainder. The culprit is well educated, speaking English, Russian, German and French, and is said to be well connected in Russia. He had only been in New York about ten months, and had lived a very fast life. Some years ago he became connected with Nihilism and had to leave Russia.

All Cattle to be Slaughtered.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—The Department of Agriculture have decided that all the cattle in Levis quarantine shall at once be slaughtered and destroyed to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia. The lot includes 257 head, which cost in Scotland over $200,000. Orders to the above effect were telegraphed by the Department this morning. The cattle were owned by Andrew Allan, Dr. Craik and A. Thayer, Montreal; Senator M. H. Cochrane of Hillhurst, and J. J. Hill of St. Paul, Minn.

SHIPPING AND BUILDING.

One Boat Fitted up and Sails and Another in Quarantine.

HALIFAX, Aug. 20.—The schooner Howard Holdsworth, which was seized at Port Hawkesbury for infraction of the customs laws, has been released, the owners in Gloucester having paid the deposits of $200, pending a decision.

The schooner Bright, which recently sailed from Gloucester, Mass., with salt and barrels for American fishermen in North Bay, was entered at Malpeque, P. E. I., and an armed force placed on board.

Officers of the I. O. O. F.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The High Court of Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters elected the following officers to-night: H. G. R., George A. Preston, Sarnia; H.V.C.R., N. F. Patterson, Q.C., Port Perry; H. Sec., J. B. Halkett, Ottawa; H. Treas., T. G. Dawe, London; H. Couns., J. W. Frost, Owen Sound; H. Physician, Dr. Porter, Collingwood; H. Chaplain, Rev. H. A. The Seizure of British Vessels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The names of the British schooners, which were seized in Behring's Sea for violation of the seal fishery laws, are the Thornton, Onward and Caroline. The crews were sent to Sitka. The schooners were taken to Ounalaska, but the officers were kept on board the revenue cutter Corwin. The captains of the schooners claim that they were fishing on the high seas—that their vessels were fitted out at Victoria, B.C., and carried British flags. On the other hand it is stated that they were killing seals inside the prohibited limit within the limits of the Russian cession to the United States.

Conservative Picnic in Muskoka.

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 19.—A Conservative picnic for Muskoka district was held here yesterday, Hon. Thomas White being the principal attraction. About a thousand persons were present, many coming by excursion trains down the new Pacific branch. W. K. O'Brien, M.P., F. F. Marter, the Conservative candidate for the local, and others made speeches.

Libelling Parnellites.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—It is said a London publisher is to be moved against by a member of Parliament for putting forth a pamphlet charging Parnell, Justin McCarthy and other Nationalist members of Parliament with having taken Fenian oaths, and being concerned in Fenian operations.

Earthquake Shocks at Malta.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Another shock of earthquake has been felt at Malta. The captain of a steamer which has arrived there reports that on Tuesday 300 miles east of Malta he witnessed the upheaval of a column of water thirty feet in diameter, to a distance of 200 feet.

Mr. David Dewitt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—The statement is published that Michael Davitt is in receipt of a cablegram from Parnell requesting him to come home at once, giving as a reason that the destitution in Ireland is as bad as it was in 1848 and that Mr. Davitt is needed. Mr. Davitt has signified his intention of obeying Mr. Parnell's summons.

President Egan's Terms Accepted.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Standard says: "England must realize more clearly than she has hitherto that the Home Rule conspiracy is a foreign conspiracy. If the Chicago convention asks her to comprehend the situation, it will not have been without its uses. The program of the moderates at Chicago is Irish independence. 'Peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must.' To this England replies that she will maintain the union as presently the same conditions."

The Times says: "It is clear that the Parnellite delegates, in spite of the condemnation of their language, are puppets of darker plotters." The Times invokes the appointment of two royal commissions, one to inquire into the agrarian difficulty in Ireland and the other to inquire into public works and arterial drainage.

ORDER RESTORED AT BELFAST.

Nine Policemen Arrested for Fearlessly Firing Upon the Mob.

BELFAST, Aug. 19.—The coroner's jury in the case of Jackson, who was shot by the Belfast police while the latter were pursuing McKenna's tavern, returned a verdict of murder against Sergeant Daly and Armstrong and several constables. The coroner has issued warrants of arrest.

Nine policemen have been arrested and sent to jail. They intend to apply to the Court of Queen's Bench for permission to give bail.

Two mobs gathered to-day and indulged in stone throwing but they were soon dispersed.

Affairs here have almost resumed their normal condition and no more serious rioting is feared. The military precautions have been relaxed.

THE CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Excursions and Picnics the Order of the Day—The P.A.A.A. Excursion to Sturgeon Point and Orillia—Down the River—Fun at Bridgenorth—The Gun Club

The P.A.A.A. Excursion.

Owing to good management and a good report, everything that the P. A. A. A. undertakes seems to prosper. The excursion of Thursday under the auspices of the association, to Sturgeon Point and Orillia, was no exception. Early in the morning a large number of excursionists, about five hundred, wended their way to the station and boarded the 7.30 train, which carried them on their course. The P. A. A. A. cricketers with their white suits were prominent amongst the throng, while the association colors were extensively worn. At Lindsay about a third of the excursionists left the train and took the steamer Dominion for Sturgeon Point, where they spent the day in enjoying the pleasures that present themselves on every side. The Orillia contingent of the party arrived in the pretty little town shortly after 10 o'clock. Many of the excursionists took steamer for Strawberry Island in Lake Simcoe, which was reached after a pleasant sail of about half an hour. At this beautiful resort a pleasant time was spent in boating, fishing, bathing and many other amusements which were provided. The cricketers, together with a large number of their friends, repaired to the grounds of the Orillia club, where the match between the Orillia and Peterborough clubs was played, and of which a report is given elsewhere. The excursionists returned, leaving Orillia at 6.30, arriving here before nine o'clock. The train was run on express time both ways, and the management deserve credit for the manner in which arrangements were carried out.

Down the River.

About 8 o'clock in the morning the steamer Golden Eye left her wharf carrying over two hundred excursionists, intent on doing down the river. The number of good looking girls and gay young men was in proper picnic proportion. Heavy hampers, bulky baskets, and a general spirit of good fellowship were visible on every side. The run down the stream was grand. At Campbellstown a party numbering about three score, guided by the good spirit of Jas. McNamara in the capacity of host, landed, where they held high festivities during the day. The remainder proceeded to Idyl Wild and Harwood, where the pleasures afforded by these places were fully tested and enjoyed. On the return trip dancing was indulged in considerably, while singing and eating occupied—and assisted to kill—time (not mentioning the victuals destroyed). After a splendid day's sail the party arrived home about 8 o'clock ready to say good-night and prepare for days to come.

Several canoeing and picnic parties paddled up and down the river, where they enjoyed themselves to their satisfaction.

Holidaying at Bridgenorth.

During the forenoon of Thursday a party of about thirty couples drove to Bridgenorth to spend the day in picnicing at Mr. Alex. Elliott's grove. The company reached their destination in safety about noon. After dinner they employed themselves in boating, fishing, games, etc. After tea the party repaired to the dancing hall of Fobert's hotel, Bridgenorth, where dancing was kept up till after 11 o'clock. They reached home shortly after midnight, well pleased with their day's fun.

C.P.R. Excursion to Toronto.

About one hundred and fifty persons took advantage of the C.P.R., cheap excursion to Toronto, on Thursday. The majority of these probably visited the city, with an eye to business as well as pleasure. The excursion was considered a success.

To Burleigh Falls.

Quite a number took the early train for Lakefield and steamer Cruiser, for Burleigh Falls. Among the party was our Mr. Yokome who will return this evening with a full description of the work being prosecuted there by Mr. Geo. Goodwin. It will appear in to-morrow's issue. Those who returned in the evening say they had an enjoyable day.

The Orillia Cricketers Defeated by the Peterborough Team—A Splendid Game.

A team of Peterborough cricketers visited Orillia with the P. A. A. A. excursion yesterday and played a match with Orillia, and kept up their record by winning easily. Hammond, the lucky, won the toss and chose to bat first. The beginning was disastrous as Logan played his second ball on. Stratton and Rogers, however, played well, and at the same time put the bowling all over the field, and 26 runs had been scored when Stratton retired, caught in slips. Ray followed, and although he did not make many runs, the score was 63 when he was sent back. Rutherford was just beginning to get troublesome to the fielders when a splendid catch at point disposed of him; and directly afterwards Rogers, after playing a good and useful innings of 36, was splendidly caught at the same place, his score including no fewer than eight threes. 5 wickets for 77. Stirling and Morris made a good stand, and before Morris was caught for a well played 15, the century had been topped. After luncheon, Geale did not stay long, and at 115, Stirling, who had played very steadily for 21, including two good off-drives for 3, became another victim to the insatiable Davidson at point. Hammond was bowled in trying to drive the ball into the next county, but the last wicket made a good stand before Long was bowled, after nearly getting his double; and the innings closed for 131, Sailsbury being not out with a well-played eight.

Orillia sent in Geo. Hall and Harman to face Logan and Rogers. The veteran started with a 4 and a 2 off Logan, but the latter shivered his timbers with the succeeding ball, while in Rogers' first over, a row in Harman's timber-yard caused that batsman's retirement. Vesey and Allan made a good stand, the score being nearly 50 when Allan left, after having shown by far the best cricket of his side. Vesey seemed to labor under the delusion that every ball should be put to the on side, even balls on the off stump going to square-leg. However, he tried it once too often, and Sailsbury made a fine catch with the sun right in his eyes. Vesey's 34 included eight threes, and was very useful for his side. Davidson showed his liking for his own field by giving point an easy catch. "Roderick" mowed at a ball from Stratton (who had relieved Rogers), and had his middle stump uprooted; Biggs, after playing good cricket for 18, was well caught by Rogers after a lofty hit. Dalton was easily caught at point after getting eight; Marston fell to a bailer from Logan, and at 88 the later wound up the innings by a very fine one-hand catch in slips.

In playing to time, Peterborough lost two wickets for 60 runs. Ray showed excellent defence for his 11, while Stratton compiled 42 in very fine form and without a chance. It is to be regretted that Mr. Stratton is able to take part in so few matches, as his innings of 19 and 42, and his analysis of 5 wickets for 23 runs, shows how much he increases the strength of the eleven. Logan, as usual, bowled well throughout, and the fielding of Peterborough was excellent. The bowling of "Roderick" for Orillia was very successful, while the "pointing" of Davidson deserves to be especially noticed. Geo. Hall also showed that he has not yet forgotten how to field a ball.

Shooting Affair at Lindsay.

Thos. Deane, a Printer, Shoots the Former Leader of the Notorious "Tar Gang."

Thos. Deane, of Lindsay, a compositor on the Post staff, at one time with the EXAMINER, on Tuesday night, shot Mick. Carlin, the notorious leader of the now defunct "tar gang." It appears that Deane and Carlin were at a dance on the previous night, where they engaged in a wrestling match. At first Deane was successful, but in the third round Carlin threw Deane and choked him, and a slight disturbance followed, in which Carlin threatened Deane. Knowing the merciless character of Carlin, who is the most notorious rough in town, Deane armed himself with a revolver. About 10.30 o'clock on Tuesday night Deane was about to step into the Royal Hotel, when Carlin attacked him, dragging him out to the road and kicking him, when he drew the revolver and shot his assailant through the thigh. He gave himself up to the police shortly after.

Burglars at Work.

Gough's Store Entered and Robbed of Several Suits—An attempt to Burglarize Councillor McNaughton.

Mr. Clark, with Gough, "The Wonderful Cheap Man," on opening shop this morning, discovered that the premises had been entered during the night, a trap door near the front of the shop on the inside being partly open, while several piles of goods were slightly tossed up. On investigation Mr. Gough found that three fine suits and three boxes of shirts had been taken, amounting in all to about $100 worth. Other articles may have been appropriated by the enterprising burglars, but until after stock-taking this cannot be ascertained for certain. The thieves, who were evidently well acquainted with the premises, at first attempted to effect an entrance by the door leading to the arcade. The glass in the door was broken, large enough to admit a man's hand, but as the door was securely locked instead of bolted, as most probably the intruders suspected, they did not gain admittance here. Failing in this attemp the party or parties went to the rear of the late Darcy House, pried up the trap door which was nailed down, and by going through the cellar reached the trap door leading up to the shop This was forced up and the selection followed The burglars evidently tried to screen their work, as that that they had made an attempt to keep things straight was apparent. Chief Cooper was notified of the burglary and an effort will be made to secure the conviction of the offenders.

ATTEMPT TO ROB MR. M'NAUGHTON.

Mr. John McNaughton this morning on going to his workshop, which adjoins his residence on Sherbrooke street, found that an attempt had been made to enter his shop during the night. The panel of the door near the lock, was out through with a knife, large enough to admit a man's hand. The door was not unlocked, however, and it is supposed the thieves were scared away about that time. They evidently had just left Gough's and were in search of stores to complete their equipment.

Personal.

The Rev. I. Tovell, pastor of the George street Methodist church, left town on Thursday on a month's absence. He will spend a couple of weeks with his friends and relatives in Wellington county, after which he will proceed to Toronto to attend the General Conference to be held for two weeks in that city. His pulpit will be supplied during his absence.

Mr. John Carbery, of Peterborough, was on Wednesday last elected a member of one of the Irish National League committees.

The Grand Street Procession August 21st.

An Army of Men and Horses—A Wilderness of Wild Beasts—Scouts, Savages and Frontier's Men—The Great Wild West Show Parade.

Probably the most unique, novel and at the same time magnificent public show parade ever seen will be witnessed here Aug. 21st. in the forenoon. We refer to the street parade to be made by the Great Forepaugh and Wild West Show Combination.

It will start from the camping ground at about 9½ o'clock, weather permitting, Saturday morning. More than a hundred denizens of the plains will appear in this great frontier display and a large delegation of genuine fur West Indians, in charge of Capt. Bogardus, the famous scout and champion marksman of the world. There will also be seen veritable cowboys, lassoists, celebrated scouts, Mexican vaqueros in addition to many other wild western celebrities. The old which in times past carried the mail between the Black Hills and Denver, and which had been repeatedly the object of attack and pillage, by savages and "road agents" on the distant frontier, will be put into the parade; a former knight of the whip of the old overland mail company will draw the lines over six horses attached to this historical relic of staging days on the frontier. Wild buffaloes, Indian ponies, antelopes, etc., will add to the picturesqueness of this realistic representation of graphically illustrating scenes in the nation's progress, and the advances of civilization toward the land of the setting sun. This department of the parade is led by a genuine Cowboy Brass Band. The menagerie and circus parade will be preceded by Mentor's uniformed band, followed by

LIFE, LOVE AND DEATH ON THE BORDER,

at the head of which will be seen old "Bolivar" who divided honors with Jumbo before he was killed, and who now has no rival in bulk or weight. A long line of sun-bright chariots, and massive animal cages will follow, and then will appear all the beautiful performing horses and ponies used in the circus, and the Mikado and his royal train preceded by the band from the town of Titipu.

The hippodrome racing chariots, with their mettlesome steeds, are driven in the parade, and realistic representations are presented of Cleopatra, in her barge of beaten gold, surrounded by her dusky maids of honor, and attended with all the lavish luxury and display of her time. Lalla Rookh, departing from Delhi, with all the accessories of an Eastern monarch's court is depicted in this peerless and poetic pageant, which is only a prelude to what will assuredly be the most interesting, novel and instructive entertainment ever given under white tents in this city.

The hippodrome pavilion will seat 20,000 people; the race track will be a quarter of a mile in circumference; there will be plenty of room for all; the best of order is always maintained. Everywhere the great show is receiving columns of commendatory notices, and, during its recent sojourn in Boston, every daily paper in that city pronounced it the most novel, largest, best managed tented show ever brought there.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

By MARIANA B. CLAY

CHAPTER XLIII.

SHADOW OF ABSENT LOVE.

[illegible] alone [illegible] he had made money rapidly. It was no longer the desire to make a fortune which kept him away, but the fact that in the part of the country where he was great danger existed, and that, having been placed there in a situation of trust, he could not well leave it; so of late a hopeless tone had crept into his letters. He made no reference to coming home, and Pauline, so quick, so sensitive, shaded his reticence the shadow of her own presentiment.

Six years had changed Pauline Darrell from a beautiful girl to a magnificent woman; her beauty was of that grand and queenly kind that of itself is a noble dowry. The years had but added to it. They had given a more statuesque grace to the perfect figure, they had added tenderness, thought, and spirituality to the face; they had given to her beauty a charm that it had never worn in her younger days.

Mrs. Darrell, of Darrell Court, had made for herself a wonderful reputation. There was no estate in England so well managed as hers. From one end to the other the Darrell domain was, people said, a garden. Pauline had done away with the old cottages and ill-drained farm-houses, and in their stead pretty and commodious buildings had been erected. She had fought a long and fierce battle with ignorance and prejudice, and she had won.

She had established schools where children were taught, first to be good Christians, and then good citizens, and where useful knowledge was made much of. She had erected almshouses for the poor, and a church where rich and poor, old and young, could worship God together. The people about her rose up and called her blessed; tenants, dependents, servants, all had but one word for her, and that was of highest praise. To do good seemed the object of her life, and she had succeeded so far.

No young queen was ever more popular or more beloved than this lady with her sweet, grave smile, her tender, womanly ways her unconscious grandeur of life. She made no stir, no demonstration, though she was the head of a grand old race, the representative of an old honored family, the holder of a great inheritance; she simply did her duty as boldly as she knew how to do it. There was no thought of self in it in her, her whole engrossing worldly care for the good of others. If Sir Oswald could have known how the home he loved was cared for, he would have been proud of his successor. The hall itself, the park, the grounds, were all in perfect order. People wondered how it was all arranged by this lady, who never seemed hurried nor talked of the work she did.

Pauline consulted herself inconsistently, for the bright hopes of girlhood, she felt, were hers no longer; she had admitted that the romance, the passion, the poetry of her youth were unforgotten, but she tried to think them dead. People wondered at her gravity. She had many admirers, but she never showed the least partiality for any of them. There seemed to be some shadow over her, and only those who knew her story knew what it was—that it was the shadow of her absent love.

She was standing one day in the library alone, for many library where so much of what had been painful to her life had happened. The morning had been a busy one; tenants, agents, business people of all kinds had been there, and Pauline felt tired.

Darrell Court, the grand inheritance she had loved and in some measure longed for, was hers; she was richer than she had ever dreamed of being, and, as she looked round on the treasures gathered in the library, she thought to herself with a sigh, "Of what avail are they, save to make others happy?" She would have given them all to be by Vane's side, no matter how great their poverty, no matter what they had to undergo together; but now it seemed that this bright young love of hers was to wither away, to be heard of no more.

So from the beautiful lips came a deep sigh; she was tired, wearied with the work and incessant care that the management of her estates entailed. She did not own it even to herself, but she longed for the presence of the only being whom she loved.

She was bending over some beautiful japonicas—for, no matter how depressed she might be, she always found solace in flowers—when she heard the sound of a horse's rapid trot.

"Farmer Bowmen back again," she said to herself, with a smile, "but I must not give way to him."

She was so certain that it was her tiresome tenant that she did not even turn her head when the door opened and some one entered the room—some one who did not speak, but with great step to her with a beating heart, laid one hand on her bowed head, and said:

"Pauline, my darling, have you no word of welcome for me?"

It was Vane. With a glad cry of welcome—a cry such as a lost child gives when it reaches its mother's arms—the cry of a long-cherished, trusting love—she turned and was clasped in his arms, her haven of rest, her safe refuge, her earthly paradise, attained at last.

"At last!" she murmured.

But he spoke no word to her. His eyes were noting her increased beauty. He kissed the parted lips, the lovely face.

"My darling," he said, "I left you a beautiful girl, but I find you a woman beautiful beyond all comparison. It has seemed to me an age since I left you, and now I am never to go away again. Pauline, you will be kind to me for the sake of my long, true, deep love? You will be my wife as soon as I can make arrangements—will you not?"

There was something in the tone of his voice, in the light of his eyes, in the expression of his face, that was quivering, and that told her all.

"Yes, whenever you wish."

They conversed that evening until the sun had set. He told her all his experience since he had left her, and she found that he had passed through London without even waiting to see [illegible] had been his first visit.

But the birthday Lady Darrell [illegible] drawing down and by Sir Vane's wish preparations for the marriage were begun at once. Pauline preferred to be married on Ascension Royal and among her own people.

They tell now of that glorious wedding—of the sun that seemed to shine more brightly than it had ever shone before—of the rejoicings and festivities such as might have attended the bridal of an empress—of the tears and blessings of the poor—of the good wishes that would have made earth Heaven had they been realized. There never was such a wedding before.

Every other topic failed before the one that seemed inexhaustible—the wonderful beauty of the bride. She was worthy of the crown of orange blossoms, and she wore them with a grace all her own. Then, after the wedding, Sir Vane and Pauline went to Cumberleigh. That was the latter's fancy, and, standing that scene, Pauline and Sir Vane Darrell [illegible] and welcomed her by his great love.

* * * * *

"There was a paragraph in a recent issue of the Times announcing that Oswald St. Lawrence, second son of the Duke and Lady [illegible] Lawrence, had by [illegible] assumed the name of Darrell. So that the old baronet's prayer is granted, and the race of Darrell—honored and respected, beloved and esteemed—is not to be without a representative.

THE END.

THE SUN

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night-sweats, a hacking [illegible] and other symptoms only too plainly of consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs and you will be a hero yet. w23-d-w

A suit over the shutting of a door at Los Angeles, Cal., has required an outlay of [illegible] of nearly $250 for court costs.

Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe, painless. d39-6t-w33

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

When we say McGregor's Speedy Cure is the only perfect cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion and Impure Blood, we are telling plain facts, of which hundreds upon hundreds can testify who have been restored to perfect health by its use. We would therefore advise you strongly if you are a subject of any of the above troubles to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial and be convinced. It is sold in 50c. and $1.00 bottles at John McKees Drug store. d30 eod-w23

Another collision has occurred between the striking waiters and the police in Paris. Several arrests were made.

The Raw Cutting Winds

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease, Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and, other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of a moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nervilline. Nothing equals Nervilline for penetrating power. Nervilline is beyond comparison the greatest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a sample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. d30-6t-w23

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is generally cured by this wonderful and effective remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From the wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, restorative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

Carpets.

50 new designs in Tapestry and Brussels Carpets to select from, at R. Fair's.

The Fruit Canning Season.

Housekeepers will find the finest and cheapest stock of sugars for the preserving season, at Morrow, Tierney & Co's, as well as a splendid stock of the best groceries.

Oysters.

Now on hand at the C. P. R. Restaurant, served up in the best styles.

Office Service.

The French and Hindoo contingent of the Salvation Army will visit Peterborough on Tuesday, 24th instant, and will conduct a special jubilee service in Bradburn's Opera House, at 8 o'clock p.m.

The New Exhibition Buildings.

Mr. W. Lasher is making good progress with the erection of the new exhibition buildings. The frame work has been completed and the work is being pushed forward with rapidity. Mr. Lasher expects to have the buildings completed by September 1st.

Very Desirable Property.

By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that Mr. John Garvey will sell by public auction on Tuesday next, his residence on Brock street. As this is a very desirable property we have no doubt but that a good price will be realized. Business men wishing to secure a convenient home do not get such an opportunity every day.

Forepaugh's Show.

A representative of the great Forepaugh show was in town to-day and arranged for exhibiting on the Agricultural Park.

Mr. Harry Enoch, special agent of Forepaugh's Great Show is in town to-day, and registered at the Grand Central hotel. He says that should to-morrow be fine, the parade at 10 o'clock will be simply grand.

Indian Regatta.

The second annual regatta at the Indian village, Chemong Lake, will be held on Thursday, 26th of August, when a large number of prizes will be offered for competition. There is every prospect of a good day's sport. See posters for particulars.

The Great Gough's Gift.

We don't see how he can afford it, but he has said he will do it and he will do it. To every purchaser of a $7 suit, or higher priced suit of clothes, Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, will present a free ticket to the great Forepaugh show. No matter whether in the way of sowing linen dusters, giving away circus tickets, or selling the cheapest clothing in Canada, Gough always keeps his word.

Warning.

Merchants and others are warned against leaving their back doors and windows open during to-morrow while it would be well to keep a careful eye on the safe. As is usual on circus days, there will no doubt be a large number of enterprising sneak thieves in town during the day, who it will be well to guard against. The burglary of last night would indicate that there are those in town who would help themselves when opportunity offered, while professionals may also be expected. Chief Cooper has detailed a special force and will take every precaution to guard against such visitors, yet it will be well for each person to keep an eye to their own.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe at this season of the year to go a single day without a supply of Wells' Pain King in the house. Ready at a moment's notice and costs but 25 c. All druggists. d&w

CHIEF STEWART'S ESCAPE.

HAMILTON, Aug. 21.—Chief of Police Stewart and his family were almost drowned in the bay this afternoon. About 4.30 Capt. Campbell went out in a boat from Burlington piers to get a buoy and when about a mile from the pier saw a skiff at short distance away having on board Chief Stewart's two young children and Mrs. Curtis, his companion, rowed with all speed to the spot and on reaching the unfortunate party Capt. Campbell saw Stewart's two young children in the water. The little ones were instantly dragged out of the water and the captain made for Chief Stewart, who was some distance off struggling with his wife in his arms. The Chief was so exhausted by his exertions and his anxiety about his children that he could not keep his wife's head above water, except for a portion of the time, and the poor lady was just about gone when Capt. Campbell came along and rescued them. The party were taken to the Ocean House at the beach and medical aid summoned. The Chief, who is a fine athlete and a good swimmer, soon recovered from his fatigue. The children did not seem to be much the worse for their ducking, but Mrs. Stewart was thoroughly exhausted. The accident was caused by the children attempting to change seats in the boat.

TO THE "COLONIAL."

A Cheap Trip Worthy of Imitation.

The following is a summarised version of a letter from a St. Catharines correspondent: "My usual holiday is two weeks in the year. This year I begged an extra week and made up my mind to do the Colonial "on the cheap." How to do it in so short a time was of course a matter of calculation, and the sailings of the fast steamers had to be studied. However, leaving my work on Friday evening, July 23, I took ticket for New York and London for $27.50. Arriving in New York Saturday morning I purchased outfit for $2.80, went directly on board steamer, sailed at 11 for Liverpool, where we landed the Sunday week following, time seven days, fifteen hours. Sunday evening spent in Liverpool, taking three 2p tram car rides in all directions, to see city, and put up at Hurst Temperance Hotel in Hood (a first-class hotel). Had tea 18c; bed, 26c; breakfast, 18c. Monday visited the Liverpool Exhibition and Great Eastern in the Mersey, cost 50c, dinner 12c, tea 6; at night took midnight train for London, arriving at 5 a.m., cost (return) $6, breakfast and boots 8c, underground railway to Colonial 8c, admission 25c, dinner 12p, tea 12c, drinks 8c, return fare to Triangle Hotel. Charter House Square (good accommodation) 6c, bed 25c. The Colonial is a night and every Canadian ought to see it—the illuminations at night being a display never to be forgotten. Tuesday, up at 5 a.m., breakfast 6c. Visited the Meat Market, Billingsgate (the fish market), the celebrated Petticoat Lane, London Bridge, the Tower, Monument 2c, Bank Royal Exchange, Postoffice, St. Paul's 2c, bus to Houses of Parliament, dinner 6c, passed "needle," law court, Toronto Globe Office, Charing Cross, Horse Guards, etc. Visited Westminster Abbey, walked through park to Buckingham Palace (the Queen's residence); bus 2c., Tussards Exhibition 25c., bus to Zoological Gardens 2c., "pop" 1c., underground railway to hotel 4c., supper 6c., bed 25c. Wednesday, to Trafalgar-square, Art Gallery and British Museum, dinner 12c., beer 2c., boat on Thames to Greenwich Hospital and park and arsenal, Woolwich 6c., tea 6c., return to London Hotel 6c. Thursday, 5 a.m. train (use return ticket) to Birmingham, arrived 8.30, spent time with friends; also Friday, only outlay $1 for occasional drinks. Here wired Hurst's Hotel, Liverpool (12c.), to secure intermediate passage on the greyhound of the Atlantic—the Guion Line, Alaska, sailing Saturday, 4 p.m. Left friends 11.45, arrived Liverpool 2.54, paid fare ($30), one to shape 2s., on board the good ship Alaska. Sailed at 4. Why did I take intermediate back? some will ask. I say because I found the cost comparatively no dearer than the steerage; besides there is a style, comfort and tone about it which is worth the extra $10. The Guion Line is the only one which have the fastest ships, hence the name of the Alaska—the Greyhound—and make a specialty of the intermediate. Everybody knows what "steerage" means, but comparatively few what "intermediate" is. On other lines which have an intermediate they acknowledge that it is an "improved steerage," and passengers, setting aside having a bed and meals provided for them, have to mix indiscriminately with the steerage on the decks. But the intermediate on the Guion Line Alaska occupies the best part of the ship (probably unintentionally) and is on the same deck as the saloon; in fact, to cut the description short for an ordinary Canadian, is better than the saloon. The following is the bill of fare for Sunday: Breakfast—Porridge, beefsteak and onions, ham and eggs, tea and coffee, bread, butter, hot rolls, tea or coffee; dinner—Two kinds of soup, two kinds of meats, poultry, puddings, oranges, tea, cold meats, sardines, cake, cheese, etc.; supper, by application, biscuit and cheese, etc. Beside, on these ships the entrance to the intermediate is as distinct, and the portions of the deck for promenade as sacred as that reserved for the saloon passengers. The only trouble is that the intermediate is too small. But that evidently was an advantage to this correspondent, (a true Canadian certainly) for on the Monday we find him turned out of the intermediate into the steerage. But for what reason: It appears that the Alaska on the Saturday is the fastest ship leaving Liverpool. A New York gentleman wants to get home and time is everything, the saloon is full, the intermediate is full and there is nothing left but the steerage for him—this he takes in the hopes of getting something better when on board. On the Sunday evening this was known, and hearing of it I immediately offered to exchange berths with the gentleman for a consideration. He offered me $20 and his passage and outfit to do so. I stipulated for $30 and got it. So for the balances of passage I came steerage though most friendly with the intermediate. The steerage accomodation of these ships is certainly superior and the improvements which have taken place since the time when I first crossed and the "horrors of a steerage passage," so frequently appearing in our newspapers so manifest that I should have no objection to do so again. But the intermediate of the Guion line is the thing. Just fancy, while the steerage and intermediate of all other lines are treated no better than the ordinary four-legged cattle they carry—the intermediate on the Guion line are treated as a special class and on their printed passenger lists are recognised as second-class passengers. However, having said this much, I must say that if any passengers desire to make sure of an intermediate passage on these ships they must apply to their local agents or write to 29 Broadway, New York, direct, some days in advance. Having said this we arrive in New York Sunday, Aug. 15. Paid fare to St. Catharines $7.50, and at 8 a.m. on Monday, the 16th, just twenty-four days from starting I was at my desk, and at a total cost of deducting the exchange I made on shipboard, of $40.23. Do likewise."

Thousands of lives saved annually by the use of West's Pain King, the household remedy for chills, colds, flux, summer complaint, dysentary, colic and cholera. Only 25 cents. All druggists. d-w

ANARCHISTS TO HANG

SEVEN CHICAGO ANARCHISTS DOOMED TO DIE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The court officials decided that the relatives of the prisoners should be allowed in the court-room, and at 9.15 o'clock the sister of Spies, with another young woman, made her appearance. Shortly afterward the mother of Spies, accompanied by a younger son, entered court and took a seat on the back benches. The jury left their hotel at 9.16 o'clock, and under the guidance of two bailiffs took their way to the Court House and were conducted to an inner room adjoining the main court-room. At 9.20 Mrs. Parsons entered the court-room with her reticule, accompanied by a woman who has attended her throughout the trial. By 9.30 the crowd in the court-room numbered about 100, but was still composed with the exception of the persons named, of police, bailiffs and press representatives.

The tremendous interest taken in the outcome of the trial is illustrated by the crowd which gathered in front of the court house to await the announcement. Nearly 2000 people were gathered on Michigan-street in front of the main entrance to the building gazing up at the windows. The police kept the crowd moving, however, and it appeared to be composed almost entirely of curious people.

Mr. Foster was the first of the counsel to put in an appearance. He was followed shortly afterwards by Mr. Salomon. Judge Gary arrived at 9.47, and almost at the same moment Capt. Black and Mr. Zeisler, completing the quartett of the defendants' counsel, arrived.

Captain Black remarked to his wife, who he entered: "I have just had a talk with the prisoners. They have seen the papers and know the probable outcome. They will laugh at death," said the attorney with a half tragic air. He declared that they would show no excitement.

The prisoners were brought into the court room at 9.53 o'clock and were seated at the northeast corner of the room on some side benches. The prisoners were observable to the eyes of but very few in the court room. They presented about the usual appearance, though Spies and Fischer looked deathly pale. The jury arrived at 9.55 o'clock. When the jury appeared Judge Gary enjoined absolute silence. There was a whispered conversation between the judge and the clerk and the verdict was then rendered as follows:

"We, the jury, find that the defendants August Spies, Michael Schwab, Samuel Fielden, Albert R. Parsons, Adolph Fischer, George Engel and Louis Lingg guilty of murder as charged in the indictment, and fix the penalty at death. We find the defendant, Oscar W. Neebe, guilty of murder in manner and form as charged in the indictment, and fix the penalty at imprisonment in the penitentiary for fifteen years."

Hardly had the jury left the room when a piercing shriek was heard, followed by the heavy falling of the wife of Schwab to the floor, to whom the result of the verdict had been interpreted. She is also the sister of Schnaubelt, the alleged bomb-thrower. She was carried out to the air by the police and soon revived. Mrs. Parsons looked haggard as she started to leave the court room, but maintained a moderate degree of composure. The crowd remained outside for an hour after the reading of the verdict.

It is understood that the authorities now contemplate the immediate arrest of all persons even indirectly connected with the Haymarket tragedy for conspiracy, and that in this knowledge many of the active leaders are preparing to leave the city.

It is rumored that the police have a list containing the names of nearly three hundred men who were engaged in the anarchist conspiracy, and that wholesale arrests will follow. It is reported that Mrs. Lucy Parsons and Mrs. Lizzie Holmes are among those for whom warrants have been issued.

After the condemned men had remained in the "cage" where they had been taken from the court room nearly two hours, Fischer said to a reporter: "You can say that this only begins the fight against the system. "It is the birth of anarchy." Spies, as he shook hands with his counsel, said: "Gentlemen, we did not expect it." Parsons was almost equally calm. The twain consulted with Black and Foster, while Neebe, Fielden and Lingg hovered at their elbows. In another corner sat gaunt, wretched looking Schwab who, with his bank physique, unkempt, full beard, staring spectacled eyes and battered slouched hat presented the ideal appearance of a demoralised convict. Engel and Fischer were being talked to by Attorney Zeisler, who grew decidedly emphatic and expressed himself in language which sounded strangely like sympathy for the Anarchists' cause.

THE NIAGARA CRANES.

Jacob Schamber Proposes to Try the Basic Bottle Business.

LANCASTER, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Jacob Schamber, a cooper of this place, is building a barrel to go through the Rapids and over the Falls. Mr. Schamber is about 32 years of age. He expects to start from Tonawanda, sail down the river over the Falls and through the Whirlpool. He says he can do this, and expects his barrel done in about two weeks. It is believed the swell on the sides and the ballast of lead in the point will keep the barrel upright. The manhole extends 27 inches above the top proper to supply air. The barrel will be of 2½ inch staves, and will be 3 feet 2 inches wide in the centre.

DESTRUCTION IN PETROLIA.

PETROLIA, Aug. 20.—A fire occurred here at about 1.30 this morning in the premises owned by R. A. Archer and occupied by J. H. Fraser & Co. as a grocery and provision store. The flames spread very rapidly, enveloping the buildings occupied by Mr. Archer as a book and fancy goods store; R. B. B. Alley, dry goods; Nelson Wood, barber shop; D. Manning, butcher; Thomas King, boots and shoes; Henry Canniff, watchmaker; Express office and Bell Telephone Company's office; also damaging goods by removal of John Watson, boots and shoes, and Edward Marshal, butcher. What might have been a very disastrous fire was avoided by the prompt and efficient fire department. The two steamers got in their positions quickly, and with their air branches had the fire soon under control. The probable loss is about $15,000; fully covered by insurance.

A FIRE AT PORT CREDIT.

PORT CREDIT, Aug. 20.—At 2.30 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in one of the grain storehouses on the lake front. The fire spread to the other two warehouses, and as there are no fire appliances in the town the people could do nothing but stand and watch the building burn, and by 6 o'clock the storehouses were totally consumed. About 12,000 bushels of wheat were stored in one of the buildings. The fire completes the destruction of the harbor buildings. At the time of the fire the grain was sold and a vessel was en route to Port Credit to take it away. It was valued at from $8000 to $10,000. The loss, which is said to be total, will be fully covered by insurance, and there is a policy in the Lancashire for $4000 and another in the Phœnix which covers the rest. The buildings were owned by the Harbor Company, and were old and very much out of repair.

At Quarantine in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Aug. 20.—Dr. McEachern, Chief Dominion Inspector of Cattle Quarantine, is in town superintending the slaughter and cremation of Mr. McRae's infected herd of cattle. The large kiln specially erected for the purpose has been completed. The work of slaughter and cremation commenced this morning. By [illegible] the [illegible] had been [illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the whole [illegible] The whole [illegible] occupied by the infected cattle fell all the measure in quarantine amounting to over four hundred acres.

How to Hermetically Seal Bottles.

A German writer recommends the use of paraffine in place of corks or other stoppages for the hermetical sealing of bottles containing liquids which have a tendency to ferment or otherwise deteriorate by coming in contact with the air. This, he says, is particularly applicable to saccharine juices of all kinds. These are poured, while hot, into perfectly dry bottles, which are filled nearly to the lip, they are then allowed to stand and rest until cold, during which time all air bubbles will rise to the surface, finally a small quantity of melted paraffine is poured over the top, when it forms a firm, solid crust on cooling about the tenth of an inch thick. Such a paraffine stopper has the advantage of being easily removed when the contents of the bottle are required for use, and the paraffine can be used again.

Nervousness Betrayed in Penmanship.

The condition of a man's nerves is often betrayed in his writing, and also the fire of his temper. If he is slow and methodical, he covers a page with characters laboriously drawn out and a copiousness of ink that is defacing. A nervous man will either contract his signature into the smallest place possible or scrawl it out in flowing lines and big letters or write it phonetically. In either of the three cases it is generally impossible to decipher it. Business men to a certain extent cultivate an original style of writing. Their correspondence is very large and their names often attached to valuable papers. A style peculiar to themselves, if rigidly followed out, is one of the safeguards against forgery. But there are forgers as clever as business men who devise strange styles of penmanship.

Books of the Bible.

The books of the Bible, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, in answer to a correspondent, were written at dates far apart. For instance, Genesis is supposed to have been written by Moses B. C. 1541, while the book of Esther—whose author is unknown—was composed in B. C. 312. Malachi was written B. C. 410. Ezra collected the books of the Old Testament about B. C. 444, and Simon the Just, who died about B. C. 291, added the books of the Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther and Malachi, and this closed the canon of the old testament. The book of Matthew, in the new testament canon, was written A. D. 37 or 38. This canon was probably closed by St. John, who died nearly seventy years after the ascension of Christ.

Always Say Yes to Your Wife.

Half a century ago one of our former meek and harmless citizens had a virago for a wife. Being asked how he was able to live with her, he answered: "I have no trouble. When she says 'yes' I say yes. When she says it is cold I say 'yes, mother, it is cold.' Often she woke me up in dark and stormy nights and would say: 'Just see how bright the moon and stars are.' I always said 'yes.' She would then turn over perfectly satisfied, go to sleep, and be happy." Many a husband can learn a lesson from this example.

Why Men Should Wear Corsets.

We think we violate no confidence in saying that there are even in Buffalo a few men who wear corsets, because leaning over high desks all day long, they find that the corset supports the body as no other contrivance will.—Buffalo Express.

Of Duty.

Have you ever noticed that if a car driver has a holiday, or "day off," as they say at the stables, he will do nothing on that day but ride up and down the road and talk "shop" all day to the driver, and he is one of the first to board an early car? Give a night watchman a "night off" and as sure as fate he will go and sit up all night, smoke and chat with the watchman on duty, and say next day, with a dignified air: "I was not on 'last night.'"

The Difficulties of Prohibition.

From the Milwaukee Wisconsin.

To outwit a woman intent upon having her way is believed by every husband to be one of life's arduous tasks. It is often very difficult. But it is the merest pastime, after all, in comparison with the task of circumventing a toper who lives in a prohibition state and wants his regular bitters.

Great Danger in Cigarette Smoking.

Detroit Free Press.

The great danger of cigarette smoking arises from the fact that the cigarette is so mild that the smoker uses one after another, smoking almost continually, and so gradually poisons himself with the nicotine. Cigarette smokers use the vile little tubes from morning until night except during meal time. Besides generally the worst tobacco is used in making up cigarettes. Excessive cigarette smoking causes palpitation of the heart, and finally kills the user of the weed. Two deaths occurred in New York last week that were directly traceable to the cigarette vice. One of the deplorable features of the use of the cigarette is the fact that so many boys smoke them. France has a law preventing the sale of cigarettes to boys. The United States should have a similar law.

The Soured Man.

From Wilmington [Del.] Home Weekly.

Nobody loves the soured man. He is not an agreeable companion; his sympathies have been warped, his temper made surly, his disposition embittered—he is at outs with the world. No one very well remembers what he once was. All have forgotten the time when his pulse beat warm and high, when his hand had a firm and hearty grasp, when he loved and hoped. Everybody knows that he is cold, cross-grained, impractical and cynical now. The world pushes him aside, society votes him a bore, and his best friends shake their heads and wonder that they ever supposed that he would amount to anything. He is a failure, and everybody knows it as well as he does himself.

A Hint to Smokers.

From the London Lancet.

In Cuba, where smokers are probably better acquainted with the methods of manufacture than elsewhere, and where the number of operatives afflicted with the scrofulous and other maladies is fully 37 per cent., it can be almost invariably noticed that a smoker before lighting his cigar will, instead of biting off the tip, carefully cut away half an inch of the end of the weed. The cheroot, which is made without a tip, is in more general use in Cuba than anywhere else in the world. General Grant, after visiting Cuba, never again bit off the tip of a cigar. He cut away a noticeably large section of the end.

How to Make Good Coffee.

One-half pound of the best golden Rio, one-quarter of Java and one-quarter pound Mocha. Take an old-fashioned coffee-pot; have it thoroughly cleansed and scalded each time. Have your coffee mixed as described, finely ground. Put in a "tablespoonful for each person and one for the coffee-pot." Beat an egg until it froths and stir well into the coffee. Pour upon the mixture cold water enough to make about a third of the quantity of liquor required; stir it well and pour into your coffee-pot. Set it where it will come to the boiling point slowly. At that point fill up with boiling water. Stir well again and let it stand ten minutes. Do not boil coffee. That drives off the aroma and gives you the black, bitter tannin. Serve the coffee from the same vessel in which it is made. Follow directions and you will have a clear amber drink fit for the best man or woman in America.

R. W. MUNCASTER,

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 21, 1886.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

Beautiful Bloom.

On Friday night an enormous night blooming Cereus, owned by Mr. W. Manning, bloomed forth in splendor, one blossom unfolding itself, only to die away before morning. A large number of persons visited Mr. Manning to see and admire the flower. The plant bearing the bloom is about six feet in height and has five more buds on it, which will shortly unfold their loveliness. The flower of the Cereus is something after the style of the white water lily (only very much larger) with a most beautiful and delicate centre imaginable. The flower is about nine inches long, and from six to nine inches in diameter.

The Midsummer Meet.

Every indication points to the success of the midsummer meet to be held on the Peterborough Driving Park, on the 26th and 27th. The secretary every day receives letters from the owners of fast horses from all over the province, intimating their intention of entering their horses for the races. Several running horses from Port Hope and Toronto are the latest entries, and lively sport may be expected. Square races on a splendid track for large purses cannot fail to attract speedy horses and a large number of spectators.

The Park Promenade Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band held its usual weekly promenade concert in Court House Park yesterday evening. The electric lights beamed forth over a large audience, while the band gave its generous and brilliant programme, which was brought to a close about ten o'clock. The interest in these concerts seems rather to increase than diminish, and the next will be as fresh as the first.

Jubilee Service.

The French and Hindoo contingent of the Salvation Army will visit Peterborough on Tuesday, 24th instant, and will conduct a special jubilee service in Bradburn's Opera House, at 8 o'clock p.m.

The Nicholls Hospital.

(Printed by Request.)

A newspaper, giving a full account of the Nicholls Hospital, was sent to a gentleman in New Brunswick, with a request that he would write a piece of poetry on the subject for the postoffice in the bazaar about to come off for the benefit of St. John's Church, and he returned the following verses:—

Two angels coming from the throne.
Of wing-o'ershadowed mercy seat
To find a place within our zone
Where they could rest their sacred feet.

To Peterborough came they straight,
In this fair land of Canada;
Lar'd by the saintly name, they wait
To learn their providential way.

And talking of the earthly scenes
That they beheld in travelling on,
A splendid palace intervenes
On which the sun in glory shone.

They enter'd, all was fine and fair
And rich with gilded furniture,
A noble mansion but the air
Was cold and pride expell'd the poor.

They passed; another mansion stood
Before them, and it seem'd to say:
"Here dwell the humble and the good,
So here your sacred feet may stay."

For Love and Mercy built the house,
These reign'd in a fair lady's breast,
Who took the Saviour for her spouse
And help'd the poor and the distress'd,

And here the angels did abide,
For Mercy was their atmosphere—
Passing the gorgeous place of pride
To dwell amongst the humble here.

A Tory Organ on Parnell's Paymasters.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Standard, referring to the Irish meeting in Chicago, says: "Chicago has given an authoritative definition of the sense in which the Parnellites accept Mr. Gladstone's settlement, viz., as an instalment. Parnell cannot question the validity of the decision of his paymasters. It is for English Liberals to say whether the principles declared to be binding in advance by his signature. It is easy now to understand Parnell's extreme anxiety to postpone the convention."

Parnell's Urgency Circular.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Mr. Parnell has requested all Irish members of Parliament to be present on the re-assembling of Parliament. He adds that in view of the grave and pressing character of public affairs it is very necessary that there should be a full attendance of the Irish contingent.

Manacles and Manitoba.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Dublin Freeman's Journal says Parnell shows that the Parnellites do not intend to await the convenience of the Ministry in dealing with the Belfast riots, and the alarming condition of the Irish farmers. Lord Salisbury must explain how he intends to meet the contingency of the inability of tenants to pay their rents, and he will be called upon to declare the policy he intends to substitute for that of Manacles and Manitoba.

Drowned in Boston Harbor.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—The disaster to the scow Fly-off in the harbor yesterday proves to have been more serious than was at first supposed. There were five persons on the boat, whilst was probably returning from a fishing excursion. They were William L. Hayden, owner of the boat; his two sons Fred and Edward, aged 16 and 17 years; J. W. Lansing and William P. Glendenen. It is said all were excellent swimmers, which makes the fact that none were saved all the more singular.

A Young Girl's Experience.

Lord Edmondsbigh says that the fishery questions, which the Arbitration Association refers to, is at present the subject of diplomatic negotiations, and expresses the hope that the result may be favorable.

ONLY SOME LEGS BOLTS.

A Conference Declared in the Imperial House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—During recess of the House this afternoon, and when the chamber was nearly deserted, the clerk noticed upon one of the Parnellite benches a mysterious looking brown paper parcel. The officials of the house and a number of policemen were hastily summoned and they immediately held solemn counsel to devise a plan of action. One of them picked up the supposed infernal machine and appeared to [illegible] could [illegible] The rest of the [illegible] state of suspense. The whole formed a very dramatic scene. Finally one of the officials opened the parcel to an enthusiast and examined it. It contained some iron bolts that were used as missiles during the recent riots in Belfast.

Be a Hero in Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night-sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly [illegible] consumption. Heed not [illegible] Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will [illegible] your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

Mr. John Dougall, editor of the New York Witness and father of Mr. J. N. Dougall, of Montreal, died suddenly yesterday in Flushing, Long Island, aged 78.

Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and be safe, painless. d39-6t-w33

The proposal to separate the Methodist district of Kingston from the Montreal Conference, and attach it to the Bay of Quinte Conference, is opposed intensely by the district.

They say that trumpet-players are doomed to short lives. We doubt it. We have known men who blew their own trumpets incessantly and achieved a good troublesome old age.

The Raw Cutting Winds

Of winter bring to the surface every latent pain. It is one of the strange things associated with our physical well being that the very air, without which we could not exist, is heavily laden with germs of disease. Rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and, other complaints of a similar character hold revel at this season of the year amongst human nerves and human muscles. There was a time when fortitude alone could make life tolerable, but now with the advent of powerful, penetrating and nerve soothing remedies pain becomes a thing of a moment. The best, the most powerful and most certain pain cure is Polson's Nervilline. Nothing equals Nervilline for penetrating power. Nervilline is beyond comparison the grandest discovery for the relief of pain offered to the public. Druggists sell a sample bottle for 10 cents; large bottles only 25 cents at any drug store. d39-6t-w33

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, Fever-Sores, Salt-Rheum, Scaly or Rough Skin, Ringworm, Blotches, Pimples, or Pustules, and Eruptions. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. Consumption is the blood in the lungs. Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned the name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

Where is the Chinaman?

It would seem that a Chinaman has located in town. A letter came to the post office yesterday addressed "Lung, the Washman, care of W.R., Oriental, Peterborough." Who and where is he?

An Egg Within an Egg.

The Lindsay Warder describes an egg laid by a hen owned by a Bexley man. Besides being of enormous size 9 x 8 inches in circumference, it contained in the large shell, a small hard-shelled egg. Should the egg or the hen be taken with salt.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Market Items.

The market was not so well attended this morning as of late, the circus probably being the cause. Prices were quoted:—Butter, 15 to 18c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; chickens 30 to 50c. per pair; veal, 5 to 6c.; lamb, 8 to 10c.; potatoes, 75c. per bag: apples, 20 to 25c. per peck; beets, carrots, onions, etc., 5c. per bunch; corn, 13 to 15c. per dozen; cabbage, 5 to 7c. per head; cauliflower, 5 to 8c. per head.

A Musical Treat.

The benefit to be tendered Miss A. Delaney, on Sept. 2nd, by her numerous friends promises to be a rare treat to the musically inclined people of Peterborough. Apart from Miss Helen O'Reilly, soprano, graduate of the Boston Conservatory, and Miss Maud Burdette, the well known contralo, at present of the Conservatory, Miss Delaney will be assisted by the best local celebrities. There will be a full orchestra throughout.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes,		70c.
" buff	do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned		90
" India kid shoe		$1.00
" patent Oxford		1.20
" polished calf tie shoe		1.25
" do do Oxford		1.25
" do do buttoned		1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

SHOCKING TERMINATION TO A PLEASURE TRIP.

Mrs. C. W. Sawers Caught in the Engine Machinery of the "Cruiser"—Both Legs Badly Broken and the Right Shoulder Dislocated.

Yesterday afternoon as the steamer "Cruiser" was proceeding to the head of Stoney Lake, Mrs. C. W. Sawers, town, was caught in the engine machinery and terribly injured.

The particulars are these: She, with a party of ladies, and accompanied by two of her children went on an excursion tour on the Stoney lakes. When the steamer called at Burleigh Falls her eldest little son, Crawford, fell into the water at the landing. His clothing was removed and he was wrapped in shawls while it was hung in the boiler room to dry. The steamer left Burleigh on the head of the lake. She was steaming along comfortably and every body, the weather being delightful, was ENJOYING HIMSELF TO THE FULLEST.

At Bonnie Narrows a little after passing Syndicate Camp, Mrs. Sawyers went forward to get the child's clothing. The engineer's back was turned at the moment, he being on the opposite side of the steamer. Mrs. Sawyers innocently stepped down into the engine pit. The lower part of her skirts behind caught in the crank pin of the pump machinery revolving at a very high rate of speed. At the moment of her dress catching, her father, Mr. Duncan McLeod, fortunately happened to be standing near her on the narrow space of the deck at this point. He, seeing his daughter's danger, caught her firmly around the waist and held on with all his strength. At the same time the machinery was twisting up her skirts and almost in an instant her clothing from her corsets down was stripped entirely off. The moment the clothing caught in the machinery the engineer heard that something was wrong. He turned and sprang for the lever. In the few moments that he was reaching it the rapidly revolving crank had wound the unfortunate lady's skirts about her feet and with such terrible force and suddenness as to wrench her body out of her father's strong arms and of the engine room, this blow dislocating her right shoulder. At the same moment the machinery was stopped, thus saving the lady's life—a few more revolutions would have whirled her about on the hard floor and would have certainly killed her. Mr. McLeod carried his daughter to the after cabin and she was laid on the floor on an improvised couch of shawls, travelling rugs, etc., The sad affair threw a gloom over the whole party, and the blithesome laugh of enjoyment changed to hushed whispers. Fortunately the cool-headed Capt. Eden knew that Dr. Might of Port Hope was camping on Gin Island about a mile away. Thither he steamed at once and Dr. Might getting on board, temporarily bandaged the unfortunate lady's broken limbs. The rest of the

FLING HER VIOLENTLY TO THE FLOOR

ROUTE OF THE STEAMER WAS CANCELLED

and Mrs. Sawers was conveyed to Lakefield. On the way down the steamer halted at Dr. Douglass' place and took him on board. On arrival at Lakefield a long wait had to be made for the train, and the

KINDNESS OF THE LAKEFIELD PEOPLE,

as well as those on board, can never be forgotten by the family. Rev. Mr. Farncomb, Episcopal clergyman, and Mr. Dinwoodie generously placed their houses at the service of Mr. McMoLeod, in case Mrs. Sawers' removal by train was considered inadvisable, while Mrs. Sherin and others generously supplied pillows, blankets, etc. However, the ready resources of Dr. Douglass, whose large experience as an army surgeon stood him in good stead, were equal to the occasion. A box car was procured, hastily cleaned out, and a comfortable hammock suspended from the ceiling of the car. Mrs. Sawers was placed on a stretcher and tenderly carried to the station. She was placed in the hammock and conveyed to town with comparative comfort, and removed to her residence, where Dr. Boucher and Dr. Douglass gave the required surgical attention. Both legs were found to have the bones being considerably comminuted, indeed, a fragment of bone was found on the floor of the engine room where the accident occurred. The dislocation was reduced and the fractures dressed under the influence of anesthetics.

SUSTAINED COMPOUND FRACTURES,

To add to the melancholy circumstances, Mr. Sawers is absent from home for the benefit of his health. He is staying at Preston Mineral Springs, seeking relief from an attack of rheumatism. Full particulars of the accident were wired him and he is expected home this evening.

Both he and Mr. McLeod and family have the undivided sympathy of the community in their trouble. Both the father and mother of Mrs. Sawers were on board the steamer and the miserable hours of agony and suspense they experienced from two o'clock till nine when their injured daughter arrived home, was a terrible strain. Mr. McLeod especially, who was an eye-witness to the sad affair, was fearfully shocked, but he has this satisfaction in his distress, of knowing that his presence and exertions saved his daughter's life.

At noon to-day, Mrs. Sawers was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, resting easily, and comparatively cheerful.

Forepaugh's Circus.

Forepaugh's circus arrived in town early this morning by special trains, when the work of transferring the show from the cars to the Agricultural Park was commenced, accompanied by the usual excitement and bustle. The gigantic tents were put up on the park grounds.

The Great Forepaugh.

The following is from the Globe, relative to the last performance of Forepaugh's great show in Boston. The final performance of Forepaugh's circus was given on the Union and Coliseum grounds last night to an attendance that filled nearly every seat under the spacious canvas.

Capt. Bogardus and sons went through their wonderful feats with the rifle in a manner that was as marvellous as it is unequalled, while the Wild West border show, typifying the life of the border men, the pony express, Indian war dance, the attack upon the United States mail coach by Indians, and rescue by cowboys, were all given with a realism that was admirable. Daisy Belmont as the dashing rider was one of the features of the entertainment, while Annie Carroll, Sam. Watson and Wm. Showles were excellent in their respective acts. The performance of the trained elephants under the management of Adam Forepaugh, jr., was truly wonderful.

Blondin, the only horse ever trained to walk tight ropes and climb ladders, received his meed of public praise, which was certainly deserved. Perhaps the most exciting part of the entire presentation was the Roman hippodrome races, four-in-hand, the chariots being driven by competent performers and the teams whirling round and round the ring with a speed which, unless practically proven, might be reasonably doubted, drew forth round upon round of applause. Pickaninny, the clown elephant, and Sullivan, the boxing elephant, were most comical.

Money talks. Adam Forepaugh has outlived all competitors for Madison Square Garden, New York City, and takes possession of this Great Amusement Structure in November. Novel attractions never before witnessed in the Metropolis will be presented, and Adam Forepaugh, jr., says he will show the public that some members of the animal kingdom are endowed with almost human wisdom. Last performance to-night, when all the features will be presented.

What the Toronto "Mail," August 7th says of Prof. Dorenwend.

"The Palace Hair Store of the Dominion is A. Dorenwend's, the Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street. The different artistic styles in hair goods turned out at this establishment for elegance and durability have no equal. He manufactures and keeps in stock some of the most becoming and natural looking goods that will defy competition. At this season of the year when things generally are quiet he is busy from morning till night filling orders in ladies' and gents' wigs, ladies' bangs, waves, switches and other styles, and has succeeded in establishing a reputation for his renowned styles second to none on the American continent. Ladies or gentlemen who have lost their hair and want to appear natural looking should not forget to inspect his stock or send for his price list, which will be sent free on application. Note his advertisement in another column." The Prof. will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of hair goods. d32-4-w2

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

St. Catharines, Sept. 20th, 1885.

Gentlemen,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two eminent trussed people in York State, another one said "Nothing would relieve my Hernia. Have worn your truss over forty months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, Capt. R. Kane.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest sports. It will cure every day; and 95 out of every 100 of infants. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamps for your freedom; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

WEAKNESS OF THE NEW TORY GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Immediately after the extremely effective speeches of Sir William Vernon Harcourt and of Mr. T. P. O'Connor the Liberal Unionists, together with their chiefs, Lord Hartington, Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Henry James and others, retired to a corner of the lobby and were engaged for some time in an earnest conversation. Subsequently they despatched their whip, Mr. Caine, to Lord Randolph Churchill, with whom he had a prolonged interview. It is believed that he bore to the leader of the House the unwelcome news that the Liberal Unionists would not be able to support the Irish land projects of the government. This belief is further corroborated by the ominous silence with which the party in question received the proposals contained in Lord Randolph Churchill's speech. These rumors indicate the present situation with remarkable accuracy. The government is proving itself feeble beyond the worst anticipations of its enemies. There is a growing feeling in the House that the country is merely being trifled with by all these proposed inquiries into matters with which every member is perfectly well acquainted.

The policy of the government consists of two special points. Firstly, that the question of social order in Ireland must be treated by itself, and secondly, that the landlords may use their own judgment in evicting tenants. Now, with regard to the first point, Mr. Chamberlain has repeatedly declared himself to be of an absolutely contrary opinion. On numerous recent occasions he has expressed himself to the effect that the pacification of Ireland depended on the concession of the right to govern itself in matters of purely local interest; whilst as to the second point Mr. Chamberlain's own words may be quoted on the subject: "I would bring in," said he, "a bill to stay all evictions for a period of six months."

In view of the above considerations, it is simply impossible that Mr. Chamberlain's unnatural alliance with the Tory party should last much longer. His speech, which is expected to be made next Monday, is therefore awaited with the great at possible interest. There is a rumor to night that Sir Michael Hicks Beach will on Monday next, announce a change of front on the part of the government, but not much credence is attached thereto. The fact, however, that such speeches as those of Sir William Harcourt and T. P. O'Connor were allowed to go forth to the country last night unanswered altogether unprecedented. It may possibly indicate that the government has already to contend with some internal dissensions in the Cabinet. Indeed, with so petulent, quarrelsome and unreliable a man as Lord Randolph Churchill at the head of the affairs this may occur at any moment.

In the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—In the House of Commons last night Lord Randolph Churchill announced that the government would oppose all notices of motions and private members' bills, in order not to prolong the session. Mr. Labouchere occasioned laughter by asking if the government would agree to refer such bills to a royal commission.

Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, in the House of Commons yesterday, in relation to the fisheries question, said that the negotiations between England, Canada and the United States had not yet reached a stage where it was possible to appoint a joint commission to settle the matter in dispute. He did not say, as was reported, that it was intended to appoint such a commission.

The Salonika Dissatisfied.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The silence of the Liberal Unionists in the Commons in the debate now going on over the Tory Government's Irish policy is beginning to attract attention. Rumors are current that the Liberal Unionists disapprove of the Irish land policy outlined by Lord Churchill.

A TOBACCO MERCHANT SKIPS.

The Toronto Banks Lose Something by him —A Brantford Cigar Firm Involved.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—Considerable talk is heard amongst the creditors of L. Isaacs, Havana and seed tobacco merchant, of St. Nicholas-street, as his absence from the city. The manager of La Banque Nationale, who holds a large amount of Isaacs' paper, states that he is informed Isaacs has left. The bank he says, is secured for every cent it has advanced, which does not amount to $40,000, as rumored on the street. The liabilities are large, in the neighborhood of $60,000. The office on St. Nicholas street is closed, the clerk informing creditors or their representatives that the whereabouts of the head of the firm is not known. Mr. Isaacs' absence from the city is attributed to the fact that he is mixed up in a "kiting" transaction with a Toronto firm, which was the subject of a verbal complaint being had before the Police Magistrate late. This had the effect of forcing Mr. Isaacs to hand over $14,000 of the notes, the balance, it is said, being held by a bank in Ontario.

Meetings in Sympathy with the Condemned Anarchists.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Fifteen hundred German, Bohemian and Polish Socialists held a meeting last night to express sympathy with the convicted Anarchists of Chicago. The hall had been warned by the police not to make any incendiary speeches, and the proceedings were tame. A small collection was taken up for the families of the Chicago "martyrs."

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—There was a meeting here last night of all the female relations of the sentenced Anarchists. They were reinforced by men from all parts of the city, and Miss Spies subsequently said that over $4000 had been subscribed to carry the case to the Supreme Court.

A FOOL'S SUCCESS.

A MAN SUCCESSFULLY SWIMS THE NIAGARA RAPIDS.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 21.—William J. Kendall, of Boston, Mass., arrived at the Falls yesterday and took into his confidence two or three men at the Falls, telling them that he intended to swim the Whirlpool Rapids before his return with a cork vest. He made up his mind this morning to make the perilous trip. After dinner he wended his way to the old Maid of the Mist Landing at Suspension Bridge, N. Y. He doffed his clothes and entered the water at 1.30 p.m. with a pair of trunks and a cork vest. The vest consists of five pieces of cork 16 inches long by 4 inches wide, 2 inches thick. The vest was made similar to a life preserver, the pieces of cork being sewed in white canvas and transpired around his chest, being two pieces in front and three on the back. It buttoned under the chin and buckled down the front, completely incasing his trunk from shoulders to the hips.

After entering the water he swam out to the center of the river below the Cantilever bridge and looked down the middle current. Nothing more was heard of him until he drove up from the whirlpool on the Canada side and stepped on the Waverly House, accompanied by his friends—Wm. Walker, S. J. Tobey, Frank Sale, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Fred. James, of Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

Kendall said he never dreamt that the Rapids were as bad as they are. The trip was to settle a wager of $50,000 that was made in Boston that he could not swim the Rapids and come out alive, he to wear the cork vest. Being an expert naval swimmer, his backers felt confident he could do it. He is to receive $1000 of the stakes. He stated that after he reached the spot where Capt. Webb was supposed to have lost his life the water seemed to go from under him and a huge wave seemed to strike him on top of his head and shoulders, which knocked him unconscious for a few minutes, and he found his swimming abilities were of no earthly use to him, and he never expected to come out alive. When entering the maelstrom of the whirlpool he was so benumbed that he could not use a limb and did not know what he was doing. The current took him right into the main eddy or pool, and when reaching it sucked him down like a flash. He threw up his hands, never expecting to again see daylight. He was under water fully 15 seconds. Upon reaching an under-current he was shot out of the pool fully fifty feet from its centre. On reaching the top of the water he had partly regained consciousness and knew there was no time to spare before he would again be dashed down the lower rapids. He made an attempt to swim out, which he accomplished. When landing at the water's edge he was so overcome that he could not lift a hand or foot, and he became unconscious. It took his assistants fully half an hour to bring him to with stimulants and rubbing. When asked if he would ever make another try he said, most emphatically, "No, sir, there is not enough money in the world to induce me to repeat my afternoon's experience." He said a child would have the same chance to go through the Rapids and come out all right as an expert swimmer would. He said the huge waves struck and knocked him about the same as they would a cork, he not having the slightest control of himself. He was somersaulted half a dozen times owing to the huge breakers striking him on the head and shoulders. At times they would throw him twenty feet head over heels, and if it had not been for the cork vest, which always brought him to the top, he would not be now alive to tell his experience.

It took him 8 minutes to go from the Railway bridge to the whirlpool. He is 24 years of age, stands 5 feet 3 inches, light complexion, small red side whiskers, weighs 125 lbs, and is well proportioned. He said he was not looking for notoriety, that there was no honor attached to attempting any such foolhardy trips, and that he would not have done it only he did not wish to go back on his friends in Boston. He was born in New York, but spent most of his time in Boston, and had been engaged on the police force of that city. After resting at the Waverly House for an hour, where hundreds called to see him, he left for his hotel at the Falls about 4 p.m.

Irish Tenantry Purchase their Holdings.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The tenants of the London Salters Company estates at Magherfelt, Londonderry, have purchased their holdings under Lord Ashbourne's Land Purchase Act. The price is £226,000, or 19½ years' purchase at a net annual valuation, which is 20 to 25 per cent. below the present rent.

The Seventy-Sixth Victim.

A New Irish League.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—It is reported upon good authority that the opponents of the present administration of the Irish Land League of America have decided to form a new league, that municipal councils will be formed in the large cities and a National Convention called to give the movement a head. Men like Eugene Kelly in New York, W. P. Rend and Michael Cudahy in this city are expected to be active in the affair.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

Archbishop Croke Urges Resistance to Oppression and Causes a Sensation.

Cable Despatch to N. Y. World.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The condition of Ireland is the all-absorbing topic of the moment. The evictions continue on a wholesale scale in Kerry, and the most heart-rending scenes are reported in the Irish papers. The unfortunate tenants have become exasperated to the last degree, and the country is becoming exceeding disturbed. The London press expresses surprise at the "unruly state of the unfortunate inhabitants" of that part of Ireland, and declares that it cannot comprehend "why the agrarian population does not settle down into ways of peace and contentment." The government announced yesterday that they were about to send General Sir Redvers Buller, who has the reputation of being an unusually severe man, to restore order by proclaiming, if necessary, martial law in the disturbed district. Ireland appears to have accepted the challenge contained in his appointment, for Archbishop Croke, replying to an address at Midleton, Mallow, to-day, while commending the Irish people to be patient in tribulation, urged them to exhibit firmness and to be ready to resist in case the government should make war upon them. He likewise advised the people to continue the strongest possible agitation until the rights of Ireland were secured. The Archbishop's speech has caused the greatest sensation. It will doubtless cause much anxiety to the Tory government, whose lines just now do not seem to be cast in pleasant places.

THE MASSACHUSETTS POISONERS.

A Doctor Added to the Two Prisoners Previously Arrested.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Dr C C Beers was arrested by Sergt. Cavanagh of the Somerville Police Court yesterday on a charge of murdering Lizzie A Robinson by poisoning in conjunction with Mrs Sarah Jane Robinson. The doctor was arrested at his office, corner of Tremont and Kirst streets, in this city. Dr Beers was arraigned before the Somerville Police Court in company with Mrs. Robinson. Dr. Beers was asked to plead to the complaint by the clerk. "Are you guilty or not guilty of the complaint?" He straightened up and in an impressive tone replied "In the presence of a holy God I am not guilty." Mrs. Robinson was then asked to plead, and she arose and said in a clear though tremulous voice "No, sir, I am not guilty. I was away in the west when my daughter was taken sick. She was taken sick in November and died in February." Mrs Robinson and Dr. Beers were committed to Cambridge jail without bail, their cases being continued until to-day.

The Butler and the High-born Maiden.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

It would seem as if there were no satisfying the changeful mind of woman. Everybody knows the disastrous effect produced on the simple village maiden when the versatile Lord of Burleigh dropped the role of painter and showed himself in his true colors. Taking warning by this young lady's sad fate, Mr. Crowley, a thoughtful butler, determined to reverse the order of things in the Lord of Burleigh's sequel proceedings. So he went to America called himself Hon. Seymour Conway, and wooed and won a high-born maiden to his wife. He then brought his wife to his battery in England, where he, of course, dropped the Hon. Seymour part of himself and prepared to settle down to domestic life. But instead of being delighted at this little surprise the lady is terribly annoyed. It is true she has not cried, but she has done the next best thing, and instituted divorce proceedings. Courting in fancy dress seems not to be a success whichever way it is tried.

THE BURLEIGH CANAL

A GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK.

The "Petrona Portion" of the Trent Valley Navigation Route—The Contract Well on to Completion—The Winter's Snow Likely to Rest on the Finished Work.

The work of construction of the locks at Burleigh Falls is a great one, and the sight is well worth seeing, especially as the trip thither from town is a most delightful one. But to see the works one must get there. To do so, the tourist will, as did a representative of the EXAMINER a day or two ago, make a run of a few minutes by rail to Lakefield. The next step finds the traveller on board the tidy little Cruiser, in charge of the ever-obliging and affable Captain Eden, whose kindness and attention to the wants of his passengers, make the little boat an Eden for the time being. If he were a professional witness he couldn't submit more courteously to the cross-questioning of tourists, and his abundance of lake lore enables to answer all questions relating to the scenery and surroundings promptly and fully. Through Clear Lake, unbroken by a single island, we steam into Stony Lake,

A VERITABLE WILDERNESS OF ISLETS, from the size of a granite hay cock to several acres in extent. Here we see the "Devil's Kibow," now we pass through "Hell Gate," so narrow that we almost graze the sheer wall of granite on port and starboard sides, and here and there we drop parties of campers going to join their friends on various islands. Frequent and snowy the white gleam of the tents of campers breaks through or disappears among the enterprising trees that rise green from the scanty soil in the rock clefts, as the islands disappear astern or loom up forward. There is an increasing interest developing in the lake region as a summer resort. Many of the islands are being taken up, and there are this season numerous permanent cottages being erected. The more these waters are known the more they are appreciated, and if the project of is carried out, there is no reason why these lakes should not be the Mecca of town-tired and city-suffering pilgrims who desire at moderate cost to get the advantage of fresh air, rich in ozone, pure waters, first-rate fishing, and, in the latter part of the season, first-rate duck shooting.

About noon the whistle sounds for Burleigh Falls, and we find ourselves on a large island through which the Burleigh Chute is cleft. Here are the canal works. But before doing "the works," as local parlance distinguishes them, we encounter mine host, Holmes, genial and hospitable. He introduces us into a bright, clean, cosy, dining hall and puts us at table where an and promptly and quietly served, gives one an opportunity for abundantly satisfying the ravenous appetite the continuous dose of ozone in the lake air has developed on the trip up. Mr. Holmes is a pattern Boniface, and the tourist who wishes to spend a few pleasant days in rambles, sketching outings or fishing excursions, will find the Burleigh Falls Hotel capital headquarters. There have been many American guests at his hotel this summer and they are delighted with the situation, having the best of treatment and fare at very moderate rates, and all possible enjoyment without the drawback of a single insect pest.

Having dined sumptuously and sufficiently let us turn our attention to the canal. But before taking the walk of a hundred yards or so to "the works," let us turn up the Blue Book at hand and look up the Trent navigation system a little.

The execution of this scheme

WAS BEGUN IN 1837,

and at the end of half a century we find it far from finished. The total distance to be opened up between Trenton and Georgian Bay is about 235 miles; of this, half is not completed, even when taking into account the great stretches of navigable waters that only require the construction of intermediate portions to make the system continuous. The present government, in whose name Sir Charles Tupper fathered the work, has with all its paternal zeal, only completed, if this season's programme is carried out, some three miles of actual canal work (though the increase of navigable water is greater by the connecting links alluded to above). The

BURLEIGH FALLS SECTION

at present demands more detailed attention. This section of the proposed and actual system of Trent Valley Navigation consists essentially in the construction of two combined locks, filling the boiling ravine of adamant granite known as the Big Burleigh Chute. These locks are calculated to overcome a difference in water level of some 28 feet, each lock having a lift of 14 feet. The length of each lock is 134 feet between gates, width 33 feet, and the depth on the mitre sills, five feet. These locks are constructed entirely of cut stone, each immense block fitted to its fellow with the utmost exactitude. The side walls are nine feet in thickness of solid masonry, the stones below the water line being laid in Portland cement and above that line in Thorold water lime. The side walls have a height of 22 feet. They are firmly bedded on the solid granite, the foundation walls extending some seven or eight feet below the level of the mitre sills. However, in some places, to reach the bed rock, a depth of from six to twenty feet had to be filled in with masonry before beginning the foundations. The most casual spectator cannot but be struck with the nature of the work. And it is well that it is so, for nothing but the most substantial structure can insure the present locks lasting till the canal is completed throughout, so dim and undefined are the prospects of the entire route of the canal being prepared for navigation within the present or even two or three succeeding generations. That is, according to the rate of progress now being made in putting additional sections under contract.

EXCEEDINGLY SOLID AND ENDURING

The section at Burleigh Falls, however, since Mr. George Goodwin has been awarded the contract, has progressed more rapidly than one would have thought would, from the exceedingly difficult nature of the work, have been possible. At the beginning of the contract's existence, preparations for carrying on the work vigorously were begun, such as quarrying stone, etc. But owing to the actual condition prevailing in the Big Chute, being of the Government engineer, a slight hitch took place, and operations were suspended from November, 1884, to September, 1885, when the difficulties were settled and work was begun in earnest. Since that time it has been prosecuted with the most unremitting vigour and visitors to the spot are greatly impressed with the busy scene before them. Heaped in gigantic stacks along the banks of the chute, like the output of the quarry of Cyclops, are thousands of tons of limestone blocks, shaped by the chisel, ready to be lowered to the place appointed for them. Here and there large derricks worked by horse power or steam spread their long arms, and with their iron tentacles and place them in situ, as easily and gently as a labourer would lay a brick, upon the lorries which convey them to the places they are required on the line of the locks. Just inside the line of wall of either side of the lock are erected stagings. On these are laid down a narrow gauge line of railway along which the trucks, or lorries mentioned, convey the stone. At suitable places here, are placed other derricks which lower the stone into the bed of cement prepared for them. Of course face of the lock walls are of cut stone but for the filling in in rear of this huge stone roughly hammered into shape with the bed face dressed level, are used. So great is the attention paid to thoroughness of work in erecting the side walls of the lock, that before the stone is placed in position, a strong stream of water is applied to it from a hose nozzle and every particle of earth, debris or foreign matter that would interfere with the making of a perfect bond, is washed off.

AT VARIANCE WITH THE SPECIFICATIONS

GRASP THE HUGE MONOLITHS

THE DIFFICULTIES OF THE WORK.

The difficulty of the natural conditions to be overcome were immense. The unwatering of the rocky ravine called the Chute, a necessary preliminary to the beginning of actual work, was a task involving great labor and expense. At the site of the coffer dams the bottom was of a most uneven surface, covered with irregular boulders and masses of rock, tilted on edge, rendering the services of professional divers necessary for a month before a handful of filling could be put in, and it was with the utmost labor and perseverence that the dams were made approximately water-tight. Even now a steam pump at each end of the chute is constantly working to keep the gulch dry enough for work.

In addition to the locks at Burleigh, a dam 600 feet in length is to be thrown across the river a short distance below the rapids, south of Perry's creek. This dam will raise the water high enough to overcome these rapids and make them navigable. It is included in Mr. Goodwin's contract, but he has sub-let it to Mr. Joseph Fillion, who has just begun work, with a gang of fifteen or twenty men, upon its construction. The dam will be provided with a slide or slides for the passage of saw logs and timber.

THE LOVESICK LOCKS

are also under contract to Mr. Goodwin, and he has all the stone and masonry material upon the ground and about forty or fifty men are at work preparing for laying the masonry. Five dams will also be built here to raise the rapids to navigable level. The Lovesick locks have walls only 14 feet high, and the lift is only 6 feet. The Buckhorn locks have a lift of 12 feet and those at Fenelon Falls have the same lift as those at Burleigh—14 feet.

At the rate at which work is progressing, Mr. Goodwin expects to have the locks both at Burleigh and Lovesick

COMPLETED THIS SEASON.

It is not expected, however, that the gates will be placed in position, but they are under construction and will be in readiness for placing in position in time for the opening of navigation next year. If this can be done a clear stretch of navigable water will be thrown open from Lakefield to Balsam Lake, the head waters of the system, opening up about 150 miles of direct and lateral navigation, and it is proposed to organize a press excursion over these waters early next summer.

At present there are employed on the Burleigh works about 200 men. Of these about stonecutters, masons, carpenters, etc. It is estimated that there will be laid about 12,000 cubic yards of solid masonry in connection with lock construction.

The following are the chief members of the contractor's staff:—Mr. George Goodwin, contractor; (Mr. J. S. Aylmer, resident Government engineer;) Mr. Ed. Wade, general superintendent of construction; Mr. Wm. Loughren, foreman of stonecutters and masons; Mr. Ed. Dawson, superintendent of works at Lovesick; Mr. L. T. Wade, foreman of carpenters; Mr. E. Brophy, storekeeper; Mr. Joseph Timbers, book-keeper; Mr. H. P. King, time-keeper; and Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls hotel, ex loco parentis to the whole staff.

At present the work is rushing at a great rate, many of the

MEN ARE WORKING OVER TIME

and long into the night, as light will permit, they are busy erecting and shifting derricks, etc., in readiness for the next day's operations, beginning at 6.30.

NOTES.

Nearly all the material used has to be imported. The sand is brought from Sandy Point, on Clear Lake. Even the soil for filling in the coffer dams and for the new dam will have to be brought great distances. There is no soil in the vicinity except in the crevices of the rocks. It would be difficult for two persons to settle a feud in the aboriginal manner—there isn't earth enough to bury the hatchet without robbing some struggling tree of its sustenance.

The stone used is obtained in quarries on the Ledge-Campbell farm in the township of Smith, about a mile south of the chute. It is conveyed by teams to the spot. These quarries supply magnificent material, the size of the blocks of solid, smooth limestone to be procured, being only limited by the requirements of construction and the capacity for handling them. About twenty men are employed at the quarry, and as many teams as can be secured are employed in hauling the stone.

There are three blacksmith shops on the grounds—the sharpening of drills is a great industry—the average life of a drill in the adamantine granite of Burleigh being only about two or three inches. There are also two carpenter shops on the grounds.

There are twenty-one horses employed at the works, including "Maxoppa."

For transportation there are employed the trim and tidy three ton steam yacht "Irene" and two barges. With a thirty-two inch screw the Irene can dodge islands in Stony Lake at the rate of 10 miles an hour.

The gates on the locks in these waters are of similar construction to those of the Welland and Lachine canals.

Seven or eight feet under the rubbish that covered the bottom of the Chute, when unwatered, was found by one of the workmen, an Indian spear head, of Lake Superior copper, with a rude socket for the insertion of the shaft. It is probable that some adventurous aboriginal on his way from Lake George to New York State, tried to run these rapids and the spear head is the only token of the calamity left. This was on the trail usually taken by the Indians of the Lake Superior regions to Lake George, the council grounds.

A sample of engineering eccentricity is found in the piers for the swing as the head of the Chute. On the northern side the pier is of wood, and on the southern, of solid stonework. It strikes the uninitiated as singular that a permanent portion of a work probable to last for centuries, should be patched with a mere wooden pier, whose life cannot be more than a dozen or fifteen years. But it was so "nominated in the bond." The engineer's specifications called for it thus, and thus it was built.

Parties desiring to visit the works, and the trip will well pay for itself, can go upon the steamer and have time to view the works and take dinner at the hotel, before she starts out for the head of the lake.

Why will you suffer when 25c. will buy a bottle of West's Pain King, and one dose will cure the worst case of colic or cramps, and a few doses will cure summer complaint, dysentry, diarrhœa or flux. All druggists. d&w

Omemee.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Wet weather to-day causes quite a gloom after such beautiful weather for saving the barley harvest, which is very favorable.

Farmers are not grumbling much for a wonder this summer. Many have really more blessings bestowed upon them than they deserve.

PROFESSIONAL.—We hear two new doctors viz: Furren and Cochrane, who come well recommended. Would like to see a young lawyer and banker to complete the quartette for the grand opening.

MARRIAGE.—Our village had serenaded Wm. C. Tully and his bride, and W. Bradburn and his bride also, last week, and were most hospitably entertained at both places.

Geo. Morrison, Esq., J.P., is visiting his son, John, station agent, Maberly, C.P.R.

Dr. Cornwall, has been elected mayor, the office having become vacant by the death of the late and much lamented Dr. Norris. Samuel Lamb elected councillor.

The hotel keepers have escaped being fined here, which speaks well for their modesty and thoughtfulness.

Capt. Evans and Lieut. Thornton, of No. 5 company, 45th battalion, have one of the finest drilled companies and best looking men to be found in the rural districts. They go into camp at Kingston, September 8th.

THE BEAUTIFUL.—Travellers and tourists are all of the same opinion in acknowledging that the young ladies of Omemee are the handsomest and most numerous of any similar sized place in the Dominion.

Young's Point.

On the Death of Little Jimmy Dickens.

November the fifth being a cold, dark evening,
When the chilly winds made a distinct moan,
The messenger came for sweet little Jimmy
And called him away to his heavenly home.

Sad, sad is the break in our little home circle,
Where nature's endearments are severed in twain,
A sweet little flower has been plucked from our bosom,
And we now, in this life, shall behold him again.

The little high chair now sits back from the table,
As if waiting for some one that was died to take;
And many small relics laid by in the bureau
All remind us of one that can ne'er be forgot.

But why do we linger o'er fond recollections
When none but the natural man doth complain?
Let us look through the veil—and as through a glass darkly—
With the eye of sweet faith we behold him again.

Like a sweet little flower in bud he was taken—
Before the rough leaves of this life did unfold;
Too tender and sweet for the rough blasts of nature,
He is now a house-plant in the City of Gold.

Whose the foundation walls of the city are garnished
With stones in their beauty none them can surpass
Whose the gates are of pearl and the streets are of gold?
As pure and refined as the transparent glass.

In that beautiful home of the blest we behold him,
Where the robe of the ransomed is ever his dress;
Enjoying the joys of the joyful in Heaven,
Which joys we might foretaste, but cannot express.

Oh! why should we weep o'er the graves of departed ones,
Or sink beneath Heaven's chastening rod?
We know they shall bloom with the sweet rose of Sharon
In the glorified presence of Heaven's great God.

So farewell, sweet son, we know thou art waiting,
Though the angelic beauty we cannot see
We know that thou art safe in the bosom of Him
Who said "Suffer the children to come unto me."

We know that thou art waiting, but we're on our journey
Though troubled and trials we meet every day,
Oh! may we be found with our lamps trimmed and burning,
When the Messenger cometh to call us away.

FLOUR.

There seems to become misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers that buy that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other dealers and millers, a good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retailed at $2.50 per hundred.

"BAKERS"

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred

BAKER'S FLOUR (ground from Manitoba Hard and Ontario Spring Wheat), $2.50 per Hundred.

FAMILY FLOUR (ground from Ontario Wheat), $2.25 per Hundred.

LOW GRADE FLOUR, $2.00 per Hundred.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $300 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first charge or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgagor may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Profit on Peanuts.

A polished peanut vendor in Forepaugh's tent worked a good "fake" on numerous patrons of the charmed circle. His manner of operation was to approach spooney couples with a friendly smile, scrape out of his basket a glassful or so of nuts, pour them in the lap of the lady, and look to the gent for pay, invariably asking for 25c. for probably 5c. worth. The outrageous price was generally paid rather than create a scene.

High Commendation.

Mr. Bannell Sawyer, of the Peterborough Business College, has received the following note. It explaines itself.

Stratford, Aug. 18, 1886.

Prof. Sawyer, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR.—Received penwork ordered from you some days ago all O.K. I am indeed very much obliged to you and would have considered it very reasonable at four times the cost. Though I have had samples from various professional penmen in the U.S. and Canada, I had no idea such elaborate work could be done with pen and ink.

Yours very resp.,

Mangled in a Mill.

Albert Fier Gets Caught in the Machinery of Mathews & Hutchison's Mill, and is Terribly Bruised and Wounded—Held by the Gearing and Dragged up a Big Wheel.

On Saturday night Albert Fier, employed in Mathews & Hutchison's flour mills, met with a terrible accident by being caught in the machinery gearing, and narrowly escaped a horrible death. About nine o'clock one of the middling spouts became clogged. Fier, with a lantern in his hand, went up to the second storey to assist in clearing the spout to clear away the obstruction. In lifting off the spout lid, his shirt was caught in the cogs of the gearing which quickly drew him in toward the wheels. Fier, with great presence of mind, dropped the lantern (which immediately went out) and taking hold of the spout with one hand protected his arm from being pulled in. As it was the wheels twisted the shirt and coat sleeve off his arm, the teeth of the wheels crushing the flesh of part of the arm in doing so. He extricated his arm but the cogs had fastened in the coat and the force of the motion turned his back to the gearing, which quickly stripped the clothing from off his body, inflicting terrible wounds from his shoulder to his hip. At the same time drawing his head under the wheel of a conveyer above. While the gearing held him in its terrible grip the cogs of the conveyer gearing ground the scalp off his head from the neck to the crown, about six inches square. A spout prevented his leg from being caught in the gearing. Fortunately the hand on Fier's trousers parted from the garments, and he succeeded by a great effort in extricating himself. Bruised and bleeding he proceeded down stairs, shut down the mill and started for his boarding house. Before going far he met a boy, who went for Mr. Brown, of the electric light works. Mr. Brown helped him home. Dr. Kincaid attended and dressed his wounds, the most serious of which was the scalp wound, about six inches square, exposing the skull, and a deep wound several inches long on the left side near the spine. Fier is young and is blessed with a vigorous constitution, and there are hopes of his recovery.

Church Chimes.

Rev. Mr. Little conducted the services in St. Paul's church yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Davis occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street Methodist Church yesterday morning.

The anthem "Consider the Lilies" was sung by the choirs of St. Paul and St. John's churches on Sunday, by the former in the morning and the latter in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Keene, conducted the services in the George street Methodist Church on Sunday morning and in the Charlotte street church in the evening. His discourses were able and impressive and were listened to by large congregations.

Rev. J. C. Wilson, of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, occupied the pulpit of the George street Methodist church on Sunday evening, and delivered a powerful and interesting sermon.

Personal.

Mrs. C. W. Sawers, injured on board the Cruiser, is doing better, almost, than could be expected under the circumstances. She rests easily and is comparatively free from severe pain.

Mr. Sawers, who is at Preston Springs for his health, is not in a condition of health to come home. His answer to the telegram requiring his presence was to this effect.

Arrived.

Prof. R. Watkins, veterinary dentist, has arrived, and may be consulted at the City Hotel. 2d.

A Grateful Acknowledgement.

Mr. Duncan McLeod desires on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sawers, to return the most cordial thanks to those on board the steamer Cruiser, and to the citizens of Lakefield for their exceeding kindness and practical sympathy exercised and shown on the occasion of the terrible accident to his daughter, last Friday.

The Rifle.

The following representatives of the Peterborough Rifle Association left town this morning for Toronto, to take part in the Dominion matches to be shot in that city this week:—Lieut. W. H. Hill, Lieut. Dr. Brennan, and Messrs. D. Cameron, W. Bell, Geo. Fitzgerald, A. Blade and Robt. Smith. It is hoped they will be as successful this year as they have been heretofore in securing prizes and medals.

Forepaugh's Circus.

The great Forepaugh's circus exhibited on the agricultural grounds on Saturday. Both the afternoon and evening performances were well patronized. In addition to the splendid menagerie and the usual circus performances, Forepaugh's specialties of the Wild West Show, the shooting of Capt. Bogardus and his sons, the tight-rope walking by Blondin, the fearless horse, the performing of Adam Forepaugh, jr's famous elephant herd and the hippodrome races were the subject of well-merited admiration. Forepaugh has fully sustained his good reputation.

Police Court.

George Powers was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by P. C. Adams with using profane language on the public street. He admitted the charge and was fined $5, to be paid by three o'clock.

Wm. Conway was charged by P. C. McGinty with being drunk in a public place on Sunday. He admitted the charge. The magistrate imposed a fine of $5 or 10 days. William, not having the V, was sent up.

Henry Filsinger, charged by Mrs. E. Stewart with assault, pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Stewart stated that Filsinger left her house some time ago, owing about $50 for board. To secure payment of this sum, she kept a trunk of his. Last week Filsinger entered the house and went to his trunk for some articles. Mrs. Stewart tried to prevent him from taking anything by sitting on the trunk, off of which the defendant pulled her. Filsinger remarked to the magistrate that he did not see how he owed $50. He thought Mrs. Stewart charged him too much, as he had helped her around the house. The magistrate asked him what he meant by "helping her around the house." He replied: "I helped her on wash-days." The magistrate, after smiling, enlarged the case till Wednesday.

Baseball.

What promises to be an exciting game of baseball will be played on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Wednesday, between the Peterborough and Whitby teams. The Whitby Cornet Band, under the auspices of which an excursion is run to town on that day, will play on the grounds during the match. A fine exhibition of the game, on good grounds and under good management, may be expected.

What the Toronto "Mail," August 7th says of Prof. Dorenwend.

"The Palace Hair Store of the Dominion is A. Dorenwend's, the Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street. The different artistic styles in hair goods turned out at this establishment for elegance and durability have no equal. He manufactures and keeps in stock some of the most becoming and natural looking goods that will defy competition. At this season of the year when things generally are quiet he is busy from morning till night filling orders in ladies' and gents' wigs, ladies' bangs, waves, switches and other styles, and has succeeded in establishing a reputation for his renowned styles second to none on the American continent. Ladies or gentlemen who have lost their hair and want to appear natural looking should not forget to inspect his stock or send for his price list, which will be sent free on application. Note his advertisement in another column." The Prof. will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of hair goods. d32-4-w2

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. The interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole serial.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

DARBY, the heir to Five Million Pounds.

"There is murder going to be done."

I felt the leather hangings on the walls.

I found myself seized by the collar.

We were in peril.

The above Story will shortly be begun in the Daily Examiner.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, the Elastic Trusses made by York Bros., and had no faith. Nothing would induce me to try them, but hearing your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort, even in bed, I felt encouraged to try it. I have thrown away all other trusses, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. [illegible].

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case of rupture that ever came under the treatment of any physician or surgeon, and in fact, at every bill of sickness. It is guaranteed. Don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list, and prescription for you to fill for yourself. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

CRISIS IN BULGARIA.

HOW PRINCE ALEXANDER WAS UNEXPECTEDLY DEPOSED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—The Russian press was less surprised at the deposition of Prince Alexander than it was when Roumelia revolted in 1885, the newspapers here generally for some time past having believed that the political tension in Bulgaria foreshadowed a catastrophe.

SOFIA, Aug. 23.—The Government's proclamation announcing the deposition of Prince Alexander and the reasons therefor, declares that "he rendered great services on the field of battle, but politically he had too little regard for the Bulgarian position as a State and the maintenance of relations with Russia. His deposition on this account was a necessity."

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The North German Gazette says Germany's interests are not touched by Bulgarian occidents.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Times, commenting on the Bulgarian affairs, says: "The coup must, we fear, be regarded, so far as Prince Alexander is concerned, as the end of the chapter for him. The general feeling will be one of respectful sympathy. He failed rather because he was too good for the work fortune had assigned him. The event must be regarded as a triumph of Russian diplomacy, and it is a very impressive event. It is also in a less degree a reverse for England's diplomacy. It is only too clear that the Marquis of Salisbury is confronted with all the dangers and difficulties in an aggravated form which he had to face in his first accession to power."

The news of Prince Alexander's deposition was received at the British Foreign Office yesterday afternoon. The Earl of Iddesleigh, Foreign Minister, went during the evening to the office, and then despatched messengers with the news to all the Cabinet Ministers known to be in the city, and sent a special courier to the Marquis of Salisbury at Hatfield House. There has been great activity at the Foreign Office all day to-day, and an almost continuous telegraphic communication has been kept up with foreign capitals. French feeling favors Prince Alexander's deposition because the prince is a German. Frenchmen hope that Russia's action in the emergency may embroil the central European powers.

The Globe says: "Bulgarian events touch England very remotely compared with Germany and Austria. England will not rush in where others decline to tread."

SOFIA, Aug. 23.—The city has been declared in a state of siege.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 23.—Advices from Sofia say that M. Karaveloff's provisional Government, realizing that public sentiment remained favorable to Prince Alexander, caused a circular to be distributed among the people called a ministerial list, containing the names of prominent men of all parties and classes who, the document declared, were in the new movement, the purpose being to cause a belief that the Government was receiving general support. In addition to the names published this morning as belonging to the new Government, the circular includes such names as M. Stambuloff, M. Manoff, M. Mazymoff, M. Stoiloff, M. Grecoff, M. Ismomoff and M. Gromeff. Such a combination is not considered possible, as many of those named are known to hold such different views as to render their coalition impossible. The garrison at Shumla remains faithful to Prince Alexander and refuse to recognize the provisional Government. Numbers of Bulgarians and prominent Russophobists have already fled to Roumania. The fugitives include many Russian Nihilists who were serving as officers on the Bulgarian flotilla. It is now believed that Prince Alexander is confined in a monastery near Sofia. It is rumored that Premier Karaveloff has been placed under arrest. Only certain telegrams for Russia are permitted to leave Bulgarian territory.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—The Messenger publishes an official communication stating that the relations between Russia and the other powers remain unaltered. The announcement is made for the purpose of rebuking attacks on Russia by papers in Germany and is regarded as an official intimation that the triple alliance is unbroken. Among the decorations presented to the Czar at Krasnoe Selo manœuvres were two members of the Karageorgevitch family, who, it is presumed are relatives of Prince Karageorgevitch, the pretender to the Servian throne.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The news from Bulgaria coming upon a bull market severely depressed stocks on the London Exchange British funds closed ¼ lower, Egyptian, Turkish, Russian and Hungarian funds fell 1 to 1½ closing at worst rates of the day. At Newcastle freights were firmer all around, especially Black Sea homeward grain ships. A Glasgow the exchange was excited, corn advanced 1s. Russian freights were also advancing. On the Vienna bourse prices fluttered Hungarian gold rentes fell 1. At Frankfort there was a heavy declination especially in Austrian and Hungarian securities, but the market closed more cheerful Business on Paris bourse was dull; Suez canal shares fell 23f.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The fall of Prince Alexander has been the absorbing topic of discussion in Paris to-day. France has determined to observe an expectant attitude. President Grevy keeps in continuous communication with all the members of the French ministry

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—M. De Giers, Russian Foreign Minister, who is sojourning at Franzensbad, will, it is stated, almost immediately visit Prince Bismarck and Count Kalnoky Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs. The opinion is general here that Germany and Austria by mutual agreement sacrificed Prince Alexander of Bulgaria in order to preserve the alliance with Russia at the expense of England. Public opinion in Germany sympathizes with Prince Alexander in his misfortune. The Post (Bismarck's organ) has an article on the Bulgarian crisis, which is characterized by amiability of expression toward Russia and unfriendliness to England.

LONDON, Aug 23.—The Marquis of Salisbury returned to London this morning. He has had a long interview with the Earl of Iddesleigh, the Foreign Minister. The coup d'etat in Bulgaria was a complete surprise to both Ministers.

The securities which were affected by the first receipt of news from Bulgaria are now recovering.

A Roumania despatch from Bucharest states all the news from Bulgaria comes at present through official couriers and that no private persons are allowed to enter or leave Bulgaria The telegraph lines have all been stopped The story of the deposition is told as follows: Karaveloff, Prime Minister, entered the palace at Sofia and explained to Prince Alexander that the public opinion of Bulgaria was dissatisfied with his policy and demanded his deposition. Prince Alexander said: "I am at friends—I cannot resist."

Public meetings have been held in Sofia and Rustchuk, and in all them the proclamation of the change of Government was received with favor. The people rejoice over the coup which they say ended an intolerable situation

The Bulgarians are persuaded that Russia will now assist them to consummate a union which they think it is Turkey's design to frustrate.

Prince Alexander was taken completely by surprise. He was astounded at the sudden bursting of the pipe upon him. M. Karaveloff has managed the whole affair with such supreme tact, only an intimation of the coming storm was the murmuring spirit noticeable among the troops. Prince Alexander had ordered the circulation of papers among them which openly declared that he alone was the only obstacle to the union, but his orders in this regard were not obeyed. The affection of the common people for Prince Alexander remains undiminished. A telegram from Bucharest says the Roumanians are very much excited over the Bulgarian crisis.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The events in Bulgaria formed the principal theme of conversation in the lobby of the House of Commons to-night The Parnellites and advanced Radicals hold that diplomatic complications must inevitably ensue, arguing that it will be impossible for the Government to submit to a coup d'etat which so greatly increased the Czar's influence in the Balkans. Ministerialists admit that the deposition of Prince Alexander is a matter of extreme gravity, but they say that even if it be proved that Russia instigated the movement, it will be difficult for Mapland to interfere, because it is generally assumed that Austria and Germany acquiesced in Alexander's overthrow. It is considered improbable by Conservatives that the Government will enter a protest in the matter. The Government has been reliably informed that Prince Alexander is safe and well in Roumania.

BEAUTIES AT WASHINGTON.

The Advent of Mrs. Cleveland Has Put All the Ladies On Their Mettle.

The craze for professional beauties has reached Washington. There had been some attempt at that sort of thing in a mild, vague way, but the advent of the President's beautiful wife and her authorization of the sale of her photographs have given it the impetus necessary to become a fashion and a cult. When she arrived the diplomats, the Senators and the magnificent young department clerks went to criticise and remained to praise. They returned to the drawing-room, to the dinner-tables and the 5 o'clock teas, and raved of her beauty and graces to the women until they thought the thing had gone far enough. They were prepared to give countenance and friendship to the young wife, to admit she was not at all bad-looking, that her taste in dress was good and her manners quite what they should be, but this enthusiasm and excitement they found fatiguing.

"Do you find her so remarkable, my dear?" they asked of each other.

"Well, no; I can't say that I do. She is very well, quite pretty and pleasing in her way, but really I have seen women who were vastly handsomer. But, then, you know men are such sheep about women. One who is an authority praises her and then all the others want to see him that and go him ten better in enthusiasm, as they say in poker."

"Yes, and so they work themselves up to a positively hysterical state of admiration, and if a woman ventures to say anything about overrating it is promptly put down to jealousy. Now, I know many prettier women. There is Mary Jones, for example, from my husband's district. Brought here and advertised and boomed like Mrs Cleveland, she would create vastly more of a sensation."

"Well, why don't you try to bring her here next season and I'll help you to make her the fashion." There is the foundation of the prospect that Washington has next season of seeing the superlative of that positive quantity—American beauty. A great many women have said the same thing. There is to be much rivalry; the London methods of making a professional beauty are to be imported, and the capital city will not only see some of the handsomest women in the land of handsome women, but also a great deal of fun. Meanwhile, Mrs. Cleveland has no rival.

Guarding Against the Spread of Cattle Disease.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—It is understood that in consequence of the appearance of pleuro-pneumonia in the cattle quarantine at Levis an order-in-council has been passed, which will appear in next Saturday's Gazette, prohibiting the importation of meat cattle from those counties in the United Kingdom in which the disease is officially reported to exist. All importers of cattle will be required to certify under oath to the localities from which the cattle have come. Cattle importers and steamship companies should exercise the greatest precaution before shipping any cattle to Canada or they may find themselves in difficulties.

Belfast's Condition at Midnight.

BELFAST, Aug. 23.—This evening a detachment of police attempted to disperse a mob on Shank Hill. The mob became infuriated and threw volley after volley of stones at the police and routed them. The mob then completely wrecked the barracks, which were defended by twenty policemen. The police did not fire upon the mob. The streets were cleared by the military. Nine arrests were made.

Cholera in Southern Europe.

ROME, Aug. 23.—The cholera returns for the 24 hours ending with yesterday are: Barletta 15 cases, 9 deaths; Biscaglia 11 cases, 4 deaths; Padua 14 cases 4 deaths; Bologna 10 cases 5 deaths. Elsewhere, 23 cases 16 deaths.

The Dangers of Rowboating.

LAKE CITY, Minn., Aug. 23.—Rowboat accidents during Saturday's storm are being reported. At Faribault four persons were drowned and near here three other lives were lost.

George Makes the Fastest Mile on Record.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The one-mile running race at Lillie Bridge to-day between George and Cummings was won by the former. The attendance was variously estimated at from 6000 to 12,000. The track was in good order, but rather hard. The atmosphere was somewhat thick. Betting opened 5 to 4 on Cummings, and closed 6 to 4 against him. At one time the odds were 6 to 4 on George. The change in betting was caused by a rumor that one of Cummings' ankles was strained and weak. Cummings wore an elastic stocking in the race. George had a lead of a yard at the quarter mile, which he made in 50 seconds; the half mile he reached in 2.02. Their positions were not changed until the three-quarter post was reached, when Cummings forged ahead. The time for the three-quarters was 3.07¾. A desperate race followed to the seven furlongs, when Cummings slipped, George finishing alone in 4.12¾, the fastest time on record.

Racing in the States.

SARATOGA, Aug. 23.—Track fast, attendance good. First race, ¾ mile—Bessie won, Patrocho second, Tetie Doe third; time 1.16. Second race, 1 3-16 miles—Burch won, Nettie second, Saltpetre third; time 2.01. Third race, 1 furlongs—Gladstone won, Valiant second, Village Boy third; time 1.04¾. Fourth race, ¾ mile—Brait won, Gastronome second, Duke of Connaught third; time 1.17. Fifth race, hurdle, mile and a furlong—Burr Oak won, Glenarm second, Jot Shelby third; time 2.08.

BADDERTOWN BEACH, Aug. 23.—First race, ¾ mile—Lucy H. won, Susanna second, Toubero third; time 1.17¾. Second race, ¾ mile—Adonis won, Milton second, Big Head third; time 1.17¾. Third race, 1 mile—Bonnie Australian won, Master second, Inconstant third: time 1.47. Fourth race, ¾ mile—Santa Claus won, Nearest second, Change third; time 1.19¾. Fifth race, ¾ mile—Treasurer won, King Arthur second, Eva K. third; time 1.16¾. Sixth race, 1 mile—Delish won, Little Hamp second, Regulator third; time 1.46¾.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

SIR MICHAEL HICKS-BEACH EXPLAINS THE GOVERNMENT POLICY.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—In the House of Commons to-night Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replying to Mr. Sexton, said the commission appointed to inquire into the Belfast riots consisted of Gen. Sir Redvers Buller and two Irish barristers, Messrs. French and Adams. He also said the Government proposed to add to the commission an officer of experience, namely, Chief Constable McHardy of Lanarkshire.

Mr. Labouchere, resuming the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, said Lord Randolph Churchill's recent electoral manifesto was an insult to the Radical party. He (Mr. Labouchere) was surprised that the Hartingtonians had never repudiated the language applied by Lord Churchill to Mr. Gladstone. He taunted the Whigs with being disguised Tories. "Besides the Whigs," he continued, "there was the Birmingham gang under the leadership of Mr. Chamberlain. The family of the latter had doubtless done efficient municipal service, and Birmingham, therefore, out of sheer gratitude, had subordinated imperial interests to municipal gratitude. Outside of Birmingham the Chamberlainites had no influence whatever. Mr. Chamberlain thought that no scheme could be a good one unless he himself was the author of it. (Laughter). Mr. Chamberlain would continue in his downward career until he should be gazetted as Lord Chamberlain." [Laughter.] The speaker urged Irishmen to continue their efforts by legitimate means to obtain their rights as a nation struggling to be free. [Cheers.] Followers of Parnell had a right to be proud of their leader. The accusation that they were mercenary in receiving aid from America came with ill grace from English members who were not above receiving pecuniary aid from rascal houses in the last election. Continuing, he said, that winter was approaching and the military were assisting in the evictions of the people, many of whom were cast out upon the roadside. Irishmen could not be blamed if they refused to submit passively to such treatment, but he warned them that disorders would only serve as an excuse for refusing Home Rule and would ensure coercion.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach said it was the duty of the Government to restore order and administer government in Ireland with the law as they found it. "Why," he asked, "did not Sir Wm. Harcourt move an amendment to the address instead of attempting to stab the Government behind its back? If it was true that the Government had encouraged outrage and promoted disorder in Ireland, they ought to be impeached. The policy of the Government was a plain and sober one; it was to promote the social and material welfare of Ireland and to assist the Irish in obtaining rest from the ceaseless political agitation, to which they had so long been subjected. [Laughter and cheers.] The Government therefore proposed to institute an inquiry as to the development of the material resources of Ireland. Sir Wm. Harcourt's theory that social disorders could not be treated with success unless the causes were treated was of modern invention. He (the speaker) could remember when Sir William Harcourt denounced the Land League doctrine as a doctrine of assassination, and took an active part in adopting measures for the suppression of the league without considering remedial measures. (Cheers). He (the speaker) believed that the troubles in Belfast were due to the unfortunate proposals of the late Government. Cheers]. Were the disorders in Belfast and Kerry to be allowed to continue until the electors changed their minds and returned a Parliament pledged to Gladstone's policy; If not, why did Sir William Harcourt sneer at the present Government for trying to do their duty—to suppress crime. Wherever the Government should find laws harsh or unjust they would remedy them. Cheers]. Sir William Harcourt was afraid to attack the Government openly and move an amendment to the address, but he chalked the wall with the motto "No rent," and then ran away. [Loud cheers.] The Government proposed two things: To administer the law and to consider carefully a scheme of decentralization in the direction of local self-government, framed upon a popular basis. [Parnellite laughter.] The latter scheme would be framed as far as possible to meet the exigencies of Ireland, [cheers] but in accordance with the verdict of the last elections. [Cheers.] That was their whole policy. The Government hope that when their tenure of office closed they would leave Ireland more peaceful, orderly and prosperous than they had found it. [Cheers.]

The Question Must Be Settled.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Gladstone, in an address at Chislehurst Saturday, said the "enthusiasm of the British friends of the Home Rule idea is an incentive to me to never be beaten in it, but to continue the struggle for the happiness of Ireland. Although there may have been prejudices between Great Britain and Ireland, the fact that in the recent electoral contest 1,400,000 Englishmen and Scotchmen polled votes in behalf of Ireland shows that this prejudice is fast disappearing. Let men consult any book or nation in the world, and they will not find one which does not say that the relations between England and Ireland under the Union have been miserable for Ireland and dishonorable to England. If the country desires to redeem her honor and enable her Parliament to attend to its pressing business of Imperial legislation, the Irish question must be settled.

Irish Parliamentary Fund.

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—An immense meeting was held to-day at Carrick-on-Suir in aid of the Irish parliamentary fund. Resolutions were adopted declaring that the people would continue the Home Rule struggle for years, if necessary. The wildest enthusiasm was extended, the audience standing with uncovered heads and singing "God Save Ireland." A large sum of money was subscribed.

Miscarriage of Justice.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 23.—Thomas Sylvester, a big negro farm hand, attempted to chloroform and outrage his employer's 16-year old daughter at Regertsville on the outskirts of this city. She escaped to her parents' room. The negro escaped, but was captured by indignant residents and an attempt made to hang him, which was frustrated by mounted police from the city, who arrested the negro, but on his being arraigned the police captain refused to hold him because the offence was committed outside the city limits. The negro was released, and now the county authorities are unable to find him.

The British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade during the past week says: The harvests thus far have been greatly disappointing. A spell of dry weather with hot sunshine may yet redeem what appears to be a bad harvest. The returns of 423 wheat districts show that 30 are above the average, 96 are equal to it and 298 are below it. The yield of barley in 227 out of 427 districts is below the average; of oats in 288 out of 428 districts; of beans in 162 out of 276 districts, and of peas in 113 out of 245 districts. Trade is sluggish. English wheat is generally one shilling dearer.

BARNARDO COLONIZATION SCHEME.

On Saturday Mr. A. B. Owen, travelling superintendent of the Barnardo homes, arrived in town from Birtle, N.W.T., where he has been successfully conducting negotiations for the purchase of a tract of land to be used for placing a colony of boys, from the Barnardo Homes in England and Canada. The tract secured is situated two hundred miles west of Manitoba on the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway. Dr. Barnardo has purchased from the C. P. Railway, the Dominion Government and the Scottish and Ontario Land Company, seven square miles, or 4480 acres of land en bloc. Mr. Owen was engaged in purchasing the interests of squatters in the lands purchased, and was so successful that the land is now ready for the purpose intended, and a very laudable one it is. It is expected that next spring the advance guard of boys will be sent out, and that the necessary buildings will be erected. The boys will be taught practical farming under competent instructors. It is also proposed that creameries and cheese factories will be instituted. This will also give the girls a chance. The town of Birtle recognizes the importance of the enterprise and will assist in promoting it by a grant of $1,000. There is plenty of wood and water convenient to the Barnardo Boys' farm, and ere long the place will be a busy scene of bucolic industry. These boys rescued from the streets and slums of London, will appreciate the change, and under the most favourable conditions, will learn farming and be placed in a position to make useful citizens of their new country. They will "grow up with the country," and for this reason when they reach man's estate, they will be better qualified than the average adult incomer, to contend successfully with the conditions prevailing. In a very few years they will become men. As they do so, in order to give place to other boys they will settle on farms of their own. Thus permanent additions will be constantly made to the freehold yeomanry of the territory, and the Barnardo Boys' Farm will be an important factor in the settlement of the country. Besides, the girls who go out to engage in the dairying industry will, in due time, be demanded as wives, and thus both sexes will be provided for. The working of this scheme will be watched with the deepest interest, for it is a move in the right direction, and if it prove successful, it will solve the problem of how to dispose of the homeless and destitute and hopeless waifs of the cities of the new world. The adult paupers of the old world, from the laxity of their vicious habits and the ineradicable nature of idle, indolent and useless instincts, are unfitted in every way for immigrant settlers of our country. But the young, taken in time, represent material that can be moulded into the shape the circumstances demand. A similar plan could be, it seems, applied with advantage to the disposal of the juvenile pauper population of our cities and towns. If only half of the hundreds of thousands now expended in bringing adult paupers from the old world to become and to remain paupers and burdens upon the community in the new world, were expended in producing suitable settlers from the raw material—girls and boys—the expenditure would realise tangible results. The class of immigrants Canada requires is that which will occupy the now waste places and spread our population in regions where its members will become producing citizens, demanding the products of the older portions, instead of being a burden and a clog to the industrious. Canada has room for millions of settlers, and material to give them ample and comfortable homes, but not a spare foot for the foreign pauper.

The Coming Concert.

Judging by the high praise bestowed by Boston journals upon two of the artistes to appear at Miss Delaney's concert, Sept. 2nd, the public who attend will have a musical treat of unusual excellence. The Boston Home Journal thus refers to Miss O'Reilly:

"Miss M. H. O'Reilly sang "Ombra Leggiera" from "Dinorah" Meyerbeer. The cultivation of her voice was evident throughout the entire song; her attitude of listening as she sang the delicate, rippling echoes with perfect distinctness, produced a charming effect."

The Home Journal also alludes to "A Canadian Singer," Miss Maud Burdette, as follows:

"A soiree musicale was given at N. E. Conservatory on 12th, by pupils of Mr. Frank A. Porter, assisted by Miss Maud Burdette, of Belleville, Ont. Miss Burdette contributed two original songs by Mr. Porter, "When All is Done" and "Lullaby," the latter composed for Miss Burdette, whose voice is pure, well sounded, rich and sympathetic. Her intelligent interpretation of these beautiful songs must have been altogether satisfactory to the composer."

By the Seashore.

The following is clipped from the Ocean Grove, N. J., Recorder:—

"That was a beautifully impressive incident at St. Paul's last Sabbath morning, when after an eloquent sermon by Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D., Rev. Bishop Wilson, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Wallace, of Canada, baptized a baby, giving her the name of Muriel Joy Wilson. The two officiating clergymen were both her grandfathers, one of the Reformed Episcopal, and the other of the Presbyterian church. Her father, Rev. F. H. Wallace, is of the Wesleyan denomination, in Canada, and the ceremony used was that of the Methodist church. The above are all visiting at the Summer cottage of Bishop Wilson, corner of Webb and Jersey avenues, Ocean Grove."

A Barber's Scrape.

Henry Flisinger, barber, recently employed with Mr. J. Primeau, Hunter street, and who was arraigned before the police magistrate yesterday, charged with assaulting Mrs. Stewart, last night gathered up his effects, and like an Arab, silently stole away. The hearing of the charge against Flisinger was enlarged till to-morrow to give him an opportunity to settle his board bill, but the barber not caring to face the music, last night went to Mr. Primeau's shop, gathered his kit together, and this morning took train for Toronto, it is supposed.

Large Loan.

As a safe place for investment, the large Life Insurance companies evidently think very favorably of Peterborough, having completed some important loans already in town and seeking more. The British Empire Mutual Life company now offer $300,000 for investment in this place, in addition to the large amount already invested here, on the most favorable terms. Application should be made at once to Mr. E. E. Henderson, the general agent. Office over Tully's drug store.

Baseball Match.

Lovers of baseball will bear in mind that the Whitby and Peterborough teams will play a match on the P. A. A. A. grounds to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, sharp. The local club, which recently affiliated with the P. A. A. A., will place on the field as strong a team as can be brought together to oppose the Whitby boys, who have the reputation of playing a rattling fine game.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

On account of the prevailing dampness the band will not perform in the park to-night, but will later on in the week.

Manvers.

The Late Thomas Graham.

When Thomas Graham, Esq., died—on August 6th—the township of Manvers lost one of its oldest and most respected residents. The deceased gentleman was a native of Ireland, born near Enniskillen. He came to Canada, settling first at Port Hope, in 1833. After residing there four years he removed to the township of Manvers, where he has since—over half a century—lived. He was married when he came to this country and leaves behind him a widow and eight children. Mr. Graham was a pioneer in Methodism, acting with the New Connexion. In the early days his house was the home of the preacher—its doors always open to welcome him. He built the first meeting-house—a log structure—in Manvers and was generally known as Graham's church. In politics Mr. Graham was a Liberal. He was a firm friend of the late Shuter Smith. He took no active part in public affairs though often solicited to do so. The exceedingly large number that followed his remains to their last resting place, was evidence of the high respect in which he was held.

DEAR SIR.—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skilful organization. Yours truly, GEO. GOULDING.

M. McFADDEN,

Hunter Street, Opposite Oriental.

A STARTLING COINCIDENCE.

It was a fine afternoon in June; the city of Dresden was full of summer tourists. With many of them the Grosse Garten with its characteristic [illegible] was a favorite resort, and it was particularly the case to-day, since the programme was announced as something unusually fine. At one of the small wooden tables under the trees two young men were sitting listening to the music.

One of the men, evidently English from his appearance, was sitting [illegible] of his cheroot, and was evidently an excellent cigar; while the other, a pallid-faced German, sat moodily tracing indefinite hieroglyphics upon the ground at his feet.

Two glasses of foaming beer partially emptied stood beside them, also an earthen plate covered with crackers and crisp, salty pretzels.

The latter glanced suddenly up from this occupation, and, for the second time within a very few moments, encountered a singularly searching look from his companion. His own eyes wavered for an instant; with a slight effort he strove to steady them, and a faint pink color suffused his cheeks.

The two men gazed steadfastly at one another through the soft clouds of smoke which rose lazily between them, and then the German asked a little querulously, in good English—

"Why do you stare at me so to-day, Vaughan?" He averted his eyes immediately after speaking, as if afraid of the answer.

"Sorry you have noticed anything unusual, Hubert," the Englishman answered courteously. "I have not intended to be rude. I know of no special reason why I should 'stare' at you as you call it, save that you seem changed greatly these days, and that"—he paused abruptly and puffed fiercely away at his cigar.

The German prodded the ground nervously with his stick, and waited with evident eagerness for the conclusion of the sentence.

"The fact is, Hubert, old fellow, I have had a most curious dream about you after each one of our last three meetings, and this afternoon I have been unable to get rid of the idea that I shall be pursued with the same again to-night."

The German's face became more pallid than before.

"What was your dream, Vaughan?" It was evident that the indifference with which this was said cost him an effort.

"Oh, it's not worth mentioning. 'Twas a deuced unpleasant dream, I know that! I have tried to account for it on the score of certain midnight suppers I have been indulging in of late, but the reappearance of the same identical dream these three times has certainly struck me as singular, and can be explained by no such hypothesis. You know I am something of a mind-reader, Hubert"—the German started violently—"and I have been wondering——"

"Wondering what?" the other interrogated, with a piercing look.

"Wondering," Vaughan went on, gazing thoughtfully at his companion, "whether you have been writing any sensational articles for any one of the police chronicles lately, and if so, whether my mind has not involuntarily dropped into your own channel of thought. Have you, now? Come, is it a fair question?"

"Oh certainly," the other replied, laughing nervously, and without looking up, "but no, I cannot say that I have done any writing of any kind whatsoever recently. But suppose you tell your dream. Truly, you have greatly aroused my curiosity."

No little urging was required before the young Englishman could be induced to relate his thrice-repeated vision of the night; but his friend was urgent, and finally yielding to his solicitations, Vaughan began his story.

"Thus far, Hubert, my boy, the matter has been a strange uniformity in almost every particular. I see you first ascending the Bastei in company with a party of tourists. You are at the bridle-rein of a young girl, and appear very solicitous for her safety.

The German sat motionless. Perhaps he heard only the orchestra which was playing a dreamy movement of Schubert's. Vaughan continued after a short pause.

"You reach the castle of Konigstein, walk about its lofty walls, and gaze at the wonders below. You are taken to the marvelous well, and look into the little mirror which reflects light in such manner as to show to your eyes where the water, poured by the little old soldier, splashes far down at the bottom. You two, the girl and yourself, are always together."

"Yes, yes," murmured the German, "always together."

The interruption was unheeded.

"I never seem to see you leave the castle and descend to the valley again, but presently you are in a boat drifting down the river. Sheer cliffs stand on the water, the sky is full of soft violet clouds tipped with silver. You are rowing slowly now and again; she is dipping her long slender fingers into the water, and bringing up bunches of tender grasses and water-weeds; soon you lay down your oars, and move nearer to her."

The hand ceased playing, and a keltner, napkin in hand, came hustling up to replenish their glasses.

"Zwei lager?" he asks.

"Zwei lager," is the grave reply, and the German turned and drained his at a draught. "There is nothing odd in your dream thus far, Vaughan," he said. "I have done all this, but so have many others."

"You seem fond of the river, Hubert. You are on it a second and a third time. At each interview your talk grows more earnest. At last I see you on the promenade, you two. She is pale and wan; you seem to reproach her for something——"

"No, not reproach!" murmured the German, with his eyes on the bandmaster.

"Your talk grows agitated, the crowd begin to notice you, and on you leave it; and when next I see you, it is in one of the shady, sequestered walks of the Zoological Gardens."

The German started perceptibly.

"Here you are again," [illegible] girl's hand, finally [illegible] her arm [illegible] steps. [illegible] to [illegible] pressure of your clasp."

Finger-marks on her arm," muttered the German, gazing affrightedly into the air, "but I did not mean it, oh, I did not mean it!" He wiped his brow and listened again.

"I next see you in a railway carriage, the German [illegible] steadily sat down [illegible] to——" "and [illegible] in a boat on the Rhine. At Neuweid you leave the boat."

"Gott in Himmel!" said the German, hoarsely, but his friend proceeded without remark.

"At Neuweid there is trouble. One of you is in distress, and there seems to be a third—it is evidently a man; but I never see him. At the strange old Moravian graveyard you all meet, and the result of the meeting seems to be great agitation. Just here I do not see clearly, it is Hubert there; the girl's face is covered, and young, graceful-[illegible] occasional glimpses of it, is white and drawn with passion. Again you are on the boat, you and she, but you do not speak together. She sits weeping while you are smoking, always smoking."

The German had grown more agitated at every moment; great drops of perspiration stood upon his brow, and his hands clinched nervously [illegible] Vaughan was [illegible] sat, silent and unmoved, [illegible] emotions.

"In the railway carriage your face is set and determined; you draw the girl's head down upon your shoulder; there is no one there but you two, yet she seems to shrink [illegible] you [illegible] Mein Gott! dass mann!" cried the German, starting up in agony.

"Sit down, Hubert," said Vaughan, imperatively, laying his hand heavily upon the other's arm. "Remember, I am relating a dream, and you—you are attracting attention."

The German sank [illegible] veins stood out upon his forehead, his throat was purple. The Englishman went on in a low, restrained voice.

"You seem to watch the girl closely; at last she sleeps. You draw forth slowly and stealthily a long hat-pin, such as women use, and almost immediately the girl makes a sudden convulsive movement."

The German groaned aloud.

"You put back the long pin as quietly as you drew it forth, and the girl sleeps on more profoundly than before. The long stops at stations, the bustle of alighting passengers, the rushing about of hurrying officials, and the crushing of the baggage, fail to awaken her; at Dresden, you leave the train alone."

The German has uncovered his face, and with terrible eyes is looking full at his companion as if under some fearful spell.

"My dear boy, that girl's face so haunts me—although only a dream—that I soon decided to visit the Morgue and view the body of that girl found so mysteriously murdered in the midnight mail a week ago?"

"And you saw—what?" whispered the German, breathlessly.

"Hubert, the face was the same!"

The German glanced wildly over his shoulder; at his elbow stood an officer of justice with handcuffs in his hand. A wild piercing shriek rang out above the strains of the orchestra, and Hubert lay upon the ground in fearful convulsions.

The young Englishman turned to the officer, pale and disturbed: "Do you think there could be any mistake?" he asked, removing his hat and passing a handkerchief over his brow.

"None whatever, sir," the man replied, motioning to two men in the background to come forward and secure the prisoner. "Your aid has been invaluable, and, by the way, the hat-pin found in the carriage has been examined—the point was charged with a deadly poison—it corresponds to the tiny spot in the left arm of the body. But for you it would never have been noticed. Good afternoon, sir; we will meet again."

The disturbance was over, the crowd dispersed, and the music went on without interruption.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Maulevrier, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

The Races.

On Saturday six fast trotting horses from Toronto arrived in town, and will go in training for the races here on the 26th and 27th. Two running horses, owned in Toronto, a trotter of St. Catharines, and a trotter and runner from Meaford are amongst the latest entries. It is estimated that over a dozen horses will start in the open trot, while in all the other races there will be numerous entries. Should weather be favorable, the races cannot fail to be the best ever held in this part of Canada. The liberal purses offered and the reputation of the management and track are doing it. The races will be well worth witnessing.

Baseball.

What promises to be an exciting game of baseball will be played on the P. A. A. A. grounds to-morrow, between the Peterborough and Whitby teams. The Whitby Cornet Band, under the auspices of which an excursion is run to town on that day, will play on the grounds during the match. A fine exhibition of the game, on good grounds and under good management, may be expected.

The Hub House.

The Hub House in the market block is being renovated and "fixed up" generally. Mr. Joe Daly has leased the premises and will shortly open it out a restaurant and billiard room. The place will be equipped in first-class style, and no doubt under the able management of Mr. Daly, will become popular.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Additional Entries.

There arrived at the Grand Central stables to-day two fleet-footed running horses from Toronto, and two trotters from St. Catharines and Niagara, which will enter for the races on the 26th and 27th.

Post Office Progress.

The foundation walls of the new post office are completed. Mr. Webb, bricklayer, is engaged to-day in erecting scaffolding poles, and it is expected bricklaying will commence to-morrow.

Jubilee Service.

The French and Hindoo contingent of the Salvation Army will visit Peterborough on Tuesday, 24th instant, and will conduct a special jubilee service in Bradburn's Opera House, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. J. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. Thos. Menzies' book store, or at Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's drug store.

Cholera will visit us this summer. Be prepared by securing a supply of West's Pain King, to be kept within reach. Disinfect your premises, as cleanliness and West's Pain King will carry you safely through. Only 25 cents. All druggists. d&w

Fresh White Fish, Trout and Bass, arriving daily at Ostrom's, George St.

Personal.

The Syndicate campers arrived home last night.

Mrs. Geo. A. Cox and family are expected home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. G. Deane returned to town last night and took possession of their fine new residence on Water street, south.

Mr. Fred. Sherin left town yesterday for Mount Forest, where he assumes the position of Mathematical and Science Master in the High School at the expiration of the vacation.

Mr. Frank Karsh left town yesterday on a visit to his home in Kingston.

Messrs. Bert. Thompson and Ed. Clegg left town this morning for the back lakes, where they will enjoy the hardships of camp life for a week or so.

Mr. John McKee, of New York, and Mr. James McKee, of County Down, Ireland, are in town to-day visiting friends. They will remain about Peterborough for a fortnight.

Mr. Joseph Timbers, book-keeper on the Burleigh Falls Canal contract, passed through town yesterday evening on his way to Toronto, where he goes to secure additional workmen to assist in pushing forward the completion of the contract.

Mr. J. K. Bigelow, formerly of Peterborough, now of Chicago, has returned to town on a visit, after an absence of 23 years. He looks in good health and his appearance shows that Chicago agrees well with his person and his purse.

Albert Fier, injured at Meldrum, Davidson & Co's mill, on Saturday, is progressing favorably.

Harry Lindley is playing in Belleville all this week. He is expected to come up this way shortly.

Mr. F. Stancliffe, Montreal, general manager for Canada of the British Empire Mutual Life Insurance Company, was in town yesterday and registered at the Oriental.

Mr. D. Cameron, in the Canada Company match at the meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association, secured a prize of $5, with 28 points, the top score being 30, and Mr. A. Blade a prize of $4, with 28 points.

Among the names of the officers appointed by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M., appears that of Bro. Walter Patterson, jr., as Grand Steward.

Mr. E. B. Dawn, with Messrs. Geo. A. Schofield & Co., leaves to-morrow for Toronto, to attend the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

Dr. O'Sullivan and Messrs. J. O'Meara and J. W. Fitzgerald, who represented the Peterborough branch of Irish National League, at the Chicago convention, have returned home. Mr. John Corkery, also a delegate, remained in Toronto to spend a few days.

Fidelity Guarantees.

The Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, of London, England, capital $5,000,000, have appointed Mr. E. E. Henderson their agent for Peterborough and district. The Canadian head office is in Montreal, and Mr. F. Stancliffe is the manager for Canada, with the same board of directors as manage the British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Company, which is a sufficient guarantee of the reliability and respectability of this new and strong competitor for public favor, which issues Fidelity Guarantees and Policies to cover all employers' risks under the new Act coming into force in Ontario July 1st, 1886, at a premium of so much per cent. on the wages or salaries paid per annum. It also issues all forms of Accident Insurance at a lower rate than any company in America. It has besides its capital of $5,000,000, deposited $50,000 with the Dominion Government. Get a prospectus, employers, from Mr. Henderson, the general agent. Office over Tully's drug store, George street.

Don't Do It.

Don't go and pay high prices elsewhere for your goods when you can at the great Bon Marche Clearing Sale select from our immense stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, etc., at or less than half the usual price. Mr. Carton is bound to clear out the stock, and it must and will be cleared out, if low prices—very low prices—and goods, of good value at twice the price, will do it. Come and get astonishing prices quoted at the Bon Marche.

Lindsay's Fair.

A splendid four-colored, three-sheet poster, fresh from the press of the Lindsay Post, is to hand, announcing the fourth grand Central Fair to be held at Lindsay on Sept. 28th, 29th and 30th. If the bill is an indication of what the fair will be like, it will compare favorably with the Toronto Industrial. The poster is a fine specimen of the art preservative and is a credit to the Post printers.

Cricketing Fixtures.

The Ottawa cricket team will play the P. A. A. A. cricketers on the Association grounds here, on Saturday.

The "Sawbones," or medical cricket team of Toronto, will play the local team on Saturday, Sept. 4th.

Company Drill.

Companies No. 1, 2, 4 and 5 of the City Battalion met for drill last night. All the companies were well represented.

Arrived.

Prof. R. Watkins, veterinary dentist, has arrived, and may be consulted at the City Hotel.

Oysters.

Now on hand at the C. P. R. Restaurant, served up in the best styles.

Carpets.

50 new designs in Tapestry and Brussels Carpets to select from, at R. Fair's.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe at this season of the year to go a single day without a supply of West's Pain King in the house. Ready at a moment's notice and costs but 25 c. All druggists. d&w

—Port Hope is jubilant over the report that the G.T.R. intends to lease the yards and dockage now under lease to the Midland Railway, with the hope that the boycott that keeps the harbor quiet as a fish-pond, will be removed.

Salvation Army Missionaries.

The Hindoo, French and Swiss Salvation Army missionaries arrived in town by the noon train, from Lindsay, to-day. The contingent is composed as follows:—Major Jai Bhai, of India, formerly A. S. Paynter, wine merchant, of Oxford, England; Sergt. Nursee Gopal of India, Hindoo; Capt. Simcoe, of Paris, formerly an English lady; Capt. Chaponand, of Paris; and Capt. Blondell, of Neuchatel, Switzerland. The Indian missionaries wear the garb of the natives, viz: a loose smock and shawl-like cloak, white skirt and turban, and sandals without stockings. A missionary meeting will be held in the Opera House to-night, at which these foreign officers will speak.

What We May Expect.

No band concert to-night.

A lively game of baseball at the P.A.A.A. grounds to-morrow.

The Peterborough boys to defeat the Whitby team—if they can.

And a large number of spectators to witness the match.

Matrimonial mirth to prevail this evening.

Hallelujah Hindoos and Swiss Salvationists to hold the fort at the Opera House to-night,

And Harry Lindley to occupy the same boards shortly.

The Whitby Cornet Band excursion to arrive by the 11.55 train to-morrow.

The rain to dry up suddenly and give the races a chance,

And our local sharpshooters to "get on" in to-day's shooting in Toronto.

Thousands of lives saved annually by the use of West's Pain King, the household remedy for chills, colds, flux, summer complaint, dysentery, colic and cholera. Only 25 cents. All druggists. d-w

"Can a lawyer be honest?" asks an exchange. Don't know. No precedent has been established.

West's Pain King is purely a vegetable compound for the certain cure of chills, colds, flux, dysentery, diarrhœa, summer complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera infantum. 25 cents. All druggists. d&w

THE IRISH QUESTION.

SPEECHES BY GLADSTONE AND PARNELL.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Mr. Parnell was loudly cheered in the House of Commons to-night on rising to resume the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He said he believed that if the country had been given three more months to consider the Home Rule Bill the Tories would not dare to stand installed on the treasury bench. The Irish party had every reason to be satisfied with the present position. A majority of the Liberal party had declared in favor of Irish self-government. The Tories had only profited from temporary Liberal hesitation. After the present Government had exhibited themselves for a year or so a spectacle for God and man in an attempt to govern Ireland this Liberal hesitation would vanish. The Irish had every reason to have patience. Theirs was the winning cause.

If Government speeches were intended to exasperate Ireland, they would fail. As to have that effect. At the same time there would be considerable difficulty with the rent question. He, Parnell, suggested that the Government had not appreciated the gravity of the occasion. The Royal Commission would be unable to report until the pinch of winter was over. If the system of dual ownership was to be replaced by the system of single ownership there would be a risk to English taxpayers. Parnell said he had only agreed to the adoption of the Land Purchase Act of 1885 because he then believed that the settlement of the national question would come concurrently, and because the Conservative Government had sent to Ireland Lord Carnarvon, who was an avowed Home Ruler. Now the conditions were entirely changed. Mr. Gladstone's purchase scheme would have safely settled the land question. Every penny of principal and interest could have been collected through customs and excise duties, and the money would have been as safe as the Bank of England. If the Government thought of solving the Irish question without settling the land question, it would find that it had got hold of the wrong end of a very thorny stick. [Cheers]. The Government might reduce rents either at the expense of the landlords or at the expense of the British taxpayer.

Mr. Parnell denounced as dishonest the attempt to stimulate Irish industries by liberal doses of English public money. He said the Irish people bitterly refused to sell their national birthright for the mess of pottage which the Government offered. [Parnellite cheers.] The way to develop the resources of Ireland was to allow the Irish to develop them themselves. [Cheers.] There could not be any lack of capital for there was plenty of that in [illegible]. They could not be allowed to help themselves. [Conservative cheers and laughter.] The Government allowed the Irish to build railways, drain land, and generally develop the resources of the country, when they did [illegible] the Irish party [illegible] the point. [Cheers.] The Irish party regretted that [illegible] Irish tenant farmer. Let the farmers, at which allusion others by misrepresentation—he would not say lying—pressed their own way and establish a wholesale system of bribery and corruption. [Cheers.]

Mr. Parnell here read his amendment to the address, and proceeding he said the judicial rents were too high. He accused the Government of encouraging landlords to evict by the wholesale, knowing that notorious advices always followed evictions. Why did tenants committing the moonlight raids refuse to give evidence, because, taking Kerry as an example, the tenants knew that but for the moonlight raids Lord Kenmore would not leave a roof over the heads of his tenants. The Irish would be patient, but the impression held out by landlords who tried to exact impossible rents would bear fruit and might produce exasperation. The landlords would clamor for coercion and force the Government to adopt coercive measures. He believed that coercion would come, and very severe coercion too. Coercion that would not stop at criminals, but attack political opponents. If he might offer a suggestion he would urge that judicial tenants should be fixed at three years instead of fifteen years, and that there should be a revision of rents in accordance with prevailing prices.

In conclusion Mr. Parnell said: The Irish will never submit to a Government not their own. [Irish cheers]. No question of an autonomous government will always be fixed in the hearts of the Irish people. [Prolonged cheers].

Mr. Plunket, First Commissioner of Works, denied that the judicial rents were too high. He said they were fixed during a period and on the basis of falling prices. The tendency of the past eighteen months had been in the direction of a decrease in the number of evictions. The policy of the Government was to extend the act of 1881 and its success largely depended upon the restoration of social order. He concluded by saying that the responsibility taken upon himself by Parnell to-night was an awful and terrible one. [Conservative cheers.]

Mr. Gladstone upon rising was loudly cheered. He began by accusing the Government of having taken an unusual course in going so far outside of the speech from the throne. He did not remember an occasion in 50 years when the Government thought it politic to use the address as an opportunity for explaining its policy beyond the compass of the speech. He thought the Government should have reserved the main lines of their measures until the measures themselves could be presented, but he was unwilling to complain of the action of the Government. He intimated that he would take no part in the division on Mr. Parnell's amendment because he deprecated any attempt to force a definite premature expression of opinion on the policy which the Government foreshadowed for their future guidance. Their policy, however, was open to remarks. It bore upon five different points: The issue of royal commissions, questions of public works, land purchase, an inquiry into land rents and the subject of local government. He believed the Government's policy was not a sober one, but was eminently complex and difficult.

At this point Lord Randolph Churchill rose to a point of order, urging that there was only Mr. Parnell's amendment under discussion.

Speaker Peel concurred, and requested Mr. Gladstone that he could review the Government's policy generally after the specific amendment had been disposed of.

Mr. Gladstone appealed for indulgence, and asked the House not to insist upon a strict enforcement of the rule.

Lord Churchill said he was willing to grant every indulgence, but did not wish the debate to be unduly prolonged.

Mr. Gladstone in resuming his speech described the policy of the Government as an absolute inversion of the policy of the late Government. Instead of giving Ireland self-government, the present Government proposed that England should govern Ireland to a greater extent than it did at the present time. The late Government had proposed that the rents and revenue of Ireland be taken as security on the land purchase loans. He only hoped that the critics who condemned that security would be equally vigilant condemning the security now proposed. The Government evidently intended to adopt a large scheme of land purchase. Was the tenant, he asked, to be treated upon the basis of the fair rentable value of the property and the tenures upon the same, or the judicial rent? Was the State to make up the difference? Mr. Gladstone maintained there was no power within Parliament, even by unity into effect such a final proposition. (Cheers.) He had been taunted with having become the leader of the Irish Nationalists, as if that was a charge against him. He was delighted at having any share in it whatever in becoming a leader or a follower—he did not care which—in any movement tending to make smooth the path of the people of Ireland and encourage them to hope for a reaffirmation of their just rights. [Cheers.]

PARNELL'S AMENDMENT.

Mr. Parnell's amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech is substantially as follows: We humbly approve your Majesty that we fear that owing to the heavy fall in the price of agricultural produce, the greatest difficulty will be experienced during the coming winter by Irish tenant farmers in the payment of their present rents. Many will be unable to pay and numerous evictions and confiscations of rights created in Ireland by the Land Act of 1881 will follow, causing widespread suffering and endangering the maintenance of social order. We deprecate any attempt to transfer the loss due to the inability to pay rents from the owners of the land to the taxpayers of Great Britain and Ireland by any extension of state assisted purchase on the basis of [illegible] prices more favorable to [illegible].

FATALLY WOUNDED.

The Outrageous Conduct of Three Alleged Constables at Palmerston.

PALMERSTON, Aug. 24.—To-day three horse stables arrived in town from Drayton for the purpose of collecting fines under the Scott Act. About 2 o'clock they went into Watts' hotel and walked up to a man named Wilson and attempted to arrest him, refusing to give any explanation or show any warrants, as they were strangers. Wilson resisted, saying he would not go until they showed some authority or state for what they wanted him, whereupon they fell on him and commenced beating him with batons, and drew revolvers. One of them fired, wounding, perhaps fatally, a man named Douglas. The ball entered his breast and the doctors have failed to remove it. Douglas thinking they meant murder closed with one of the constables, together with Wilson. The constables skipped out and warrants were issued for their arrest. One of them named Shirk of Drayton, a photographer, was arrested and brought before the mayor. The examination was postponed till Friday next.

BIG FIRE AND STORM.

Terrible Loss of Life and Property in Texas—Great Destitution.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 23.—As far as can be learned the following is a complete list of the white people lost in the storm and fire at Indianola: Capt. I. A. Reed, signal officer; Dr. Crooker, Dr. H. Rosenkrans, of Elgin, Ill.; Mrs. Hodges and two children, of Dr. Hodges' family of Cuero; Mrs. Crooker of Austin, visiting with Hodges; Mrs. Henry Sheppard, two children of Mrs. Max Luther of Corpus Christi, Dr. Davis Louis, a German, name unknown. The bodies of ten colored persons have been found. There is destitution among the poorer classes, who lost everything they possessed. The depth of water is reported as great as it was during the great storm of 1875 when Indianola lost nearly 200 of her citizens. On Friday the flood of water over the doomed town was so rapid that within two hours after the first apprehensions were felt every street was submerged many feet. At San Antonio the loss to property is $500,000; at Floresville $100,000. Never before was the lower Texas coast visited by so terrible and destructive a storm. It extended for 200 miles inland, destroying thousands of houses and investing pecuniary loss of many millions. Among the poorer classes great desolation must prevail, as few were able to save any considerable portion of their small possessions from the general wreck. The entire crop of the present year is practically gone, and a vast deal of suffering must ensue, especially among the negroes, most of whom are wholly destitute of any kind. It is feared that many more people were drowned at Indianola. The lower end of the peninsula is completely washed away. Many people are missing, and therefore nothing can be learned until the angry waters recede. The storm came in the shape of a hurricane. The waters of the gulf rose up and in three hours the whole peninsula in which Indianola is situated was under ten feet of water. The total loss as now known to Texas from the storm is as follows: Human lives lost, 38; loss to crops, $1,000,000; loss to city and town property, $3,4000,000; loss to shipping and harbor improvements, $900,000.

HOME AND ABROAD.

Twenty men were seriously burned in a colliery explosion at Lykens, Pa., Monday.

Mr. Blake and Mr. Mowat will speak at Ottawa on Monday next.

The Knox Church people of Ayr will build a new church, for which over $14,000 has already been collected.

Cutting has been released by the Mexican authorities. He yesterday crossed to United States territory.

The brick building Nos. 301, 303 and 305 East 28th street, New York, was burned this morning. Loss $30,000.

In Clevel nd Monday night Anarchists held a meeting and indulged in the usual amount of incendiary utterances.

Five persons were killed at Paris yesterday by the fall of a wall weakened by floods caused by a sudden heavy rainstorm.

It is feared that John Irvine, who was injured in the Ontario Cotton Mills at Hamilton Monday, will lose the use of both eyes.

Wm. Reid, a Grand Trunk Railway fireman belonging to Windsor, was crushed while coupling cars at London yesterday, and had his collar bone broken.

A large dynamite bomb was found yesterday under the kitchen window of the residence of Mr. Seymour, a member of the Board of Trade, at Chicago.

Kate Stith, a New York nurse girl, yesterday set fire to her room. The owner, smelling smoke, entered the place and found the body of a new-born child on a burning bed, with a deep cut in its head. The fire did not cause much damage.

The rear coach of the north-bound passenger train of the Gulf, Colorado and Sante Fe Railway jumped the track above Lyons yesterday and went down a ten-foot embankment, landing on its side. A Mrs. Lockett was killed and about fifteen persons injured.

John Bowen, aged 40, was descending a well in a bucket at Belleville yesterday. When forty feet from the bottom one of the handles of the windlass stopped off short and Bowen went to the bottom. He was seriously injured.

Father J. S. Quinn was ordained a priest at St. Michaels, Belleville, yesterday. Father Quinn is a young Irishman, who passed his theological course at Maynooth College, Dublin, and finished his studies at Bigaud College, Quebec.

A young man named James Carswell, aged 23, working on the tower of the new high school at Chatham, fell to the ground a distance of 75 feet, the scaffoldard on the scaffold having given way. One of his legs was broken in two places, besides being injured internally. Fatal results are expected.

Seventy thousand pounds of fine grafted merino wool has been furnished by this year's clip in Alberta, Northwest Territory. The flocks in Alberta are all imported Montana sheep and produce the grade of wool which bears now the well recognized name of Montana. This wool fetched from 22c. to 26c. per pound in the United States market last year.

The difficulty regarding the burning of altar lights in Christ church, Gananoque, is by no means settled. Rev. Mr. Auston seems quite unconcerned, and feels that he has law and precedent on his side. Mr. D. Ford Jones, church warden, has written to the pastor approving of the use of the lights, but of a recent meeting the congregation passed a resolution condemning the practice.

PRINCE AND PEASANT

THE BULGARIANS RALLYING ROUND ALEXANDER.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 24.—It is believed that Prince Alexander has been handed at Rust a prisoner. Telegrams speak of serious trouble in the interior of Bulgaria, but details are not given. The garrison at Philippopolis, Roumelia, has taken arms in favor of Prince Alexander. A regiment of infantry with a band playing marched to the foreign consulates to give notice of their adherence to Alexander. The chief commissioner declared that the whole Bulgarian army was opposed to the deposition of Alexander, and was prepared to fight and die for him.

VIENNA, Aug. 24.—The Political Correspondence prints a despatch from Giurgevo stating that the Bulgarian troops in East Roumelia have joined a pronunciamento in favor of Prince Alexander. Those troops have proclaimed Sofia. Muthurof the head of the Provisional Government which they have organized to oppose to Government of Karaveloff. The inhabitants of Shumla, and Tarnova have publicly declared for Alexander and the movement for his restoration is spreading.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 24.—A second provisional government has been set up in Bulgaria with headquarters at Tarnova, the former capital of the country. This government is in opposition to that of M. Karaveloff and in favor of Prince Alexander. M. Stambuloff has been made President of the Tarnova Government. He is one of the prominent whose name was posted in the manifesto issued yesterday by M. Karaveloff's Government to convince the people that all the prominent men of the country favored the revolution.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Telegrams from Bucharest to-day state that a majority of the Bulgarian army, as well as a majority of the Bulgarian people have already declared adherence to Prince Alexander, including the soldiers in the Widdin Monastir and Silistria Garrison. Col. Montdorff, chief of the Roumelian militia, has offered to lead the troops to meet Prince Alexander, and to him back to Sofia and replace him on the Bulgarian throne.

M. Stambuloff, president of the Tirnova provisional government acting in concert with Col. Montdorff, has summoned the militia of Bulgaria to service in the interest of Prince Alexander. M. Stambuloff declares that the garrison at Sofia which seconded the revolution is ready to surrender to any government properly representing the deposed Prince provided the soldiers are assured of amnesty.

WAS IT A RAILWAY MURDER?

Suspicious Death of a Passenger on the Midland Road, England.

LEICESTER, Eng., Aug. 24.—The inquest on the body of James Lowe, recently found dead in a carriage on the Midland Railway train, develops what may prove a sensational case of railway murder. Lowe, who lived in Manchester, had gone to London to collect a debt of £6000, which he had in his possession when he left London. The guard of the train bought Lowe's ticket, returning seven shillings change, and then locked the doors of the carriage, as Lowe expressed a wish to sleep quietly during the trip. The guard on the arrival of the train at Leicester found a pistol on the footboard of the locked carriage. This induced him to look into the carriage, when he found Lowe dead on the floor of the carriage, surrounded by a pool of blood. He was shot through the head. His money pocket was ripped open, and the change returned by the guard was missing, as was also the £6000. Medical testimony showed the apparent impossibility of suicide. His friends believe this the London debtor, whose manner unknown, followed and murdered him.

60,000 PEOPLE HOMELESS.

A Big Break in the Irrawaddy River at Mandalay.

MANDALAY, Aug. 24.—One of the embankments of the Irrawaddy River burst in this city yesterday, making a breach sixty yards in length. So rapid was the flow of water that in a few moments the whole district was flooded from four to twenty feet deep. Engineers at once cut the dam south of the city to allow the waters to subside, but the result of this manœuvre is as yet unknown. Fifty thousand persons are to-day homeless in the city, their houses and possessions having been either submerged or destroyed. A number of persons were drowned by the sudden in-rush of waters, how many has not yet been ascertained. The flooded district had within its territory the food supply stores, and all of these were swept away. The result will be an approach to famine among the homeless people also. British military operations are seriously interfered with by the overflow.

The damage done by the flood already amounts to $5,000,000. Many dead bodies are being constantly washed ashore.

A Drunken Bridegroom Who Didn't Get Married.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 24.—Wm. Plummer of Petersburg, Va., and Mrs. Virginia Edwards of New York city met here to-day for the purpose of getting married, having been engaged some years. The [illegible] had taken their places [illegible] when the lady discovered her intended was drunk, whereupon she took the marriage license from the minister, threw it in Plummer's face, and shortly afterwards left for New York.

Street Railway Strikes at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Belt Line Surface Railroad was tied up this morning. Five hundred men are out. The company practically has returned to the old system in vogue before the February tie-up. The men say that little or no time is allowed for meals. The employes of the 42nd-street boulevard line also threaten to strike for the same reasons.

The Knights are Against Anarchists.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 24.—At a picnic of Knights of Labor at Luzerne grove yesterday, Powderly made an address in which he strongly denounced the rioting and violence carried on in the name of the Knights of Labor. Powderly said that Anarchists will never obtain a foothold in the Knights of Labor.

A Mighty Weapon Against Salisbury.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Messrs. William O'Brien, John Redmond and John Deasy, the Irish delegates to the National League convention at Chicago, left for Ireland to-day on the Wisconsin. They spoke without reserve on the outlook for Home Rule. "If we brought back no other tidings," said Mr. O'Brien, "than the triumph of harmony in the national convention, we will have a mighty weapon against the Salisbury Government."

The Belfast Police Under Arrest.

BELFAST, Aug. 24.—The nine policemen who were recently arrested, charged with murder for firing on and, as alleged, killing a number of people during the late riots, were brought up for examination to-day in the Criminal Court. They all swore that they fired over the heads of the people. Judge Monroe granted the policemen release on bail, with two sureties qualifying for £750 in each case. Six of the men who took a conspicuous part in the riots were committed for trial. The committing magistrate intimated that it was his intention to serve all the rioters in the same way.

Col. Gilder left New York on his expedition to the North Pole on Saturday.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1886.

THE general Provincial elections for Quebec will take place, it is supposed, about the middle of September.

THE Conservatives are great on spontaneous enthusiasm. English politicians are making elaborate arrangements for contributing funds in the name of English workingmen's penny subscriptions, for a testimonial to Lord Salisbury. Our subscriptions to the Gladstone testimonial fund were limited to 25 cents. Well, perhaps the relation of a penny to a shilling is not a bad basis for estimating the relative abilities, merits and aims of the two men, either as statesmen or as individuals.

THE Toronto Mail is perpetually seeking to stir up religious strife and race dissensions, and so far does it go in this respect, that even politicians of its own stripe are apologizing for its suicidal actions. The Toronto Telegram says:—"It is reported that Mr. Costigan has issued a confidential circular to Catholic Conservatives, apologising for the present course of the Mail, and asking them not to be alarmed as the Mail is not serious, but is merely acting under instructions, with a view of working up a little anti-French feeling in Ontario for the benefit of the Dominion Government. The circular concludes, it is said, with a reference to the fact that there are six Catholics in the present Dominion Ministry, and that Messrs. Bowell and White, the Orange representatives, are practical politicians who are always ready to yield a point in the interests of their party." There exists little doubt that the gentlemen alluded to are "practical politicians," and that the Mail is a practical political journal which will abuse, villify, slander, irritate and goad a numerous race and religious body for the petty purpose of reaping a little party advantage. If the Mail is insincere that does not make its outrageous abuse of French Canadians and Roman Catholics any more agreeable or any less liable to provoke religious strife, excite race prejudices, or engender such feelings of revenge as should not exist between peoples, who, unmolested, would live for centuries together in harmony—if mischief-making political intrigue did not exert its utmost to arouse bad feeling and provoke hostility. The Mail may escape, but the consequences will fall upon Sir John—though he declare a fresh recantation of his Orange principles every day in the week.

"The Stony Lake Steamboats."

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR.—In the Review a correspondent, "M" criticising the newspapers, practically condemns them for not stating that the neglect of the officers of the Cruiser, caused the deplorable accident that took place on board that steamer. As one who was on board at the time and as one who has been and is on board of her frequently, I cannot agree with him. All spaces on the steamer devoted to the use of passengers are as safe as it is possible for it to be on a craft of the size of the Cruiser. It is true that the engine room is dangerous for ladies but ladies have no call to enter it. "M" misleads, (I don't say intentionally) the public, when he states that "passengers, many with loose dresses and without any notion of the peril at hand may enter and pass to and fro at their free will." Of course they may enter the engine room but speaking plainly, they have no business there. The engine room of a little steamer is not an inviting place, and, moreover it is some two feet lower than the deck alongside used by passengers and not one in a thousand ever enters it. The engine room is a dangerous place, even to the engineer but his business is to be there, and he has to take the risk. The fireplace of an hotel is dangerous if a guest takes a fancy to thrust his head into it. As to the engine room of the Cruiser it is not in the slightest degree dangerous to any passenger, keeping in the space allotted to passengers.

"M" is inclined to blame the engineer for being "absent from his post." But let "M" himself go down into the hot stuffy engine hold of a little steamer, with the temperature raised by the fire and steam and frying oil to a temperature of 90°, and see if he will not wish at the end of a couple of hours to turn his back and get a breath of fresh air. Human nature can't stand it, and according to custom, if the engineer (he is stoker also) has his fires all right his steam up to the notch and his machinery oiled, he is allowed to take a little fresh air and rest. He is not required to stand on guard to keep unwary passengers out of danger, with his hand on the throttle in case of accident.

From my knowledge and observation it seems to me to be refining the doctrine of responsibility, to an excessive degree to attempt to fix the blame of the accident in question on the officers of the Cruiser, when so many other contingencies, contributed almost entirely to its happening.

Yours, etc.,
N.

Salvation Army Missionaries.

The Foreign Contingent of the Army at the Opera House—Swarthy Hindoos, French and Swiss Salvationists on the Platform.

The Opera House was crowded yesterday evening on the occasion of the Salvation Army missionary meeting, at which the Hindoo, French and Swiss contingent, now making a tour of Canada, were the principal speakers. Previous to the meeting the army paraded the streets, the foreigners riding in a vehicle secured for the occasion, the Hindoo members of the contingent being attired in the native garb.

The platform in the hall was occupied by the foreigners, Major Jai Bhai, of India; Sergt. Nurses Gopal, a native of India; Capt. Simcos, of Paris; Capt. Chaponaud, of Paris; Capt. Blondell, of Neuchatel, Switzerland; Staff-Capt. Eadie, of Kingston; Special Capt. Philpot; Capt. Copal and Cadet Carrell, of the local corps, and a large number of visiting officers. Major Jai Bhai and Sergt. Nurses Gopal were attired in the garb of the heathen Hindoo, while the others wore the regular soldiers' suits of the army.

The meeting was opened by singing "God Bless Our Army," in English, Hindoo, Swiss and French. Sergt. Nurses Gopal then offered prayer in the Hindoostanee tongue, followed by a duet by Major Jai Bhai and Sergt. Nurses Gopal, each playing an accompaniment on a Hindoo instrument, the latter playing the native drum, shaped like a large bowl with hide facing.

The foreign lady captains then gave a trio in French.

Staff-Capt. Eadie was the first to speak. He, in a short address, introduced the foreign visitors.

Capt. Blondell, recently of Neuchatel, Switzerland, and also of Paris, addressed the audience in Swiss, and was interpreted by Capt. Simcos. She said she was happy she was saved. She had been saved through the instrumentality of the Salvation Army, for which she had proudly fought in Switzerland and in France. In these places the Army was opposed and its soldiers persecuted. She had met with many trials, some of which she described. She, in company with Capt. Chaponas and Capt. Simcoe, were on their way to Quebec, where they intend to attack the French-Canadians with the gospel guns.

Major Jai Bhai and Nurses Gopal gave a Hindoo hallelujah duet with great effect.

When Major Jai Bhai stood up to speak he was greeted with a hallelujah salute. He said he had just come from India, where hundreds of Hindoos are weeping their way to Jesus. He had been in India about four years. At first he worked day and night without any apparent success. After long months of hard toil he found that the Hindoos would not bite English bait. Consequently he put himself on a level with the lowest natives. Threw away his English clothes and adopted the native dress; threw away all English customs and adopted those of the Hindoo, even changing his name, formerly A. S. Paynter, to that of Jai Bhai, also adopting the Hindoo language. He and his fellow workers who followed him, begged from door to door, preaching as they went, sleeping in the open air, as the Lord Jesus had done. When they did this there was a mighty work begun, and 67 heathen were converted to Christianity in one day. Heathen temples were turned into Salvation Army barracks and the work was prospering. Here the Major showed his begging vessel, a leathern pitcher, which was used in the capacity of valise, handbox, pail, plate, etc., without regard to its feelings. There were now about 250,000,000 Hindoo natives who worshipped 33,000,000 gods. There was a mighty work to do and he called on Canadians to assist in the work by giving of their substance to help the Hindoos.

Sergt. Nurses Gopel, he said, was a native, saved through the working of the army. He was a sample of the result, of their labors. When he found Nurses Gopel he was a weaver in an Indian village with a long name, making about 6c. a day at his trade. He was a devout heathen. Now he is a good christian.

He would send Nurses amongst the audience to take up the offerings, in the leathern in the leathern begging vessel. The audience might shake hands with him at one dollar a shake. He asked the good people as a favor not to kiss Nurses, as he was single and innocent of such things.

Nurses, with great glee and apparent satisfaction, went amongst the audience with his leathern begging vessel, taking up the offerings.

While he was doing this, Capt. Edie stated that he was formerly a college-mate of the major's, and was acquainted with him when he lived in Oxford, a wine merchant. The collection taken up amounted to $185.

Sergt. Nurses Gopal, interpreted by Major Jai Bhai, made an address. He first thanked the audience for the liberal offerings and then proceeded with his experience. Before he was converted, he said, he used to drink, smoke, fight, but now he was a Christian. He had tried half a dozen different Hindoo religions, and drank the waters of the Ganges for his soul's sake without satisfaction; when he became saved through the instrumentality of the major he found peace. Several times during his address he went too fast and the interpretor had to put his hand over his mouth to shut him off.

Capt. Chaponaud, said she had given herself cheerfully to the Canadian work, as she had also done in France and Switzerland, where she with the other soldiers had fought a good fight, against great persecution. She had been saved through the instrumentality of the army and was willing to be spent in working in its ranks for her Saviour.

After prayer by the major the meeting was dismissed.

N. Washington, M D.—Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Halifax.
DEAR SIR.—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skillful operations Yours truly, GEO. GOULDING,

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.
This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 98 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Benefort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. W. J. Hall shipped, per steamer Golden Rod, two hundred bags of choice wheat from Hall's Landing to Peterborough, via the canal.

Benefort congratulates Mr. John Sterling, a former teacher, on his success at the recent examinations, feeling satisfied it was a merited result of his zeal and energy.

Mr. S. Smithson has tied the way this season in pea harvesting.

The farmers of this locality are now fully satisfied that the pioneer machine is now started in pea-cutting. The novel arrangement is a simple attachment to a mower and the work done is a sufficient guarantee that it will be largely used.

The steamer Beaver is still the popular source of pleasure for parties both on this and the south side of Rice Lake. She plies between Gore's Landing, Harwood and Peterborough on Saturdays, and is busy otherwise freighting and carrying cruising and fishing parties.

Cheap excursion—Good crowd by Beaver.

The harvesting season has been exceedingly fine, so that crops in general in this locality are housed much earlier than for some years past. We find since the humming of the threshers commenced, that the grains, especially wheat, are at least up to the average in quantity, and excepting barley, which is a little light, the quality is extra.

As the ones brought before Mr. G. Barry, of Bethelboro, recently, of housebreaking from the Queen's highway, it was proven that two playful boys had amused themselves thus and were afterward captured by timely and cautious actions of the proprietors of the injured house. Boy No. 1 pleaded guilty once after being accused and forthwith settled his account with a $5 note, but No. 2 being dilatory, caused the suit, when No. 1 said in evidence, "I threw all the stones." The decision consequently cleared defendant and left plaintiff to pay costs exceeding her former receipt.

The popular sport, football, is and has been during the past few weeks as quiet as a peaceful river. The causes are probably well known. However, all the attendant anxiety and interest will soon be revived and the first question to come up will likely be, What about the return match? This will be the first return match between Zion and Benefort, and will likely be decided in October.

Ennismore.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday night Robert Boots, lot 23, con 3, township of Emily, had a fine horse drowned in a creek which runs along the west end of his farm into Mud Lake. The animal sometimes getting into his crops he tied him down and it having gone through the night to get a drink, his foot got caught in the strap and being unable to extricate himself he was found lying dead on Sunday morning.

Reasons why you should purchase Fluid Lightning in preference to all other remedies are: Rapid result—cures instantly. It is easily applied—no trouble—no lost time. It does not require constant use—one application is effectual. One bottle will remove more pain than any other remedy in existence. Try it for Neuralgia, Toothache, Headache, Rheumatism. Sold at 25c. a bottle by John McKee Druggist. d44eodw34

The Texas cotton crop has been injured 15 per cent. by the storm on Friday last. The velocity of the wind at times was 72 miles an hour.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons as constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, &c. These persons are not aware that they can indulge to their hearts content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicide that will give immediate relief, and is a sure cure for all summer complaints. d44eodw34

The general conditions of the American crop indicate that a large proportion of the corn area has been burned, dried up and ruined.

"What is McGregor's Speedy Cure for"? It is for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifyer in the known world to day. Does it give satisfaction? We cannot point to one instance in which it did not. "Where does it have the largest sale?" Right in the city of Hamilton, where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and one dollar per bottle by John McKee Druggist.

Lines

On the Death of Little Johnny Henderson, who died Nov. 5, 1885, son of Jas. R. Henderson.

Remember the fifth being a cold, dark evening,
When the chilly winds made a dismal moan,
The messenger came for sweet little Johnny
And called him away to his heavenly home.

Sad, and is the brink in our little home circle,
Where sadness's countenance are covered in tears,
A sweet little flower has been torn from our bosoms,
And we, no'er, in this life, shall behold him again.

The high chair now sits back from the table,
As if waiting for some one that was and is not;
And many small relics laid by in the bureau
All remind us of one that can ne'er be forgot.

But why do we linger o'er fond recollections
Where none but the natural man doth complain?
Let us look through the veil—and as through a glass darkly—
With the eye of sweet faith we behold him again.

Like a sweet little flower in bud he was taken—
Before the rough leaves of this life did unfold;
Too tender and sweet for the rough blasts of nature,
He is now a house-plant in the City of Gold.

Where the foundation walls of the city are garnished
With stones in their beauty none them can surpass
Where the gates are of pearl and the streets are of gold;
As pure and refined as the transparent glass.

In that beautiful home of the blest we behold him,
Where the robe of the ransomed is ever his dress;
Enjoying the joys of the joyful in Heaven,
Which joys we might foretaste, but cannot express.

Oh! why should we weep o'er the graves of departed ones,
Or seek beneath Heaven's chastening rod?
We know they shall bloom with the sweet rose of Sharon,
In the glorified presence of Heaven's great God.

So farewell, sweet son, we know thou art waiting,
Though thy angelic beauty we cannot see
We know that thou art safe in the bosom of Him,
Who said "Suffer the children to come unto me."

We know that thou art waiting, but we're on our journey
Though troubles and trials we meet every day,
Oh! may we be found with our lamps trimmed and burning,
When the Messenger cometh to call us away.

A Rabbit-Skin Scalp.

The surgeons at the Hartford city hospital are making a curious experiment in their endeavors to renew the scalp of Rosanna Flynn. Her scalp was wholly torn off in a Collingsville factory last August. For months the engrafting upon the cranium of small pieces of human skin has been in progress, the bits not exceeding in size the dimensions of a silver 5-cent piece. Eventually the hospital attendants became tired of contributing these bits of skin from their own persons, and especially as the woman was so careless as to hinder the progress of the work by striking her head against objects. The physicians, therefore, have resorted to bits of rabbit skin instead of human cuticle, and with fairly good success. The skin is built up around the edges, and there is quite an island, so to speak, of mingled human and rabbit skin on the top of the head. The aim of the doctors is to unite this with the edges below, and while they anticipate success they don't look for it under a year at least.

Our Millionaires

do not find all their investments golden, by any means. Satan investment in Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is certain to prove a good one. It cures coughs, consumption, bronchitis, sick headache, skin disease, dyspepsia, costiveness, scrofulous diseases, chills and fever, and dumb ague. It reaches the blood, and through it the whole system. Agreeable to take, permanent in its results.

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other dealers and millers, a good Family Flour at $2.35, but the brand "Bakers" is still retailed at $2.50 per hundred.

"BAKERS"

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred

BAKER'S FLOUR (ground from Manitoba Hard and Ontario Spring Wheat), $2.50 per Hundred.

FAMILY FLOUR (ground from Ontario Wheat), $2.25 per Hundred.

LOW GRADE FLOUR, $2.00 per Hundred.

REMEMBER THIS THAT

PROF. DORENWEND,

OF THE PARIS HAIR WORKS, TORONTO,

Will be in Peterborough, at Phelan's Hotel, on FRIDAY and SATURDAY, Aug. 27 & 28.

He will have with him such goods as will have a gratifying effect on all who have lost their hair, who have gray or straight hair, etc., and wish to cover it. All his stock of Hair Goods is the largest and best in America.

His Reversible, Parisian and Yum-Yum Bangs, Water Waves, Plae Long-Haired Switches, Wigs, etc., for Ladies, and Toupees and Wigs for Gentlemen, WILL SUIT EVERY ONE, NO MATTER HOW BALD.

It costs you nothing to call at his show-rooms and examine his fine selection. Every article is properly fitted on by the Professor before being paid for—so that every one can be sure of being thoroughly suited and satisfied before leaving. Gentlemen who are partly or completely bald can get articles from the Professor to suit their case, which will astonish them for their natural appearance, neatness and finish. Thousands who were formerly prejudice against such goods are now among the Professor's customers. This will show what a perfect master of his profession Prof. Dorenwend is. His goods must be seen to be appreciated—they cannot be fully described in print. If you are bald, if your hair is thin, straight, gray, etc., by all means call and see him.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.

SOLICITORS—Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $300 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $300,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Races.

To-morrow will be the first day of the midsummer meet of the Peterborough Driving Park Association, which is the all-absorbing question among sporting men, and which promises to be the grandest success. The following fast horses are entered on the list, and the races cannot fail to be the best which have ever taken place in this district: Louie C, Louis D, Lady M, Deadwood, Gen. Spike, Little Ned, Stanton Jr., Gentleway, Billy Parks, Corkfoot Tom, Gray Johnnie, General Dean, Marquis, Duke of Wellington, Blairton, Fanny B, Geraldine, Lady Tariff, Tariff Jr., and others which are in town training, but have not entered yet. The band will leave the postoffice corner to-morrow at one o'clock and proceed to the park, where everything is in readiness for the races. The track is in splendid condition.

Visitors By the Hundreds.

The Whitby Cornet Band excursion train brought to town this morning in the neighborhood of a thousand visitors, from Pickering, Whitby, Port Perry, Lindsay, etc. The party was accompanied by three brass bands, viz.: the Whitby Cornet Band, the Warsaw Lodge Oddfellows' Band, of Port Perry, and the Citizens' Band of Lindsay, which marched up street to the drill shed, where they separated. The excursionists brought no baskets, and repaired to the hotels for meals. Among the visitors were the Whitby baseball club, which in company with the local team and the bands marched to the P.A.A.A. grounds this afternoon, to engage in the long talked of match between these clubs.

A Sad Death.

A short time since Mrs. J. D. Baptie went to the Sandbanks, Prince Edward county, for a visit. She was attacked with illness, but was only able to reach Belleville. Mr. Baptie went down to Belleville yesterday. Mrs. Baptie's illness became more serious. This morning her father, Mr. Chas. Brealy, received a telegram urging his presence, but it was followed in a very short time with another relating her death. The remains will be brought home this evening at 7.30.

Paid the Penalty.

J. Millar, about two months ago convicted of violation of the Scott Act, and who has since evaded the police, was arrested yesterday by P. C. McGinty. He paid the fine imposed, $50 and costs, and was released. It is understood that he will institute a counter action.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Beautiful Bloom.

Mr. W. Manning's night-blooming Cereus blossomed again last night. Two of the flowers will unfold themselves to-night and lovers of flowers should see them. All will be made welcome.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. J. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. Thos. Menzies' book store, or at Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's drug store.

No Fakirs Allowed.

No fakirs will be allowed to practice their profession in town to-morrow. The police are determined to put a stop to such work, and will keep their eyes open for such men.

Oysters

Now on hand at the C. P. R. Restaurant, served up in the best styles.

Ladies

Don't forget that Prof. Dorenwend, of the Paris Hair Works, Toronto, will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of all the latest designs in hair goods. Don't bother yourselves so much about trying to keep your hair curled or waved, but call and get a Blue Reversible Parisian or Yum-Yum bang or Water Wave. d32-4t-w2s.

Blithe Bridals at "Blair Athol."

Mr. R. G. Loch and Miss Tina Menzies Respectively United.

The wedding ceremonial and festivities incident to the marriage of Mr. Geo Loch, eldest son of Mr. Wm. Loch, and Miss Tina, third daughter of Mr. Thomas Menzies, took place at "Blair Athol," on Tuesday evening, under the happiest circumstances. The parents of the principals, being two of our foremost citizens, the occasion created unusual interest, and a large number of guests was present.

At 6 o'clock p.m. the wedding ceremony took place, Rev. Alexander Gill, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, performing it. The bridesmaids were Miss Loch and Miss Irene Menzies, and Mr. F. Gaudinger, of Montreal, acted as groomsman.

The bride was richly and beautifully dressed in an elegant robe of white satin, with court train, beaded front, and drapery trimmed with seed pearls, with, of course, the usual veil and flowers. Her ornaments were diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were attired with appropriate taste and corresponding elegance.

After the usual wedding breakfast sumptuously served, and to which about 75 guests sat down, the bride was attired in a travelling dress of elephant gray matico cloth, silk plush jacket, and hat to match, and the newly-wedded pair were escorted to the Midland station, where, after the usual good-byes they embarked on the 6.45 train for Portland. They will be absent about a fortnight, and on their return will take up their residence in the beautiful new villa on Stewart street, built for them and which will be ready for their occupancy on their return to town, to enter upon the serious duties of domestic life.

During the evening about a hundred guests assembled at "Blair Athol," and the wedding festivities were continued, in the usual manner, till an early hour.

The high esteem in which the fair bride is held is demonstrated by the large and beautiful array of valuable presents showered upon her. The following is a full list of Junior Lacrosse Match.

An interesting and closely contested lacrosse match was played on the Riverside Park on Monday afternoon, between the Ætnas and Young Riversides. The teams were made up as follows:

ÆTNAS.		YOUNG RIVERSIDES.
S Robinson	goal	W Rogers
C Neal	point	A Lipsett
W Motherall	cover point	F Dobbin
A Dumble	defence field	B Craig
J Brown	do	G McGregor
H Walsh	do	G Lipsett
J Kennedy	centre	T Bagley
W Dumble	home field	G Fitzgibbon
W Galley	do	W Adams
J Irwin	do	W Mills
M Mitson	second home	H Morgath
B Hudson	first home	C Clancey
M Larose	captain	J Bagley
T Meagher		Referee

After three hours' play the match was drawn, each side having won two games. Both teams were "well played." The match throughout was a splendid exhibition of the national game, and the boys should keep right on practising. The Ætnas, although on the average, smaller than their opponents, showed the best form and caused the Riversides to play a defence game throughout. This the Riversides were well able to do, as their defence was too strong for the Ætnas' home. A large number of spectators witnessed the game and encouraged the boys in their efforts.

Personal.

Mr. A. Tosbish, of Brighton, formerly of Peterborough, is in town visiting friends.

At a meeting of those interested, Mr. H. A. Strike, formerly of Fenerville, was appointed captain of the football team in connection with Toronto Normal School.

Mr. Geo. Matthews, of Lindsay, passed through town this morning on his way home from England, where he has been on a visit connecting business and pleasure.

Mr. Geo. A. Morrison has received the appointment of general agent for the Manitoba Reserve Company for the counties of Prince, Hastings and Prince Edward in addition to his former territory of Peterborough county. He goes east to-morrow to appoint agents in the new district. He informs us that his new business for the two months of last year in which he acted for this company amounted to $200,000.

Mr. A. P. Pousette, Q. C., returned home from Sarnia last-night, where he has been holidaying for three weeks.

Messrs. W. Brooks and W. Leach, of Rochester, who during the past week were camping with Mr. R. R. Hamilton, on Stony lake, returned home to-day.

Mr. J. H. Roper, Manager of the Bank of Toronto, returned home last evening from his summer stay by the sounding sea, Prince Edward Island.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

What the Toronto "Mail," August 7th says of Fred. Dorenwend,

"The Palace Hair Store of the Dominion is A. Dorenwend's, the Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street. The different artistic styles in hair goods turned out at this establishment for elegance and durability have no equal. He manufactures and keeps in stock some of the most becoming and natural looking goods that will defy competition. At this season of the year when things generally are quiet he is busy from morning till night filling orders in ladies' and gents' wigs, ladies' bangs, waves, switches and other styles, and has succeeded in establishing a reputation for his renowned styles second to none on the American continent. Ladies or gentlemen who have lost their hair and want to appear natural looking should not forget to inspect his stock or send for his price list, which will be sent free on application. Note his advertisement in another column." The Prof. will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of hair goods. d32-4-w2

Sir David Macpherson has been discovered. He has returned to London from Germany much improved in health. It is to be hoped that his temper and political morals have experienced a corresponding improvement.

A Whole Family Sent to Jail.

Brantford, Aug. 24.—At the Police Court to-day there was a whole family in the dock. John Macaulay was one of the quartette. The others were his wife and two children. The elder ones were charged with being drunk and disorderly and the 12-year-old girl with "wandering about without any visible means of support." The magistrate sent Macaulay to the Central Prison for 6 months, Mrs. Macaulay to the Mercer Reformatory at Toronto for 18 months, and the girl, who has already served 28 months, to the Refuge for Girls in the same institution for 18 months, and an indefinite period following, not to exceed in all 5 years.

Seizure of the Frances Smith.

Owen Sound, Aug. 24.—Officers of the Steamer Frances Smith refuse to give any particulars about her seizure and release by the American authorities at Mackinaw Island. It is reported that the steamer was released on a $24,000 bond, that the seizure was illegal and that the owners can recover damages from the American Government.

Catholics Must Withdraw From the K. of L.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—Archbishop Fabre has addressed the clergy of his diocese that it is their duty to get any of their parishioners who may be members of the Knights of Labor to withdraw from the organization, stating at the same time that mild measures are likely to prove more successful than harsh ones.

A Brantford Boy's Death at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—Alfred Oscar Ellerby, 16 years old, jumped off the Michigan Central train at Porter-avenue Sunday evening, and received injuries from which he since died at the hospital. He was the son of Conductor Ellerby of Brantford, Ont. The boy's remains were taken to that city for interment.

Stage Robbers in the Northwest.

Calgary, Aug. 24.—The Edmonton and Calgary stage, with two passengers, due here at 16 o'clock, was "held up" eighteen miles east by two masked men, who took $400 and the registered letters.

LOYALTO ALEXANDER

BULGARIANS RISING IN FAVOR OF THEIR DEPOSED PRINCE.

TIRNOVA, Aug. 25.—The following proclamation has been issued: "In the name of Prince Alexander and the Bulgarian Parliament I hereby declare that I have assumed the direction of the provisional government at Sofia. Persons failing to conform therewith will be dealt with by military law. I appoint Col. Montkoroff, Commander-in-Chief of the army, with full civil and military powers. I appeal to Bulgarians to defend the crown of their fatherland against the traitors seeking to dethrone our heroic and beloved Prince who was chosen by the people as their ruler. Long live Alexander." The proclamation is signed Stambuloff, and countersigned Montkoroff.

Gladstone on the Question.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 25.—Mr. Gladstone, who arrived here this evening, told a journalist he believed Prince Alexander would not return to Bulgaria, but in the present state of affairs it was difficult to form an opinion.

Movements of Alexander.

BOURGAREST, Aug. 25.—Prince Alexander has left Reni for either Darmstadt or Berlin. His yacht has proceeded to Galatz. The disposition of affairs at Sofia has been entrusted to Mutkouroff.

The fall of the Rebel cabinet at Sofia is confirmed. It is reported that the leaders of the revolution are fleeing to Servia. The Ministerial Vointza states that Russia forbade Alexander to land in Russian territory. The Rutschuk garrison has declared its loyalty to the Stambuloff Cabinet. Meetings are being held everywhere in Bulgaria in favor of Alexander. If he does not return to Bulgaria speedily a regency will be proclaimed.

All accounts agree that Alexander was in the hands of the Russian plotters until Reni was reached, when he was released and told to go wherever he liked. It is stated Alexander absolutely refused to sign the deed of abdication.

Provisional Government Overthrown.

SOFIA, Aug. 25.—The provisional government created by the revolutionists has been overthrown. M. Clement, M. Groueff and M. Sankoff, three of its members, have been arrested and thrown into prison and the old Ministry has been reinstated. The deception practised upon them by the circulation of the report that Prince Alexander voluntarily abdicated has exasperated the troops and civilians alike and a revulsion of popular feeling in favor of the deposed ruler is as general as it is intense. A deputation has started out to find the Prince and assure him of the loyalty of the Bulgarian people and army and to endeavor to persuade him to return.

All Bulgaria is Rising.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A Times London special says: News has been received at the foreign office from Kennedy, the British Consul at Bucharest, that all Bulgaria is rising, that the troops are declaring against the conspiracy, and that there is an expectation that Zankoff will be hanged within forty-eight hours and Prince Alexander invited back with loud acclamations. It is scarcely doubted that should Russia detain the Prince her action would be treated as a casus belli by Turkey or the powers on her behalf. It is safe to say that every man in authority in England feels the events of the last week have brought measurably nearer the great conflict with Russia which has so long been on the horizon.

The Prince on a Yacht.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 25.—The commander of the yacht on which it has been stated that Prince Alexander is kept a prisoner has telegraphed from Reki to Sofia asking for instructions. He received orders to convey the Prince back to Sofia. Despatches from Widdin state that the counter revolution has been successful.

How it Affects the Money Market.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The stock market closed flat on the serious aspect of the situation in Bulgaria, and in anticipation of a tighter bank rate to-morrow.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The bourse was depressed at the closing owing to the reported restoration of the Alexander Ministry in Bulgaria.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The bourse closed to-day with a general decline, owing to the gloomy views of the political situation expressed by the English and Russian press.

Soldiers for the Prince.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Aug. 25.—Col. Montkouroff, commander of the Eastern Roumelian troops, has issued a proclamation announcing "patriots to defend the honor of Prince Alexander and Bulgaria." Soldiers everywhere throughout Roumelia are declaring for Alexander, but so far there has been no disorder.

Voice of the St. Petersburg Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—Novosti and Viedomosti agree that the state of anarchy existing in Bulgaria has rendered Russian intervention more necessary to prevent its spread to the whole of the Balkan peninsula. Viedomosti says: We do not advocate the occupation of Bulgaria by Russia. That is not worth the fresh bloodshed it would entail.

Russia's Tactics.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 25.—Diplomats believe that Russia will not permit Alexander to return to Bulgaria even if the counter revolutionist troops be successful in his favor. Russia will rather the diplomats insist that the Bulgarian Assembly shall choose a new ruler. The Powers undoubtedly desire to localize the question, but a demand upon the Czar to allow the return of Alexander might result in making the whole matter an international affair.

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—The Tageblatt says the Russian ministers of war and marine have been summoned to St. Petersburg. The Black Sea fleet has been ordered to be in readiness for a cruise. Several Russian steamship companies have been ordered to equip troop-transports.

NEW YORK STREET CAR STRIKE.

A Mob Obstruct the Traffic—Police to the Rescue.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—District assembly 49 has decided not to "tie up" the cross-town cars on Forty-second-street. The headquarters of the assembly was open throughout the night. The men on strike say the tie-up on the Broadway and Seventh-avenue lines will be short, or that there will be a grand tie-up. At 6 o'clock this morning nearly 300 policemen were marched to the stables of the Broadway and Seventh-avenue lines and dispersed the men who had gathered on the adjacent corners. No men have yet applied, so far as can be learned, for the places vacated by the strikers.

The Broadway Company decided to take in all its cars before 6 o'clock so as not to press too hard on the police. Large crowds of angry looking men remained in the vicinity of the depot throughout the afternoon. Superintendent Purcell said he expected to have all the cars running soon. There would be no conference with the strikers. They had refused to do the work, and new men must be hired to do it.

At 7 o'clock this afternoon the Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor met in consultation with two presidents of car companies, but the conference was abortive. The men demanded a return to the old time table and rates of pay and asked that the books of company be handed over to the State Board of Arbitration. They said they would abide by decision of the Board. The presidents of the company said they had been losing money at the rate of $60,000 a year, and that it was impossible to return to the old schedule.

A crowd of fifteen or twenty strikers entered one of the Third-avenue cars as it was passing Forty-Seventh-street this afternoon, and after driving the passengers out turned it over on its side. An open car which followed was attacked and upset. When the driver showed fight a revolver was pointed at him. Great excitement attended these acts. On the approach of a policeman the plotting strikers fled. They were chased, but only one, Ed. Mahler, conductor, was overtaken. He was locked up in default of $1000 bail. A posse of police arrived and set the cars right, after which travel was resumed.

ASHEVILLE, N.C., July 25.—The afternoon part of a construction train on the Asheville and Spartanburg Railroad while ascending a heavy grade on the mountain section between Tyron City and Saluda broke loose, dashing down the mountain with frightful speed. The overseers and four convicts were buried from flat cars and killed. A guard who seriously injured nine convicts were wounded.

FALMERSTON SHOOTING AFFAIR.

A Different Account From That Previously Published Yesterday.

GUELPH, Aug. 25.—In this morning's despatches there appears an account of a shooting affray in Palmerston. The facts given by the parties concerned are altogether different. A warrant had been issued for the arrest of Wm. Wilson, for assaulting License Inspector Fisher. Thos. Flath, town constable of Drayton, County Constable Short, and Silas Smith, a special constable, went to Palmerston to serve Wilson with the warrant. They had also warrants to serve on Watt and Leopard, hotelkeepers of that town, for not paying their fines for infringement of the Scott Act. Short arrested Wilson at the Watt House. A crowd gathered and interfered. The police men drew their revolvers and ordered the crowd to disperse. The crowd fell back for a moment until a man named Duggan or Douglas came up and seized hold of Flath's baton, remarking that he was not afraid of arrest. A scuffle commenced in the hall and continued until the bar-room was reached. Flath in the meantime being roughly handled by Douglas. Flath told the man that if he did not desist he would be compelled to shoot him. To this warning he paid no attention, and finally Flath drew his revolver and shot his antagonist. In the meantime Short had taken his prisoner outside, but no sooner had he done so than he was hemmed in by a mob. His baton was torn from him and he was dealt several blows with it over the head by Wilson, it is said. Smith arrived on the scene at this time and struck Wilson down. While Short was attempting to put the handcuffs on Wilson, Flath's cries for help were heard in another direction, and he and Smith went to his assistance. Finally they made their escape, and Short was taken to Dr. Stanley's office to have his wounds dressed. While there a message was sent to the constables to flee for their lives, as the mob were incensed by the shooting and were likely to commit some rash act on them. Flash and Smith took to the bush, and made good their escape, but Short, who received several ugly wounds from his own baton was unable to stir. Flath arrived in Guelph this morning and gave himself into the custody of County Crown Attorney Peterson.

K. A. St. George's Union.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25.—The North American St. George's Union met in the City Hall this morning. Vice-President Wilson occupied the chair. The Executive Committee's report, after dealing with the membership and financial position of the Union referred to the subject the best means of preventing the immigration here of incapables and disseminating information relative there to. The matter was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Underdown, Lucas, Bryant, Hervey, Pell.

Philadelphia was unanimously selected as the place for the next meeting. The following officers were elected: President, Samuel Lees, Philadelphia; First Vice-President, W. H. Bartram, London; Second Vice-President Isaac Whitten, Utica; Treasurer, Daniel Batchelor, Utica; General Secretary, Thos. Y. Yeates, Washington; Corresponding Secretary, Geo. Dixon, Philadelphia; Chaplain Rev. Dr. Burroughs, Oswego; First Member of the Executive Committee, Jas. M. Smith Boston; Second Member, H. Symons, Toronto.

Chickens Killed by Hail Stones.

ST. OLA, Ont., Aug. 25.—A terrible hail storm passed through a part of the township of Cashell, Hastings County, about six miles from this place last week. It was so violent and heavy that there are yet to be found heaps of hail after four days' sun. It went in a streak about half a mile in width, totally destroying all the crops in its range, and actually killing chickens of ordinary size, and so badly cutting the face and head of a boy that he had to be carried into the house.

A Toronto Boy in Trouble.

HAMILTON, Aug. 25.—P. C. Barron arrested a lad who gave his name as Julius Woltz of Toronto, on suspicion of having stolen a watch and chain. Woltz said the watch belonged to Charles Wilson, employed at the rolling mills. No such person could be found, but yesterday the owner turned up in the person of Samuel Bowman, the boy's uncle, who lives in Walpole Township, near Hagersville. Woltz was arraigned at the Police Court to-day, but the case was adjourned.

A Gallery Fiend's Jokes.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 25.—During a performance at the Opera House last night, a person in the gallery dropped a lighted match or piece of paper into the lap of Miss Martha Hutchinson. Her dress immediately ignited and blazed up. The lady fainted, but those seated near her succeeded in putting the fire out, after it had burned considerable of the garment. There was a small panic for a short time.

The Meeting of the Waters.

BRIGHTON, Aug. 25.—Amid the blowing of whistles and the rejoicing of spectators the waters of Presque Isle and Quinte were brought together to-day at 2.30 p.m. The contractors, Messrs. Lee & Dunbar on the west end and Messrs. Silcox & Mowry on the east, have completed their first cut through and several pleasure sailed from Belleville harbor to Trenton by way of celebrating the important event.

A London Hotel Man Robbed.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25.—Last night a sneak thief entered the bedroom of James McMartin of the City Hotel and took his trousers, containing about $120, from between the head of the bed and the pillow.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

CONTINUATION OF THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech was continued this evening in the House of Commons. Wilfrid Redmond (nationalist) said it was useless to discuss land settlement now. The question was who her landlords would be allowed to evict tenants for not paying impossible rents, whether the English would allow the Irish to be cast into the roadside during the coming winter? If the result was bloodshed, misery and outrages, the responsibility would rest with the Government whose only panacea was the appointment of a royal commission.

Mr. Balfour, Secretary for Scotland, accused Mr. Parnell of trying to make government impossible by promoting a general anti-rent strike. The Parnellites, he said, did not wish a settlement between landlords and tenants, but wished to keep up the agrarian sore.

Mr. Stuart, on behalf of the democrats of England, denounced evictions, and said the lamentable would not tolerate coercion. Ireland must be autonomous.

Major Saunderson (Conservative) said he would speak as a landlord to refute the Parnellite charge that the Irish landlords, "blood-suckers, as they were pleased to call landlords—[Parnellite cheers]—were afraid to make their voices heard in the Houses of Commons. He (Saunderson) accepted the challenge. [Conservative cheers.] Irish landlords, he said, were not afraid to accept a Parnellite challenge on this or any other point. Conservative cheers and Parnellite laughter.] Major Saunderson quoted an extract from a speech made in October, 1885, by Matthew Harris, member for East Galway, in which the latter said that if the farmers shot the landlords like partridges he would not blame them.

At this point Mr. Harris entered the House in obedience to a summons, and immediately asked Major Saunderson to repeat the quotation.

Major Saunderson replied, "With the greatest pleasure," and again read the extract from Mr. Harris' speech.

Mr. Harris—Will Major Saunderson read what I said leading up to the extract?

Major Saunderson—This is the only portion of the speech worth repeating. [Conservative laughter and loud Parnellite cries of "Order."]

After an excited discussion the Speaker allowed Mr. Harris to make an explanation. Mr. Harris commenced a discursive statement to the effect that in 1884 he went into the ribbon lodges in Westmeath and elsewhere in an endeavor to put down agrarian crime.

The Speaker interposed, saying Mr. Harris by the indulgence of the House was allowed to make a personal explanation, but not to make an argumentative speech. [Cheers.]

Major Sanderson resuming, said: Mr. Harris does not deny the accuracy of the extract.

Mr. Harris (excitedly)—I do; read the context.

Major Saunderson—Mr. Harris has informed the House of an interesting fact that I was unaware of before, namely, that he belongs to the ribband order. [Conservative laughter and Parnellite shouts].

Mr. Harris excitedly rose and made a remark that was inaudible owing to the cries of the Parnellites.

Mr. Dillon rose to a point of order. He asked whether one member was entitled to accuse another of belonging to the ribband order. [Parnellite cheers.]

The Speaker—Is it a statement the truth of which Mr. Harris has admitted the House must judge.

Mr. Dillon denied that Mr. Harris had admitted anything of the kind. [Shouts of "Order" and Parnellite cheers.]

The Speaker—The honorable members have heard the statement. Doubtless Major Saunderson will accept a denial.

Mr. Harris—I repudiate it as an infamous falsehood. [Cries of "Order."]

The Speaker—Mr. Harris will withdraw that expression unreservedly.

Mr. Harris obeyed, but further blustering ensued. The Speaker rebuking the disorderly members, said he hoped personal allusions would cease. [Cheers.]

Major Saunderson, resuming his speech said that Parnell had formulated a new canon: "Thou shalt ask no rent." All classes and trades in Ireland were in a more or less depressed condition except the professional Irish politician. [Laughter.] The occupation was never in a more flourishing condition. The Parnellites were trying to exterminate the landlords by terrorism. He instanced cases at Gweedore where tenants paid each other as much as £100 for tenant rights, but refused to pay landlords fifteen shillings yearly because the parish priest, who was president of the local branch of the National League, had quarrelled with their landlords. Concerning threats and outrages during the winter, Mr. Parnell was like an engineer who could turn on or shut off steam as will. Mr. Parnell held the throttle valve of crime in Ireland. He had opened the valve before and could do it again if he pleased. [Conservative cheers and Parnellite cries of "Order."]

Mr. Redmond rose to a point of order, and after some discussion Major Saunderson said he would withdraw the objectionable expression, but at the same time would maintain his private opinion. In conclusion Major Saunderson said the Parnellites would find before long that they were not dealing with a craven Government and that the Government would not let the control of Ireland fall into the hands of the league.

The debate was adjourned on motion of Mr. Chamberlain.

WORSE THAN EVER.

Rioting Renewed in Belfast—The Police Forced to Retreat.

BELFAST, Aug. 25.—An attempt was made this evening to replace the police in the Protestant quarter of the city, from which they had been withdrawn after the beginning of the riots. Fifty constables tried to patrol Shankill road. A mob stoned the police and the latter after vainly charging the mob were forced to retreat. Several were injured. The streets were finally cleared by the troops. Six arrests were made.

BELFAST, Aug. 26., 1 a.m.—Daly's tavern on Peter's Hill has again been wrecked. The mob last night placed chains across the Shankill road which tripped the police and troops when they charged the mob. Twenty arrests have been made. The police were terribly stoned.

A Passenger Train Stoned.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—James Stevenson, executive officer of the Government survey corps, arrived here last night on the Pennsylvania express. He says that shortly after the train left Lewis station, fifty miles from Chicago, it was stoned by unknown parties. Windows in the smoking car, ladies' car and two Pullmans were broken. The train was moving at full speed, and the sudden onslaught created an alarm, particularly among the female passengers. It is supposed a party of tramps committed the outrage.

"That's what I call hash money," remarked the daddy when he plunked down the cash for a bottle of paregoric to take home for use in the infantile portion of his family.

R. W. MUNCASTER,

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1886.

HON. MR. GLADSTONE is about to enjoy a new experience. He intends going to Bavaria for a short rest, but he will still keep touch with the absorbing home politics and has arranged it so that he can be communed and return to St. Stephen's at a moment's notice.

THE Liberals of Ottawa have made arrangements for a meeting on next Monday evening, to be addressed by Hon. Edward Blake, "The People's Tribune." Hon. Mr. Blake is not idle. His addresses will so fire the heather as to make it uncomfortably hot for the opponents of honest government at the next elections.

A NOVA SCOTIA Conservative politician, now in Ottawa, says the story about Sir Charles Tupper coming out to interview the Government about making the Colonial Exhibition a permanent institution is exceedingly ridiculous, as business of that kind could be settled by letter. The general belief is that Sir John MacDonald has sent for Sir Charles to consult with him about the present difficult position of the Government and to urge him to re-enter the Cabinet as as Minister of Finance If Sir Charles desires to return to the Cabinet he will probably make Mr. Townshend a judge and seek election in Cumberland again.

THE electors of Leith, Scotland, have buried a "ratting" politician alive. Mr. Jacks, in she election previous to the last, was returned as a Liberal for Leith by a majority of 3,870. In the last election Mr. Gladstone was elected for both Leith and Midlothian. Choosing to sit for the latter, Leith became vacant. Mr. Jacks, as a "Unionist Liberal" tried his luck again. The Gladstonian candidate, Mr. Ferguson, received at the by-election over a thousand more votes than the two coercion candidates combined. The electors of Leith show no pity to a man who deserts Liberalism to become a Tory, with the veneer of "Liberal-Unionism."

THE Mail has been publishing a series of letters from an alleged "English-speaking Liberal in Quebec." In his last letter he uses this language:—"The clamour and jangle raised by paltry souls about Provincial rights." Now, no man of Liberal principles would pen such language as that; it is only the Tory soul that can champion centralization, the inevitable result of ignoring of provincial rights. The "English-speaking Liberal" must be a hide-bound Tory, who, to get credence for his assertions, and toleration for his sentiments, tries, even when writing for a Tory paper, to steal the livery of Liberalism to serve the—Sir John in.

THE steamer Yosemite, which our patriotic Dominion Government, giving Canadian ship-builders the go by, purchased at New York for the modest sum of $50,000, was bought by the last seller for $10,000, and he bought her from a party that bought her for $7,000. It takes a shrewd financier to buy a $7,000 steamer for a paltry $50,000, and then go out of the country at that to do it. But the object of her purchase is not so much to catch Yankee piscatorial poachers as to boom the N. P. The new Yankee addition to our fleet is so greedy a devourer of coal that a Nova Scotia paper asserts that she was bought to stimulate the coal-mining industry.

The Cheese Market.

The First Half of August's Make Boarded —All Sold at the Highest Price of the Season.

The regular fortnightly market of the Peterborough and Victoria Cheese Board was held in the old Music Hall on Tuesday afternoon. There were 1364 boxes boarded, all of the first half of August's make, and colored. The factories contributed as follows:—

The buyers present were Messrs. W. H. Wrighton, R. Green, and J. W. Flavelle, town; W. S. Cook, Belleville; M. Dingwall, Lancaster; R. Leary, Lindsay.

Mr. Leary opened the market, offering 8c. for the entire board.

Bidding was continued as follows:—Wrighton, 8¼c. for the board; Cook, 8¼c. for selections; Leary, 8¼c. for selections; Wrighton, 8 9-16c. for Peterborough section; Dingwall, 8 9-16c. for the board; Leary, 8 11-16c. for selections; Dingwall, 8 11-16c. for the board; Cook, 8¾c. for the board.

Mr. Cook's offer was accepted by the Board and by the individual representatives of the factories, and the market closed.

The President, Mr. M. Drummond, intimated to the Board, that he had made enquiries and ascertained that there had been a considerable decrease in the amount of cheese manufactured this year as compared with last. The decrease for the past months was 1899 boxes in all, 200 in May, 700 in June, and 900 in August. August also showed a decrease.

The market then adjourned for two weeks.

The Servant-Girl Problem.

Competent domestic service will then be the only barrier to comfortable home-life in large cities for refined American families of small means, says a writer in Cassell's Family Magazine. I do not know whether Americans themselves are as well aware of it as one who has been an observer for some years, but the servants have so greatly improved in the last decade that a similar improvement in the next will make life as easy in that respect here, if not as in Paris, at least as in London, for it must always be remembered that a great deal more is expected from servants here than in England. On account, perhaps, of the sleeping-room required, and oftener the high rate of wages, fewer servants are kept, and one is often required in a small family to be cook, laundress, waitress, and chambermaid. The general servant (usually Irish or German) readily undertakes all these duties without knowing one. Thus the life of the American housekeeper is a series of efforts to train inefficient, often indifferent girls into satisfactory servants, and frequently the weary discouragement from much fruitless effort induces her to retain one for the sake of a single good quality, and put up with her general incompetence. This remedy seems to lie in the hands of the ladies themselves. If they refused to pay the wages of a good servant to the untrained, and established a standard of efficiency by which the wages would be gauged, there would be some prize for the servant to work for, and some assurance to the mistress that the girl she takes raw from her native bogs, knowing not even the names of the articles in common use, will feel the need of working up to better things, if she is engaged at low wages and sees high ones to be obtained, only on producing testimonials of her fitness.

At present the girl who can light the kitchen fire, and has learnt the names of the ordinary kitchen utensils (not how to use them, be it said), gets the wages of an experienced servant, if she only asks them and declares her ability. She may leave in a month, but she carries with her the month's good wages, and finds another place next day.

Every American Indian costs the United States Government $3,000 a year, estimating the Indian population at 260,000 and the appropriation at $7,000,000.

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole serial.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

MR. J. W. CROSBY

who has had several years experience as tuner and dealer in HIGH GRADE PIANOS and ORGANS, has settled in Peterborough, where he will offer for sale the Emerson Piano, Boston, Cornish Reed Organ, Toronto; Dominion Piano, Hamilton, Ontario; Chickering and Sons' Pianos, Boston, at very low prices. My Organs are the finest in the market, combine the most modern improvements and are powerful in tone, having the celebrated Mason & Hamlin stop action used, pump the easiest and will last a lifetime. As I have no connection with high salaried agents and travellers, I can afford to give my customers the benefit of the difference. I am prepared to guarantee all my instruments, and will exchange any that may not prove satisfactory, refunding purchase price and allowing their own freight charges. Terms cash, or on time to responsible parties. Organs from $60 to $300.

Keene.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The meeting for the farthering of the cause of Sabbath Schools which took place last Wednesday evening in the Methodist Church, was not so well attended as we would wish to have seen, but the audience was the cream of the locality, and the church more than half filled. The speeches were good. Rev. Mr. Limbert, of Hastings, spoke first. Then Mr. Kenneth Mark read the essay sent by Rev. Mr. Tucker, of Campbellford, who could not be present owing to a wedding at home. Dr. Harrison followed in a neat and pithy speech, well put and extremely interesting. Then Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Norwood, rose and said it was so late he would defer his speech, and when urged to continue, made some humorous remarks, gave a brief epitome of his life, etc., and promised to come again after the snow fell.

It is rumored that Mr. Frost has sold, or is about selling, his bus and general freight and passenger-carrying outfit to Mr. Robert McIntyre, of this village. If this be true—and we are to lose Mr. Frost—we are sorry, but Mr. McIntyre is just the right man to succeed him; we could not have a better.

Kingston's honored bard, Evan MacColl, so well known to Canada's poetry-loving people as one of our sweetest singers, both in English and Gaelic rhymes, is at present the guest of Dr. Massie, an old and honored friend.

Mr. MacColl is sojourning to Peterborough and westward, and has with him a volume of Gaelic poetry, just published by him, which will be a treat to the Highland hearts throughout our land.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

To do further justice to the public opinion of the beautiful of our town, Mr. Geo. Stetham will be disappointed in making our ladies an advertising medium, choosing to remain far above "par" though exchanged for ordinary positions.

The many friends of Mr. Fler in this part feel very sorry about the accident he met with in the mill, and hope to soon hear of his speedy recovery.

We have several new citizens arrived lately, and there is scarcely an empty house in the town.

Peterborough is becoming about as well known and as much frequented by the farmers of Emily as ever known in the past history of the united counties of Victoria and Peterborough.

Capt. Jos. Evans, No. 1 Company 45th Battalion, has gone to compete in the Ontario Rifle Association matches, in Toronto.

Omemee high school students have held their own in obtaining certificates, in comparison with neighboring schools.

Our farmers and others are still wishing for the following accommodations:— a roller flour mill, shingle and planing mill, banking accommodation, law, &c.

Harvey.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Harvey council met at the Clerk's office on the 23rd instant. Members all present. After receiving of communications and accounts, a by-law was passed to provide for levying the rates and taxes for 1886, for county purposes, $686.37; for township purposes, $780; and for schools as follows:—school section No. 1, $100; No. 2, $250; No. 3, $290; No. 4, $250; No. 5, $225; No. 6, $180; No. 7, $250; No. 8, $453.

Orders were drawn on the treasurer as follows:— A. McIntyre, for crowbar, $2.50; Lewis Winters, for repairs on Sandy Creek bridge, $1.25; William Bercroft, for cutting fallen trees on Squaw River road, 50c.

On motion the council adjourned, to meet again in the town hall, October 14th.

Exportation of Manitoba cattle.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—The first cattle to arrive here direct from a Manitoba ranch for shipment to England reached here by the C. P. R. Thursday evening. The consignment consists of fifteen head, and they appear as fresh as when they were taken on the train at Notre Dame du Portage. They were placed in the C. P. R. stock yards, where they were yesterday visited by parties of the trade for those engaged in the cattle trade. Several other car loads are on the way. The owner of the pioneer consignment is Mr. Pearce of Toronto.

A Stone-Cutter Killed.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 23.—A stone-cutter named Nelson, a Swede, while walking on the quarry side-track near St. Davids about 1 p.m., was struck by some flat cars that were being shunted. He being deaf did not hear them coming, although the yardmen shouted till he was hoarse. Seven cars passed over him, pulling and doubling his body up under the brake beams. He was taken out and brought here, and lingered till 7 this evening, suffering intense pain.

The Cattle Cremating at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Aug. 21.—The work of cremating infected cattle is progressing satisfactorily. The last of the herd of Galloways imported by Thos. McCrae of Guelph, was exterminated to-night. No positive signs of infection have yet been discovered in the herd of Andrew Allen, but suspicious symptoms have been observed, and it is more than likely that these cattle will also be reduced to ashes before the end of another week.

England and the Empire's Fisheries.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The 96th Regiment has been ordered to garrison Halifax, N. S. Vice Admiral McLennan Lyons, who goes out to Halifax to succeed Earl Clanwilliam in the command of the British North American squadron in the early part of next month with his staff, has instructions to do avoid as far as practicable all friction in regard to the present fishery troubles.

Stringent orders have been sent from the Admiralty to Commander Jacobs of Her Majesty's sloop Cormorant, now in harbor at San Francisco, to maintain a pacific attitude. He is now in port regarding the British schooners recently captured by the United States revenue authorities for infringing the laws of the seal fisheries in Behring Sea.

The K. of L. at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Aug. 21.—The Knights of Labor demonstration here to-day was not a huge success. A large number of excursionists were expected from Toronto and other places, but they didn't materialize to any great extent. The display, however, made by the Knights was most creditable.

An Impecunious Town.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 21.—The Town Council of Portage la Prairie has resigned, and all the civic officials have been dismissed. The town affairs will be managed by a citizens committee. This is to prevent the creditors of the town pushing their claims.

Another Car Strike in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The conductors and drivers of the Broadway Surface Railroad all struck this morning, and no cars are running on that line. The men claim that the company has not lived up to the agreements made with them some months ago, and that it shows a disposition to make matters worse and worse for them in the future. They are particularly dissatisfied with changes in the running schedule, that are designed, they say, to restore the time-table that caused the former "tie-up."

St. Michael's Church, Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 23.—Bishop Cleary of Kingston, assisted by Monsignor Farrelly and Fathers O'Gorman and Kelly, yesterday laid the corner-stone of the new St. Michael's Church with fitting ceremonies. The cost of the church, which will be a handsome one when finished, will be $50,000. In addition to Monsignor Farrelly's check of $1000, Bishop Cleary placed one of his own for $500 on the altar, and intimated that he would give $300 more when called upon. Monsignor Farrelly is another $1000 during the next

PROF. DORENWEND,
OF THE PARIS HAIR WORKS, TORONTO,
Will be in Peterborough, at Phelan's Hotel, on FRIDAY and SATURDAY, Aug. 27 & 28.

He will have with him such goods as will have a gratifying effect on all who have lost their hair, who have gray or straight hair, etc., and wish to cover it. His stock of Hair Goods is the largest and best in America.

His Reversible, Parisian and Yum-Yum Bangs, Water Waves, Fine Long-Haired Switches, Wigs, etc., for Ladies, and Toupees and Wigs for Gentlemen, WILL SUIT EVERY ONE, NO MATTER HOW BALD.

It costs you nothing to call at his show-rooms and examine his fine selection. Every article is properly fitted on by the Professor before being paid for—so that every one can be sure of being thoroughly suited and satisfied before leaving. Gentlemen who are partly or completely bald can get articles from the Professor to suit their case, which will match them for their natural appearance, neatness and finish. Thousands who were formerly prejudiced against such goods are now among the Professor's customers. This will show what a perfect master of his profession Prof. Dorenwend is. His goods must be seen to be appreciated—they cannot be fully described in print. If you are bald, if your hair is thin, straight, gray, etc., by all means call and see him.

LOCAL NEWS.

How Blood is the Business.

Mr. W. Loch as will be seen by reference to [illegible] advertising columns, has admitted his [illegible] to partnership in his large and flo[illegible] business. Though Mr. Loch has so [illegible]fully managed his business, his y[illegible] growing greater and in the course of [illegible] he will have to surrender the business [illegible] his sons. He seems to have acted [illegible]ly and generously in admitting his sons to active share in the business who will [illegible] only enjoy the benefit of such a [illegible]sition, but under the fatherly experienced eye will learn the principles and way of the business, whose application for 25 years by Mr. Loch has been so successful. When he feels that he wishes to take the completement, he has so well earned, he can do so with the feeling that he will leave competent successors.

Salesman Stapleton's Sales.

Mr. C. Stapleton, Auctioneer, has been extremely successful in his recent sales than for some time past, the fact showing a fairness [illegible] of the real estate market. On August 16th he sold Mr. John Metherall's [illegible] lot Asprim 56 to Mr. Robert Hutchison for $1626. On the 19th he knocked down the house, lot and two vacant lots on Aylmer St., under the sale Webber vs. Webb, to Mr. W. H Ford for $980. The house and lot brought $460 and the vacant lots 77 and 12[illegible] $245 and $215 respectively. On the 20th he sold the John Garvey residence, Brock St. to Mr. Thomas Bradburn for $4,200.

Gladstone Testimonial Fund.

We notice by the New York World of August 22nd that the letter of Mr. Geo. A. Mackinnon, which accompanied the list of names of local contributors to the World's Gladstone testimonial fund and the amount represented thereby, have been received. The Letter and the names are published in the World of the issue mentioned, and the amount of contributions acknowledged.

Ladies

Don't forget that Prof. Dorenwend, of the Paris Hair Works, Toronto, will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of all the latest designs in hair goods. Don't bother yourselves so much about trying to keep your hair curled or, waved, but call and get a nice Reversible Parisian or Yum-Yum bang or Water Wave. d32-4t-w2t.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 2.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

Heavy Wheat.

Mr. Thos. Duslop, of Monaghan, delivered at Meldrum & Davidson's mill on Tuesday, a load of Colorado spring wheat, which weighed 964 pounds to the measured bushel. Mr. Meldrum says it was the heaviest wheat he ever handled, during an experience of over 20 years.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Races Postponed.

The boat races for the championship of Lake Katchewanookha, to have been rowed on Wednesday, for a $50.00 medal, have been postponed till September 1st.

Police Court.

William Slade Bound Over to Keep the Peace.

THURSDAY, Aug. 26th.

William Slade, of Otonabee, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dingle this morning at the police court, charged by Mr. Wm. John Stewart with having, on Sunday night, maliciously injured his property. The complainant did not deny the charge, and he was willing to pay ten whole [illegible] that night.

Mr. Stewart was sworn and testified that Slade, who is a large and powerful man, came to his house on Sunday night or early Monday morning, and after pounding in the door, demanded admittance. He refused to let him in, when Slade threatened to take his life—to kill him in bed—if he did not comply with the request, at the same time raising an axe-handle, with which he broke in a window. He repeated the threat several times, using profanity at the same time. Slade made a similar attempt to break into his house last fall. He was in fear of his life.

John Hamilton, an employe of Mr. Stewart, gave evidence in support of that given by Mr. Stewart.

Slade said he was the worse of liquor at the time, but he did not think he used the threats, although he admitted the rest. There was a slight "feeling" existing between him and the complainant.

The [illegible] said he [illegible] to take the word of the two other [illegible] bound Slade over to keep the peace in the sum of $1,000 and [illegible] duration of 2[illegible] He also imposed a fine of $5, and [illegible] suspension for the damage done.

What the Tongue "Hath," August 7th says of Prof. Dorenwend.

"The Palace Hair Store of the Dominion is A. Dorenwend's, the Parisian Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street. The most artistic styles in hair goods taught [illegible] this establishment for elegance and durability have no equal. He manufactures and keeps in stock some of the most becoming and natural looking goods that will defy competition. At this season of the year when things generally are quiet he is busy from morning till night fitting orders in ladies' and gents' wigs, ladies' bangs, waves, switches and other styles, and has succeeded in establishing a reputation for his renowned styles second to none on the American continent. Ladies or gentlemen who have lost their hair and want to appear natural looking should not forget to inspect his stock or send for his price list, which will be sent free on application. Note his advertisement in another column." The Prof. will be at Phelan's hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, with a large stock of hair goods. d32-4-w2

To-morrow's Race Programme.

The following is the programme as set down for to-morrow at the driving park, together with the entries:— 2.45 trot, best three in five heats, 1st, $35, 2nd, $20, 3rd, $10, six entries.—Billy Parker, Stapleton Stable, Lou is D., Corkfoot Tom, Paisley B., and Ben Morrell. Mile maiden race, best two in three, 1st $30, 2nd $20, 3rd $10, four entries—Sandy, [illegible] Oliver, [illegible] Mile and repeat, open to all horses that have never won a race, 1st $15, 2nd $10, 3rd $5, four entries—H. Wills' Fred R., R. Duncan's Buckskin, G. Dainty's Black Bess, and W. Craft's Bay Rat. No doubt there will be several additional entries made. Don't fail to see the races.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes,	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

The Result of a Runaway.

Mr. W. W. Logan, of Lindsay, well known around Peterborough, where he formerly carried on business as dealer in musical instruments, had his left leg amputated at Lindsay this afternoon. About two months ago his horse ran away, throwing him out, breaking his leg. The fractured limb received surgical attendion, but the separated parts refused to heal, and lately showed signs of mortification, and in consequence was taken off. Mr. Logan's many friends in town will sympathize with him in his misfortune.

To the Races.

The band paraded to the driving park this afternoon, leaving the Brock street corner about 1.30, in full uniform. Cabbs, busses and carts were pressed into service to convey passengers to the grounds, while the sidewalks were well lined with pedestrians with the same destination in view. Weather fine, the track prime, and everything indicating successful sport.

The Late Mrs. Baptie.

The remains of Mrs. J. D. Baptie, who died suddenly in Belleville, arrived in town last evening by the Grand Junction. The funeral took place from the family residence, London street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Thermometer.

Mr. Geo. A. Schofield's thermometer registered 90° to-day while shaded by an awning, and with its back against a cool iron pillar.

Mr. A. Clark left town to-day for Cobourg. He intends taking an Art course at Victoria University.

In Committee.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night and will report at Monday's meeting of the Council.

An autograph letter that I would like to own was shown me a few days ago. "A. Lincoln" was boldly signed at the end of it, and this wisdom was there, paragraphed in this wise:

"Do not worry.
"Eat three square meals a day.
"Say your prayers.
"Think of your wife.
"Be courteous to your creditors.
"Keep your digestion good.
"Steer clear of the bibliousness.
"Exercise.
"Go slow and go easy.
"Maybe there are other things that your especial case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a good lift."—New York Times.

A Wisconsin farmer, going down a hill with a load of hay, locked one of the wheels of the wagon. The friction of the wheel upon the ground struck a spark, which ignited the hay and started a fire that required 11 men to extinguish.

Boston at Baseball

The [illegible] visitors and the Whitbys, [illegible] by the Empire & Spectator [illegible] contested

Over five hundred persons, the majority of whom were Whitby excursionists, and three brass bands, assembled in the P. A. A. A. grounds on Wednesday afternoon to witness the game of ball between the Peterboroughs and Whitby nines. As was expected, the game resulted in the defeat of the local team by 9 to 7, but not in the manner looked for, as it was not expected that the umpire would play so important a part as he did. That he materially assisted the Whitby team, whether intentionally or not, was evident, and that at the most critical point in the game.

Play was called at about three o'clock, Whitby going to bat. Galley, supported by Landy, formed the Peterborough battery. Paxton faced the music first. He sent the ball to Johnson, at second base, and was put out on first. Bryan followed and struck the sphere into Galley's hands, where it remained. Sullivan followed, and swiped the air three times in succession, the first victim to three strikes. Landy took up the club for the home team, facing Sullivan, who supported by Bryan, constituted the Whitby battery. He pounded the ball to left and reached first, but in trying to steal second, was retired. Metherall made a safe hit to left and took first. Johnson followed with a heavy hit that brought Metherall in. Tighe and Galley succumbed to three strikes, leaving Johnson on third, and the first innings closed.

In the second inning, Palmer, Carson and Billings scored before the White Town team retired, while the home team were whitewashed, all succumbing to the terrible three strikes.

In the third innings the visitors were well whitewashed. Paxton reached first. Bryan sent a hot ball to Johnson, who put in to first in time, and Metherall sent it to second, thus putting out the two base runners. Sullivan was next struck out. In this innings Metherall again scored for the home team.

In the fourth, Palmer scored for the Whitbys, but there was no addition made to the Peterborough's lead.

In the fifth innings, Whitby failed to score while Landy, Metherall and McAuliffe scored for Peterborough.

The sixth saw both sides whitewashed.

In the seventh the Whitbys were whitewashed, while Metherall added another to Peterborough's score.

In the eighth innings, Sullivan and Palmer shared for the visitors. When Carson was third he was caught napping by Johnson who touched him up, [illegible] the umpire, who was talking at the time, failed to see the play, and declared it [illegible] of the base runner. Shearin batted one [illegible] Peterborough. Bryan and Paxton [illegible] a double play, retiring McAuliffe [illegible]

Owing to two costly [illegible] Ryan and Sullivan scored for [illegible] ninth innings. The visitors [illegible] blank. The umpire [illegible] retired. The Peterboroughs [illegible] one, three runs [illegible] finally closing at [illegible] Whitby 11. The score:

NOTES.

The decisions of the umpire, J. Browne, of Whitby, were considered very unfair in the last two innings. During the first part of the game he umpired well, but whether through excitement, inability, or a patriotic love for Whitby, he did not watch the ball in the eighth innings, while in the ninth he was credited with giving the game to the visitors.

The Peterboroughs played a much better game than it was thought they could, without practice.

Galley pitched like a hero. His performance was very creditable when it is considered that he never pitched in a match before.

Metherall played a splendid first base, while he also scored four runs out of the seven made.

Sullivan, pitcher for the visitors, occupied the same position on the Peterborough team last year.

The gate receipts amounted to $60.60, half of which went to the visiting players.

While the match was in progress an Indian on the war path and a pugilistically inclined Ashburnhamite had a lengthy scuffle on the sheds south of the grounds. The red man was knocked off the shed in the third round and was subsequently locked up in a stable to keep him out of mischief.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

Don't Do It.

Don't go and pay high prices elsewhere for your goods when you can at the great Bon Marche Clearing Sale select from our immense stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, etc., at or less than half the usual price. Mr. Carton is bound to clear out the stock, and it must and will be cleared out, at low prices—very low prices—and goods of good value at twice the price, will be it. Come and get astonishing prices quoted at the Bon Marche.

Women's Rights.

The ladies and the public generally should remember that Mr. Arnold Haultain will lecture in St. John's school room this evening on "Woman: Her Rights and Duties." The lecture, no doubt, will be interesting and instructive.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

WHY THE SALISBURY GOVERNMENT SENT BULLER TO IRELAND.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir Michael Hicks Beach, replying to Edward C. Russell (the Gladstonian who yesterday gave notice of his intention to move to-day the adjournment of the House for the purpose of ascertaining if the Government's object in sending Gen. Sir Redvers Buller to Ireland was to establish martial law), declared that the general was not sent to Ireland to establish martial law, nor to strain the ordinary law, but merely to assist the civil authorities in the work of preserving order and detecting and punishing crime.

This reply was not deemed satisfactory by the opposition and Russell moved the adjournment of the House. The whole Opposition, consisting of all the Gladstonian and Parnellite members, arose in support of the motion, and Russell proceeded to contend that the policy of the Government was to degrade Ireland to the level of a savage and barbarous country. Gen. Buller he said was a military man. His appointment could not conduce to peace in Ireland. He (Russell) lamented the condition of Kerry. Such a condition existed only in ill-governed countries. [Cheers.] The Government ought not to be handed over to the military, but the utmost ought to be done to reorganize the civil authority. Gen. Buller was chosen because he was a soldier. The Government doubtless thought the work they would have to do would be soldiers' work. Opposition cheers.] He hoped the result would not be similar to that of Clifford Lloyd's efforts. It had been predicted that Gen. Buller would treat the moonlighters like rebels. Conservative cheers.] Those cheers were significant. If the prediction should prove true, it would establish the doctrine of constructive treason by creating a dangerous precedent. He appealed to the Opposition to support the motion, which was intended to prevent a subversion of the constitution of the country. The Government's action was sensational and opposed to all efforts of good statesmanship. The introduction of military law was always regarded as a degradation of the civil law. To put into the hands of the military the administration of justice meant a danger to the country fraught with mischief.

Lord Randolph Churchill said Mr. Russell had made an earnest and exhaustive speech. He (Russell) held strong opinions and used strong language. He had warned them that the appointment of Sir Redvers Buller would imperil civil and religious liberty, the freedom of the press and the administration of justice, and would cause a conflagration over the whole of Ireland. [Laughter.] Supposing that Mr. Russell's motion was carried what would be the effect? Why, absolutely nothing. The House would adjourn and a day be lost, and when the members met again Gen. Buller would be well on his way to Kerry. If Mr. Russell wanted to raise a question he should have moved an amendment to the address. If then the amendment had been carried, it would have put an end to General Buller's mission, and would also have ended the present Government, which was more to Mr. Russell's purpose. [Conservative cheers.] That would have been a rational, sensible course. The speaker said Mr. Russell objected to General Buller because the latter was a soldier, implying that he (Buller) would treat the Irish like savages. Only six months ago Mr. Childers made a soldier on the active list—Sir Charles Warren—fill a civil position, not over savages but presumably over the civilized inhabitants of London. [Cheers.]

Mr. Sexton: Did they make Sir Charles Warren a magistrate?

Lord Churchill: I am informed that he is entrusted with the duties of a magistrate. [Cries of "No."] Gen. Buller has been appointed because the Government believe there has been a failure of energy on the part of the constabulary and police in detecting crime in Kerry. In a similar way the late Government appointed Sir Charles Warren, although he had relations with foreign tribes, to manage the police of London. Therefore Mr. Russell is precluded from obtaining the support of the Opposition. I am told that this motion was introduced in order to interrupt the regular proceedings of the House [cheers], and intervene between the House and the speech of Mr. Chamberlain. [Cheers, cries of "no" and general uproar]. It seems strange that the strong feeling just manifested did not explode on previous nights, but has been carefully pent up until the occasion when Mr. Chamberlain intended to resume the debate. [Cheers and laughter, in which Mr. Chamberlain joined.] It is a great compliment to Mr. Chamberlain, because it shows that the Opposition fear the effects of his arguments.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt thought that the objection raised by Lord Randolph Churchill came with singularly bad grace from one who had formerly been so much in the habit of abusing the practice of moving an adjournment, and who had so frequently impeded the business of the House by so doing. The Speaker strongly objected to the tone and spirit in which the appointment had been announced. It was apparently meant that Gen Buller was going to deal with armed rebels and to shoot them without a trial. Even if the moonlighters were murderers, such action was unjustifiable. He said the reference to Sir Charles Warren was beside the mark, because that gentleman had no military authority whatever. The House ought to know the exact relations between Gen. Buller and the civil authorities. It ought to know whether or not Gen. Buller was independent of the Chief Inspector of Constabulary. If the Government assured the House that the appointment was not a purely military one, the opinions of the Opposition would be materially modified. He depreciated the provocative attitude of the Government on this question, but hoped Mr. Russell would withdraw his motion.

Mr. Russell's motion was finally rejected by a vote of 241 to 146.

Mr. Chamberlain, resuming the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, said his only objection to the first part of Mr. Parnell's amendment was that it was needless to add it to the address unless the House was prepared to act upon it. In regard to the second part, it implied censure of the Government, and he would do nothing to expel the present Government while that which would replace it was committed to the policy of separation. He did not believe the Government was foolish enough to propose to tax England for the benefit of Irish tenants. If it did make that proposal he would feel it to be his duty to strenuously oppose it. He argued that the supporters of this amendment practically censured the late Government. [Cries of "no."]

After denying that he had proposed an enormous scheme of state purchase, Mr. Chamberlain repeated his objections to Mr. Gladstone's scheme, and then wandered to a discussion of the commissions of inquiry. He was cautioned several times to keep within the amendment, and finally the Speaker interfered. Mr. Chamberlain appealed for the same indulgence as was granted to other members. [Cries of "no."]

The Speaker repeated that Mr. Chamberlain must confine himself to the amendment.

Upon resuming Mr. Chamberlain asked Mr. Parnell how an Irish Parliament would enable tenants to pay their taxes. If Mr. Parnell looked with confidence to another appeal to the country as did he, for he believed the result would be would he more for the Parnellites than was the result of the last appeal. There were two sides to the rent question—willingness and ability. They wanted to know whether tenants would be permitted to pay if they were willing, and also whether the Parnellites repudiated Mr. Parnell's attitude when he said at Chicago it was their duty to make English Government in Ireland impossible. [Cheers]. If the Parnellites repudiated that speech they must also repudiate the American donations. He admitted that if the present depression was to be permanent the judicial rents were unfair, and that the matter demanded investigation. In the meantime it was the duty of the Government to maintain the law. He believed the policy of the Government tended to maintain the unity of the Empire [laughter and cheers] and was prepared to wait until it was fully developed and give it a fair and favorable consideration. [Cheers].

Mr. Sexton moved to "report the debate."

Lord Randolph Churchill urged for a promise that the debate should terminate to-morrow, otherwise he said he would oppose an adjournment.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Sexton agreed to the suggestion, and the debate was accordingly adjourned.

AFFAIRS IN BELFAST.

A Parnellite Appeal for Order—Quiet Yesterday.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Everything is quiet. Huge paving stones and broken glass mark the scene of last night's riot. Rev. Dr. Kane, the Protestant clergyman who declared that unless the police were immediately dismissed 200,000 Orangemen would relieve them of their weapons, is again out with a declaration charging the magistrates of Belfast with "criminal parleying with lawlessness."

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Thirty men who have been convicted of taking an active part in the recent riots were sentenced to-day to various terms of imprisonment, one of them to thirteen months. A number of others were arrested on the same charge were committed for trial.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Thomas Sexton (Parnellite) gave notice of his intention to move the following amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech: We humbly represent to your Majesty that the circumstances accountable for the recent riots in Belfast dictate the necessity for special measures to maintain order there, the most urgent of those measures being the re-establishment of your Majesty's authority in the district (wherefrom the police have been expelled) by the increase of the local constabulary to such a strength as will enable it to deal with any probable contingency.

RUINED BY ISAACS.

The Estate of Gardiner of Brantford Will Not Pay a Cent on the Dollar.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—W. H. Parsons, who went at the instance of the creditors of L. Isaacs to investigate Isaacs' connection with the firm of Gardiner of Brantford, says that Gardiner has been absolutely ruined by Isaacs, and that his estate won't pay a cent on the dollar. Gardiner's only hope is that he may succeed in contesting his liability on $60,000 of accommodation notes signed by Mrs. Gardiner and given to Isaacs, on the ground that the power of attorney his wife held only applied to notes given to the Bank of Commerce. The only liability Gardiner has outside of the Isaacs notes is $6000. If Isaacs does not return, his creditors will bring him back as a criminal. He has been in the habit it is stated of discounting in Ontario.

DISASTER AT SEA.

Three Ships Go Down With Loss of Life—The Terrible Surf.

ST. JOHNS, N.F., Aug. 26.—The French ship L'Etoile was wrecked in yesterday's storm on the reefs of Kajane Island and went to pieces. Twelve of her crew were drowned. The captain and nine men were washed ashore, barely alive, through the terrible surf.

A fishing vessel was wrecked at Port De Grave. Capt. Butler and his son and the entire crew perished.

The Gloucester schooner Howard was wrecked at Portugal Cove and the cargo lost. Capt. Roberts and crew had a narrow escape.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 26.—The schooner Norma went ashore at the entrance to Halifax Harbor and is a total wreck. She was bound here from a fishing voyage to North Bay and had on board 400 quintals of fish.

THE HALIFAX SUGAR REFINERY.

Reported Financial Difficulties of the Great Seaside Concern.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 26.—A report is in circulation to-night that the Halifax Sugar Refinery Company is in financial difficulties. The refinery is situated at Woodside, Dartmouth, and is one of the largest and best in the world. The concern has a capital of $1,000,000 and has been in operation only a few years. The company is composed almost, if not entirely, of English capitalists. The refinery has not been working since the end of June, though there are about 3,000 tons of sugar in store, and a barque and a brig are in port awaiting discharge of full cargoes for the same establishment.

Indians as N.-W. Detectives.

KINGSTON, Aug. 26.—Speaking of the Edmonton stage robbery Rev. John Macdougal said: "I guess I could just tell where the thing occurred. I know every creek in the road. I have traveled over it many a day, in fact I laid the trail out." Then he went on to say that there should be an Indian detective force in connection with the mounted police corps. The Indians are better than white men to track criminals. "I know Indians who have been trained so accurately that if taken to the spot where a crime is committed they will start off and never let up until the criminals are tracked down."

Hamilton Potter Home.

HAMILTON, Aug. 26.—Wm. McMillan of Barton Township was to-day sentenced to two years in the Central Prison for stabbing Thos Nicholson.

The case of bigamy against Gideon Hyne was adjourned till Tuesday next. The evidence for the prosecution is weak and the accused is out on his own recognizance.

The Toronto lad Pierre Woltz, who was charged with stealing a gold watch from his uncle, Samuel Bowman of Hagersville, was committed for trial.

A Promising Young Englishman.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—A young Englishman named J. R. Pockington a short time ago received an appointment as advertising agent on commission to a well known house here. He ventured quite a large number of subscriptions and was paid his commission regularly. When the accounts were sent to the subscribers it was discovered that all the names had been forged. He has cleared out. His defalcations amount to about $800, exclusive of a forged bill for $30.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe to try this lesson of the past to go without any medicine in your house. Ready at a moment's notice and costs but 25 c. All druggists. d&w

CRISIS IN BULGARIA

PRINCE ALEXANDER ASKED TO RETURN AND RULE.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Prince Alexander has arrived at Darmstadt. He crossed the Austro-Russian frontier at Wolochisken to-day. His yacht which conveyed Alexander to Reni has returned to Bolkova in the charge of the mate, the captain having deserted at Reni. The crew is made up mostly of lads from the Sofia military school.

The Russian charge d'affaires had an interview with the foreign secretary to-day. He protested against the insulting language of the English press, and reaffirmed that the Czar had no knowledge of the Bulgarian conspiracy.

When Prince Alexander received the news of the enemies of his friends in Bulgaria he was deeply moved. He telegraphed to his father that he would visit Darmstadt anyhow before returning to Bulgaria.

The Russians at Reni treated Prince Alexander and his brother with indignity. They refused to allow even a servant to accompany Alexander, saying: "Your brother will wait on you."

A St. Petersburg despatch says that upon hearing of the arrival at Reni of the yacht bearing Prince Alexander, the Czar personally ordered that Alexander be handed and allowed to go where he pleased. The newspaper Grashdanin says Prince Dolgorouski will go to Bulgaria to enquire on the spot into the recent events there. The same paper says it is intended shortly to despatch numerous Russian officers to Bulgaria, including Gen. Sredypin, who is to be appointed to the chief command of the Bulgarian army.

Invited to Return and Rule.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the loyal troops had entered Sofia on Tuesday with the consent of the Powers. The exact whereabouts of Prince Alexander, the secretary said, was unknown to the British Government, but telegrams had been forwarded to him inviting him to return and resume his rule in Bulgaria.

France and Russia Against Germany.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 26.—Paul D. Rouede, the French advocate whose presence here agitating a union of Russia and France in a war against "their common enemy, Germany," has created such a sensation, has been given another banquet, this time by Russian authority. The banquet was private. It is learned, however, that the tendency of all the toasts and speeches was to emphasize what the French lawyer described as "undue sympathy between France and Russia, and the beneficent influence which French and Russian literature exercise upon each other."

How the Thing Was Done.

SOFIA, Aug. 26.—A single regiment of troops with the assistance of a number of military cadets accomplished the work of deposing Prince Alexander. Before proceeding against the Prince the revolutionists arrested the commander of Prince Alexander's regiment, which was at Slivnitza. The Provisional Government, seeing that the populace were violently loyal to the deposed Prince, resigned office and liberated the commander, who at once brought his regiment from Slivnitza and disarmed the regiment which had assisted in deposing the Prince. After this the commander was placed under arrest by the political leaders who had managed the coup d'etat.

Simply Sympathy for the Prince.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: "Emperor William, on hearing of the seizure and kidnapping of Prince Alexander, wrote a sharp letter to the Czar, expressing amazement and indignation."

When the King of Servia heard of the events at Sofia he said: "It is the greatest piece of infamy ever perpetrated in Europe. If I knew where Alexander was I would march for all I possess to afford him assistance."

Bulgarian Notes.

It is stated that 10,000 Bulgarian troops, who have been stationed on the Servian frontier, are hastening toward Sofia to support Prince Alexander.

The Czar has ordered Prince Alexander to be forwarded to Kissenoff if he refuses to accept his abdication as an accomplished fact.

The towns of Bulgaria are decked with flag and there is general rejoicing at the overthrow of the rebels.

Conflicts have taken place in the streets of Sofia between loyalists and supporters of Zankoff. Prince Alexander's adherents are still in prison.

Prince Bismarck's unusual course in visiting M. DeGiers is much commented upon.

It is the general opinion that Russia will not allow Alexander to re-ascend the throne.

The Vienna Fremdenblatt officially denies that Austria was privy to the Zankoff conspiracy.

Prince Bismarck is at Frauenabad. To-day he entertained at dinner M. De Giers, the Russian foreign minister, who is also visiting there.

The London Post has a despatch from Staamboul saying: The greatest excitement prevails here owing to the belief that Russia intends to occupy Bulgaria. The military department is in a state of feverish excitement.

Evictions in Ireland.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach replying to the question asked by Wm. Redmond (Parnellite) concerning the eviction of sixty tenants from the Marquis of Ely's estate in Wexford on Aug. 23, said that the persons evicted were laborers and artizans, and no farmers; that they had obtained houses in town, but that the local league compelled them to leave and go to the work-house. [Conservative cheers.]

Mr. Harrington said the league that did that was a local league, and not the Irish National League.

The Work in Galway.

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—Five hundred policemen and troops have left Birr to assist at the evictions on the estates of the Marquis of Clanricarde in Galway. The Birr branch of the National League has given notice to tradesmen not to supply the evicting party with provisions or means of conveyance.

Britain and Batoum.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to questions in regard to the Government's attitude on the closing of Batoum by Russia, said the Government did not intend to carry the case beyond the position taken by the Earl Rosenberry, ex Foreign Minister, in his despatch to M. Dedliers, Russian Minister for foreign affairs.

A British Emigration Bureau.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In the House of Commons to-day Edward Stanhope, Colonial Secretary, announced that the Government it hoped to open an emigration bureau next October. They did not, he said, intend to promote emigration, but simply to circulate information of the kind most desirable for poor people thinking of going abroad to know.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons as experience has stated that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, &c. These persons are not aware that they can indulge to their hearts content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicine that will give immediate relief, and is a sure cure for all summer complaints. d44eodw34

THE COST OF REBELLION.

We have always maintained that the cost of our little rebellion in the Northwest was out of all proportion to what it should have been with proper and economical management. The official returns of the expenditure incurred, recently to hand, shows that grab was the game throughout. Not content with the misgovernment that brought on the rebellion, the Dominion Government must needs continue the application of its policy of extravagance to its suppression—must permit the greedy cormorants that year after year fatten at the public crib, to become camp-followers, in the most profitable sense of the word, and to fleece the country at the rate of tens of thousands. Those employed in the transport and supplies department of the campaign reaped a big harvest. The return covers the time from July 1st, 1885, to March, 15th, 1886. During this time there was expended, according to the report, $2,483,553.43, besides an additional sum of $763,675.94 to the Hudson Bay Company. The C. P. R. got $400,000 for transport of troops, in addition to large amounts food and supplies to the troops in transits. The Government, which neglected and overtly abused the Half-breeds till they were goaded into rebellion, seems to have been exceedingly liberal in the matter of compensation. For instance, the vessel, M. L. Buck, frozen in on Lake Superior, was used as a sleeping place for one night for a few of the volunteers. The owners made their demand for compensation, and our indulgent Government at once gave them $245.50 for damages sustained, when, in all probability, the schooner was not injured to the extent of a dollar. The steamers employed on the Saskatchewan got damages to the tune of $50,000, besides being paid $2.50 per day for their services. One cannot wonder at the magnitude of the bills when the reports furnish figures showing that soldiers need the most decided epicurean luxuries to enable them to fight the battles of the country. That is the officers. The men who did the work had to be content with "hard tack" and salt pork—when they could get them—but the following extract from the report in question shows how the officers fared. Col. Whitehead seems to have been the "whiteheaded boy," for he collected the following account:—

Expenses of yacht and sundry payments meeting general at Belleisle	$ 6 75
Beef, $11.35; hire of dishes, $2.05	13 35
5 gells. 7-year-old rye, $15; 2 doz. Margan, $17.50	32 50
2 doz. Appolinaris, $4; 2 doz. English soda, $2.00	7 50
2 bottles Hennessy brandy, $4.75; 1 bottle bitters, $1	5 75
100 cigars, $13; 1 box cigarettes, $1.75	14 75
2 kegs, $2.50; ox tongue, turkey, shrimps, $17.70	20 20
Total	$109 30

When we consider this evidence of the waste, extravagance and favouritism, there is no reason to doubt that the real expenditure in suppressing the North-West rebellion was easily twice what it ought to be. Yet we see Minister of Militia Caron made a knight for wasting the public revenues. The Government rest under a double responsibility in respect of the late unhappy rising. They are responsible for the misgovernment and tyrannous conduct that provoked the rising. They are responsible for wanton and corrupt waste of the public revenue in suppressing it. If twice the expenditure made had been required to repress the rebellion, not one Canadian would have objected to it. But the people do object to see their hard earned taxes squandered in the interest of political hacks and favourites the Government, and at the first opportunity—the general election—they will call the dishonest stewards to sharp account.

Woman:

Her Duties and Rights to Love and be Loved.

A fair audience, composed chiefly of ladies, assembled at St. John's school room on Thursday evening to hear Mr. Arnold Haultain, M.A., lecture on the sublime subject of "Woman: Her Rights and Duties."

Rev. J. W. R. Beck, in a few happy remarks, introduced the lecturer, who, on rising, was greeted with applause.

Mr. Haultain, although he expressed a timidity in discussing some of the attributes of his subject, handled it with the ease, skill and grace of an expert. It was most interesting throughout, replete with refined and sparkling humor, his happy thoughts being expressed in classic and eloquent language. Woman, he considered, the sublimest and most incomprehensible creature on the face of the earth, knowing no order or rule except, perhaps, her own sweet impulse. He compared her to the restless, ambitious sea, unfathomable, rarely placid, yet the only thing which reflected the heavens above. Her duties and rights were endless, and he expected that ere long the old saying that "Every man's house is his castle, would be changed to "Every man's house in his wife's castle," and woe be unto the man who crossed its threshold after midnight, even if he took the precaution to remove his shoes. Woman's true duty, was to love; and her rights, to be loved; and other than these he knew of none. What love was he did not know, but defined it as a speck, a mirror, a miniature photograph of goodness, purity and truth. Woman's love lifted its object to the mount of transfiguration and he "Lost not what to say." Woman's power was also to be taken into consideration. The face one beautiful and fair, those expressive and all powerful eyes, and those lips, on which someone said a man might kiss his soul away, the smoothness and beauty of her arm, were strength; while her slight, lithe form possessed power almost divine. Woman teaches that purity and holiness do exist, and is proof of the reality of hereafter: the only thing which reflects the heavens.

On motion of Rev. V. Clementi a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer.

The Irrawadly Disaster.

London, Aug. 26.—In the Commons to-day Sir J. Gorst, Under-Secretary for India, stated that the loss of life caused by the breaking of the Irrawady River's embankment in Mandalay, Burmah, was only twenty-five. The under-secretary announced that 163 miles of the projected railway between Rangoon, India, and Mandalay had already been constructed. The whole length of the road will be 416 miles.

Shipping Trade at Glasgow.

Glasgow, Aug. 26.—The present condition of the shipping trade is the worst known. Thirty-four steamers and twenty-three sailing vessels are rotting at their docks, having been idle some two years. This state of affairs is attributed to low freights and the general depression in business.

Censuring Scott Act Authorities.

St. Thomas, Aug. 26.—A meeting of the Scott Act Association of Elgin and St. Thomas was held here yesterday and to-day, a large number of delegates being present. The delegates censured the authorities for not enforcing the act. Resolutions were passed censuring the license inspectors of East Elgin for not being more vigorous in the enforcement of the act, and complimenting the inspector of West Elgin on the the satisfactory manner in which he discharged his duty. It was decided to form an electoral union for the support of Scott Act candidates.

The Algoma's Engines.

Owen Sound, Aug. 26.—The schooner L. L. Lamb arrived here this afternoon, having on board thirteen engines of the Algoma, wrecked on Isle Royal last fall. Capt. Mayman, the contractor, also raised her boilers and left them on the shore there. The wrecking tug George Hands went up to work at the Algoma, but the wrecker got wrecked and now lies sunk at Isle Royal.

A Veteran Indian Chief Dead.

Brantford, Aug. 26.—Chief John Smoke Johnson died at his residence on the reserve last evening. Deceased was 94 years of age, the oldest Indian of the Mohawk tribe. He fought in the American war of 1812 and knew the great warrior chief, Joseph Brant.

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. Wemyss Reid.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole serial.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

The Wind and the Lily.

The lily lifted her milk-white blooms,
And she freighted the air with a soft perfume,
And the warm wind came from the sultry vale
And he kissed her petals so soft and pale.

With a sudden start she reared her head,
For she thought there was naught from the wind to dread,
And she wrapped her round in her spotless pride,
And closed her fragrance completely side.

But the wind passed by with a careless smile,
And he sought new buds in a little while;
Yet he gave no wealth to the perfect flower,
But he took from her—beauty, pride and power.

(I pondered the lesson in thoughtful fashion;
The lily was virtue—the wind was passion.)

—Nellie Munro Andrews.

HER WEDDING PRESENT.

"Hush! it is Clarence Hyde's step."

And Rosa Eldon sprang to her feet rosy and smiling, with the freshly-plucked heliotrope trembling among her glossy brown braids, and her pretty blue dress floating round her like an azure cloud.

Only eighteen, and very fair and lovely was our little Rosa—a trifle spoiled and wilful, perhaps, but what else could one expect? Everyone petted and made much of her, and Clarence Hyde thought her the fairest specimen of feminine humanity that ever the sun shone on.

Lizzy Eldon made room for her sister—Lizzy, just one year younger, and scarcely less fair, yet very different in character. Lizzy was quiet, and sage, and demure, while Rosa rattled away like a merry mountain-stream flowing over its mossy stones. Lizzy thought her sister pertection, while Rosa was always lecturing Lizzy in a capricious fashion, and laying down the law to her after the most approved manner of elder sisters.

"How nice it must be to be engaged!" said Lizzy with a half-encouraging smile as Rosa paused at the glass to adjust her hair. "I wish I were engaged!"

"You? Oh, you are nothing but a child," Rosa said patronizingly. "There, give me my pocket-handkerchief."

And away she went, light and lithe as a blue-winged butterfly.

Clarence Hyde was in the parlor, anxiously awaiting her coming; but Clarence had rather a disturbed face. He was a well-made, handsome young fellow, with laughing wine-brown eyes, straight features, and brown hair thrown back from a broad frank brow.

"Why, what makes you look so sober?" was Rosa's first arch question, when the ceremonials of greeting were gone through with, and she had time to take a good look into his face.

"Sober? Do I?"

He was playing rather restlessly with the crimson cord that looped back the white muslin draperies of the pretty bay-window that made Mrs. Eldon's cottage look like one of the lovely rustic habitations you see in old English engravings.

"Exactly as if you had the toothache or a bad conscience."

Clarence laughed in spite of himself.

"You are wrong, then, my little riddle guesser; I am afflicted with neither the one nor the other."

"Well, what is it, then?"

"Rosa, what would you say if it were to become necessary to defer our marriage for some time?"

A shadow came over the infantine bloom and freshness of Rosa's face.

"To defer our marriage, Clarence? I can't imagine what you mean."

"Listen, Rosa, and I will tell you. My uncle has just come from California very poor, and a confirmed invalid. I am his only surviving relative, and to me he naturally appeals for protection and companionship. I must give him a home, Rosa. You know I had laid up just enough to begin housekeeping in a quiet economical sort of way, but this new plan will necessarily alter all my arrangements."

"I never heard of any uncle before."

"No, dearest; I knew very little of him—nothing personally—as he never visited my father during his lifetime."

Rosa's face was turned away from Clarence Hyde's; she was silently twisting a bit of paper round and round her slender forefingers.

"Rosa," he said, after waiting a minute or two for her to make some remark, "tell me honestly, dear one, which you would prefer—to begin housekeeping on this new scale—one humbler and more frugal than I had originally hoped and intended—or to defer our marriage until I can earn enough to carry out those original arrangements?"

She was silent for a moment, then she answered, in a voice which seemed to chill Clarence's buoyant young heart:

"Neither!"

"Rosa," he exclaimed, "I do not understand you!"

"I spoke plainly enough. Neither!"

"Do you mean that——"

"I mean that you must either give up your uncle or me. After all that has been said and known of our engagement, after its publicity and length, I certainly cannot consent to its further postponement. And we shall be poor enough, if we marry immediately, without filling our house with a host of needy relatives."

Clarence Hyde looked at his fair fiancee in perfect amazement. Never in the whole course of their acquaintance had he seen this phase of her character. He had fancied her all that was sweet, pure, and womanly. Could it be possible that she was cold-hearted, selfish, and dead to all the sweet ties of nature?

"Rosa," he said sternly, "is this to part us?"

"It is for you to say."

"Do you wish me to give up my poor dependent uncle?"

"Either him or me," Rosa answered indifferently.

"It will be hard—very hard for me to lay aside the brightest wishes of my life," he said earnestly; "but, Rosa, duty is my first object. I cannot leave my uncle to wear out his few remaining days in poverty and solitude."

"Very well," answered Rosa, carelessly stooping to pick up the odorous purple blossom which had fallen from her hair; "then we will consider our engagement at an end."

"And you can give me up so readily, Rosa?"

"Oh," said Rosa a little impatiently; "where's the use of being romantic about it? You have chosen your part. I have chosen mine. So let it be."

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $500,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

Lecture.

Miss Templeton-Armstrong, a celebrated lecturer and authoress, from England, will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. in Mr. Bradburn's Opera House on Monday, the 6th of September. Miss Armstrong has obtained a wide and lasting popularity in Great Britain and America as a lecturer and authoress. She comes here from the Old Land with the very highest testimonials a lecturer can have. She has devoted her life to the exposition and enforcement of great truths. So able a lecturer should have a large audience. Subject, "John Knox and his times."

Re-Opening.

As will be observed by notice in another column, the schools of Peterborough will re-open on Wednesday, the 1st of September, instead of Monday, the 30th. This delay of two days is caused by the alterations and painting not having been entirely completed. Parents should endeavour to have their children present at the opening, as it enables the teachers to get their classes to work at once.

Cricket.

The Ottawa cricketers are expected in town to-night, and will engage in a match with the P. A. A. A. team, on the association grounds, to-morrow. Wickets will be pitched at ten o'clock. The capitals are a splendid team and no doubt the match will be lively, as the home team will place a strong eleven in the field.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

MID-SUMMER MEET

ON THE PETERBORO DRIVING PARK.

A Splendid Day's Sport—True Trotting on a Tidy Turf—The Running "Right"—Certainty Twin Redmens 2 minutes to 2.29—"Gen. Spike" Into First Money for a Saddle Blanket—Blue Gate Takes the 2.35 Trot.

The first midsummer race meeting of any magnitude and importance, which has been held under the management of the Peterborough Driving Park Association, began at the Park Thursday afternoon, and if the signal success of the first day decides the success of the meet as a whole, the promoters have reason to be proud of the result. Since its organization the association's energies have been largely devoted to putting their beautiful park into shape, and the result is that they now have as good a half-mile track as there is to be found on this continent. It is a full measured mile (surveyed by one engineer and verified by another) and on Thursday the track was as good a piece of turf as a horseman could ask. It was in splendid condition, and the owners of horse flesh were sure that, as far as footing was concerned, the conditions were in favour of their animals, giving out all they go there was in them. The corners are easy, and there is not a foot of up or down grade on the course.

IT IS AS LEVEL AS A BILLIARD BOARD.

The manner in which Thursday's races were conducted was admirable. The races were brought on promptly—the heats succeeding as fast as the rules of the Canadian Turf Club Association, which governed the meet, would admit of. As far as the judges could see to it, everything was conducted on the square. The horse, fairly driven or ridden, which got under the wire first took first money. Speed alone scored, the judges didn't "know" an owner or driver.

Messrs. Charles Brown, Toronto, a veteran turfman, H. Corby, Belleville, and Harry Winch were the judges' cap, and the manner in which they performed their duties

GAVE ALL-ROUND SATISFACTION.

Mr. R. W. Munnester held the stop watch, and if he can't catch a stopper on the fraction of a second, one doesn't know where you could get a man who could.

The attendance of spectators was large, considering that the admission figures were placed at fifty cents. This seems a high figure—at least a great many think so; but anyone who has visited first rate driving parks, where the ticket seller returns no change out of a dollar note, will say after Thursday afternoon's sport that the sport was

WELL WORTH THE MONEY.

There were a large number of carriages and the ladies in force lent their presence to the occasion.

Promptly at two o'clock the starter's bell called the first contestants to the scratch.

The first event called was

The Three-Minute Trot.

The entries were: "Billy Parker," entered by J. Hall, Oshawa; colors, brown and yellow, driven by Bob Reid. "Louis D," Peake & Gillespie, Campbellford; colors, black cap, gray coat, J. Ettiston, driver. "Corkfoot Tom," Charles Wannan, Toronto; colors, black check, driven by John Flemming.

In calling up the entries for the start, Mr. Brown told the drivers that this race would be contested by the rules; it was to be a trotting race from start to finish, the best horse to win. As far as lay in the judges' power, this meeting would be a square one, and this, in connection with fine weather, a splendid track and a good stud of horses, should make the meet a successful one.

FIRST HEAT.—After a little more than the usual scoring, Harry Winch gave the "go," and the trio got off, "Billy Parker" a length in the rear, the other two on even terms. "Corkfoot Tom" protested against this state of things, and before the first quarter was trotted, had a fine lead. This he increased, but at the half mile pole, which was reached in 1.16½, "Louis D" diminished the distance, and brought his stock up to almost par. "Billy Parker" also drew up well in the procession, but a series of ugly breaks put him practically out of the trot. "Louis D" kept closing in on the leader till, at the home stretch, the horses were neck and neck. This position he kept till within a few paces of the wire, when he lost his feet, and the cork-footed corner passed under the string a neck ahead, in 2.33½.

SECOND HEAT.—The horses got a beautiful start—all in a heap—"Corkfoot Tom" broke the bunch, getting a nice lead. "Billy Parker" practically retired, leaving the race between the other pair. "Corkfoot Tom" led to the half mile pole, the other fellow close upon him, and, though he broke crankily, he kept on the leader's wheel. At the ¾ pole he overhauled and passed his opponent, coming under the wire an easy winner in 2.37.

THIRD HEAT.—"Louis D" led for the first quarter, when "Corkfoot" lapped him, taking the lead. As the half mile post was neared, "Billy Parker" got in his work and came well up, but a bad break shut him out. "Corkfoot Tom" took this heat, in 2.36.

FOURTH HEAT.—"Corkfoot Tom" led the procession all round, never making a skip, coming in under the wire in 2.35, winner of the heat and the race, "Louis D" second, and "Billy Parker" vindicating Bob Reid's driving by coming in third the fourth time, though Hugh Hinton thought he could get a little more speed out of him, and sat behind him the last heat.

SUMMARY.

Corkfoot Tom	1	2	1	1
Louis D	2	1	2	2
Billy Parker	3	3	3	3

NOTE.—Though the heats of the trot are reported consecutively for convenience of the reader, they were put in heat about with the next event, which was

The Half-Mile Running Race,

and brought out "General Spike," owned by John Noble, Meaford, and ridden by R. Hill; "Scott Act," J. O'Neil, Cobourg, Sammy Snider, rider; "Duke of Wellington," John Nixon, Toronto, John Tomlin, rider; "Maggie Roach," Alex. Elliott, Peterborough, Irvine Simpson, rider. Half-mile heats, best 3 in 5; purse $100, split into $60, $25, $15.

FIRST HEAT.—The horses were given a standing start with the word "go." The animals got off in a bunch; "Maggie Roach" took the lead, but "Scott Act" rather arbitrarily and unpoliantly deprived her of it. The remainder of the dash was a very pretty run, the "Duke of Wellington" viewing the scene from the wrong side of the distance flag as the trio got under the wire. "Scott Act" a pair of lengths ahead, in 54½. "General Spike" second, and "Maggie Roach" third. The Duke was distanced.

SECOND HEAT.—"Maggie Roach" pulled to the front but lost her lead at the quarter pole, "General Spike" coming to the front with "Scott Act" at his flank. This position was maintained to the wire, which "General Spike" went under a length to spare, in 55½ seconds.

THIRD HEAT.—There the very little fun attended about this heat. "General Spike" led from start to finish, "Scott Act" a length and a half later. Time 55½ seconds.

FOURTH HEAT.—In this heat "General Spike" had his own way, coming in winner of the heat and the race, in 55½, "Scott Act" taking second money, "Maggie Roach" third.

SUMMARY.

General Spike	2	1	1
Scott Act	1	2	2
Maggie Roach	3	3	dis.
Duke of Wellington	distanced.

The third race called was the

Two-Thirty-Five Trot.

which brought to the track "Marquis," owned by Mr. Ald. Brown, of Toronto; "Little Ned," owned by Mr. A. P. Morgan, town; "Laura C," owned by J. C. Stamford, Brighton; and "Ben Morrell," owned by R. Croft, Cobourg. Mile heats, best 3 in 5 in harness. Purse, $200, divided, $110, $55, $35.

FIRST HEAT.—The horses after scoring several times got away well together, "Marquis," who had the pole taking the lead. At the first quarter, "Little Ned," pulled out from the rest and gained on "Marquis" to the finish. "Marquis" however, passed under the wire almost a length ahead, "Little Ned" second, "Laura C" third, and "Ben Morrell, fourth. Time, 2.40.

SECOND HEAT.—This heat was almost a repetition of the first. "Marquis" led by over a length, while "Little Ned" was two lengths ahead of the others, which were close together, "Laura C," slightly leading "Ben Morrell." Time, 2.37.

THIRD HEAT.—The horses got away almost in a line, "Marquis" slightly in the rear. Before the first quarter was reached he led by a length, "Ben Morrell," trotting well for second, while "Little Ned," and "Laura C," alternately passed each other on the run. Before reaching the half "Ned" settled down to work, passed "Ben Morrell" and gained on the "Marquis." On the home stretch "Laura C" passed "Ben," and the horses resumed the positions taken in the first and second heats. "Marquis" went under the wire in 2.38½, "Little Ned" two lengths behind.

SUMMARY.

Little Ned	2	2	2
Laura C	3	3	3
Ben Morrell	4	4	4

This concluded the programme of the first day; the band played the National Anthem, and the spectators dispersed.

NOTES.

The Association had appointed special constables and admirable order was maintained throughout the day. The track especially was kept exceedingly clear.

Considerable money exchanged hands, but the betting ring was very quiet, the conduct of the judges giving confidence in the justice and correctness. Each one knew his money was fairly bet and there was no chance for "squealing."

One owner, who on two scoring occasions, tried to enforce the "Scott Act" too strictly, was roundly reprimanded.

One cocky little jockey in the running shot had too much leather in his boots to remain long under his saddle. He was no "Saddle (?) rider, all the Sammy."

"You've got a splendid track, [illegible]," quoth Charlie Brown, of Toronto, "just as good a half-mile track as they make."

The new stationery starter's gong put up in the judges' stand is a great improvement.

The first heat in the half-mile run was a dead heat. Some unauthorized person shouted "go," and the quartette went round the track to no purpose.

The Fire Brigade Band furnished excellent music.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

Arrived.

Prof. Dorenwend, of the Paris Hair Works, Toronto, has arrived at Phelan's Hotel. He has some of the finest lines of hair goods with him ever offered in Canada. He will be here to-day and to-morrow, and have his show rooms open until 10 p.m. for convenience to those who cannot see him in day time. His new styles in ladies' bangs, waves, switches, and gentlemen's wigs, toupees, etc., are unsurpassed for fine quality. All requiring attention to their hair should go and see him, as this is his last visit this season.

Don't Do It.

Don't go and pay high prices elsewhere for your goods when you can at the great Bon Marche Clearing Sale select from our immense stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, etc., at or less than half the usual price. Mr. Carton is bound to clear out the stock, and it must and will be cleared out, if low prices—very low prices—and goods, of good value at twice the price, will do it. Come and get astonishing prices quoted at the Bon Marche.

Accidentally Upset.

On Thursday afternoon, as Mr. and Mrs. Adams, of Port Perry, and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre were driving to the Driving Park, the horse shied after turning the corner at the Agricultural Grounds, tilting the phaeton and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. McIntyre, who was handling the ribbons, held on to the steed till it stopped. Mrs. Adams received a slight bruise on the forehead, but the others escaped uninjured.

The Players.

The Peterborough cricketers will put their best team in the field for to-morrow's match with Ottawa. The following are the eleven: S. Ray, C. J. Logan, W. A. Strathy, Max. Hamilton, T. Baker, R. B. Rogers, H. Ray, H. W. Matson, J. Stirling, J. E. Hammond, and P. E. S. Cooper.

Sports.

A large number of persons commonly called sports are in town from Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto. Last night the Oriental and Grand Central hotels had no vacant rooms.

Battery Drill.

There was a fair turn out at the Battery drill last night. The gunners are going into training for camp.

In the Park To-Night.

The band will play in the park in uniform this evening, and don't you disremember.

Personal.

Mr. F. B. Yokome, of the EXAMINER staff, left town this morning for Brockville, in the vicinity of which place he will spend a week holidaying.

Mr. J. W. Sheridan, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and two sons, are in town, the guests of Mr. Thomas Henry, Sherbrook street. Mr. Sheridan had the first plate glass placed in Peterborough, some 15 years ago, when in the book and stationery business. He is looking hale and hearty.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, in company with several friends, are camping at Stoney Lake.

Police Court.

FRIDAY, Aug. 27th.

A case of "threatening language" was called at the court this morning, and on application of the defendant, was enlarged till to-morrow.

The Grant memoirs have already brought the general's widow $630,000.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

PARNELL'S AMENDMENT DEFEATED BY A LARGE MAJORITY.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—In the House of Commons to-day Lord Randolph Churchill gave notice that the Government would propose the abolition of the Secret Service Fund, which amounts to £60,000 yearly. [Cheers].

Mr. Sexton, who was loudly cheered when he arose to speak, said the Government enjoyed great advantages in regard to Mr. Parnell's amendments because besides the power and emoluments of office they were by the energy of their casual allies relieved of the necessity of framing a policy in the cabinet and defending it in debate. [Cheers]. He regretted to noticed that Mr. Chamberlain was absent and said his absence afforded a questionable example of British pluck. Mr. Chamberlain showed what confidence he had in his case by running away. [Laughter.] The more Mr. Chamberlain spoke the better was Mr. Sexton pleased because he regarded Mr. Chamberlain as a political minister only requiring to be given sufficient material to execute the ends of public justice upon himself. [Laughter.] Mr. Chamberlain has condemned Mr. Parnell's amendment as inconclusive in a speech from which half a dozen conflicting conclusions could be drawn. The amendment was definite and clear. If the second clause were adopted, declaring that the British taxpayers ought not to be plundered for the benefit of the landlords then the Government must modify its announced policy or resign. If the Irish clauses were adopted, declaring the Irish tenants free beyond their control as they were unable to pay their rents, Lord Randolph Churchill must withdraw his utterances tending to incite the landlords to the adoption of violent measures and adopt remedial measures instead of a policy of force. [Cheers.]

Although the Queen's speech contained no allusion to land purchase, Mr. Sexton challenged Lord Randolph Churchill to deny that land purchase formed a part of the Government's scheme. [Cheers.] The British Government being partly answerable for the wrongdoing of the Irish landlords Mr. Gladstone had made the landlords the most liberal offer they would ever receive. When that offer was scorned and used to bring discredit upon the offerer, there was no obligation in honor to renew it. If there was any more talk about honor Mr. Gladstone would doubtless say as Lady Teazle said to Charles Surface: "Had you not better leave honor out of the question?" [Laughter.] Certainly Mr. Gladstone would never make Mr. Chamberlain the judge or custodian of honor. Mr. Sexton believed the Liberal of the future would not be a party to the plundering of the tenant of Ireland. [Cheers.] The appointing of Gen Butler would not promote union, but would give Ireland the character of a foreign country Mr. Chamberlain, despite the urgent condition of Ireland, was content to walk as long as the Government wished. If Mr. Chamberlain had lived in the time of Nero he would have played second fiddle while Rome was burning. [Great laughter.]

Continuing, Mr. Sexton said the proposed amendments would be productive of no benefit and would only [illegible] conflict with [illegible] questions. The policy of Mr. Chamberlain was to oppose any [illegible] which could not arouse a vote of censure against the Government, while Lord Randolph Churchill's Irish policy was to draw bills on the future which he did not intend to honor. [Cheers.] In conclusion Mr. Sexton said the Parnellites would counsel Irishmen to stand by each other and would be influenced by any fear of combinations. They would remind Irishmen that Mr. Gladstone's great effort to promote peace between the two countries was supported by a million and a quarter of Britons and that its majority against it consisted of votes only not of men. They would do everything possible in fairness and justice to promote peace, but they could not make themselves traitors to Ireland by asking the people during the coming winter to pauperize themselves in order to furnish arguments to their own exile [Cheers.]

Mr. Sexton spoke for nearly two hours. Mr. Chamberlain entered the House shortly after Mr. Sexton commenced and remained until he had finished.

Parnell's amendment was rejected by a vote of 304 to 181.

Hartington, Chamberlain and the Unionists supported the Government. Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt abstained from voting, and Mr. Morley voted with the minority. The announcement of the result caused little excitement.

ASSUMED A GRAVER ASPECT.

The Affairs of the Halifax Sugar Refinery Assume a Graver Aspect.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 27.—The report current concerning affairs of Halifax Sugar Refinery Company assumed somewhat graver aspect to-day, when the High Sheriff of Halifax replevined $80,000 worth of beet root sugar that arrived here for the concern a short time ago at the instance of Pickford & Black, agents for the Furness Steamship Line. It is rumored in commercial circles that the refinery has been placed in liquidation in England, though the statement is not confirmed. A short time ago preferential stock to amount of $200,000 was issued in the Old Country and three trustees were appointed for the bondholders. Some report that Wm. Francklin of the Cunard Line is a heavy loser by the embarrassment of the company. Wm. Francklin, whose firm are agents of the company here, was seen this evening, but refused to make any statement.

THE POPE ON MARRIAGE.

An Encyclical Letter to the Bishops of Hungary.

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—The Pope, in an encyclical letter to the Bishops of Hungary, deplored the spread of rationalism, divisions and sects, and says the Church alone can effectually cope with socialism. It is essential, therefore, that the Church shall enjoy full liberty. The Pope exhorts the episcopate to guard the sanctity of the marriage tie and to enlighten the faithful on the evils of civil marriage and the illegitimate character of marriages between Catholics and those who are not Christians. The Pope approves of the rejection by the Hungarian Diet of the bill to legalize marriages between Jews and Christians and condemns neutral and mixed schools.

France and the Vatican.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The recall of the French Ambassador at the Vatican is regarded here as the first step towards the disestablishment and disendowment of the Church in France, which it is thought will be the result of the Pope's refusal to accede from the position he has taken in relation to China. It is stated that Prime Minister De Freycinet is debating the advisability of repealing the concordat. It is semi officially announced to-day that the report that a rupture had occurred between France and the Vatican is at least premature.

The French Cabinet to-morrow will discuss the Vatican question. The Temps hears that an agreement is probable.

Orangemen and Order.

BELFAST, Aug. 27.—A meeting of Orangemen was held last night, when it was decided to again offer the Mayor their assistance in restoring order. The meeting condemned the misconduct of the police, but repudiated and deprecated the action of those who had defied the military and police. They also protested against the charge that Orangemen were responsible for the riots, and declared them to be utterly untrue.

An Alleged Mother Committed.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27. Police Magistrate Desnoyers rendered judgment in the case against Walters for attempting to bribe Brousseau, a customs' officer, by offering him $2000 for J. C. Ayer & Co.'s books, committing Walters to stand his trial at the Court of Queen's Bench.

PROHIBITION AND THE FISHERIES

Campaign Speech by Senator Blaine—Canada's Position.

NORTH BERWICK, Me., Aug. 27.—Hon. James A. Blaine delivered his second speech in the campaign here yesterday before 3000 persons. He began by saying that there was nothing unusual as an election. We indulge in a great many theories, he said, during the campaign, but when election day comes we must choose between two things presented. Either the Republicans or Democrats candidates for Governor and Congress must be elected. He would therefore address himself to two classes of persons in the State. He then said:

We have, in the first place, a class of men who, after having remained in the Republican party until it had enacted thirty different varieties of prohibition acts and embodied prohibition in the Constitution of the State, propose now to put everything at hazard by voting that the administration of all these acts shall be handed over to men who have constantly opposed them. I met a very zealous prohibitionist in coming from my house day before yesterday, and I put this question to him—whether, with the issue brought down, as I necessarily is, to Redwell and Edwards, it would not be wise for him to vote for the one of these two men who most persuaded and represented that issue. "Well," he said, "prohibition is in the Constitution now, and we can do as we please; they can't get it out." And I ventured to call out him upon a popular fallacy which I thinks lies in the minds of many people. Getting a law in the Constitution don't execute the law, and suppose you put in power a Democratic administration throughout, and they simply repeal the prohibitory laws of this State, what good will the article in your Constitution do? There is no penalty prescribed. There is nothing done. And I desired to assure my prohibition friend, if he thinks he can take a vacation on that subject because it is in the Constitution of the state, he is laboring under a troublesome error, and, as I took occasion to say yesterday, I do not know anything in the shape of [illegible], and, if I may be pardoned for the improper phrase, [illegible], than that having united the Republican party, and the Republican party having responded in thirty different instances in its Legislatures, and finally, in a amendment to the Constitution, no sooner is that legislation complete than certain gentlemen say we propose to have an independent prohibitory law, and intend to beat your governor, and we propose to have an independent [illegible] member of congress, and we intend to beat Mr. Reed. Well, they don't think they are going to elect Keatis, and they don't think they are going to elect Hussey, but they think they may elect Edwards governor and Clifford representative. Is there any man in this assemblage who has been honestly for prohibition that desires to rise in any assemblage and say that it is a wise course? Is any gentleman here willing to take the responsibility of saying in his judgement that it will promote the cause of Prohibition in Maine; or is there any gentleman, or, if I put it only on the ground of state pride, is there any voter of Republican principles in the First Congress district willing to strike down the brilliant leader of the House, who now represents the district? [Great applause.]

Then we have another diversion for the Labor party. Is there any member of a labor organization here or elsewhere in Maine willing to say that the cause of labor is to be promoted by sending Clifford to Congress instead of Reed, or the election of Edwards as Governor instead of Bodwell? Are you willing, gentlemen, either of the Prohibition party or of the Labor party, to throw your votes away? Are you willing to count yourselves neutral in that fight?

Passing to the fisheries question, Mr. Blaine said: "Canada is in a very peculiar position. She wants to enjoy the pride and sentiment of belonging to the British Empire, and to pocket the profit and advantage of taxing the American market at the same time. We don't think that fair. We have not the remotest possible objection to her remaining part of the British Empire. That is her right if she chooses. If she thinks pride can be coined into a good solid income, let her take it. But while she is enjoying it I don't think she would turn round to us and say, "We are cultivating our sentiment in the direction of British loyalty, and we want you to help us cultivate our pockets in the direction of free access to your markets. I am, for one, opposed to having the fishery interest used to force upon this country another treaty of so called reciprocity with Canada." Mr. Blaine read at length from the late treaty with Canada, commenting as he proceeded, and showing that by its terms the United States were placed at a great disadvantage.

Racing at Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Aug. 27.—The races yesterday and to-day were a success as regards sport but were not successful financially.

First day: Three-minute trot—Charles Wenman's (Toronto) Corkfoot Tom won in three straight heats, the time being 2.39, 2.37 1-2, 2.38. Half-mile running race in heats—John Noble's (Westwood) General Spike won, J. H. [illegible]'s (Cobourg) Scott Act second and John Elliott's (Peterboro) Maggie Roach third. Two-[illegible]—A. Brown's (Toronto) Marquis won, A. P. Morgan's (Peterboro) Little Ned being second and J. C. Sandford's (Brighton) Laura C. third.

Second day: Two-forty-five trot—Peake & Billespie's (Campbellford) Louie D. won, Charles Wenman's (Toronto) Corkfoot Tom second and A. R. Johnston's (Brantford) Stanton, Jr., third. Horan's (Picton) Lady M. won, George Robertson's (St. Catharines) Geraldine second and John Noble's (Meaford) Deadwood third. Carter race—D. Hilborn's Brown Dick first and R. Croft's Bay Rat second.

Trial Heats to the International Regatta.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—All the stake money in the international sculling sweepstakes has been deposited. The prizes will be: First $1200, second $400, third and fourth $212 50s. each, and $50 each to those beaten in the first round. The drawing for the trial heats on Monday took place to-day and resulted as follows: first heat from Ballersen to Hammersmith, Matterson, the Australian, against Wallace Ross; second heat from Hammersmith to Kew, George J. Perkins against John Teemer; third heat from Kew to Hammersmith, Champion Beach against G. W. Lee, George Bubear, the old man, will conclude the first round of trial heats, rowing over one of the courses against time. The courses average 3¼ miles. The final race will occur on Wednesday, and will be rowed over the championship course from Putney to Mortlake.

A TORONTO BRIDE ABROAD.

Deserted by Her Husband at Kingston—A Peculiar Case.

KINGSTON, Aug. 27.—On Wednesday a couple arrived here and registered at a leading hotel as Jas. S. Otis and wife, Toronto. Shortly afterwards word was sent to the hotel office that a doctor was required. Otis was found quite ill, and claimed to have taken a drug which affected him in the wrong way; his wife had also partaken of the medicine, but was not seriously affected thereby. The following morning Otis was feeling well, and unaccompanied by his wife left the hotel, to return in half an hour, since which time nothing has been heard of him. Mrs. Otis says she is a bride, having married Otis Tuesday in St. Paul's Church, Toronto. She has a ring, but no marriage certificate. She says she is a seamstress. She met Otis at a party, and that they courted for three weeks and that she married him against the wish of her friends. She says Otis told her that he was a detective connected with a Buffalo agency. He was a heavy drinker and his nerves were considerably shattered.

The bride was about the streets to-day talking with different parties. She presented at a bank a check for $200 given her by Otis, it was drawn on a firm in Bath, N. Y. No one would cash it. The woman's maiden name was Annie McGowan. She claims that the Bishop of Toronto was satisfied before her marriage that Otis was what he represented himself to be. Mrs. Otis intended leaving for Toronto this afternoon.

Flyers at Stratford.

STRATFORD, Aug. 27.—2.40 trot; entries—Ajax Boand won the first and second, and Rose May the third, fourth and fifth heats; time 2.33, 2.36 2.35, 2.36, 2.37. Half-mile running race, best 3 in 5—Twilight first, Sleepy Ralph second; time [illegible].

Steamship Arrivals.

At New York: Scale from Bremen; Wieland from Hamburg; Canada from Liverpool.
At Havre: Lyhera.
At Liverpool: Nevada; Sardinian from Quebec.
At Father Point: Concordia from Glasgow.
At Heath Point: Parisian from Liverpool.

CRISIS IN BULGARIA.

GENERAL RISING IN FAVOR OF PRINCE ALEXANDER.

ARMSDORF, Austrian Galicia, Aug. 27.—Prince Alexander arrived here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was received at the railway depot by Court Marshal Riedesel and Court Chaplain Jacob. The Prince, on appearing at the window of the railway carriage, was given an ovation by thousands of Germans and Poles. On alighting the Prince was presented with a bouquet by a little girl. The Prince kissed the child amid enthusiastic cheering. The crowd escorted the Prince to a carriage, when a journalist delivered a short address of welcome, concluding with the words: "Furish us traitors!" Then the crowd escorted him to his hotel. The town is brilliantly illuminated to-night. Alexander will proceed to Breslau to-morrow.

The Reply of the Powers.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Porte has received replies from the various powers to its circular announcing Prince Alexander's position. With the exception of Italy, the different governments merely note the contents of the circular, reserving all ulterior communications. The reply of Italy in addition recognizes the Porte's right to protest against the illegality of Prince Alexander's declaration.

Russia Status Quo Case.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—M. DeGiers, Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, yesterday issued a circular from Francenthal, Bohemia, where he is staying, explaining Russia's connection with the Bulgarian coup d'etat. "From the moment when," he says, "with genuine astonishment we learned how the deposition was made and entered into communication with our agents in Bulgaria to exert [illegible] to secure a reversion of what had happened, and put [illegible] affair. The Powers [illegible] by their attitude in this matter [illegible] the greatness of their sympathy with their Monarchy, but by following our will in overthrowing the present government, and recalling Prince Alexander they have proved their deep devotion to Russia and to [illegible] the Powers Russia and [illegible] the highest degree of loyalty and [illegible] the highest regard for those principles of [illegible] order and stability of which he is the constant and resolute representative. This is the key to the explanation of [illegible] conflicting events in Bulgaria. When we meet the German, Chancellor we shall explain these events, and we shall expect from the deep insight of this friendly statesman that he will thoroughly appreciate the [illegible] which Russia recently made for the [illegible] the interests of peace, and to maintain the principles of monarchy, and that he will support the full aid of his counsel to defend the [illegible] which exist in Bulgaria with which the peace of the East is so closely connected. What Russia did in a moment of unparalleled excitement has been repaired through her own influence. What must matters, Prince has now settled in a definite, legal, loyal form. I may even entertain the hope that Prince Alexander, whose high qualities we willingly acknowledge, and to whom legally we owe the proposal of independence he was unable sufficiently to refuse, will frame a regard for the facts and soberly judging the situation, renounce of his own accord without pressure the act of abdication formed from him under conditions which we were the first to regret and the only ones to [illegible]. We shall, acting in concert with the Powers, [illegible] to restore in a friendly and [illegible] manner the [illegible] between Russia and Bulgaria from further [illegible] conditions, and be able to place the peace of the East on a new and [illegible] basis. Russia by further strengthening the [illegible] of her friendship with the neighboring states as well as European powers generally."

Alexander's Love for Bulgaria.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Prince Alexander lands at Reni in the Russian Province of Bessarabia on Wednesday. On leaving the yacht he made a brief farewell address to the commander and crew. He expressed regret at leaving Bulgaria; and declared he would never cease to take to take a profound interest in Bulgaria's future. He had no deeper desire than that for Bulgaria's happiness and prosperity. Toward this end he had ever labored with his whole heart. He now [illegible] wish in the present junctures was that Bulgaria should choose another prince to rule over her who should be devoted to the welfare of the country. The Bulgarians are practically unanimous in their demand for Alexander's return to Rutschuk. As a result of the understanding reached by the adherents of Alexander at Sofia and Tirnova, a council of regency has been formed consisting of [illegible] Stambuloff, Glavcoff and Mutkurof and Colonel Montkouroff has been appointed Commander-in-Chief as long as the state of siege continues.

A Ludicrous Collapse.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The revolution has ingenously collapsed. The Prince was pressed by fourteen disaffected officers to sign an abdication, and was promised that if he signed he would be allowed to leave the country unmolested. Neither that nor the threats which followed could induce the hero of Slivnitza to put his name to the abdication. The Prince never hesitated one moment, but daring his [illegible] to [illegible] that worst cast from him the document that was to have secured his freedom. He was taken to Rahova, where a small yacht was in waiting. This craft was manned by a crew [illegible] exclusively composed of Bulgarians. There seems to be some doubt as to the nationality of the yacht, but the riverside population declared it sped along with greater rapidity than any Danube steamer. A detachment of Bulgarian troops with fixed bayonets was seen on board. When the yacht passed Rutschuk and Silistria [illegible] expectations had already arrived there from the Karavelof Government to hail the Prince and pay to receive the Prince when he should land. Notice was taken of the signals.

Bulgarian Notes.

A mass meeting at Slivno, Roumelia, unanimously resolved to support Prince Alexander.

A meeting at Kamarlik, Roumelia, sent a telegram to the Czar begging him to continue to extend his favor to Bulgaria. The Czar, in answering, advised them of his good will towards the Bulgarians if they would maintain order, and in this task Russian agents would support them.

THEIR GRIEVANCES ADJUSTED

The Employes of the Belt Line Will Return to Work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—There was considerable excitement about the stables of the Belt Line Road this afternoon, but no acts of violence occurred. About 100 policemen were scattered about who kept the throngs moving and quickly suppressed any demonstration. There is much dissatisfaction among the employes of the Broadway Railway to-night, occasioned by the fact that over 100 old conductors were put out of work, their places being occupied by men who were employed during the tie up.

To-night the executive board of the Empire Protective Association has been in conference at the Rossmore Hotel with Directors of the Belt Line Company, and State Arbitrator Commissioner Donovan. A full discussion was held upon the points at issue and the temporary adjustment said to have been arrived at earlier in the day was ratified and confirmed. The grievances of the men have been adjusted and the employes of the Belt Line will resume work in the morning.

A Superintendent Burned to Death.

NEWPORT, Ky., Aug. 27.—Sister Eulalie, Superioress of the Immaculate Academy, was about 5 o'clock this morning trying some mosquitoes, when a mosquito bar took fire, and in a moment the bedroom was a mass of flames. Sister Eulalie tried to get into the hall but found the door locked. By the time the door had been extinguished by the inmates the unfortunate woman was so badly burned that she died in two hours.

Schooner Belle Mitchell Ashore.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Aug. 27.—The schooner Belle Mitchell, bound from Chicago to Ogdensburg, laden with corn, went ashore about two miles above here this morning during a heavy fog. She is lying in rock bottom about a foot all around. She is making no water. Tug Jno Henry and Magnie went from here this afternoon to assist her but returned leave again this evening, being unable to do so.

THE VASTNESS OF THE EMPIRE.

Who that considers what the term "British Empire" means, does not feel a thrill of pride at being a component part of it, and yet he is only one of the two hundred and fifty-two millions of human beings that find shelter beneath the "cotton flag." The entire area of the British Empire is about nine million square miles, an extent of territory equivalent to a fifth part of the habitable globe. It is something marvellous, when one considers, that the ruling and controlling power of all this vast extent of possession is contained in three little islands of a total area of only 121,000 square miles, very little more than one-seventieth part of the total expanse of the fractional world, subject to their sway. The British Empire, in its magnificent vastness of extent, exceeds that of any empire ever existing on the earth. It is five times larger than the empire of Darius the Great, and it would take four empires the size of Rome, in its palmiest days, to equal it. The vast empire of Russia is eight times less in area, and contains a population fewer than ours by two hundred and thirty millions. It would take sixteen German Empires to equal the British Empire, which contains sixty-five territories and islands. What an immense and supremely dominating power! the British Empire is a world within itself. Should all the rest of this sphere sink suddenly beneath the sea it could continue to exist, for within its area are found all the climates and products that enter into the composition of the element of the commerce of the world. It produces all the materials for food, clothing, the wants of domestic life, and public enterprise, everything demanded in peace or war, art, science, or manufacture. It is an empire to be proud of, and there is no doubt of her permanency. During the half century represented by Her Majesty's reign, the area of the British Empire has increased from over two and a quarter million square miles to nearly nine millions. Her population has exactly doubled, having been 126 millions in 1837 and being 252 millions to-day. In 1837 her trade was 209 million pounds; in 1886 it is over a thousand million pounds, or five thousand million dollars. In 1837 fourteen million tons of shipping entered and cleared at her ports; in 1886 the total had swelled to 142 million tons. The annual revenue of the British Empire fifty years ago was 77 million pounds, fifty years later it has increased to 207 millions. What a tale fifty years to come will have to tell!

Personal.

The Brockville Recorder says:—"Citizens generally, especially in musical circles, will regret the removal from town of Mr. J. B. Hutchins, who severs his connection with Messrs. Robert Wright & Co., to accept a more remunerative position in Peterborough. Mr. Hutchins has won a warm place in the hearts of many of our citizens, whose good wishes will follow him to his new home." Mr. Hutchins has accepted a leading position with Mr. R. Fair, "Golden Lion."

Miss M. M. White, a lady of large experience, has been engaged by Mr. R. Fair to take charge of his millinery department. Miss White has been visiting the leading millinery establishments in England for the past ten months, and is now in the market making selections of fall and winter goods.

Rev. F. H. Wallace will leave Ocean Grove, N. J., after a delightful five weeks at the seaside, and start for home September 1st. He will reach Peterborough on Saturday, the 4th, and occupy his pulpit on the 5th.

Mrs. Geo. A. Cox and family are expected home to-morrow morning from Europe. They will arrive by the 5.30 train. Mr. Cox left for Quebec yesterday to meet them on the arrival of the steamer.

Mrs. T. Bradburn, Mrs. A. Hall, and families, and Miss Davidson returned home last evening from the seaside.

Police Court.

James Wilford Sent up for two Months for Stealing a Chain and Lead Pencil.

SATURDAY, Aug. 28.

Edward Meraney was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by John Meraney with using grossly insulting language to his wife in a public place. The defendant pleaded "No, sir, not guilty."

Mrs. Katherine Meraney testified that Edward Meraney in passing her on Wednesday night, with his little daughter, directed his child not to speak to her (the witness) as she was raised in a swamp.

The magistrate showed the complainant that the case did not come under the law, and dismissed the charge with costs.

James Wilford, was brought before the court charged by P. C. Adams with having fraudulently stolen a chain and a lead pencil from a man who was asleep in his buggy, on the Driving Park on Friday.

Wilford admitted the charge, and pleaded that he was tight, and only wanted to use the time, but the chain gave way and he was caught.

The court sentenced him to two months in jail at hard labor.

Cricket.

The Ottawa cricket team, accompanied by several cracks from Montreal and Toronto, arrived in town this morning and put up at the Grand Central hotel. The match was started on the P. A. A. A. grounds about 10 o'clock, Peterborough going to bat. 22 men were put together for one wicket. The side retired for 171, of which Rogers contributed 60, Logan 43, Ray 16, and Hamilton 15. At the time of writing the cricketers were enjoying a lunch, served in the Association lunch rooms by lady friends.

Type-Writer.

Mr. D. J. Bassell Sawyer has been appointed agent for the Midland district for the Remington Standard Type-Writer. It has been before the public over ten years; it has been subjected to every conceivable test, and has been constantly improved and developed under the most skilful workmen, and is used by thousands of business and professional men throughout the world. See pamphlet with full description.

Stolen at the Station.

Mr. J. Collins, of Port Hope, while waiting at the station on Friday night with a number of companions, overcome by the excitement of the races, dozed off in a quiet slumber. When he awoke he found that he had been relieved of a Rockford watch and $7. The police were notified, but no clue to the thief has been discovered.

Appointed.

We notice by the last issue of the Dominion Oddfellow, just to hand, that the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, I. O. O. F., has appointed Mr. E. E. Henderson District Deputy Grand Master for Peterborough district.

Drouth in Western Ontario.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 27.—Reports are coming in from different parts of McGillivray and Caradoc townships in Middlesex and parts of Huron County that there is now a great drouth prevailing. Most of the little streams and brooks have dried up and no rain has fallen to a considerable time. Cattle are driven five or more miles for water.

Montreal's Latest Absconder.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—Considerable surprise and regret was expressed in the east end of the city to-day when it became known that Alphonse Labelle, wholesale grocer's clerk, had left for parts unknown, leaving behind him liabilities at about $12,000.

Assistant Superintendent of Insurance.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—H. W. Baxter, of the Finance Department, has been appointed Assistant Superintendent of Insurance, under the provisions of the act passed last session.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

Detectives have ceased to guard Joseph Chamberlain.

A number of soldiers belonging to the Dragoon Guards have been placed under arrest at Belfast for rioting.

D. O. McQuarrie, the Dundalk storekeeper, has been committed for trial on a charge of defrauding his creditors.

At Hamilton Dr. G. E. Husband was yesterday fined $1 for failing to notify the health officer of a case of diphtheria under his care.

Russell, Sheen & Co., lumber dealers at Boston, have gone into insolvency; liabilities estimated at $400,000.

Bayou Sara, in the upper portion of St. Francisville, La., was evacuated yesterday; loss estimated at over $118,000.

Constant Benoit, a Swede who had just arrived in America, was torn to pieces by a ferocious boar at Knoxville, Tenn.

At Shreveport, La., Capt. Lusk, who abandoned an estimable wife and took up with a negress, was shot by a band of regulators.

The steamer Robert Knapp collided with the tug Washington at Hell Gate yesterday, and three of the crew of the latter were drowned.

William Wolfe, aged 40, boatswain's mate of the steamship Polynesian, slipped and fell down the main hatch at Montreal early yesterday morning. He died soon afterwards.

Smith's warehouse at Buckhorn, containing 3100 bushels of wheat, the property of S. Shepard of St. Vincent, was burned yesterday. The loss is estimated at $3500, partially insured.

Advices from St. Domingo of the 15th inst. state that the revolution is now limited to the District of Vega and Montroyst and the encounters were few in number with little bloodshed.

At Freeport, Ill., Charles Lashelle, confined in Carroll County jail for the murder of Patrick Redington, was ferociously attacked by an insane man named Francis F. Mayer, and nearly killed.

H. M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, who was to have been hanged at St. Louis yesterday for the murder of Arthur Preller, has secured a stay of proceedings until Nov. 15, in order that his case may be passed upon by the Supreme Court.

Two masked men entered the house of Wm. Devlin of Beckwith, the other night, as Mr. and Mrs. Devlin had just retired. One kept the two quiet in bed at the point of his revolver while the other searched the house and found about $100 in cash and some notes.

Toronto, August 5th, 1886

N. Washington, M.D., Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Halifax.

DEAR SIR,—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skilful consideration. Yours truly, GEO. GOULDING,

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole serial.

The author has evidently drawn his characters, Plot and as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

DAISY, the heir to Five Million Pounds.

HER WEDDING DRESS.

[COPYRIGHTED.]

Clarence took a scoff as leave, dejected enough. It is not pleasant to set up a fair idol and worship it with all the strength and tenderness of your nature, only to find it a thing of dust and ashes, and to have to fling it from you. It is a great trial, especially to a young man, with deeply-seamed wrinkles on his brow, and restless sparkling eyes gleaming like live coals beneath his shaggy brows.

"Clarence, my boy, something has gone wrong," the old man said kindly, after he had regarded his nephew in silence for a while. "Tell the old uncle what it is!"

"I have told you about Rosa Eldon, sir; well, she and I are—in fact, it is all over between us!"

"Engagement broken—eh? Past the power of patching up?"

"Yes, uncle."

"And it was on my account? Nay, boy, don't turn away—I can read the truth in your eyes. So she's played you false?"

"We are parted, uncle; is not that enough?"

"Well, perhaps so—perhaps so. It was well you found her out in time, Clarence. It's for the best, my boy."

Clarence Hyde was passing down the village street a day or two subsequently, towards dusk, in a mellow August twilight, when a slight form glided up to him, and a trembling hand was laid upon his own. He started at first, but quickly recognized the face and figure.

"Lizzy Eldon!"

"Oh, Clarence, I could not rest without telling you how very, very wrong I thought Rosa, and how sorry I am for you."

"Thanks, Lizzy. I do not think she has treated me exactly right."

Lizzy burst into tears.

"How could she be so cruel—so unwomanly? You were right, Clarence—you acted nobly! I think Rosa will one day live to repent it."

As Clarence stood there listening to Lizzy Eldon's impetuous words and holding her soft little hand in his own, he wondered that he had never before noticed how very, very pretty she was—a softer, more subdued style of beauty than Rosa's, yet not less bewitching in its way.

They haunted him all the night long, that oval, earnest face, those swimming blue eyes!

Day by day Rosa's image waxed fainter and more faint in his memory, and Lizzy's shy gentle looks grew more than ever present in his heart.

"I do believe I've fallen in love with the girl," he thought. "I wonder what she would say if I were to propose to her?"

But as the wonder came its realization.

One fine October day, when they had strayed a little away from the gay nutting party, whose voices made the old yellow-leaved woods musical, Mr. Hyde asked Lizzy Eldon if she would accept the [illegible] after had slighted, and Lizzy trembling and trembling, answered: "Yes."

"You see, Uncle Cuthbert," said Clarence eagerly, as he explained the new position of affairs to his uncle that evening, after he had safely escorted Lizzy home, with her nut-basket only half filled—and no wonder, all things considered—"it will be so pleasant! We shall all live together, and Lizzy says she will love you dearly. Lizzy is such a famous little housekeeper! She thinks it will be so pleasant to have you sitting by our hearth! And, uncle, you will go to see her to-morrow, won't you?"

"Yes," said Uncle Cuthbert briefly. "I'll go!"

And the next day Lizzy was surprised at her sewing by a brown-faced little old man, who abruptly took both her hands in his, and imprinted a kiss upon her crimsoning forehead, just as if he were the oldest acquaintance in the world.

"So you're going to marry my nephew, are you?" said Uncle Cuthbert.

"Yes, sir," Lizzy made answer timidly.

"And you love him, Lizzy?"

"Oh yes, sir!"

"And you won't object to having the old man lumbering about the house, helpless and feeble though he be?"

"I shall be so glad to have you live with us, sir, for I never remembered my father—and—and you will be like one to me, I am sure."

Uncle Cuthbert kissed her again, and walked away as abruptly as he had come.

"He's a very funny old gentleman," thought Lizzy, "but I know I shall like him."

Rosa contemplated the present state of affairs very coolly—a little contemptuously, in fact.

"If you choose to adopt all Clarence Hyde's poor relations, why, I can only wonder at your taste," said she loftily.

But Lizzy only smiled, and doubted to herself whether Rosa could ever have really loved Clarence.

"No, no, no!" echoed her heart.

The day of the wedding drew near. Lizzy's white dress was nearly finished, and modest little presents were beginning to be sent in from friends and relations.

"Here's my present," said uncle Cuthbert, walking in and placing a little box of carved wood on the table. "I cut it with my own hands myself while I was in California."

"Oh, uncle, what a dear little box!" said Lizzy, smiling her bright thanks, while Rosa elevated her nose rather scornfully.

"Well, Miss [illegible] fulfilled beautifully," pursued the old man.

Lizzy obeyed.

"Why, there's a parchment deed in it, uncle!" cried the astonished Clarence, who was leaning over Lizzy's shoulder.

"Of course there is—a deed making over ten thousand pounds to Lizzy Eldon, the day of her marriage," answered Uncle Cuthbert dryly, "and I've got another one for you at home, Clarence, my boy! Aha, the old uncle wasn't so very poverty-stricken, after all! You mustn't think, my young lady," he added, turning abruptly to Rosa, "that gold isn't gold because it's a trifle rusty and tarnished. Appearances aren't everything in this world!"

And so Clarence and Lizzy began the world with the fairest of prospects, and true love enough to float the bark of life into its sweetest haven.

Rosa felt somewhat chagrined in the [illegible] but she wisely kept her feelings to herself, and old Uncle Cuthbert was quite satisfied with the choice his nephew had made.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, [illegible] will be published in [illegible] It is a powerful serial story. We have secured the [illegible] possible to [illegible] It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter, [illegible] to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The papers we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

Better Quality of Wool.

The Lindsay Post says: "On Friday we were favoured with a call from Mr. James Kendry, managing director of the Auburn Woollen Mills Co. at Peterborough, while en route to Sturgeon Point. Mr. Kendry was accompanied by a friend from Toronto.... In referring to the markets offered for wool by Canadian factories Mr. Kendry urged that farmers should give attention to raising a better class of sheep, Southdowns being particularly good. The wool from these sheep, it was stated, was worth from 28c. to 30c. per lb., while the ordinary grades of Canadian wool were rated high when sold at from 19c. to 23c. per lb. The fact that the ordinary grade of wool being offered was long had not much weight with the manufacturer, long wool of low grade running too much in the direction of hair. Capa wool (Cape of Good Hope) is almost exclusively used at the Auburn Mills, and the excellent quality of the cloths manufactured have given the goods almost the preference with buyers in the wholesale markets."

The Coming Concert

Of Sept. 2nd., gives every indication of success. Miss Delaney has spared nothing in order to give the people of Peterborough a musical treat of the first order. The contingent from the New England Conservatory, Boston, are in themselves sufficient to guarantee a success among the most critical. Miss Delaney will also be ably assisted by Mrs. J. R. McIntyre and Miss Bloomfield. Comment on Mr. T. Dunn is unnecessary as all who have once heard his mellow baritone voice in soul-stirring songs, can fully acquiesce to. Mr. C. H. Geale will also contribute several vocal selections which will be a welcomed addition. A full orchestra and Heintzman Boudoir Grand will also aid in the success of the concert.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

She comes here from the Old Land with the very highest testimonials a lecturer can have. She has devoted her life to the exposition and enforcement of great truths. So able a lecturer should have a large audience. Subject, "John Knox and his times."

Fine Art.

In the window of Mr. A. Clegg appears a pretty portrait, in oil, of Mr. P. H. Green's little son. The picture, which is from the brush of Mr. T. Workman, is very life-like, and expresses nicely the vivacity and vigor of youth. A fine contrast to this is a portrait of Mr. Wm. Cummings, which has just been completed by Mr. Workman, and is now on view at his studio.

MID-SUMMER MEET

ON THE PETERBORO DRIVING PARK.

The Second Day's Sport—Fast Trotting and Speedy Running—"Louis D" and "Lady M" Contest Their Opponents in the 3-55 and Open Races—"Stanton" the Fleetest-Footed Runner—Fast Driving Gets Queer Around the Course.

Friday, the second day of the midsummer meet of the Peterborough Driving Park Association, in point of success, exceeded, if possible, that of the first day. The attendance was fair, but not as large as was anticipated, or by any means as large as the races merited.

The interest in the races was kept up almost without interruption, so well were they managed, the heats in the three first events being run alternately, in order to lose no time between heats. For the convenience of the reader the races are reported consecutively.

Promptly at two o'clock the gong sounded, calling out the contestants for the first event,

The Two-Forty-Five Trot,

In which were entered "Stanton, Jr.," owned by A. R. Johnston, Bradford, and driven by J. Johnston; "Louis D," [illegible] & Gillespie, Campbellford, driven by J. Alliston; "Corkfoot Tom," Chas. Wenman, Toronto, driven by J. Flemming; "Fanny B," F. J. Daly, Peterborough, driven by Bob Reid. Mile heats, best 3 in 5, in harness. Purse $150, divided, $75, $40, $25.

FIRST HEAT.—After scoring several times, they got off well together, "Corkfoot Tom" going to the front. "Louis D" throughout the heat made a determined effort to overhaul the cork-footed courser, but failed. "Fanny B" broke badly and went behind, the strongly-built stallion, "Stanton," trotting well for third place. "Corkfoot Tom" crossed the line first in 2.36, "Louis D" a good second, with "Stanton" and "Fanny B" third and fourth.

SECOND HEAT.—"Louis D" made a bold break for the front at the start, which he secured, slowly but surely forging ahead. "Fanny B" and "Stanton" had a close race for third place, which the stallion secured by persistent straight trotting, seldom, if ever, leaving his feet. "Louis D" captured the heat, with "Corkfoot" close on his wheel. Time, 2.32½.

THIRD HEAT.—"Corkfoot Tom" secured the start, the others following well together. "Corkfoot" continued in the van at the half-mile, shortly after which he went off his feet and "Louis D" passed him, which lead he maintained to the finish. On the three-quarter "Fanny B" broke badly and was passed by "Stanton," the stallion trotting well on the home-stretch. "Fanny B" was distanced and retired from the arena. Time, 2.34½.

FOURTH HEAT.—After wasting 20 minutes in scoring, the trio received the "go," "Corkfoot Tom" having the lead, closely pressed by "Louis D," who was held back by his driver, waiting for "Stanton," which he was ordered to do by the judges. "Stanton" trotted a good third. The procession passed the half-mile in this order in 1.16½. Shortly after "Corkfoot" broke, but managed to maintain his lead to the string, "Louis D" close on his heels, he also being pressed by "Stanton." Time, 2.35.

FIFTH HEAT.—"Corkfoot" again secured the start. This lead he did not maintain long, as "Louis D" caught him at the first corner, where "Tom" broke, and it was with difficulty that the driver got him to work again. By this time "Stanton" was with him, going like clock-work. On the home stretch "Corkfoot" again broke and was passed by "Stanton," "Louis D" leading, and winning the race. Time, 2.37½.

SUMMARY.

Louis D	2	1	1	1
Corkfoot Tom	1	2	2	3
Stanton	3	3	3	2
Fanny B	4	4	4	dis.

The Open Trot.

Brought to the scratch, "Deadwood," owned by John Noble, Meaford; "Geraldine," Geo. Robertson, St. Catharines; "Lady M.," E. Horan, Picton. The first two horses were driven by their proprietors, and the latter by Bob Reid. Mile heats, best three in five, in harness; purse, $300; split, $175, $75, $50.

FIRST HEAT.—"Geraldine," who had the pole, took the lead, "Lady M." trotting hard for that position, with "Deadwood" in the rear. "Lady M." gradually closed up in the first half, when they were neck and neck. "Geraldine" broke and lost the lead, which he failed to recover, the "Lady" taking the first. Time, 2.32½.

SECOND HEAT.—"Lady M." led at the start and continued in that position to the finish, although at the home stretch she broke, when "Geraldine," who was right after her, put his best foot forward for first, and they passed under the wire, the "Lady" a nose ahead, with "Deadwood" a length behind. Time, 2.30½.

THIRD HEAT.—At the start the bay mare again took the lead, "Geraldine" and "Deadwood" struggling hard for second place. On the second half "Geraldine" passed "Deadwood" and sought for first. "Lady M." took the heat as she pleased in 2.31½, "Geraldine" several lengths behind her, and "Deadwood" as far in the rear of him.

SUMMARY.

Lady M	1	1	1
Geraldine	2	2	2
Deadwood	3	3	3

The Mile Running Race.

Brought to the line "Scott Act," entered by J. H. O'Neil, Cobourg, ridden by "Boots" in black and amber; "Blanton," J. Nixon, Toronto, driven by John Tomlin; and "Gray Johnnie," James Bradley Port Hope, ridden by Joe Dickens.

FIRST HEAT.—"Scott Act," who secured the pole, also secured the lead at the start, but was soon overhauled by "Grey Johnnie" who at the first half was still in the van, "Blanton," coolly chasing the others. At the three quarters a change occurred "Blanton" spirited passing "Scott Act" in a few bounds and in less time than it would take to write it down, passed the grey, continuing to gain, going under the wire fully half a dozen lengths ahead. Scott Act was badly distanced. Time, 1.52. In this heat the rider of "Blanton" lost a stirrup, which pounded the animals sides during the second round.

SECOND HEAT.—The "Grey" got a splendid start, "Blanton" who was held by its owner took a standing start. "Blanton's" blood and breeding began to tell, about the first half, when he was fully forty yards behind. He gradually and gallantly closed the gap, passing the grey at the three quarter pole, and continued to gain to the finish, passing under the string 50 yards ahead, in 1.53.

SUMMARY.

Blanton	1	1
Gray Johnnie	2	2
Scott Act	distanced.

The Carters' Race

Caused a commotion on the course. It brought to the scratch "Fred R," driven by his owner, H. Wills; "Bay Rob," owned by W. Croft, and "Brown Dick," owned and driven by D. Hillier, all drawing the regulation cart. Half-mile dash, go-as-you-please; purse, $30; split, $15, $10, and $5.

After scoring once, the contestants scurried around the ring in chariot-race style. At the start "Brown Dick" led, but our race was headed by "Bay Rob," the favourite. "Fred R." then made a break for first, which he secured, but almost as quickly settled back in the rear. D. Hillier piled his lash with a professional swing, had his steed shot ahead, winning the heat and race by several lengths, with the "Rat" a fair second. Time, 1.37.

This brought the programme to a close. Every spectator was delighted with the sport, as well he or she might be, as every event was worthy of all praise, and the meet on the whole, was a brilliant success. The oldest turfsman on the field were delighted with the conduct and character of the sport. The only drawback was that in a financial point it did not pan out profitably. This was very unfortunate, as it will not tend to nerve the promoters to ever exerting at their next meet. It is to be hoped they will be amply repaid in the future for their energy and enterprise. They are certainly to be congratulated on the success of the meet, from a sporting point of view. It is too bad that they should be out of pocket.

NOTES.

A new feature was apparent at the races. The judges raised and did not ask advice from anyone. It was a surprise party to some kickers.

There was a large attendance from the surrounding villages.

A small fracas occurred during one of the heats, and the holder of the distance (white) flag took his banner to proclaim peace.

The band added to the spirit of the occasion by furnishing excellent music.

Sawdust, water, and too much sunlight muddled the brains of several spectators, while the speed at which the horses went made their heads swim.

Church Notices.

The services in the George Street Church to-morrow will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Cattanach in the morning, and Rev. Mr. Duff in the evening.

Rev. M. Watts, recently stationed at Warsaw, will occupy the pulpit of St. Paul's church to-morrow.

Communion services will be held in St. Andrews' church to-morrow morning. Rev. A. Bell, pastor, will conduct the services.

Rev. T. S. McColl, of Toronto, will conduct the services in the Murray street Baptist Church to-morrow.

Rev. Mr. McFarlane, of Lakefield, will occupy the pulpit of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

Of Bolton's celebrated hot water boilers gone this week, one to Messrs. Stoben & Barnlow, Brooklville, for the residence of Mr. M. K. Everitt, Broker and Commission Merchant, Irish Creek; one to Mr. J. W. Harris, Belleville, for the residence of S. B. Burdett, L.L.B., and one into the new residence of our esteemed townsman, Mr. A. W. Brodie.

The Wood and Metal Worker says:—Among other prominent institutions in the United States who have substituted water for steam is the Government at Washington, D. C.

Robbed at the Races.

During the races on Friday and between heats, James Wilford, who has been there before, attempted to take a watch from a gentleman who was taking it easy in a cab. The snap of the chain gave way, and it and a pencil were all the pick-pocket prigged. A party who witnessed the occurrence notified P. C. Adams, who arrested Wilford and locked him up. The articles were found in his possession. He was brought before the court this morning and was sent up for two months at hard labor. Two years ago Wilfred served a term in the Central for helping himself in a like manner.

Baseball.

As was expected, the recent baseball match has caused a rise in diamonds. The nine who played the Whitby team on Wednesday have been challenged by a pick-up nine, composed chiefly of the Lock Works team, to play, the leader of the latter intimating that he could pick up a team that could defeat the almost-victorious players of Wednesday. The challenge was promptly accepted and the game will come off shortly. Galley and Landy will form the battery of the Peterboroughs, while the rival team will have Billings and Honan. Both teams are practicing with energy, and a smart game, no doubt, will be the result.

Local Enterprise.

Our energetic townsman, Mr. E. E. Henderson, has succeeded in unearthing some very valuable information relative to the respective merits of the leading life assurance companies, and he publishes in his advertisement to-day what he holds to be conclusive evidence that the old reliable British Empire company, which he represents, takes risks at the lowest rate of premiums, and being purely "Mutual," pays the largest bonuses of any of the leading companies.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

Accidentally Upset.

On Thursday afternoon, as Mr. and Mrs. Adams, of Port Perry, and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre were driving to the Driving Park, the horse shied after turning the corner at the Agricultural Grounds, tilting the phaeton and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. McIntyre, who was handling the ribbons, held on to the steed till it stopped. Mrs. Adams received a slight bruise on the forehead, but the others escaped uninjured.

Hotched Running Race.

To Parents.

P. B. C.

[Advertisement.]—The schools are about opening for another year's work and we respectfully ask permission to direct your attention to the following points, which we would be pleased to have you consider and decide upon by the first of the month.

Do you purpose that your boy shall some day enter business?

Has he any desire to enter business?

Then, in the light of intelligence, can you answer me why are you keeping him at school all these years? If he is 14 or 15 years of age, he is old enough to receive a business training to just those subjects that he will require to use in Real Life. The sooner he gets started in his life-work the more certain he is of succeeding quickly, providing he has had the proper previous training.

Has your boy got a dislike to study or to school? By sending him to the Business College, where business and study go hand-in-hand, all that distaste will disappear, in the charm of seeing his knowledge of writing, arithmetic, accounts, law, order, principle, etc., applied to actual business work.

It is said one cannot be too good a scholar in any calling. True, but there is scarcely a public school subject that requires such attention for practical use as is given to it.

A business man needs to know how to speak correctly, how to write a good business letter, the laws of trade, the theory of accounts at least, the laws of supply and demand, of production and consumption, money, its value and uses; advertising, its subtle science and effective art; detection of counterfeit money, etc. He should write a good, rapid hand, and be almost instantaneous in calculations, such as finding cost price from retail, or retail per price, percentage added from cost price per dozen. These are subjects every boy should know when he enters business life. How many of them is your boy studying?

Our tuition fees are paltry in comparison with the cost of a course in arts, science, theology, medicine, etc.

We will be glad to have a talk with you on the matter at any time. The sooner the better for your boy. Call at the College from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., or at residence, Charlotte street, outside of these hours.

SWEPT OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Terrible Destruction of Life and Property By an Earthquake.

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 28.—Greece has again been visited by an earthquake, which has been most disastrous in the Morea and in which the loss of life, according to the best information, reaches the enormous figure of 300. The Village of Pyrgo and the town of Philiatra, both situated on the western coast of the Morea, were the chief sufferers, and these furnish, it is believed, all that have perished. In Pyrgo not a house is left standing, while Philiatra is almost swept from the face of the globe, swallowed up in the convulsions of the earth. The shocks were experienced throughout the whole of Greece in a greater or less degree. In the town of Zante every house was damaged and the inhabitants fled in terror to the open country. Several towns in Italy were also visited by the earthquake, but not to any serious ext nt. Naples, Brindisi, Foggia, Caserta and Taranto being of the number. The people were panic-stricken and took refuge in the fields and churches.

A dispatch from Naples says that a second earthquake shock has occurred there. The population were crowding the streets and many families were fleeing from the city. There have been two eruptions of Vesuvius and the volcano is still very active.

An earthquake shock was experienced at Athens at midnight.

Advices from Zante say that excessive heat, dead calms and unusually high tides forewarned the inhabitants. The earthquake centre appears to be in the sea at a point thirty miles south of Zante. The earthquake is supposed to be of volcanic origin. The cables and telegraph wire are broken, and no news has been received from the interior. The cathedral at Pyrgo was destroyed.

Shocks in Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 28.—Violent shocks of earthquake have been experienced here and in other parts of Egypt, causing terror among the natives, but so far as known doing no serious damage.

Six Towns Destroyed.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The area of the earth disturbance in Greece yesterday was phenomenally wide. At least six towns were entirely destroyed, and a score of others were partially destroyed.

Vesuvius is again in a state of eruption, and people are flying for their lives. The priests proclaim that the earthquakes are a visitation of God.

CARRIED OUT TO SEA.

A Gloucester, Mass., Captain Refuses to be Reined and Sails With the Officers.

BARRINGTON, N.S., Aug. 28.—The Gloucester schooner "Legal Tender," Captain Oscar Devine anchored in Barrington Bay yesterday afternoon on her way home from the Western Banks with a full fare of codfish This morning it transpired that the same schooner, three weeks ago, on her outward voyage, had put into Shag Harbor, twenty miles from Barrington, the home of Captain Devine, and shipped several men without reporting at the Custom House. For this offence a tide waiter boarded the vessel this morning, accompanied by another man, and attempted to seize her, but Captain Devine was not ready to receive visitors at that early hour, and besides, had his sails set and his anchor weighed, and had started on his voyage to Gloucester. Captain Devine emphatically refused to obey the tide waiter's orders to come to anchor or to submit to arrest. He kept on out of the bay, with both officers on board. When a good distance from land the tide waiter came to the conclusion that if he did not want to go to Gloucester or to be pitched overboard he had better take to his boat and row ashore. This he did, while the vessel rounded Cape Sable on her way home, but the members of her crew, belonging to Shag Harbor, who went ashore last night to visit their friends in the belief that the "Legal Tender" will put into the place to-night to get her men will be in a sorry plight. Customs officers have gone there to lay in wait for and capture her. Not satisfied with stealing our fish, Yankee skippers now attempt to steal our Customs officers.

COLLISION WITH A SCHOONER.

An Allan Steamer Runs Into a Lumber-Laden Vessel.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 28.—The Allan steamship Nova Scotian arrived this morning from Baltimore. As she was entering the harbor a collision occurred which came near being a very serious affair. The schooner Bertha, from Port Medway, with a heavy load of lumber for this port, was ahead of the Nova Scotian just this side of Meagher's Beach. The steamer overtook the schooner and ran into her, striking her jibboom, smashing it completely in two, destroying her boat and mainsail and springing her mainmast. On board the little vessel were five lady passengers and a small-sized panic ensued when the big steamer came upon the schooner.

Clerical Trip Across Continent.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Aug. 28.—Bishop McIntyre, accompanied by Rev. Fathers James Æneas McDonald, Gregory McDonald, Allan McDonald and D. J. Gillis, start on Tuesday on a trip over the Canadian Pacific to Victoria. The party will probably visit San Francisco and Denver on the return visit. Archbishop Lynch, who has been visiting Prince Edward Island, will accompany the party to Toronto. He is greatly improved in health.

Beet Sugar Replevined.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 28.—The High Sheriff of Halifax to-day replevined $30,000 worth of beet sugar which arrived here for the Halifax sugar refinery a short time ago by the steamer Ulunda and was handed over by the agents of the line, but which the agents on advices from England now seek to recover. It is rumored in commercial circles that the refinery has been placed in liquidation in England.

The Latest Fishery Seizure.

HALIFAX, Aug. 28.—The schooner A. R. Crittenden, Capt. Graham, from North Bay for Gloucester, with 430 barrels of mackerel, was seized last night at Port Mulgrave by Collector Bourinot, who, after being on board all night, took her to Port Hawkesbury this morning. She was seized for violating the customs laws. Subsequently the schooner was released upon a fine of $400 being deposited by the captain.

A Scene in the Divorce Market.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—The Divorce Committee will [illegible] before it [illegible] session. Mildred Stout, Philadelphia, late of Sherbrooke, and wife of L. R. Johston, of the latter place, has applied for divorce on the grounds of adultery and desertion. Fanny Margaret Riddell, of Beaconsfield, Que., also makes application for divorce from her husband, Dr. G. F. Mathison, of the Northwest metropolis. The reasons given are also adultery and deserting. Quite a number of cases will come before the committee.

CRISIS IN BULGARIA.

PRINCE ALEXANDER RESTORED TO POWER.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Russians refused to allow Prince Alexander a saloon carriage or servants and only released him after Emperor William had telegraphed the Czar on the subject.

Turkey is massing troops on the Roumelian frontier. Daily councils are being held at Constantinople to consider the situation.

Prince Alexander leaves Lemberg to-day for Bulgaria. He will go via Gurgevo, Roumania, and expects to reach the Bulgarian territory by to-morrow. His brothers Francis and Ludwig are with him and will be his travelling companions.

The trial by court-martial at Sofia of Messrs. Zankoff and Grueff and the Metropolitan Clement, the leaders of the revolutionists who forced Prince Alexander to abdicate, has been finished. Messrs. Zankoff and Grueff were sentenced to death, and Clement was sent to prison for life.

Germany's Interest in Alexander.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Public interest here is centered in Prince Alexander. He has become a favorite, and the news that he had been liberated caused a storm of popular delight. The Prince's portrait is displayed in many of the shop windows. Some of the newspapers denounce his deposition as the audacious act of scoundrels who had been bought with Russian money. One journals warns the Czar that Alexander is a German, and that the indignity put upon him is an insult which will never be forgotten. Emperor William received the news of Alexander's deposition from Gen. Von Werder on Sunday at the mess of the officers of the Guards at Potsdam.

England Should Take the Initiative.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 29.—The Governments of Germany and Austria consider that the recent events in Bulgaria impose on England chiefly the duty to take the initiative in any foreign action for the settlement of Bulgarian affairs. This opinion has been officially communicated to the Porte.

The Prince at Bucharest Again.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 29.—Prince Alexander arrived here with his brothers Francis and Louis at 9.30 o'clock this morning. He was welcomed at the railway station by Prime Minister Bratiano and the other members of the cabinet, the British Minister to Roumania and a Bulgarian deputation. The deputation presented an address assuring the prince of the devotion of the people and the army of Bulgaria. Prince Alexander was visibly moved.

Bismarck Favors Russia.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The North German Gazette, Bismarck's organ, lectures the German newspapers for favoring Prince Alexander. The Gazette says: "The events in Bulgaria do not affect German interests in any way, and no German statesman would be justified in sacrificing the friendship of Russia for the sake of the Bulgarian prince, even if he were an angel in human form."

Mad Best Have Stayed Away.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The Republique Francaise says that Prince Alexander returns to Bulgaria contrary to the advice of his father and Bismarck; also that M. DeGiers made the withdrawal of Prince Alexander a formal condition of Russian non-intervention in Bulgaria.

A Muscovite Blunder.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Economist treats the Bulgarian incident as a Muscovite blunder, and says an attempt to create revolution without revolutionists is as hopeful as an attempt to drive an engine without steam would be. It taunts the German press with vindicating the honor and prestige of the Fatherland by summoning England to redress the wrong done by Russia to a distinguished citizen.

Crowned and Chained.

RUSTCHUK, Aug. 29.—A Bulgarian deputation, a guard of honor and a great concourse of people met Prince Alexander upon his arrival at Giurgivo. All the consuls, including the Russian representative, were present and tendered their congratulations to the Prince. M. Stamuloff formally welcomed Alexander in the name of Bulgaria, and restored him to power. The Prince replied that he had confidence in his people and was prepared to sacrifice his life for their happiness. A body of officers then approached, crowned the Prince and carried him on their shoulders to the palace followed by cheering crowds.

THE BATTLE OF THE TITHES.

Welsh Farmers Determined that they will Pay no More.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Advices from Wales are to the effect that the anti-tithe movement is increasing with unabated rapidity. The people are very much in earnest in resisting this antiquated tax, and there will be no peace till it is overthrown. The sale of cattle at Llanarmon by Vicar Evans has resulted in increasing the bitterness of feeling there. Writs have been served by order of the Vicar on the rebellious members of his parish, who have all pledged themselves, however, not to pay the tax, except under compulsion. The Vicar hoped by the sales already made that he would frighten all the other delinquents into paying up; but the effect has been exactly the reverse. So there is to be another and more extensive sale. Another auctioneer is to go to Llanarmon guarded by a strong body of police. Again there is expectation of trouble with the colliers, who are more disposed to make an open fight than the farmers. Col. Cornwallis West, Member of Parliament for that division of Wales, has utterly failed to reconcile the people with their rector, whom they declare to be a wolf in sheep's clothing. An Anti-Tithe Association has been formed at Legwryd, near by, and 150 farmers have signed a pledge that they will pay no more tithes, and that they will stand together in opposition to the vicar of their parish. At Llanrhaiadr the farmers have sent in a notice to the rector to the effect that they will pay him no more tithes. The farmers have issued a manifesto in which they set forth the fact that the population of Wales is about 1,500,000, and that more than 1,000,000 of them are dissenters or non-conformists, and that only 300,000 belong to the established church.

Electricity in a Driving Belt.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—Samuel S. Harrison, a leading citizen of Penfield, Houston township, has within the past week recovered his voice, of which he had been deprived for nineteen years. He lost his speech by going into the water when his blood was overheated. About three years ago he sustained a severe injury to his arm, and since then has suffered intense pain in that member. A relief from this pain he has found in taking a shock, as he terms it by placing his hand on a large driving belt in his mill. Last evening he again resorted to the belt for relief and experiencing a greater shock than ever before he was agreeably astonished to find his voice had returned. He attributes its recovery solely to the electric shock produced by the revolving belt.

The Toronto tailors at a meeting of their union determined to form themselves into an assembly of the Knights of Labor.

AN ADDRESS TO THE THOUSAND MICHIGANDERS.

ESCANABA, Mich., Aug. 28.—Ten thousand people attended the Home of Erin demonstration here to-day. Michael Davitt spoke for three-quarters of an hour and received an ovation. During his speech he said: "I am here to explain to the American people the causes and aims of our movement in Ireland. Like all other public men what I say must challenge dissent. Many honest men here think we are too conservative; too easily satisfied with half-way concessions. Don't believe us captious; believe us honest. Far be it from me to offend Irish nationalists who hold such opinions in regard to Parnell and us his followers. I know how natural it is for Irishmen domiciled in this great republic to wish to win Ireland's freedom in a way that America's was won. I understand the proud, martial character of the Irishmen who prefer to win by war and not through the senate house. I should be recreant to my part if I said a disrespectful word against those who urge the use of physical force. It has been said there would never have been a land league but for the Fenians of '46 and '98. Sacrifices were made by men of these epochs, and their determinations have had their effect. It would be ungrateful of a Land Leaguer to speak slightingly of these men. All we ask of men who hold to these methods is not to judge the present movement too hastily. In fair play and justice some account of Ireland when the Land League started should be taken. The fighting element was banished. You find it here, in Australia; in all parts of the world. We had lost the bone and sinew of the Celtic people. Lieutenants of a great majority must also be taken into account. The majority of tenant farmers were no better than slaves. Creatures of landlords, garrisons, always the chief instruments in oppression of Ireland, it was hard to make the best possible use of materials at hand. The first thing to do was to break the power of landlord garrisons in Ireland, and I feel for once that it would be useless to build Ireland from a clean no better than beggar passantry. We felt unable to help Home Rule till we could show that we could break the power of landlords. This could only be done by such a combination as laws would allow. Under the bold and prudent leadership of Parnell the tenant farmers were organized as they never were before. Having thus evolved enough power to help them to homes, ideas of natural rights and national freedom entered the heads of those previously almost slaves. God made Ireland for Irish not foreign landlords. We had to give rough tuition in political economy and put aside Tara's harp and feasts at Bryan's castle and go down to facts and figures and tell tenant farmers their first duty was to wives, children and homes, and that rent to such landlords was a secondary consideration."

Mr. Davitt reviewed at length the progress and purposes of the Land League and Irish National League. His speech lasted nearly three-quarters of an hour and was received with rapt attention. He closed as follows: "In Ireland we are likely to have serious trouble the coming winter. Lord Randolph Churchill's government has already encouraged landlords. We must resist. First, passive measures of resistance will be employed, but resist we must at any cost. I would be the last to advise resort to unjustifiable means, but if landlords make efforts to collect impossible rents and tenants are evicted they will fall back on promptings to human nature. We cannot help it. The government has been warned by Mr. Gladstone, so after this trouble comes we want it understood that the policy is a deliberate one of the Tories. We will come out of this struggle triumphant. National law and prisons cannot prevent it. Irish leaders will emerge from the struggle with the green flag in the van triumphant and united."

EXCITING EVICTIONS.

Hot Water as a Weapon Against Overwhelming Foes—Remarkable Scenes.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The struggle between the constabulary and the tenants on the Marquis of Clanricarde's estate, which has been going on for the past few days, has just terminated in the success of the police. The estate of Woodford is in the southeast corner of Galway, near the lovely and picturesque Lough Derg. A tenant of the name of Sanderson was ordered to be evicted for non-payment of rent; but encouraged by the warm sympathy of the whole of his fellow villagers he determined to resist and placed his house in a state of siege. Not content with plowing up the roads in order to prevent the approach of the constabulary, trees were felled for the purpose of making barricades, and bridges were destroyed. The amount of unpaid rent for which Sanderson has just been evicted at such a large cost to the State does not amount to $60. The parish priest expresses the warmest sympathy with the tenants.

The scenes at Woodford were of the most remarkable nature. A force of 500 police were engaged, besides a small army of bailiffs and emergency men. The house was occupied by a number of countrymen, armed to resist the eviction. The roof was loop-holed and the storming of the place was a most exciting affair. Scaling ladders and a shed, like those which the old Roman soldiers used in approaching the walls of a besieged town to protect them against the defenders, were used. After a desperate struggle the house was carried by storm and the police, jumping in through the roof, made prisoners of twenty of the men inside. A number of the bailiffs, emergency men and members of the police force were injured by scalding water poured upon them. A swarm of bees was also let loose against them, but it does not seem to have given them any trouble. Just before the operations were begun an estate bailiff of Lord Clanricarde, named Pope, created a sensation by publicly resigning his office, and in token thereof handing over his double-barrelled gun to the superintending priest, who raised it aloft amidst the most intense excitement of a great crowd. On the police entering the house a most extraordinary scene was presented. There was a large fire in the kitchen, with three pots of water placed over it, and a bag of lime was lying close at hand. The water in a boiling condition was handed from the kitchen up to the men, who stood on the lofts beside the loopholes and who threw it out on the bailiffs.

Belfast Tories and the Government

BELFAST, Aug. 29.—The Conservative Association of this city have sent to the Government a copy of the resolution which they adopted, regretting that Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Salisbury had expressed approval of the conduct of the Belfast constabulary and stating that the resident magistrates were responsible for the disorders. The association demands a reorganization of the police and the magistracy, disapproves of the personnel of the commission to inquire into the riots, and asks the Government to appoint more loyalists thereon.

The Rioting Renewed.

BELFAST, Aug. 29.—This evening there was some firing of pistols and throwing of stones, and a few persons were injured.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe at this season of the year to go a single day without a supply of West's Pain King in the house. Relief only a moment's justice and costs but 25 c. All druggists. d&w

PROGRESS AND POVERTY.

The optimists of our age are constantly extolling the material progress of the world in this active nineteenth century. Doubtless they have good reason for so doing. The industrial triumphs of the last fifty years have been simply enormous. The most careless observer must acknowledge this. Man has pressed into his service the giant forces of the elements. Steam and electricity have multiplied a thousand-fold the productive powers of the human race. The ancient slow and struggling postal system is superceded by the wonders of the telegraph, the ocean cable and the telephone. The steamship has almost driven the sailing vessel off the seas; the candle has been replaced by the gas jet, and it, in turn, is giving way to the more powerful electric light; distance is annihilated, and people now travel in a few days what formerly required weary months; the self-binder takes the place of the reaping hook; the sewing machine has replaced the needle.

Now, all these are not only labor-saving inventions, they are wealth-producers also. A machine that produces as much power as twenty men, and does its work effectively, must also produce as much wealth as twenty men could do. Certainly by these and other means great numbers of individuals have accumulated vast fortunes. The aggregate wealth of the world has grown in the last fifty years as it never grew during any similar period. Yet this marvellous increase of wealth has not banished poverty. When wealth has most increased, then you will find the sharpest struggle for existence. As Henry George truly says: "The tramp comes with the locomotive, and alms-houses and prisons are as surely the marks of material progress as are costly dwellings, rich warehouses, and magnificent churches."

Upon streets lighted with gas and patrolled by uniformed policemen, beggars wait for the passers-by.

Great advantages, certainly, have resulted from the material progress we have described. None of us would care to return to the old days of the stage coach and its concomitants, and to give up the daily newspaper, with its telegrams from the ends of the earth, and all other characteristics of modern life. But the serious point is, that all this marvellous increase in productive power does not benefit all classes alike—nay, that to the lowest classes of society it is, if anything, rather injurious than otherwise. This is the question which, to the sociologist, and, indeed, to the thoughtful everywhere, constitutes a real and threatening danger. It is the riddle which the Sphinx of Fate puts to our civilization and which, not to answer, is to be destroyed. If no remedy be applied to these admitted evils, sooner or later the dangerous forces latent in the masses of the population will bring about a terrible explosion.

As the writer we have already quoted says: "To educate men who must be condemned to poverty is but to make them restive; to base on a state of most glaring social inequality political institutions, under which men are theoretically equal, is to stand a pyramid on its apex."

These dangers should, if possible, be removed, by removing, if that is at all possible, the causes. Surely injustice to any class is not necessarily inherent in the structure of society? It is hardly too much to assert that much might be done to relieve poverty, if true Christianity permeated society, and all men acted up to the requirements of the golden rule. "Do unto others as you wish them to do unto you."

"The Stony Lake Steamboats."

To the Editor of the Examiner

SIR:—The apologist for the officers of the Cruiser signing himself "N" (who does not stay his hand to express any regret for the late disaster), would, I believe, have done wisely in the interests of the captain and engineer to have kept out of print, for reading between the lines and in his own words, he condemns the boat and men in charge, even more severely than I was aware they deserved.

He does not dispute my description of the engine-room, nor the exposed condition of the machinery nor even the absence of the engineer from his post at the time of the calamity, and admits that any person may enter that room, which he says "is a dangerous place, even for the engineer, but his business is to be there." In this I cordially agree, but what I and many others complain of, is that he was not there, and on duty, where had he been, the sad affair, as "N" clearly concedes, would not have occurred. If people will build and run such craft, they surely should obtain the services of officers who are not afraid or unable to remain "in the hot, stuffy engine-room of a little steamer," with the free and fresh breezes of an open lake playing on their brows.

The careless manner of running the boat may be gathered from "N's" statement that "according to custom, if the engineer has his "steam up to the notch, and his machinery "oiled, he is allowed to take a little fresh "air and rest, and is not required to stand "guard to keep unwary passengers out of "danger, with his hand on the throttle in "case of accident." If the room is not at all times fresh and cool, this appreciation of the Captain's modus operandi, had haphazard management of his steamer, is surely as fresh and cool as the most dare-devil and devil-may-care officer could conceive. In plain words it claims that having got his human freight on board, his best with an open and dangerous engine room, with a narrow passage on either side between cabins, it then remains for each passenger male or female, wish or without familiarity with the peculiar rules of the Steamer, to look out for him or herself. Taking "N's" words as correct, one might I think reasonably expect that printed regulations would be found about the boat, pointing out that the Captain would not guarantee that the engineer would be at his post "to keep unwary passengers out of danger," and that, when steam was gotten up to the notch and the machinery oiled, the engineer would be permitted to take fresh air and rest. Had this information been up, it is safe to say the late dreadful casualty would not have happened.

Yours,
M.

Police Court.

Monday, Aug. 30th.

T. McEwan, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Chief Cooper with having been drunk in a public place on Friday last. McEwan, who is a jokey, admitted the charge, and pleaded that he had been drugged. The court allowed him to go after imposing a penalty of $2.00.

James Falls, charged by Jeremiah McCarthy with assault, was brought before the court. He pleaded not guilty, and the charge not being proven was dismissed with costs to the plaintiff.

Proposed Church Improvements.

The congregation of the George Street Methodist church contemplate making several desirable changes in the church building, preparatory to putting in their new pipe organ. Plans have been prepared and will be submitted to the Trustees for approval at their next meeting. It is proposed to take down the galleries in the tranceptsand in the rear of the church, to lower the organ loft on a level with the pulpit platform and to move the pulpit back ten feet. By doing this the vestry will be destroyed, but another will be substituted. A gallery, four seats deep, will be placed in the tranceptn. By these changes the trancept seats will all have a good view of the pulpit, while the seating in the front of the church will be made more desirable.

Horse Play.

On Sunday morning a span of horses, tethered in the sheds at the rear of St. Paul's Church, managed to get themselves into difficulties. Mr. Stewart, hearing an unusual noise in the sheds, made an investigation. He found the team referred to both lying on the ground, struggling hard to get their feet. He quickly righted matters by undoing the fastening which held the steeds, and they regained their feet, without having sustained any apparent injury. It is supposed they were bothered by flies, and that one, in stamping its fore feet, got caught in the tie rope and was thrown, and that in falling it took its mate with it.

Benefit Fall Meet.

Messrs. A. P. Morgan, Martin Connors and several other gentlemen who take an active interest in sport, are arranging for a fall meet and races on the Peterborough Driving Park in a month or six weeks for the benefit of the track. An effort will be made to eclipse, if possible, the races of Thursday and Friday. The object is a good one, while the promoters are of the right stamp, and no doubt the benefit meet will be a success.

Council Meeting.

The Town Council will hold its regular meeting this evening.

Kidnapped Arabs.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The Inter Ocean's Milwaukee special says: The two Arabs who have been hunting all over the country for two children stolen from them at Bethlehem, Pa., arrived here last night perfectly destitute, and this morning Chief Ries procured transportation for Canon Oreb, the one who speaks English, to go to Stratford, Ont., and reclaim the children which were taken charge of there on a telegram from Chief Ries. As near as can be ascertained the children were kidnapped by men who are making a show of them.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Aug. 28.—The convention called by the Trades Councils of this city to nominate a candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District, met this afternoon in secret session and nominated George Mansfield, a molder by trade and an advocate of Socialist doctrines.

Thirty Thousand Dollar Express Robbery.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Thirty thousand dollars in cash disappeared from a safe of the Adams Express Company two weeks ago, and since that time the police have been endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with the robbery. Circumstances pointed to Ralph Pratt, clerk in the Philadelphia office of the company, and on Wednesday he was arrested and locked up for a further hearing on Wednesday next. Pratt stoutly protested his innocence.

Fifty Thousand Socialists.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Fifty thousand Socialists, workmen and idlers met in Trafalgar square this afternoon and adopted resolutions denouncing the tyrany of the police and the action of the authorities in imprisoning the Socialist Williams. The proceedings were orderly. Every precaution against a disturbance had been taken by the police.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—heads will like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken two years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, prices, and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address, who has had several years experience as traveller and dealer in HIGH GRADE PIANOS and ORGANS, has settled in Peterborough, where he will offer for sale the Emerson Piano, Boston, Gerard Heintzman Piano, Toronto; Stephenson Piano, Kingston; and the famous Chickering and Steinway Piano at moderately low prices. My Organs are the best in the market, contain the most music, and cannot get out of repair for years, hence the small price at which they will sell. Terms to suit purchasers. Correspondence solicited with high salaried and commission to support. I am prepared to give by far the best terms. My music is in bindings, jackets and stationery. Intending purchasers will consult their own interests by calling at my warerooms. Piano tuning and repairing by J. W. C. will not be undersold. Pianos from $90 to $500.

MR. J. W. CROSBY

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young Author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. The interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole story.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

DAISY, the heir to Five Million Pounds.

"There is murder going to be done."

I felt the leather hangings on the walls.

I found myself seized by the collar.

A SACRIFICE.

Many years ago I had a friend, Kenneth Lambert. He was younger than myself, at that time five or six and twenty, full of aspirations for a better, purer existence than the world [illegible].

He had spent considerable time, even in days of boyish fancy, in finding some retired spot, live there alone with nature, in study and contemplation.

"Talk" his friends called it when they heard of it. But Kenneth, through all his work—and he was no idler—retained the notion of this plan. At last an unexpected legacy enabled him to leave the bar and purchase the chosen site for his new home.

It was a ruined chapel on the side of a moor, a place he had known all his life. Of the wayside chapel nothing was left but an archway. Behind this he had new walls built, dividing the house into two rooms, one over the other. When all was completed he went there. Some people I know thought him mad; his sisters laughed, saying he would soon be tired of his scheme. I believed in him. I would gladly have joined him, but a man with a wife and child is not a free agent. He can not retire into a life of contemplation, however much he may wish it.

I went to see Kenneth in his new home. The place was almost inaccessible; had not Kenneth met me on the hilltop and shown me the way over moor and moss I should never have found it. The chapel was in a copse; a wild stream brawled by it. The oak, alder and holly were restrained by a fence from encroaching on the chapel, and marsh plants thrust their stems through the bars. The nearest house was a farm half a mile away. Kenneth's bed-room was simple, his sitting-room furnished in perfect taste. On the walls some fine etchings, a plaster relief whence smiled the homely face of Socrates, on a bracket an image of Buddha. Between these was an engraving of Dore's "Vale of Tears." Books, too, there were in plenty, and the fox terrier—such were Kenneth's companions.

"And nature," he said when I made this remark.

"And here it is that you will stay, in peace and quiet," I said, "until your mission sends you forth."

"Peace and quiet!" he answered, smiling; "no, those are not for me. I have a presentiment that this ideal life will not last long. I shall marry."

I looked incredulously at him. He showed me his hand. "It is written here," he said: "I see it only too plainly. Far as it is from my desires, it is fated."

For more than six months I heard nothing of Kenneth. We went for the Winter to Torremouth, I and my wife, and, to our surprise and pleasure, found the Lamberts had the house next our own. We had a flat, and on the flat below us lived Mrs. Vernay. Mrs. Vernay was the belle of Torremouth, and justly; I never saw any woman so beautiful, never shall again see such a face. She was tall and slight, with a fair skin, blue eyes, shaded with dark lashes, and her shapely head crowned with really golden hair. No art was there; it was all nature, nature in her utmost perfection. She was young, a widow, said to be enormously rich, but had she been a beggar maid we all should have worshiped her. Young, old, single, married, there were none but paid homage at her shrine.

Frank Lambert was badly bitten by her charms. He was two-and-twenty, home for his first long leave. Mrs. Vernay encouraged him more than any of the others; perhaps being such a boy she looked on him as a safe game. I know that she stole his heart with the first glance of her violet eyes, and that he has never recovered from her influence.

We were sitting together one afternoon in the Lamberts' drawing-room when Kenneth walked in. Torremouth was not more than ten miles from his retreat, and he had walked over, not to pay his mother a passing visit, but to stay if she would have him.

Did any mother ever refuse to receive her eldest son? How the girls laughed at him, declaring their reproaches true, and saying he was very [illegible] of solitude. I felt a little surprised at him. Only one present—for "Faith" in "him," this was Grace Chealyn, the girls' friend, almost like another sister. She was staying with them, and upheld Kenneth whatever we might say.

Mrs. Vernay dined that night with the Lamberts, coming in like some beautiful being from another world, jewels glittering in her dress, and in her hair a snake that glittered with diamonds and rubies.

What [illegible] paid court to her, Kenneth [illegible]. She looked at him interest at him, saying:

"Ah! The Hermit brother. I have so wanted to see you. Have you left your solitude [illegible]

"Yes, and I shall be [illegible] quoth Mary Lambert. "The only [illegible] on that score could not be [illegible] during [illegible]

"My friend is a [illegible]," said Kenneth, looking [illegible] "and I hope [illegible] may [illegible]

"We will teach you the pleasures of society," Mrs. Vernay cried. "[illegible]

"Did I ask Kenneth Vance? I could not [illegible]

Then Grace came, asking Mrs. Vernay to write in her birthday book. And the beauty inscribed "Lily Vernay" in a clear, beautiful writing, matchless as herself.

Kenneth read it over Grace's shoulder.

"Your name is Lilith," he said to Mrs. Vernay.

"Who told you that?" she asked, and he replied:

"I know it," without offering any explanation.

"Lilith! horrid!" murmured Grace, as, with Frank, Mrs. Vernay moved toward the piano.

"I think it pretty; why horrid?" Marie asked.

"Do you know about Lilith?" her friend replied. "She was Adam's first wife, and for transgression was turned out of Paradise. She is the enemy of all little children and when Jewish babies are born the nurses write 'Lilith, avaunt!' against the wall lest she should come and kill the child. And tradition says that she still haunts the world as a beautiful woman, who entices men to [illegible] and [illegible] strangles them in her golden hair."

"A tradition," said I, "something like the legends of the Greek [illegible]."

"How do you know that there is not truth in traditions and folly in rejecting them?" Kenneth asked.

Meanwhile Mrs. Vernay was singing song after song, and with every note stealing away a bit of Frank's heart. And her music stool, Kenneth to her side, for he took his brother's place at the piano, and stood there turning over her pages—I believe it all the wrong places, for he looked more in her face than at the music.

I confess that in those days, I was vexed with Kenneth, for it seemed to have taken a sudden and inexplicable plunge into the society which a few months previously he had adjured forever. There seemed only one explanation—his ideal life had proved dull and irksome. Everywhere I met him, chiefly with Mrs. Vernay; often Frank was with them, a woe-begone, undesired third party. And the girls declared that it was a shame Kenneth, who railed against marriage, should come and steal her away from his brother.

A few women there were who disliked Mrs. Vernay. My wife was one of them, and well enough we all knew the reason. For when, with maternal pride, she one day showed off the children to the pretty widow, Mrs. Vernay turned from them with a cold look of disgust, saying, "I detest children." An insult no mother could forgive. "That unnatural woman," my wife from henceforth called her.

How lovely she looked at the Christmas ball when radiant with delight, she crossed the room to say to me, "Look at the progress of my conversation. Here is Hermit Kenneth in this frivolous scene."

To Maintain One Life

you must invest freely, but truth obliges us to say that health can be strengthened by bolstering. The testimony every lady who has used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" for nervous debility and female weakness carries conviction with it. The facts are stated in such a way that no one can doubt them. All those peculiar pains and sinking sensations which ladies suffer from, can be overcome by means of this wonderful preparation. If you are a sufferer from female weakness, don't fail to employ it. 6d50w35

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful [illegible] action on tone, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

LOCAL NEWS.

Peterborough Business College.

The following letter received by Mr. Spencer, Principal of the Peterborough Business College from a former student, is a flattering testimonial of the work being done in this institution.

Campbellford, April 19th, 1886.

Mr. Spencer

DEAR SIR,—At the completion of Finance course at your College, I feel very grateful to you for the valuable information which I have received under your instruction, especially in penmanship, and shall ever be ready to highly recommend your College as an institution where every young man may receive a practical education, and to testify of your ability as a teacher. Hoping your labors may meet with every success,

Yours very respectfully,
J. G. CLARK.

Steadily Increasing.

The circulation of the DAILY EXAMINER has been steadily increasing since its commencement. On Saturday evening the sales reached sixteen hundred and fifty. This is considerably better than we anticipated when the EXAMINER was first produced as a daily, and is both gratifying and encouraging to the publisher. The EXAMINER is the largest daily in the district, and contains more general and local news than any other daily newspaper published in Canada, outside the large cities.

Market Notes.

Garden sass was a drug on the market on Saturday morning, while other produce was offered in abundance. Prices were quoted: Butter, 15 to 18c.; eggs, 11 to 12½c.; chickens, 30 to 50c.; ducks, 75c. per pair; carrots, beets, turnips, onions, radishes, etc., 15c. per bunch; cabbage, 30 to 50c. per dozen; celery, 10c.; pumpkins, squash, cucumbers, etc., were plentiful and sold at different prices; plums, 60c. per pail; apples, 15 to 20c. per peck; crabapples, 25c. per pail; tomatoes, 50c. per peck.

No Appointment Made.

A meeting of the Committee on Appointments of the Board of Education was held on Thursday evening to consider the appointment of a female teacher to fill the vacancy in the Institute staff, caused by the resignation of Miss Robinson. Only one application was made for the position. No appointment was made, as it was thought desirable to wait till the new year before filling the vacancy.

On the Market Square.

On Saturday night the market square was almost as lively as through the day. The Salvation Army attracted an unusually large audience, and the flickering light of a street peddler's lamp blazed forth, attracting a goodly number, while two small boys engaged in a rough-and-tumble wrestle near the band stand, had a circle of admirers.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

The Newest and Best.

For the best tea Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Campers Complain.

A large number of persons who have visited the back lakes during the summer on camping expeditions, complain of the manner in which the Government is selling the islands to private parties, leaving no room for campers to pitch their tents.

Sculling Race on Clear Lake.

On Sept. 1st, the daily trip of the Cruiser will be cancelled. The steamer will leave the wharf at Lakefield at 10 a. m., and 1 p. m., enabling parties to witness the race for the Championship of Lake Katchewanook.

Excursion Pic-nics.

Several little pic-nic parties, numbering in all about seventy-five souls, went to Burleigh Falls this morning.

Peterboroughs Cricketers Again Victorious, and—The "Ottawas," with Imported Talent, Badly Defeated—A Splendid Game.

The match between the Peterboroughs and Ottawa cricket teams, played on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Saturday, after one of the finest exhibitions of cricket ever witnessed in this town, resulted in another win for Peterborough, this time by 78 runs.

The home team batted first, S. Ray and Logan facing Little and Bell (who is now a resident of Ottawa). The bowling was well on the spot and scoring slow. However, the batsmen played steadily, and it was not until 36 had been reached that Ray was dismissed by a baller. This was a good stand, but nothing to what followed on Rogers joining Logan. These batsmen gave the Ottawa men a great deal of leather hunting, boundary hits being very plentiful. All the available bowling talent was tried, Brunel, Smith, and Thomson having each a turn (sometimes two) with the ball. A separation was not effected until 120 runs had been scored, when Logan was cleaned bowled by the Halifax man with a full pitch. Logan had played a very fine innings for 42, which included nine threes. Too high praise cannot be given him for his careful, practical play. Hamilton and Rogers stayed till 140, when the spectators were treated to a procession to and from the wickets. Hamilton was bowled for a useful fifteen; H. Ray was bowled for a cypher, Stratton was caught in slips, Rogers brilliantly taken at point, and Baker at the wickets, all before 150 was reached. Logan' 60 was a very fine exhibition of good free hitting, combined with excellent defence, there being no fewer than 13 threes in the score. The remaining batsmen added 20 to the score, Cooper being not out with a well played dozen. The bowling of Thomson and Little was good, especially that of the former, but the fielding was rather weak, Little and Bell being notable exceptions.

For Ottawa Bell and Little made a most determined stand, the score standing at 54 when Little was caught in slips for a very careful 14. This rate of scoring was not kept up, the two opening batsmen alone getting double figures. Bell's 40 was an excellent innings, got by a union of stubborn defence and brilliant driving. Logan bowled grandly throughout, the innings, and was well backed up by Hamilton. On two occasions Logan bowled a wicket without removing a ball, and the want of Baker at the wickets for a portion of the innings was severely felt. The Peterborough fielding in this innings was hardly up to the mark.

Ottawa being 78 behind, had to follow on, and in playing to time lost 5 wickets for 94. Bell playing another very fine innings for 59, Little a careful innings of 13, and E. J. Smith getting 11 not out in good style. Hamilton again bowled well, and the fielding showed a vast improvement upon that of the first innings. Special mention must be made of the fielding of Mr. Long who acted as a substitute. During the time he acted as longstop, (nearly all through both innings) he did not allow a single ball to pass him.

NOTES.

Messrs. Bell and Little both played with the International team last year. The former is considered, if not the best, equal to the best bat in Canada.

Messrs. Thomson and Neale, who played with the Ottawa team, were from Halifax.

During the match an excellent lunch, to which full justice was done, was provided by the ladies, and after finishing, the home players entertained the visitors to dinner in the Grand Central. To say that the dinner was provided by Daly Bros. is sufficient guarantee for its excellence. Two or three pleasant hours were spent with toast and song, until it was time for the Ottawa men to take the home-stretch, leaving behind them the reputation of being a most gentlemanly team of cricketers.

A large number of spectators were present, who evinced great interest in the game.

Ontario Rifle Match.

Successful Competitors From the 57th Battalion.

The four representatives of the 57th Battalion who took part in the Ontario Rifle Match competition, at Toronto, last week, were again very successful, each securing a prize or prizes, while their scores were exceedingly good. This is very creditable to the representatives of the City Battalion, they having in each match to compete against at least 140 men, who had previously practiced at Wimbledon, while they had very little practice this year, only having had two or three practice matches. The prizes won were as follows: Lieut. W. H. Hill, Gibson match, 1st; range, 500 and 600 yards, he taking 53 out of a possible score of 75, which was considered extra good shooting, as the day was dull and the light uncertain. In the Extra Series Lieut. Hill also took a prize, scoring 30 out of 35, at 500 yards range, with Martini-Henry rifle. This was also very creditable shooting, when it is considered that there were over 300 entries and only 18 prizes.

Pte. D. Cameron also secured two prizes. In the Canada Company Match, the leading military match, he scoring 28 out of a possible 35, at 400 yards. He was also successful in the Tate-Brassy match, taking 71 points out of a possible 105, an exceptionally creditable score at 600 yards.

Pte. A. Blade, also secured a prize in the Canada Company Match, scoring the same as Pte. Cameron—28 out of 35.

Pte. W. A. Bell, made sharp shooting at long range, he taking a front prize in the Gordon match, scoring very high, taking 26 points out of 35 at 600 yards.

The quartette are a credit to the Battalion.

Company Drill.

No. 1 Company will drill at 7.30 this evening. All members are requested to be present.

The Fall Shooting.

The season for fall shooting, embracing wild ducks, pheasants, etc., opens on Wednesday next, 1st September.

Personal.

Mrs. Gen. A. Cox and family and Mrs. A. L. Davis, arrived home this morning, after having spent three months in visiting the principal places of interest in Europe. The party all took well, apparently benefitted by their holiday, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

Rev. I Campbell, of Listowel, who is in company with his wife has been visiting Chicago during the past two weeks, is in town visiting friends.

Mr. Thomas Fuller, Government architect, was in town to-day, inspecting the work on the new postoffice buildings.

Mr. Ashwith, of Ottawa, contractor for the new postoffice buildings, is in town.

Church Chimes.

Rev. Mr. Watt, of Warsaw, conducted the services in St. Paul's church on Sunday, morning and evening. His discourses were able and interesting, on both occasions.

Rev. Mr. McCall, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Murray St., Baptist church, on Sunday, from which he delivered eloquent and impressive sermons to large and attentive congregations.

Rev. Mr. McFarlane, of Lakefield, preached in the Charlotte St., Methodist church on Sunday.

Four to Two.

The eagle-eye of the policeman sees many a strange sight—as peculiar as those of a sportsman when he hasn't got a gun. On Saturday morning about the time ordinary birds leave their roosts, the lynx-eye of a local P. C. caught sight of an excited, but small procession wending its way toward Westcott street. Arriving at a spot on this street where the road is smooth the cavalcade halted. The winner of the Carters' Derby of Friday, was rubbed down, while his owner prepared for driving. A well-known runner of the north ward, who has received a "Mark" for good time, proceeded to divest himself of superfluous garments. The horse and man took to the track, the latter having three yards start. "Go" was given and away they went for a hundred yard dash, on which distance, it was whispered, the biped had wagered he could beat "Brown Dick." Sh—— shook his shanks, the driver of Dick plied the lash, and dust was all that could be seen for a short space. The horse won the heat, race and purse in something less than ten seconds. The dash being decided, breakfast was the next consideration and the gathering dispersed.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

The Coming Concert

Of Sept. 2nd., gives every indication of success. Miss. Delaney has spared nothing in order to give the people of Peterborough a musical treat of the first order. The contingent from the New England Conservatory, Boston, are in themselves sufficient to guarantee a success among the most critical. Miss Delaney will also be ably assisted by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre and Miss Bloomfield. Comment on Mr. T. Dunn is unnecessary as all who have once heard his mellow baritone voice in soul-stirring songs, can fully acquiesce to. Mr. C. H. Geale will also contribute several vocal selections which will be a welcomed addition. A full orchestra and Heintzman Boudoir Grand will also aid in the success of the concert.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" Indian kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

The Regatta.

Owing to the regatta on Clear Lake, for the championship of Lake Katchewanook, the steamer Fairy will not make her regular trip on Wednesday, Sept. 1st, but will make two trips to the scene of the regatta, leaving Lakefield at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., returning in time to catch the evening train for Peterborough.

Found the Watch.

The watch which J. Collins, of Port Hope, supposed was stolen from him at the G. T. R. station, on Friday, was found at the Driving Park on Saturday, by Mr. Harry Gordon, caretaker of the grounds, and was forwarded to the owner.

Hopeful.

The friends of Mrs. C. W. Sawers will be pleased to learn that she is progressing most favorably. The surgeons in attendance have every hope of her recovery and the saving of the right leg, and have now better hopes for saving the left one.

The Separate School Re-Opened.

The Murray St. Separate School re-opened this morning for the ensuing term, with a fair attendance.

To Parents.

P. B. C.

[Advertisement.]—The schools are about opening for another year's work and we respectfully ask permission to direct your attention to the following points, which we would be pleased to have you consider and decide upon by the first of the month.

Do you purpose that your boy shall some day enter business?

Has he any desire to enter business?

Then, in the light of intelligence, can you answer me why are you keeping him at school all these years? If he is 14 or 15 years of age, he is old enough to receive a business training in just those subjects that he will require to use in Real Life. The sooner he gets started in his life-work the more certain he is of succeeding quickly, providing he has had the proper previous training.

Has your boy got a dislike to study or to school? By sending him to the Business College, where business and study go hand-in-hand, all that distaste will disappear in the charm of seeing his knowledge of writing, arithmetic, accounts, law, order, principle, etc., applied to actual business work.

It is said one cannot be too good a scholar in any calling. True, but there is scarcely a public school subject that requires such attention for practical use as is given to it.

A business man needs to know how to speak correctly, how to write a good business letter, the laws of trade, the theory of accounts at least, the laws of supply and demand, of production and consumption, money, its value and uses; advertising, its subtle science and effective art; detection of counterfeit money, etc. He should write a good, rapid hand, and be almost instantaneous in calculations, such as finding cost price from retail, or retail per price, percentage added from cost price per dozen. These are subjects every boy should know when he enters business life. How many of them is your boy studying?

Our tuition fees are paltry in comparison with the cost of a course in arts, science, theology, medicine, etc.

We will be glad to have a talk with you on the matter at any time. The sooner the better for your boy. Call at the College from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., or at residence, Charlotte street, outside of these hours.

D. J. BANNELL SAWYER,
Principal.

For five years Master of Commercial Science in the Provincial Normal and Model Schools.

Why will you suffer when 25c. will buy a bottle of West's Pain King, and one dose will cure the worst case of colic or cramps, and a few doses will cure any summer complaint, dysentry, diarrhœa or flux. All druggists. d&w

BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

THE GOVERNMENT THREE TIMES SUSTAINED IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—In the Commons this evening Sir J. E. Gorst, Under-Secretary for India, defended the annexation of Burmah on the ground that it was necessary for the safety of India. He stated that as soon as the cold season sets in the Government intends to mass a force in Burmah to subjugate the country.

The Radicals supported two amendments to the address condemning the annexation of Burmah. The amendments were negatived by majorities of 76 and 73 respectively.

Mr. Clark (Radical) moved that the debate on the address be adjourned.

Lord Churchill opposed the motion, stating that it was not conceived with a view to public advantage, and that the Government desired to express its opinion to that effect. [Cries of "Withdraw."]

Mr. Illingsworth (Liberal) likened Lord Churchill to "Satan correcting sin." [Laughter]. A lively scene followed.

The House finally divided, with the following result: For adjourning 12; against 197.

Lord Churchill then agreed to adjourn the debate.

The Speaker ruled out of order Mr. Picton's amendment declaring the result of the recent electoral contest, while it showed that the country objected to the land purchase scheme, did not decide the question of a Parliament in Dublin.

It has been arranged that Mr. Sexton shall move an amendment on the report stage of the address.

TO REPRESS MOONLIGHTERS.

The Mission of General Buller to Ireland —A Boycotted Hotel.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—Gen. Sir Revers Buller left Dublin this morning for Tralee. In an interview relative to his duties in county Kerry he said: "I wish to distinctly state that I have not accepted a dragooning mission; nor shall I assist in evictions. My task will be simply to repress moonlighters, and ensure the safety of life and property. I propose to effect this by means of flying patrols, who shall be able to communicate speedily with a regularly organised system of supports. I do not know whether my plan will prove a success, but I mean to do my duty."

A despatch from Castle Island, County Kerry, says a farmer named Brosnan was shot by moonlighters last night. The wound is in the leg, and is not considered dangerous. The moonlighters, after leaving Brosnan, visited the house of Farmer Rooney. Entering the dwelling, they pulled Rooney out of bed, fired several shots over his head, and forced him to swear he would not pay his rent. The police heard the shots, but failed to make any arrests. Gen. Buller will investigate these outrages. A gunboat has been placed in the River Shannon to enable Gen. Buller to visit the coast quickly.

Four arrests have been made in connection with the moonlight outrages in Kerry. Gen. Buller is at Killarney, and has made his headquarters at the Railway Hotel. It is proposed to boycott the house because its proprietor received Gen. Buller as a guest.

A Bailiff Clubbed to Death.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—A bailiff has been nearly beaten to death near Listowell, County Kerry. An information has been sworn against a station-master, who is suspected to be one of the assailants.

UNFORTUNATE MODESTY.

A Young Man Left to Drown Because Two Girls Were Over Sensitive.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Harry D. Smith of Chelsea was drowned at Lake Idlewild, Wexham, on Friday. Smith, who was 17 years old, was spending his vacation. On Friday he went in swimming with companions, was taken with cramps and called for aid, but the boys thought he was trying to fool them and only laughed at him. Smith repeated that he was not shamming and begged them to save his life. Finally his mates recognized his danger and endeavored to secure assistance. Not far from the spot where Smith was struggling was a boat containing two young men and two young women. The former started to row to Smith's assistance, but the young women were suddenly smitten with a senseless modesty and refused to allow their escorts to row near to Smith. "You shall not; you shall not," they screamed, "take that naked man into this boat." The young men were compelled to row the females ashore before helping Smith, and on reaching the spot again Smith had sank for the last time. His body was recovered in an hour, but all efforts at resuscitation were futile. While the body was being recovered Smith's mother was suffering with violent hysterics on shore, requiring the attendance of a physician and several helpers to hold her back from the water and stifle her screams. At the same time one of the over-modest young women was pacing the depot platform biting her lips and occasionally dashing away a tear.

THE RETURN OF THE PRINCE.

Alexander's Joyful Welcome By the People of Bulgaria.

RUSTCHUK, Aug. 30.—Prince Alexander has been warned to take precautions against possible attempts on his life by Panslavist fanatics and followers of the Metropolitan Clement, whose party has ramifications in the interior of Bulgaria. Prince Alexander arrived at Sistova at 8 o'clock this morning, his progress through the town was one continuous triumph. The people lifted the Prince from his carriage and carried him on their shoulders to the Greek church, where a "Te Deum" was sung. The Prince afterwards started for Tirnova and arrived there this evening.

Russian Papers on the Restoration.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Russian newspapers take a pessimistic view of Prince Alexander's return to Bulgaria and say it will not affect the fulfilment of the measures decided upon for the settlement of the affairs of that country; although it may perhaps defer their accomplishment. The Novoe Vremya considers Prince Alexander's reinstatement on the throne as very questionable.

Entertained by Socialists.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The delegates who were recently sent to this country by the French Government to study British industries were banquetted by the Social Democrats this evening in the political hall of the Holborn restaurant. Fully a dozen different nations were represented. Henry Hyndman presided and a navvy in working clothes occupied the vice chair.

Mr. Beecher Entertained at Breakfast.

GLASGOW, Aug. 30.—The Congregational Baptist and Evangelical Union Association gave a breakfast to-day to Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Dr. Ferguson presided. Mr. Beecher narrated his early religious struggles, and dwelt upon the difficulty he experienced in breaking loose from the old Calvinistic theology.

NO HEROISM IN IT.

Judge Duffy to Larry Donovan—The Jumper Fined $10.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Donovan was again arraigned in the Police Court this afternoon, but the authorities could bring no evidence to show that he had actually jumped from the bridge. Justice Duffy said that in his opinion Donovan was a fraud and had not jumped from the bridge. Donovan said he did make the jump, and the justice then ordered a policeman to make a charge against the prisoner of impeding the traffic of the bridge. An affidavit was made out accordingly. When the case was again brought up Justice Duffy reiterated the opinion that the man was a fraud, "but," said he, "this thing of jumping off high places, going over cataracts at Niagara, etc., by loons must be stopped. We read of them doing these things in tights, in barrels and wanting to drop from balloons. There is no heroism in it. Those men pander to the morbid taste now prevalent and go around and live in idleness. Look at these big loafers," he added, "that ought to be breaking stones or sawing wood. This thing is a crime. A brave man would not do it. It is simply brute courage that prompts and no one but an addlepated loon without an ounce of brains in his head would undertake it. If I were to let this man go, several other loons would try to do better than he is said to have done. Some other fellow would dive off and another fellow would put himself in an india rubber bag and be thrown off. I've a notion," said the justice severely, "to send you to the island for six months as a vagrant, so that you would be where you couldn't harm yourself or anybody else. As it is I'll fine you $10 for having interrupted the travel on the bridge." "Thank you," said Donovan, extending his hand towards the justice. "I don't want to shake hands with you," replied Judge Duffy. "I don't think you're a hero at all, even if you did jump, as you pretend." The fine was paid and Donovan walked out of court considerably crestfallen.

SWEEPSTAKES REGATTA.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A portion of the trial heats to decide who shall be the contestants in the International sculling sweepstakes on Wednesday were rowed to-day. The weather was scorching hot.

In the first heat Neil Matterson of Australia and Wallace Ross were the contestants. The course was from Batterseа to Hammersmith. Matterson got an advantage of a few feet in the first half minute, but before the first furlong had been covered Ross drew up level with him. At the end of the next furlong Ross led by a length, and when a mile and a half or almost half the distance had been rowed he was two lengths in advance. Directly after reaching this point Ross almost stopped and Matterson went ahead, and at Putney Bridge led by three lengths. After this the race was over, Matterson winning leisurely in 18 mins. 11 secs.

Bubear then rowed over the course, scoring a bye.

The course for the second heat was from Hammersmith to Kew. The contestants were John Teemer of McKeesport, Pa., and Geo. J. Perkins of England. Teemer was the favorite, 5 to 1 being offered on him. Teemer at the start rowed rather a snatchy stroke, enabling Perkins, who had the best water, to gain a slight lead in the first few hundred yards. Teemer then settled down to a longer and steadier stroke, and soon got on a level with Perkins. He drew steadily ahead, and when Barnes Bridge was reached he led the Englishman by four lengths. Teemer won eventually without effort, finishing three lengths ahead. Time 18 mins. 40 secs.

The third heat was between Wm. Beach, the Australian champion of the world, and G. W. Lee of Newark, N.J., the course was from Kew to Hammersmith. Lee led by a couple of lengths the first quarter of a mile, but after that was beaten. At Barnes Bridge, Beach drew away and won the heat easily by three lengths. The betting was 10 to 1 in favor of Beach. Twice during the heat Lee got over in Beach's water and the second time he fouled him. Beach claimed foul and it was allowed.

To morrow Bubear will meet Beach and Matterson will meet Teemer.

THE PAMPHLETEER.

Mr. Gladstone Adds a Postscript to His Latest Home Rule Manifesto.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Mr. Gladstone's pamphlet is the subject of much discussion. On the whole, however, it has fallen flat and nobody expects it will have any weight in gaining recruits for the Home Rule cause. The Unionist papers are bitterer than ever and declare that the pamphlet is only another attempt to encourage the disruption of the empire. Tories and Unionists are terribly sarcastic over the abandonment by Mr. Gladstone of his land bills and declare that it is an evidence of the weakness of his cause.

A postscript to the pamphlet dated Aug. 22 has been published, replying in a measure to the government's Irish policy as laid down by Lord Churchill. Mr. Gladstone says:

Since these pages were written the principal intentions of the ministers in respect to Ireland have been announced. The statesmen who in January deemed coercive measures an absolute necessity do not now propose them, although agrarian crime has rather increased and Ireland has been perturbed (so they said) by the proposal of Home Rule. This is a heavy blow to coercion and a marked sign of progress. I am constrained to say that on no other head do the announcements supply any cause for congratulation.

1. Large Irish subjects, ripe for treatment, are to be referred to the Commissioner of Inquiry. This is a policy (while social order is in question) of almost indefinite delay.

2. Moreover, while a commission is to inquire whether the rates of judicial rents are or are not such as can be paid, the aid of the law for levying the present rents in November has been specially and emphatically promised. This is a marked discouragement to remission of rent and a powerful stimulant to evictions.

3. A project has been sketched of imposing upon the State the payment of all moneys required to meet the difference between these actual rents and what the land can fairly bear. This project is in principal radically bad, and it would be an act of rapine on the treasury of the country.

4. Whereas the greatest evil of Ireland is that its magisterial and administrative systems are felt to be other than Irish, no proposal is made for the reconstruction of what is known as the Dublin Castle government.

5. It is proposed to spend large sums of public money on public works of all kinds for the material development of Ireland under English authority and Dublin Castle administration. This plan is (1) in the highest degree wasteful, (2) it is unjust to the British tax payer, and (3) it is an obvious attempt to divert the Irish nation by pecuniary inducement from it honorable aim of national self-government, and will as such be resented.

6. The limitation of local government in Ireland to what may at this moment be desired for Great Britain is just to none of our nationalities, rests upon no recognized principle, and is especially an unjust limitation of the Irish national desire. In my opinion such a policy for dealing with the Irish question ought not to be and cannot be adopted.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived. It would not be safe at this season of the year to go a single day without a supply of West's Pain King in the house. Ready at a moment's notice and costs but 25 c. All druggists. d&w

DUBLIN.

Pictures of Ireland's Capital—Its Buildings and its People.

From the Chicago News.

Dublin would be the most beautiful city in Europe but for two things—its buildings and its people—says George Moore, the Irish novelist, in the Paris Figaro. The aristocracy, so-called, live in tumble-down villas, which, though their white walls sparkle in the sunshine, prove when approached to be painted shells surrounded by gardens in ruins. The inhabitants of all these villas are a set of broken-down landlords who have been compelled to close their country houses and come to town for economy's sake; widows living on the dowry paid them by their elder brothers, and impecunious gentlemen who live on the mortgages that they or their ancestors have placed on the land, for in Ireland, with the exception of a few distillers and brewers who live on the drunkenness of the people, there is no possible mode of obtaining money save from the peasant farmer. The undeniable axiom that capital is only a useless value, the toil of the worker being unpaid, is in other countries mitigated and almost lost sight of in the multiplicity of avenues through which money must flow before it falls into the pockets of the rich. But in Ireland the direct and rude transfer of money from the horny hand of the peasant to the delicate fingers of the landlord has a horrible smell of shame.

In Ireland the landlord does absolutely nothing save to grab all the money that the peasant can squeeze together. I say, as an Irish landlord, I have always done, now do, and will continue to do just as other landlords, for it is an impossibility for me as for the rest of my class to do otherwise; but that does not prevent me from acknowledging the fact that it is a worn-out system, at war with the nineteenth century and something that should be at once abolished. In Ireland every chicken that goes into the pot, every glass of champagne drank, every silk robe that rustles on the street, every rose worn at the ball, is so much squeezed out of the misery of the peasant's hovel. A few years ago this tribute—for that is what it is—was accepted without a murmur, just as feudalism or slavery was accepted long ago in other lands. But now the scales have fallen from the eyes of the nation and the sore is laid bare in all its ugliness, just as if the inner garment had been removed from the national body, revealing the flesh covered with sears and pustules. This wound, which hitherto was only visible to a few, you now see everywhere, in the most squalid districts of the city, as well as in the most elegant and fashionable quarters.

See that man yonder, ill-bred and dressed in a worn-out suit, smoking a black pipe at the end of the weed-invaded terrace of the villa that he has rented for the season. He is engaged in conversation with his daughter, a young girl whose face is the picture of sadness, and who is now wearing her best dress, that skirt of torn, red cashmere, buttoned at the back. She is telling him that he ought to give her a new costume to go to some tennis or garden party in the neighborhood. He growls and tells her that he thinks it would be much better for her not to accept any invitations to tennis parties for the present year.

"What," she answers, "do you want me, then, to die an old maid? You do not give me the least chance to catch a husband; I am not allowed to go to a single place of amusement, and no young man is ever invited to the house."

At last the father with a groan draws forth from his pocket a roll of bank notes, black, greasy, and ragged-edged notes that have been torn and cut in halves and pasted together again; notes that smell of chimney sweeps and hovels, of the sweat of the fields and ditches; notes that have been spat upon for good luck by their owners at fairs; notes that are an epitome of the hunger and suffering of the peasant in the west of Ireland.

The girl goes off skipping and hopping with three or four of the greasy notes to buy a new dress and to dream of the husband she will never get, while the father relapses into his dark revery, gnashes his teeth at the Land League and dreams of the possibility of extracting from his tenants in the autumn what they refused to pay him in the spring and I, behold the picture—the greasy notes, the young girl hunting for a husband, the broken-down landlord, and the half-tumbling villa, framed by its garden of weeds—I read in all that, as in the epitaph of a tombstone, the history of a type of civilization about to vanish forever.

NOT A HERO.

Apropos of the following despatch, which has appeared in most of the daily papers, a well-known Northwest volunteer officer, writes to the Montreal Star charging that Gabriel Dumont was by no means the hero he has been represented: "Five hundred French Canadians visited Woodcrest, S. L., Sunday, and presented Gabriel Dumont, who was the fighting lieutenant under Louis Riel in the Northwestern rebellion, with a handsome gold watch."

The officer who signs himself Anti-Fraud says: In justice to many a brave though mistaken rebel of 1885 I ask permission, through the columns of your valuable paper to correct an error into which very many in the east have fallen in reference to Gabriel Dumont and his actions. Some people have even gone so far as to recognize his supposed bravery by a presentation. The facts, well known by the people where he lived, are that at Fish Creek and Batoche he not only was not the courageous, skilful fighting leader of the rebels, but utterly failed under fire to show even ordinary pluck. At Fish Creek he ran away very soon after his first fire was replied to by our advanced scouts and was met well on his way back to Batoche (18 miles) by the rebel reinforcements just coming out. This party of about thirty-two men he tried his best to persuade to turn back, but they, in spite of his remonstrations, not only came on, but compelled him to come also. So shameful had been his conduct that he had to defend himself from the charges made against him before the executive council. During the four days at Batoche his almost constant desire was to go to the camp in the rear to send up more men, and at no time during the fighting hours was he prominent among the rebel leaders. But, as soon as fighting at night was over, he was prominent enough threatening the sisters and priests at the mission, and looking for our wounded, which he thought were secreted there by these kind ladies and reverend fathers. But for the interference and threats of an Indian it is altogether probable that the church in Canada would to-day have to mourn for another martyr, in the person of Rev. Father Moulin, sacrificed to the cowardly nature of Gabriel Dumont. If it is absolutely necessary for a certain section of people to fall down and worship some of the late rebels, for pity's sake let them at least adore some one of acknowledged bravery, and holding at least a respectable position among his fellow-citizens of the West.

A Baltimore Railway War.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 30.—Return tickets to Cincinnati over the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway were sold on the streets here last night and to-day for twenty-five cents. This is the lowest rate ever known in Pittsburg, the regular fare to Cincinnati being $9.50, and is the result of a fight between the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis roads.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Our citizens recently had an opportunity of listening to a lecture on woman's rights and duties. The view enunciated therein did not appear to have been favorable to the spread of what we may term modern views of woman's rights. The lecturer was decidedly opposed to woman taking a prominent part in politics, and seems to have entertained it in his mind that they knew nothing of political economy, or the science of civil government. This, he held, must debar them from taking an active part in politics. We do not object to the lecturer's reasoning, but we will give our readers some facts on this subject.

It is, perhaps, not generally known that there are very many supporters of woman suffrage in the present British Parliament. It is said that 163 Conservatives out of the total number of 305, 93 Gladstonians out of 176, 25 Liberal Unionists out of 75, and 37 out of the 80 Nationalists, are favorable to the extension of the suffrage of women. It cannot be considered, therefore, as a party question. The movement has received a tremendous impetus by the advocacy of Mrs. Fawcett, wife of the late Postmaster-General of England. Mrs. Fawcett is herself an authoress of works on political economy which are accepted as clever and able explanations of the science of civil government. She is a talented, well-informed and earnest woman, by no means a "blue-stocking," but one whose motives are pure and whose moral force is coupled with intellect of a very high order.

Having at its head an able writer and speaker like Mrs. Fawcett, the cause of woman suffrage is sure to advance steadily.

It is a mistake to suppose that women if enfranchised would not imitate the sterner sex, but vote according to their feelings, and leap from one side to the other in politics as occasion served or as impulse drove them. During the recent elections in Britain, there were to be found women Home Rulers, women Gladstonians, women Conservatives and women Hartingtonians. They were in fact as clearly divided in opinion as the men and according to the views they held did noble service. At no former election in England was the influence of woman found so great. The Primrose League did much to place the Conservatives in power and many of its members are women. For ourselves we would greatly deprecate the introduction of politics into the household, if women would be likely to act independently of their husbands. This would introduce an element of discord into the home which would be very disagreeable and annoying. At the same time, if they voted just as their brothers and husbands would, in the end the extension of woman suffrage would make no material difference or affect the full returns. However when we find 300 members of the British House of Commons in favor of woman suffrage, the question of its adoption is only a question of time, whether it be for evil or for good. Mrs. Fawcett claims "women would be actuated by moral considerations, by a sense of duty, and by a love of justice and therefore," she says, "She desires to see the suffrage extended to every duly qualified woman."

Personal.

Mr. W. Giroux, who for the past two months has been with Major Gray's surveying party on Lake Huron, is home for a holiday.

Miss Bolton left town to-day on a visit to friends in Mattawa.

Mr. W. Curran, of the Orillia News-Letter, gave us a call to-day. He was on his way way to Clear lake, where he will row to-morrow for the championship of Lake Katchewanook.

The Rev. A. Emric de St. Dalmas passed through town this morning homeward from Bailieboro, where he had been baptizing several individuals in connection with the Baptist missionary labors at that place.

The Rev. T. S. McAul will conduct the services in the Murray street Baptist Church on Sunday next.

Miss Kate Bertram, second daughter of Mr. John Bertram, leaves town this evening for Brantford, where she will attend the Young Ladies' College of that place. Mr. Bertram will accompany his daughter to the city.

Peterborough Business College.

NORWOOD, April 20th, 1886.

Having attended the Peterborough Business College for four months, I take great pleasure in testifying to the fact that this Institution by virtue of the thoroughness and practical character of its work has been of immense benefit to me as well as to all persons who have been fortunate enough to come within range of its influence. The principal, Mr. Bannell Sawyer has had many years experience in actual business and also in the teaching profession, and is therefore well qualified to fill the important position which he at present so ably occupies.

Respectfully yours,
P. J. O'SHEA.

To Parents.

P. B. C.

(Advertisement.)—The schools are about open[illegible] next week, and we respectfully ask permission to direct your attention to the following points, which we would be pleased to have you consider and decide upon by the first of the month.

Do you purpose that your boy shall some day enter business?

Has he any desire to enter business?

Then, in the light of intelligents, can you answer me why are you keeping him at school all these years? If he is 14 or 15 years of age, he is old enough to receive a business training in just those subjects that he will require to use in Real Life. The sooner he gets started in his life-work the more certain he is of succeeding quickly, providing he has had the proper previous training.

Has your boy got a dislike to study or to school? By sending him to the Business College, where business and study go hand-in-hand, all that distaste will disappear in the charm of seeing his knowledge of writing, arithmetic, accounts, law, order, principle, etc., applied to actual business work.

It is said one cannot be too good a scholar in any calling. True, but there is scarcely a public school subject that requires such attention for practical use as is given to it.

A business man needs to know how to speak correctly, how to write a good business letter, the laws of trade, the theory of accounts at least, the laws of supply and demand, of production and consumption, money, its value and uses; advertising, its subtle science and effective art; detection of counterfeit money, etc. He should write a good, rapid hand, and be almost instantaneous in calculations, such as finding cost price from retail, or retail per price, percentage added from cost price per dozen. These are subjects every boy should know when he enters business life. How many of them is your boy studying?

Our tuition fees are paltry in comparison with the cost of a course in arts, science, theology, medicine, etc.

We will be glad to have a talk with you on the matter at any time. The sooner the better for your boy. Call at the College from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or at residence, Charlotte street, outside of these hours.

A Printer Goes Brodie One Better.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Larry Donovan, a printer in the office of R. K. Fox, for a wager of $500 at 5.30 this morning jumped off Brooklyn bridge at a spot fifteen or twenty feet higher than where Brodie dropped from. On coming to the surface of the water he swam nearly a hundred yards to his boat. He was arrested on landing and fined $10 by Justice Duffy for obstructing traffic on the bridge.

A Bicyclist's Perilous Feat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—N. T. Robertson, a well known bicyclist of this city, and two friends went to Cabin John Bridge to-day to ascertain the truth of the story published a day or two ago of the riding of a bicyclist across the bridge on the coping. Careful inquiry proved the story was a hoax. Robertson thereupon determined to accomplish the feat. The coping is a wall 800 feet long with a flat top 15 inches wide. On the left the wall is about three feet above the roadway of the bridge, and on the right at the middle about 125 feet above the rocky gorge below. Robertson successfully accomplished the perilous feat in three minutes.

The Regatta Committee of the New York Yacht Club has issued the program for the races for the America's Cup as follows:

The Regatta Committee have this day been notified by the America's Cup Committee that the yacht Mayflower has been selected by them to defend the America's Cup, and that they have also agreed with Lieut. Henn that the races with the Galatea shall take place, barring unavoidable accidents to either yacht, as follows:

Sept. 7.—At 10 a.m., over the New York Yacht Club course.

Sept. 9.—At 10.30 a.m., twenty miles to wind ward or to leeward and back from Scotland Lightship or from Sandy Hook Lightship, as will be determined on the morning of the race and, if necessary.

Sept. 11.—At 10.30 a.m., triangular course of forty miles outside, starting from the Scotland Lightship.

Each race must be made in seven hours.

A SACRIFICE.

[CONCLUDED.]

"I wish I was at the chapel, Macbeth himself remarked, and certainly no man looked more unsuited to a ball room. His [illegible] during his [illegible] life, and [illegible] thought I never before had noticed in him.

"Why on earth don't you go back?" said I. "Nothing has surprised me more than your appearance here."

"I knew it would be so," he answered. "I had to come."

Then in that incongruous place he began telling me his experiences in that wild solitude.

"I began to think my life there useless, a mere indulgence of my own tastes. I read and thought, but the mysteries of life seemed as unfathomable as ever. One evening I felt myself no longer alone. I saw nothing, I heard nothing, yet I absorbed this command into my being: 'Go into the world, for there is a life you must save, a demon you must vanquish, and the life you have led has given you power to fight and conquer. The world will mock, and your friends misunderstand you but heed them not. By this token know both destroyer and destroyed.' Then across the floor of my room glided a glittering snake, unlike anything we see upon English moors. And I, obeying the command, came here to find the destroyer."

At that moment he trembled, touched my arm and bid me look across the room. There stood Frank and Mrs. Vernay—she with the jeweled snake twisted in her hair, he with another, a bracelet of hers, clasped around his wrists; some jokes had passed between them, and she had slipped it on.

"My dear Kenneth, these are fancies, nothing but fancies," I said, for his manner alarmed me. "You can't think that anything more dangerous than a boyish love affair can result from Frank's friendship with Mrs. Vernay."

"Lilith!" was all he said.

"Tell me, how did you guess her name?"

"It came to me as that command came, when I saw her write," he replied. Then crossing the room, he asked the beauty to dance, taking her away from Frank.

I believe bets passed between the men at the Torremouth Clubs as to which of the brothers would marry beautiful Mrs. Vernay. I confess I wondered myself whether Kenneth would relinquish his noble schemes and marry like any other ordinary mortal. I rarely saw him without Mrs. Vernay. He rode with her, drove with her, spent long hours in her pretty drawing-room, and walked with her on the esplanade. I asked him what was coming from all this, and had for reply, "If I don't marry her, Frank will"—an answer which at the time struck me as strange.

And one day Frank came to my wife to pour into her sympathetic ears wild, fierce ravings against his brother. Why had Kenneth talked all that nonsense about celibacy and seclusion when he came and took away the only woman Frank ever would, ever could love?

And thus we heard of Kenneth's engagement to the beautiful Mrs. Vernay.

All the men in the place envied him, but never in my life have I seen so grave and gloomy a lover. Yet, like all the other men who met her, he seemed to adore her. I never heard any one question his devotion. Perhaps their eyes were blinded. I know we all pitied Frank. And the time passed merrily by to the wedding day, Mrs. Vernay growing daily more beautiful.

Once she passed me as I walked with a friend on the esplanade.

"Good heavens!" he exclaimed, "what a likeness!"

"To whom?" I asked.

"To a peasant girl in the Black Forest who a few years ago created a great stir in her village. All the young fellows were in love with her; she married one of them, and in a few days later he was found dead in his bed, the bride having vanished no one knew whither."

"An unpleasant story," I said, little pleased to notice Kenneth near me, who must have heard every word.

"Of course, it is only a chance likeness," said my friend.

"Lilith" murmured Kenneth, as he passed me.

A week or two later and there was a fashionable wedding in Torremouth, dismal as are all such festivities, Kenneth had begged his might be quiet, but Mrs. Vernay laughed in his face.

"You ridiculous boy!" she said; "people will think you are ashamed of me."

The only member of the family not present was Frank. He had rejoined his regiment.

It was over—breakfast, speeches and all—and I was refreshing myself by a walk near the sea.

A total stranger came up and addressed me, inquiring about that morning's wedding. He declared to have been a spectator in the church. Among other things, he asked me the bride's name.

"Mrs. Vernay," I replied.

"Ah," he said, "I thought I knew her. May I ask you, where you met her?"

"At Cayton. She came out as a bride—after three weeks—" He paused, but I begged him to go on.

"Ah, I see you are mistaken. She came out as a widow—after three years. Her husband died in Africa, and I have seen her portrait in an illustrated paper. Her name is Lilith Vernay."

I asked no further questions—a voice seemed to whisper in my ear, "Lilith!" and the stranger went on his way.

But I forget my proceedings, as the days passed, bringing cheering and good news of Kenneth and his wife, as they traveled in the lake district. We talked of them, of the weather they must be enjoying, and speculated as to their future home, as yet undetermined.

One night after my wife had gone to bed I was lingering over the fire. Carelessly I raised my eyes toward a mirror hung above the mantlepiece, and then my attention was riveted by the reflection that met my eyes. It was no repetition of the room I was in, but a faithful picture of Kenneth's retreat at the chapel.

I saw the door open and a flood of pale moonlight stream into the room. I saw Kenneth and his wife enter as from a long journey, and I noticed her pausing round the room looking at his treasures while he lit a lamp. She had something in her hand gleaming against her dress, and I noticed how she stole behind him as he bent over the light. Then a cloud of vapor arose from the lamp, and he turned to face her, stern and unyielding. She threw herself kneeling, praying at his feet, but he never flinched; then she rose, changing into a tall, thin, pale figure, with a death-like face and hollow, gleaming eyes. All the pride fell, and with a cry this being rushed through the half-open door into the moonlight. The vision haunted me, though in every way possible I tried reasonably to account for it.

The next morning I left Torremouth by the earliest train, stopped at the station nearest Kenneth's retreat, and with some little difficulty found my way to the chapel. All was lonely and deserted, yet I seemed to note hanging round the room faint traces of that smoke-like vapor.

I returned to Torremouth telling myself that it was but fancy, and that Kenneth, with his wife, was in Westmoreland.

At home, to my surprise, I found Frank waiting to see me.

"I have seen Kenneth," were his first words.

"When?" I cried.

"He came to me last night; I have seen her, too" (lowering his voice), "in her true form. I know now all that he did for me. See—he gave me this."

It was a noose made of a thick coil of a woman's golden hair.

From that time to this I have never again seen Kenneth Lambert, nor has any one else.

Now, perhaps you may call me a silly old fool for thinking anything supernatural lay behind these circumstances. You may call Kenneth mad, as many do, and find excellent reasons to account for everything else.

I have told neither more nor less than I saw. Put what interpretation you please upon it, I can offer none.

Was she Lilith?

I can not tell. But she cost the life (no matter how it ended) of one of the noblest men I ever knew. And Frank still suffers from having once been beneath her influence.

(Concluded.)

To Maintain One Life

you must invent twenty, but truth can never be strengthened by bolstering. The testimony every lady who has used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" for nervous debility and female weakness carries conviction with it. The facts are stated in such a way that no one can doubt them. All those peculiar pains and sinking sensations which ladies suffer from, can be overcome by means of this wonderful preparation. If you are a sufferer from female weakness, don't fail to employ it. 6d50w35

Heat and Cold

Is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's Nervoline exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficent, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A ten cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spiralean trusses made in York State, costing me $50. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 20 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on worthless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

LOCAL NEWS.

Lacrosse Excursion.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club have issued posters announcing its first annual excursion, to Idyl Wild, on Monday next, Sept. 6th, per steamer Golden Eye. In addition to the ordinary pleasures of a trip down the river, music by West's quadrille band will add to the enjoyment of the occasion, by providing excellent music for those who may wish to dance on the boat and at the pavilion at Idyl Wild. A splendid programme of sports will be engaged of on the pic-nic grounds. The Riversides have been very energetic since their organization and have been victorious in every match they have engaged in. They deserve to be well patronized, as no doubt they will be.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

True Blue Excursion.

Early this morning a large number of young people, with light spirits and heavy hampers, boarded the Golden Eye, which carried the True Blues' excursion to Campbellstown. The True Blues' annual excursion is invariably a splendid success, and to-day's, from every indication, would seem to be especially so. Several who could not get away this morning, drove down to the pic-nic grounds during the afternoon.

Lacrosse.

The champion "Checkers," of Beaverton, have accepted the challenge of the ever-victorious Riversides to play next Friday on the Riverside Park. The band will be engaged for the occasion. The game will, no doubt, be a fine exhibition. The question is, will the Checkers spoil the Riversides' record, or will the local champions defeat the district champions.

Waste Water Well.

The Churchwardens of St. John's Church propose digging a well on Brock street, adjoining the church property, and on the side of the hill where the soil is sandy, in which to run the waste water from the organ pump. The Council has given its consent, on condition that the well shall be properly covered, and it is probable that the work will be commenced immediately.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th inst. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

The Schools.

The chairman of the School Board, the Inspector, Mr. Dumble and Mr. Stratton, members of the Board, were engaged this morning in locating the teachers of the Central School. The Institute teachers having been removed back to the large building, changes had to be made.

Policeman's Pic-nic.

When a policeman's not engaged in his employment—his employment, in maturing his constabulary plans; his capacity for innocent enjoyment is as great as any other man's—honest man's. So sings P. C. McGinty as he hies away on a week's holidays.

The last two accounts were ordered to be paid, while the others were referred to the Finance Committee.

Reports were called for, and Mr. Rutherford read the following

REPORT OF THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg to report and recommend to supply the Fire Department as follows: (1) Hook and ladder waggon, cost not to exceed $250; also equip same with ladders, buckets and axes. (2) Hose and salvage waggon, cost not over $150. (3) One set of swinging harness, cost $25. (4) To furnish two bedrooms with bedroom sets, plain, (no carpets), also washing and urinal appliances, cost not to exceed $150. All of the above works to be tendered for and to be approved of by the Committee, and adopted by the Council.

All of which is respectfully solicited.

A. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

August 30th, 1886.

Mr. Rutherford and Mr. McClelland spoke in favor of adopting the report.

Mr. McNaughton thought the actual cost of the articles should have been ascertained.

Mr. Moore was not in favor of having the bedrooms on the third flat, while Mr. Cahill objected to the swinging harness contending that the town would require a horse with the harness to insure a saving in time. It was generally admitted that the fire department apparatus was not as complete or perfect as was desirable.

On Motion Mr. T. Rutherford, chief of the department, was heard. He pointed out that the proposed additions were a necessity. By procuring them a great saving of time would be effected. No article mentioned in the report would be superfluous. He saw no objections in having the bedrooms up stairs, as that was where they were in all first-class departments. Slide poles could be used in descending to the first floor. By adopting the report he was confident the Council would be acting wisely.

On motion the report was adopted.

Mr. Kendry read the following:—

REPORT OF POLICE SUPERVISION COMMITTEE:

To the Mayor and Town Councillors:

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 10th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN.—The Committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police beg leave to report.

That the police force be provided with one suit of clothes each, the same to be tendered for, the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted; the clerk to be instructed to ask for tenders, the same to be opened and awarded by the Committee.

The Committee met and awarded the contract for clothing to Thos Dolan, as under:

Three suits, double breasted tunics, at $27.00 each, cloth Indigo Pilot, same as submitted.

For the Chief of Police—one staff patrol jacket, double breasted and trousers with maple leaf braid. Cloth double twilled serge at $32.00.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAS. KENDRY,
Chairman.

The report was received.

Mr. Rutherford also read the following

REPORT OF THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Town Councillors:

GENTLEMEN: Your Property Committee beg to recommend to have put down a 12 inch drain from the Town offices and connect with main sewer on George street, provided that Mrs. Nicholl's property on north side of Simcoe street between Water and George, pay the sum of $100 as promised.

Your committee regret to find on examination of cellars under the Town office a large accumulation of last years ashes, would therefore ask the clerk to notify the engineer to have the matter at once attended to. Also that Mr. Beavis, be requested to keep clean the passage leading to the firemen's Hall and band room.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

A. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

On motion the report was adopted.

PARK LOT ASSESSMENT.

Mr. Kelly, moved seconded by Mr. McNaughton, that the assessment of Park lots No. 4 and 5, the property of E. Barnham, Esq., be refered to C. A. Weller, Esq., County Judge for his final decision and report thereon, and that such decision and report be accepted by this Council as a settlement of the same and that any expense attending such reference be paid by Mr. Barnham—Lost.

Mr. Moore pointed out that it would be impossible for the Judge to reconsider his decision. If the Council wished to reconsider the matter it would have to be referred to the Court of Revision, which might appoint Judge Weller as its arbitrator.

After a short discussion it was decided to let the matter stand as it was.

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED.

On motion Mr. T. A. Hazlitt was heard with regard to the petition presented by the manufacturers on the Dickson race. He said the petitioners were paying a high rate for fire protection and water rate, from which they received no benefit. They asked for the same protection given other parts of the town as a right, which they paid for. If the Council could not give them the desired protection, they proposed discontinuing to pay a water tax, and would put in a system for themselves. They would require three hydrants, one at London street and two on Mill street.

Several members spoke in favor of granting the request.

Mr. MacNaughton wanted protection in the South Ward.

The petition was finally referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, with instructions to confer with the president of the Water Company and see what arrangement could be made for extra hydrants, and report.

CHARITY.

The petition from the Secretary of the Protestant Home, with regard to Rose Maloney, was referred to the Charity Committee.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

The petition of the Nicholls Hospital Trust was next taken up. Mr. Moore wanted to know how the money was spent, and thought a statement should have been submitted to the Council.

The Mayor stated that he had asked for a statement, which was promised him, but he did not get it yet, although he saw the statement. The $5,000 asked for would include about $2,200 for furnishings and other necessaries.

Mr. Moore showed that the town could not legally pay for any expenses, other than the monthly maintenance, and the accounts were required to be shown.

The Mayor stated that the Ontario Government Inspector of Hospitals had inspected the hospital recently and had ordered several changes, in consideration of which the Government would make a grant to the institution.

After a further discussion, it was decided to refer the matter to the Finance Committee.

A CROSSING.

Moved by Mr. Kendry, seconded by Mr. Rutherford—that the Street and Bridge Inspector be instructed to put down at once a crossing on George street north, opposite the residence of Mr. J. F. Dennistoun, to replace the one taken up—Carried.

GRAVELLING.

Mr. Cahill moved seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to make such arrangements as they deem best for gravelling of the west end of Macdonald street provided parties residing in the adjoining townships interested in said street, assist in doing the work by labor or otherwise, and that $25 be appropriated to grade Cross Street.

DAMAGE ACCOUNT.

On Motion, Mr. E. Mannell was heard. He asked that the account for damages done his house in June by roughs, be paid by the Council.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, the account was ordered to be paid.

Mr. Davidson reported that he had been informed that information with regard to the parties who perpetrated the outrage had been given the Chief of Police, and he had failed to take any notice in the matter, as he would not be allowed to reap any reward.

Mr. Moore expressed astonishment at such a state of affairs and the Chief was called on to make an explanation.

He said it was the first he had heard of the matter, and the rumor was groundless. He had heard that Sampson, who died in jail, and two others were concerned in the affair, but it was impossible to bring it home to them.

The Chief's explanation was accepted.

The rolls not having been returned, nothing was done with regard to striking the rate.

The Council adjourned to meet on Monday next.

Police Court.

Thos. Bolton was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Geo. Boiler with having assaulted him on August 25th. The defendant denied the charge.

The evidence of George Boiler and Walter Kidney showed that the complainant and defendant got into an altercation about Boiler's geese, which Bolton locked in his stable because they were always in his crops. Bolton struck, shook and kicked Boiler, and he was not able to work for several days.

Bolton denied striking or kicking Boiler, but admitted shaking him.

The magistrate imposed on the defendant a penalty of $2 and costs, and $5 compensation for damages.

The Charge of Company Two.

While the City Battalion was drilling last night, No. 2 Company showed their military ardour and love for conquest in a startling manner—startling to some, anyway. A large number of young ladies stood at the shed door watching the proceedings, probably getting pointers how to command a red coat, when Capt. Langford of No. 2, gave his company a recess. No sooner was the word given than the whole squad, charged for the door, like a bevy of girls leaving school, only probably, if possible, more in a bunch. The result was that the friends at the door, thought someone had blundered,—that they were mistaking for an enemy—and with shrieks they fled in wild disorder. The cry "No. 2, shunt" (tion) did not stop the gallant company till they ran against a pump across the street.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes		70c.
"	buff do do	80
"	pebble—tie or buttoned	90
"	India kid shoe	$1.00
"	patent Oxford	1.20
"	polished calf tie shoe	1.25
"	do do Oxford	1.25
"	do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

Cholera will visit us this summer. Be prepared by securing a supply of West's Pain Kiug, to be kept within reach. Disinfect your premises, as cleanliness and West's Pain King will carry you safely through. Only 25 cents. All druggists. d&w

Partial List

Of the "wise men" who have recommended and patronized the P. B. College. Read the list and see if it does not include the shrewd, successful men of the town who know when a good thing is urged to their notice. The P. B. C. is certainly well recommended and is deserving of every encouragement:

Jas. Stevenson, Mayor; Geo. A. Cox, Ex-Mayor; J. Carnegie, M.P.; J. R. Stratton, prop. Examiner; T. Bradburn, Merchant; Peter Hamilton, Manufacturer; Geo. Edmison, Barrister; R. W. Drawing Near.

As the date of the coming concert approaches, the prospects of its success are more firmly secured. Miss Delaney is applying herself assiduously to obtain a result that will fully satisfy the expectations of her friends, and withstand the severest criticism.

Among the many press notices of Miss M. H. O'Reilly appears the following in the South Boston News: "Miss O'Reilly sang the aria from Traviata with taste and expression. She has a voice of good compass and tone."

And of Miss Maud Bardette the Pittsfield Journal says: "The contralto, Miss Bardette, has a large, sympathetic voice, and took the house by storm, all her numbers being encored, and the enthusiasm she stirred is an assurance that she is destined to win success and fame. Pittsfield will be ready and glad to hear her any time."

Every department in the Golden Lion is being rapidly filled with the choicest goods to be procured in the English French and German markets. R. FAIR.

MORE EARTHQUAKES.

SEVERE SHOCKS IN THE MIDDLE AND SOUTHERN STATES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—A very general earthquake shock was felt this evening. The following table shows the time and place at which it was felt and its duration:

Time.	Place.	Duration.
9	New York	10 secs.
8.30	Louisville, Ky	20 secs.
8.30	Cleveland, O	1 min.
9	Detroit	15 secs.
9.16	Cincinnati	6 secs.
9.30	Indianapolis	10 secs.
9	Meadville, Pa	15 secs.
9	Chicago	5 secs.
8.30	Philadelphia	20 secs.
9	Albany	10 "
9	Lynchburg, Va	1 min.
9.15	Charlotte, N.C.	1 "
9.25	Chattanooga, Tenn.	1 "
9.30	Raleigh, N.C.	6 "
8.54	Nashville, Tenn	30 secs.
9.30	Terre Haute, Ind.	40 "
9	Washington	20 "
9	Macon, Ga.	3 min.
9	Selma, Ala.	1 "

In many places the shocks created the greatest consternation. In the Western Union telegraph office here the effect was decidedly startling. No shock was felt in the West. At Raleigh, Charlotte and other places in North Carolina the excitement was intense. In some cases the walls rocked and cracked, church and house bells were rung, chimneys fell. Lamps were overturned and people ran frightened into the streets. The negroes were terribly scared. No such excitement was ever known here, says a North Raleigh despatch. Throughout Indiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky two shocks about ten seconds apart were felt.

At Terre Haute, Ind., the people in the opera house were panic stricken and rushed for the streets. The same thing occurred at Albaugh's Opera House in Washington, D.C. Telegrams received state that at many points public meetings were broken up and people called out of their beds, many rushing into the street in their night clothes. Women and children screamed and men rushed around frantic. The end of the world was thought to have come.

The Cause of the Shocks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Major Powell of the Geological Survey, says that there is a line of weakness in the crust of the earth beginning somewhere south of Raleigh, N. C., and extending in a line along the tide water past Richmond, Washington, Baltimore and Troy, N. Y. That this line of weakness is marked by a displacement, in some places this displacement being a fissure in the rocks, in other places a fault, and in the neighborhood of this displacement is found the principal waterfalls which constitute the waters of the Atlantic slope. "It will be interesting," he adds, "to discover the relations of the point of origin of this earthquake to this line of displacement or weakness."

What Has Become of Charleston, S.C.?

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Since the earthquake there has been no communication with Charleston, S.C., from any point in the country. The telegraph authorities have been unable to get press despatches or other communications from there. This circumstance occasions great concern. That section of country seems to have been the centre of the disturbance. It is known that a bridge in the vicinity of Charleston was shaken from its foundations and the wires all lost, but that is not so serious as the facts that various other points through which there should be a communication with the city are unable to get anything from within a radius of several miles of the place.

THE CROFTERS AND THE IRISH.

Parnellites Warmly Sympathise With the Oppressed Scotchmen.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—In the Commons this afternoon Sir Michael Hicks-Beach stated that during the riots in Belfast one head constable had been killed, five officers and six members of the constabulary had been seriously wounded, and that altogether 322 policemen had been more or less injured.

Peter Esslemont (Liberal) moved an amendment to the address expressing regret that the Crofters' Act had not removed the grievances of the crofters. The amendment was supported by Messrs. McLaren, Clark and Mason, Gladstonians, and by all the Parnellites. Mr. Mason, in a speech, said Scotland demanded Home Rule. (Applause).

Dr. Tanner (Nationalist) condemned the condition of the Scotch crofters, and said he hoped the Irish would assist in rescuing them from the vulture-like landlords—an act which would tend to make Ireland and Scotland more friendly. He was proceeding to violently denounce the "policy of extermination" when the Speaker ordered him to resume his seat because his remarks were irrelevant. Dr. Tanner obeyed.

Messrs. Morley, Parnell and Sexton had a conference to-day with reference to the attitude of the Liberal party on Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address relative to the Belfast riots.

An Aggressive Policy Favored.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—At a meeting to-day of forty advanced Gladstonian members of Parliament, Mr. A. Illingworth presiding, it was unanimously resolved to favor a forward and aggressive policy. It was also decided to notify Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. John Morley that the meeting desired that the Home Rule struggle commenced at the recent elections should be strenuously maintained.

Hanlan and Courtney.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Final articles of agreement for the race between Hanlan and Courtney were signed to-night. The winner is to receive 60 per cent. and the loser 40 per cent. of the receipts. The course will be three miles. Both men are in excellent condition. Bets were made to-day at 75 to 100 in favor of Hanlan. Courtney has made a private bet of $2500 with Hanlan that he will make Hanlan break his record or beat him.

Sir Redvers Buller's Mission.

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—The Killarney branch of the National League has notified Gen. Sir Redvers Buller of its readiness to give him every possible assistance if the sole object of his mission in Kerry is to suppress crime and outrage. If, however, his mission is to serve the landlords, collect rents and assist at evictions he must depend upon his own resources

Mr. Egan's Successor.

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—James Murray, one of the division superintendents of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been appointed acting general superintendent of the western division, in place of Mr. Egan, resigned.

An Alderman's Embarrassment.

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—O. J. Devlin, M.P., has entered an action for $25,000 against the city for false arrest. On Saturday evening when Mr. Devlin was proceeding along St. James-street he passed a constable having a tete-a-tete with a woman. Devlin told the policeman he was not doing his duty, whereupon the policeman arrested him. Devlin was locked in the cells for nearly two hours. He intends to fight the case to the bitter end.

THE METHODIST PARLIAMENT.

Meeting of the General Conference at Metropolitan Church.

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—The General Conference which assembles at Metropolitan Church to-day is the supreme governing body of Methodism in Canada. It is composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen, who are elected by their respective annual conferences. There are ten conferences in which there are over 1600 ministers. As one minister in ten is elected, the clerical representation is 160, and including laymen the total number of delegates is 320. The General Conference meets only once in four years, and its session lasts a fortnight or three weeks. Its membership includes all the leading divines of the Church and many men prominent in business, professional and political circles, forming a highly intellectual and able body.

Some of the probable items of business this session will be as follows: There will be a thorough review of the missionary operations of the Church, and probably something will be done to relieve the financial hardships of the domestic missions. It is proposed to form a new conference in British Columbia. The question likely to create most interest is that of University confederation in Ontario—the strongest men in the Church, both lay and clerical, appearing to be about equally divided on the subject. In the recent session of the Presbyterian Assembly, the number of Presbyterian theological colleges in Canada (six) was deemed by a considerable minority to be excessive. However, as the Methodist Church has a ministry of almost twice the numerical strength to keep its ranks filled, the three colleges of Sackville, Montreal and Cobourg seem to be regarded with growing favor and confidence, although a few have thought even these too many. The code of law known as the Discipline will undergo its quadrennial revision, and will probably make a little progress towards perfection. The temperance movement in favor of total abstinence and prohibition will probably be enthusiastically endorsed with a very brief discussion—if this term can be used when no one opposes. Much interest centres in the election of the General Conference officers, the general superintendents, the editors of the Toronto Guardian, the Halifax Wesleyan and the Toronto Methodist Magazine, the heads of colleges, the treasurers of the principal funds, and the book stewards at Toronto and Halifax. There are at present two general superintendents. Some of the annual conferences are sending up memorials in favor of only one.

THE D. R. A. MEETING.

Result of the Second Day's Shooting at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—The light to-day was bad and the shooting poor. The number of competitors is larger than in any previous year.

The Rideau match, open to members of the Dominion Rifle Association, seven rounds at 500 yards, for prizes of $25, $20, $15, 5 of $10, 25 of $5 and 25 of $4, making 88 prizes amounting to $375, was shot with the following result: Capt. Hartt, St. John Rifles, 32; Sergt. Ogg, Guelph, 32; Sergt. M. Murray, 67th, 31; Capt. Bruce, Grenadiers, 31; Sergt. Dover, 79th, 31; four 30s, eight 29s, sixteen 28s, eighteen 27s, twenty-one 26s and seven 25s were counted out. The Toronto winners were: Sergt. Duncan, 12th, 28; Sergt. Brown, 12th, 27; Sergt. Lewis, Q.O.R., 26; Pte. Fraser, Q.O.R., 26.

Minister of Militia's Match—A challenge cup presented by Sir. A. P. Caron, with $485 added by the association. The leading individual prize winners were: Pte. Sando, 45th, 56; Sap. Hunt, Montreal Engineers, 53; Sergt. McLaughlin, 45th, 52; Lt. Crockett, 83d, 51. Five 50s, two 49s, fourteen 48s, fourteen 47s, twelve 46s, seven 45s, four 45s were counted out.

Team Prizes—Wellington Field Battery 137, Kingston Royal Artillery 136, 12th Battalion 132, 8th Royal Rifles 131, 65th Battalion 130, Manitoba Royal Artlery 127. Bowmanville Royal Artillery made 136 and Prince Edward Island Royal Artillery also 136 but the scores were not sent in in time and are under discussion. Queen's Own Rifles made 119 and Grenadiers 122.

The Quinnet match was finished but the result has not yet been made known.

General and Lady Middleton were on the grounds to-day.

Annual Meeting of Competitors.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—The annual competition meeting was held this evening in the Drill Hall, Lt.-Col. Kirkpatrick in the chair. After a long discussion a motion by Lt.-Col. Gibson, 13th, seconded by Lt.-Col. Jones, 38th, that the council be requested to give greater prominence to the Martini rifle, and that a match with that weapon be included in the grand aggregate, was carried. On motion of Capt. Hartt it was recommended that in future the London Merchants' Cup match be shot with the Martini, and that 20? yards be added to the ranges.

CANNING SALMON.

In Oregon the catching and canning of salmon employ 2000 white men in various capacities. It employs 2500 Chinese. It employs fifteen tugs and steamboats, and makes business for half a dozen more employed regularly in the traffic of the river. It employs besides hundreds of boatmakers, sailmakers and net-weavers. It is the basis of the prosperity of the City of Astoria, and attracts much of our foreign commerce. Indirectly, its benefits reach every business and nearly every person in the State of Oregon. The decrease in this season's run of salmon leads the Oregonian to sound this note of warning: "The necessity of taking steps to keep up the salmon supply is now more than ever apparent. It is a necessity that cries aloud. We cannot go on much longer reaping where we do not sow. In a few more years, if nothing is done the annual salmon runs will cease, and an industry which brings into the State each year nearly $3,000,000 of foreign money will die out."

EMPLOYMENT FOR WOMEN.

The agitation again of the question of providing employment for the great number of women who are obliged to seek their own living, and the occurrence at the same time of the periodical complaint about the difficulty of securing, in the west particularly, capable domestic service, calls attention to a significant connection between the two facts. While there are hundreds of women looking for the means of making a livelihood, there are at the same time hundreds of employers looking for competent assistants in the conduct of their household affairs. If peculiar notions of false pride did not prevent most of these unemployed women from accepting positions as housemaids, cooks, housekeepers and so on through out the range of domestic service, the cause for complaint concerning servant girls would soon disappear. Instead, however, of accepting a position which would insure her at least a comfortable living and home, the modern girl prefers to occupy some petty clerkship which barely affords her an income sufficient to keep body and soul together, overcome with the idea that such employment is more respectable than domestic service. Frequently it leads to a state of affairs just the contrary. No labor is degrading, and there is every possibility that the self-respecting girl who "lives out," will be more contented and happy as a housemaid than as a factory hand or ribbon seller. The experiment is at least worth trying, and she will lose nothing by it. A change from the existing order of things is certainly much to be desired.

A gardiner who has an early piece of ground remarks that green peas for the early market are a safer crop for moderate but sure profit than any other.

CRISIS IN BULGARIA.

WILL ALEXANDER'S RETURN INVOLVE EUROPE IN WAR?

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The secret of the Frankenstein interview is that M. De Giers urged Prince Bismarck earnestly to prevent Alexander's return to Bulgaria. Bismarck declined to commit himself, took the matter ad referendum, and shortened the interview almost abruptly. A great amount of telegraphing between Berlin, Vienna, London, Rome and Constantinople ensued. Whether M. De Giers got an answer before his unexpectedly hasty departure is not known, but the result was that Prince Alexander was not restrained from going to Bulgaria.

It is known that Russian gold has been going in great quantities through Greece to foment a rising in Macedonia, which is expected daily. It is believed to be certain that the pressure of Germany, Austria and England has gained Turkey over once more, and that the Porte will authorize Alexander, as a tributary prince, to enter Macedonia, subdue it and incorporate it as part of his dominions held under the Porte with the view of an eventual Kingdom of Bulgaria.

Against this plan is set the practical certainty that Russia will attempt to occupy Bulgaria, when she will be resisted by Austria, Turkey, Roumania, Bulgaria and Servia. This will enable Germany to hold aloof, keep France in awe and satisfy the Kaiser, whose scruples have long delayed a collision between the Teuton and the Muscovite. It is said that the Kaiser, in wrath at the piratical indignity offered to Prince Alexander, has consented to let the Austrians and Turks undertake the task of chastisement.

In the short, heated diplomatic work coming England is believed to be ready to assume the lead, and it is left far more probable than it was on Saturday that eventually she will take a hand in the fight. The most trusted men in the English foreign service believe war is inevitable.

Turkey Preparing for War.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 31.—Turkey does not intend to abandon her position of armed observation, and great military measures are being taken. The recently embarked redifs have been recalled. Tahir Pasha, commanding at Adrianople, has been ordered to re-occupy all the strategical positions held during the last crisis, and instructions have been sent to Salonica to hold the troops in readiness for departure at the shortest notice.

All departments are ordered to send their available cash to the War Office, and a loan is being contracted from the local banks of half a million on the security of tithes. Everything depends on the attitude the new Bulgarian Government maintains. Its constitution shows clearly the complete ascendancy of the Prince's party.

Where Germany's Danger Lies.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—The North German Gazette reiterates that Germany has no interest whatever in Bulgaria. It says it is not worth while to keep a single German soldier under arms on account of Bulgaria. The necessity for German armaments is due to France. "Every French newspaper," the Gazette says, "proves that France is making rapid preparations to fight and that financial sacrifices are being made to raise the efficiency of her army. Germany must always keep her eyes fixed on France."

Encouraged by England.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—A despatch to the Journal des Debats from Berlin says Prince Deljerouki will not go to Bulgaria. The Russian officers who were in the Bulgarian army prior to the coup d'etat will not re-enter Prince Alexander's service. The despatch also says that Prince Alexander is not at all sanguine of restoring order, and would abdicate only that he is encouraged by England to persevere.

A PHENOMENAL WATER SPOUT.

The Remarkable Strike Made While Boring for a Well in Iowa.

BELLE PLAIN, Iowa, Aug. 31.—An artesian well four inches in diameter burst when a depth of 180 feet had been reached in boring, and instantly a volume of water was forced into the air to the distance of several hundred feet. This gradually increased in size and volume until a stream of water fully 16 inches in diameter was formed, and the upward force of this stream is equal to the power of powder or dynamite. The water in huge volumes is spouting high in the air and the supply seems inexhaustible. Two gigantic rivers have been formed by this phenomenal water burst, which are running through the town at the rate of twelve miles an hour and carrying everything before them. Houses and lives are threatened by this peculiar freak of nature, and the citizens are appalled at their impending danger, which at present they are powerless to overcome. A telegram has been sent to Chicago for engineers. Those here are of opinion that little can be done to stop the flow of water, but think it may be possible to direct the rivers in less dangerous directions and confine them to their channels.

BEACH AND TEEMER THE SURVIVORS

Each of Their Opponents Disposed of Easily in the International Regatta.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The last of the preliminary races in the International sculling sweepstakes were rowed to-day. There were two heats, the first between Wm. Beach of Australia and George Bubear of England, and the other between John Teemer of McKeesport, Pa., and Neil Matterson of Australia. Beach and Teemer were the winners. The weather was brilliant, but the water was somewhat lumpy. Beach led Bubear through the heat, and won as he pleased by a clean six lengths. A foul occurred during the race, which both men claimed. The betting was 6 to 1 on Beach. His time was 18 min. 38 sec.

Matterson ascribes his collapse to the terrific exertions he put forth yesterday in his race with Wallace Ross. Beach declares that he is wonderfully well, and confident of beating Teemer in the final race to-morrow. Teemer was almost as big a favorite for the second heat as Beach was for the first, 5 to 1 being offered on him. The men got off together and remained on a level during the first 220 yards. Matterson then began to forge ahead and soon led by a length, when he crossed over and took Teemer's water. Teemer closed up and touched Matterson's boat, thus winning the race on a foul. Teemer afterwards got clear of Matterson, who stopped dead beat at Barnes' Bridge. Teemer continued to the line, finishing alone.

People on board the steamers following the race were so absorbed in watching the foul that afterwards, when Matterson collapsed, they collided in endeavoring to avoid running the Australian down. The press launch was crushed in between the others and half filled with water. The reporters scrambled into the other boats, leaving their notes behind. Two of the press men swam to the shore. No one was drowned, though there was great confusion for a time.

The betting on the result of the final heat to-morrow between Beach and Teemer is 7 to 4 on Beach. The race will take place at 2.30 in the afternoon.

To-night 2 to 1 was freely offered on Beach.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1886.

THE END OF VACATION.

This week more than half a million children in this Province are expected to return to school, after enjoying the luxuries and pleasures of summer holidays. About six thousand schools open their doors this week to the young people, many of them having been thoroughly renovated during the recess, and again is heard the sound of the school bell, while around us all can perceive the flagging steps of the youngsters,

"Creeping like snail unwillingly to school."

The first feeling of parents, perhaps, in case of extreme thankfulness. A disturbing element has been removed from domestic circles, and now the young scions of the family will be suffered to go their way unmolested by the tyranny or teasing of older brothers. The restless worry, the noise of mischief-making boys, the clatter of garrulous girls which distracts many a busy house-wife amid the cares and anxieties of the home circle, will cease for a portion of the day at least. Quiet and peace will reign supreme, while the parents thankfully exclaim; "Thank goodness, school has been reshmed!"

We trust the children have thoroughly enjoyed their recreation time. But who doubts it? Who so perfectly enjoy vacation or freedom from work as the little ones? They have played and romped to their hearts' content. They have entered a round of pleasure parties, excursions, picnics, and entertainments of all sorts, which they fondly hoped would never come to an end. Life has been happy, holidays have been enjoyed with a zest and fullness which the older might well envy. They have had their clothes torn, their faces bronzed by exposure, their health in all respects improved, and now sturdy and strong and vigorous, they return to their books and slates, only grieving that vacation does not last forever, and longing for holidays to come again.

Well, such a change is beneficial, certainly, to all. The teachers will come back to their onerous duties with fresh zeal and determination. The parents will feel that their efforts to give the little ones freedom from study and mental effort in the dog-days have been helpful, and that the long rest will conduce to their better advancement and profit in study during the winter months. Even the children will consider it incumbent on them to bend their energies to the stern call of duty, and to make, if possible, better progress in learning while opportunity offers. Our course of study being long and tedious, too burdensome, indeed, for many children, demands that holidays be long, and that chances be supplied for exercise of physical development and growth. And, so, while in some respects thankful that vacation is over, and feeling that holidays, though trying to parents and a blessing to the young, we hope our school children will enter on their school tasks with renewed vigour, and labour earnestly to please their guardians and teachers, who have aided in making their holidays as agreeable and pleasant as possible.

Stony Lake Steamboats.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your issue of yesterday I saw a letter from some person, signing himself "M," referring to the late accident on the "Cruiser."

As a rule, I think anonymous letters should be treated with silent contempt, but in this instance the writer (whoever he may be) makes an unfounded charge against the engineer of the "Cruiser," and has not the manliness to put his name to it. I therefore think it necessary to state the facts (as I believe) of the case.

I was not present on the occasion, but the engineer, (who is a most reliable, trustworthy man, and whose word is as good as his bond) stated to me that at the time he was in the engine-room, but his back was turned, and he heard the lady talking to her father; directly the accident occurred he turned round, and finding he could not release her, shut off the steam. What "M" and many others complain, is that he was not on duty. He says he was, and I fully believe him. Anyone who has any knowledge of machinery, and the revolutions of an engine, would understand that if he had not been close at hand, the affair would have had a worse termination. No one can regret more this lamentable accident than the proprietor and officers of the "Cruiser," and it is our earnest hope that the lady in question may speedily recover her health. At the same time I think the engineer did all that could be expected of him.

I remain, sir,
Yours truly,
A. J. WRIGHT.

Young's Point

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

NEARLY AN ACCIDENT.

On Thursday evening Leonard, son of Mr. J. Godfry, had a narrow escape from drowning while playing with his sister at the mill pond. He attempted to cross the pond on the logs and fell down between them. His sister's cries attracted the attention of the mill hands, who were leaving the mill, and they reached the place just in time to save him from a watery grave.

PLEASANT EVENING.

A large number of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Young's friends and acquaintances assembled at the residence of Mr. Wm. McFarlane on Thursday evening to bid them farewell before their departure for their home in Calcago. Dancing and amusements were kept up until midnight, when the party took their leave, well pleased with their night's enjoyment. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Young left for their home, going by way of Niagara Falls.

Fishing in the Sea of Azof.
From the London Times.

It is known, says the Moscow Gazette, that the fisheries of the Sea of Azof are in no respect inferior to, but in many ways rather surpass, those of the Caspian. Although the average take of the former is only 4,000,000 poods weight as compared with the 10,000,000 poods extracted from the latter, yet, if we consider the relative dimensions of the two seas, it will be seen that the Sea of Azof is a hundredfold richer of production than the larger body of water. Notwithstanding its great industrial importance, the laws affecting fishing have not been as yet brought into any kind of order. The regulations at present in force on the shores of the Azof and at the mouth of the Don date from the year 1838, and afford no indication as to the season when fishing is permissible or not. In theory, the dwellers on the coast possess exclusive and equal rights of fishing, while in reality it is the Cossacks of the Don who enjoy almost a monopoly of it, not only in the Lower Don, which flows through their lands, but also along the coast forming part of the district of Rostoff. The need for regularising the fishing laws in the interest of all the inhabitants of the seacoast was recognised by the authorities of the Province of the Don in 1860, but no practical result followed. At present a project of reorganisation has been elaborated, and will in the coming autumn be submitted to a commission. In former days the chief wealth of the surrounding country was derived from its fish, which found a market not only in Russia but in far distant countries. Rational measures which would increase the supply would also lower the prices, which have been tending upward for a long time and are at present excessive.

Firm of GIROUX & SULLIVAN

The public are hereby notified, that the partnership heretofore existing between MOSES O. GIROUX and MICHAEL SULLIVAN, Merchants, trading under the name, style, and firm of Giroux & Sullivan, at the town of Peterborough and village of Warkworth, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. The said Michael Sullivan will continue to carry on business, at the old stands, in Peterborough and Warkworth, and will pay all the liabilities of the said firm and all debts due to the said firms are to be paid to him and he alone is authorised to receive the same and give receipts therefor. All persons having claims against the said firm are requested to hand in the same forthwith to the said M. Sullivan, for settlement. And all debts due the said firm must be forthwith settled with him either by cash or note, otherwise they will be placed in the hands of the undersigned for collection.

Dated the 31st day of August, A D., 1886.

N. Washington, M D., Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Halifax.

DEAR SIR,—I am pleased to be able to express my entire satisfaction as the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skillful consideration. Yours truly, GEO. GOUDING.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines.—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole story.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

DAISY, the heir to Five Million Pounds.

"There is murder going to be done."

I found myself seized by the collar.

Lament.

Ah, me, how soon the life so barely dated
That I should watch your curious birth!
The dimple in your lovely cheek unfold
With the first smile of all—that I who told
The promise of your beauty as some flower
Planting some distant days of April
From
Dear
Of m
The How
That I shall never see that beauty grow
In its
And
And hangs wide-winged in heaven when perfect June
Transgrares night—that I shall never hear
The voice in all the passion of its tune,
Sweet, sweet, and rich, with one unshed tear,
The stress of love, the wisdom of life!

Ah, me,
I shall be lying in my dust, all mute!
For song the owlet over me shall hoot;
I shall be gone, like the loose leaf from the tree,
The idle leaf that flutters in the blast,
And falls, and sodden with showers returns at last
To the enriching earth. Nor late nor soon,
Buried in the dark shall it be known to me
That you, the one consummate flower and fruit,
Still show all men how goodly is the root!

Thus murmured I when the child's loneliness,
With gracious prophecy of joy and love,
Filled all my yearning heart with sweet distress
And longing for the impossible. And now,
Here even from the bough and life leaf,
A mere blown petal from the blowing bough,
The child is gone, and I grow gray and old,
And still I murmur to my angry grief,
How meager is the life so briefly doled!
—Harriet Prescott Spofford, in Harper's.

MOLLIE DARLING.

"I know not if fortune be fickle or friend,
Or if time on your memory wears,
I know that I love you wherever you roam
And remember you, love, in my prayers."

A gay voice singing these lines wakes me from a day dream, and a few minutes later Mollie Tracy, my dearest friend, rushes in and completely rouses me by a promiscuous shaking and pulling around the room.

"Lall, I do believe you were asleep, you lazy girl, wake up," she exclaims, as she gives me a final twirl.

"Mollie, why don't you behave yourself and not act like a savage?" I reply, a little indignant at my rough treatment.

Mollie's only answer to this is to straighter up her skirts and begin to waltz around me, as she gaily sings "See-Saw."

Unable to get her down to a serious mood I retreat to the window and stand in armed neutrality, while Mollie continues her waltzing, apparently taking no notice of me.

My woman's curiosity is aroused, for I know it must be something unusual that brings Mollie out such a day as this. What can it be? Mollie still continues dancing, only she is polkaing, and begins to sing the song which of all songs I most detest:

"I wish I had some one to love me,
And some one to call me his dear."

"I wish you would not like a person with common sense, and tell me what you came out this stormy day for. Mollie, what is it?" I wind up desperately.

"I don't believe I'll tell you, you don't deserve it," she says, standing in the middle of the room and eyeing me in a seeming serious manner.

"Lall, what a goose you are to get angry at me and then allow your curiosity to overcome it," she cries, with a gay laugh, and crossing the room fondly puts her arms around me.

"Well, Mollie, you know you've never had as much to try your temper as I have," I reply.

"No," says Mollie, solemnly, "I've never been in love and never had a beau." Thereupon we both laugh. I am an engaged young lady and my friends never lose an opportunity to twit me upon that subject.

"I wonder if I shall ever fall in love," continues Mollie, "I don't think there are any men around here worthy falling in love with, except Tom Graham and you have the advantage in that quarter."

"I haven't a doubt but I will see you in a slough of despond over some love affair yet. But what is it you came to tell?"

"I declare, I almost forgot to disclose my wonderful plan. A week from to-morrow is Bob's birthday and I thought it would be a glorious thing to have theatricals in the evening. The boys could arrange a stage in the billiard-room, and we could invite the Murrays, Thompsons, Keenans and Duvoys, and as to our costumes, we can make them from our old dresses, only what could we play, I can't think of anything. You decide that part."

We decide what we will play and who is to take part. Mollie, her three brothers and myself are to be the actors.

We talked for another half-hour over the plan, and then Mollie departed to give her invitations. During this talk we decided to send an extra invitation to Genevieve McIntyre, who is the acknowledged beauty of our rural district. She is a tall blonde, with the finest of eyes and yellowest of hair and carries herself in a way that [illegible] person that also has an [illegible] world and [illegible] for his [illegible] and enjoyment. She is not at all popular with [illegible] but the [illegible] for they think, [illegible] ho!—pretty [illegible] do sometimes attract men often they find nothing behind the pretty [illegible]

Now our object in asking Genevieve McIntyre to our theatrical party is mere curiosity. There are ominous whispers among the girls that Captain Low [illegible] very much interested [illegible] Some declare there is [illegible] engagement and that it is coming off next week to bring the engagement ring.

Mollie and I wish to be the first to see this wonderful Adonis, for, of course, rumor reports him as being the handsomest of men.

If Genevieve [illegible] undoubtedly escort her and we will have an opportunity to view him from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head, and vice versa.

Time flies quickly, Mollie and I have our hands full arranging costumes and scenery and bossing the boys about during the work necessary for the erection of the stage [illegible] accessories.

At length the eventful night arrives, and with it the expected guests with the exception of "our belle" and her escort.

Mollie is wild to see him and does not look as demure behind the scenes as she necessarily soon will in front. Her plain servant's dress and white mob cap look out of place on a person of such extreme risibility, for Mollie has done nothing but laugh and perform wild freaks the entire evening.

"I somehow feel they are really coming. I believe I'll go down and wait in the hall for them, so that I can have a good peep," she exclaims at last. No sooner said than done, and Mollie disappears from the green-room, only to re-appear a few minutes later with a very flushed face and a note in her hand.

"I was standing in the hall when the bell rang, and Genevieve I could open the door just for fun and see what Genevieve would say. Like a big goose, Lall, I did so, and there stood two strange gentlemen, who asked me if Miss Tracy was at home, and when I said yes, gave me this note to deliver. So here it is," she exclaims, opening and reading it aloud.

DEAR MOLLIE,—I am suffering from a severe headache and cannot attend your party this evening, but take the liberty to send my brother Will and friend. Will arrived from G[illegible] many last night and I know how glad you will be to see him.

Your affectionate friend,
GENEVIEVE MCINTYRE.

"Lall, what will I do, Will has not seen me in five years, and actually they took me for the servant girl."

"Never mind. I'll tell you what we can do, Mollie. I am in full dress, so I will go down and receive them and see if Will remembers me. I can say that you are indisposed at present and cannot make your appearance until later."

"You dear old thing, how quick you can think. Please act with the same celerity and go down to the parlor and escort them hither," she says, pushing me towards the door.

With somewhat nervous step I go down to the parlor, wondering if Will has forgotten me as well as Mollie. My apprehensions are soon allayed, however, for as I enter the parlor a well-remembered voice exclaims, "My dear Miss Gorman, this is indeed an unexpected pleasure. You look just the same as of old, only of course you are much handsomer."

To Maintain One Life

you must invent twenty, but truth can never be strengthened by bolstering. The testimony every lady who has used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" for nervous debility and female weakness carries conviction with it. The facts are stated in such a way that no one can doubt them. All those peculiar pains and sinking sensations which ladies suffer from, can be overcome by means of this wonderful preparation. If you are a sufferer from female weakness, don't fail to employ it. 6d50w35

Heat and Cold

Is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's Nerviline exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A ten cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. LOCAL NEWS.

An Industrious Farmer.

As a Peterborough gentleman was driving out the Keene road last night, about three miles from town, he noticed a bright light in a field of grain—oats. On investigation he found that the cause of the willow-the-wisp was that a tall and robust Peterborough man, at present visiting a farmer friend, was holding a lantern for the proprietor of the farm, who with his hired man were busily engaged in binding grain out during the day, which they had not had time to finish while the sun was shining. The farmer, fearing a shower during the night, and desiring to preserve his grain as well as possible, finished the binding by lantern light.

A Second Set of Harness Stolen.

Mr. Geo. B. Sproule, who some months ago had a saddle and sett of harness stolen from his stable at the rear of his house on George street, was again on Friday night the victim of almost a similar theft. Some party entered his stable and carried away a fine set of silver mounted single harness, which has not been since returned. The police were notified, and the premises of a suspected party were searched, but without finding the missing property. It is evident that whoever committed the theft was well acquainted with the premises, and no effort will be spared to bring him to justice.

Grand Pic-nic.

A grand pic-nic will be held in the Separate School grounds, Murray street, on Tuesday, the 7th of September. Prizes will be given for athletic sports and games. Refreshments will be in abundance at moderate charges. The management is in the hands of a large and competent committee, and a pleasant day's enjoyment may be looked for. The proceeds will be in behalf of the building fund of St. Peter's Cathedral. Suitable music will be provided. Remember Tuesday, the 7th, and make no other engagement.

Important to Public School Teachers.

At the entrance examination to be held in December, 1886, examination papers will be set in literature from the following lessons in the New Ontario Readers, the only series now authorized for use:—

1. The Truant	pp. 46— 50
2. The Vision of Mirza—First Reading	" 63— 68
3. The Vision of Mirza — Second Reading	" 68— 71
4. The Bell of Atri	" 111—114
5. Lochinvar	" 169—170
6. Christmas Carol	" 207—211
7. The Ride from Ghent to Aix	" 265—267
8. A Forced Recruit at Solferino	" 267—268
9. National Morality	" 268—267

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

The Shooting Season.

During the past week local nimrods have been making extensive preparations for the duck-shooting season, which opened this morning before daylight. By last night the favourite resorts of the water fowl were entered by hunters, who, when morning dawned, commenced a great slaughter in their midst. All along the river and around the neighbouring lakes the bang of the gun was almost incessant for hours.

Kicked by a Horse.

Mr. John Biggs, of Ashburnham, peddler, on Friday was kicked in the face by his horse. He was getting down from the seat in his waggon when, the horse kicked, striking him above the eye with one of the caulks of its shoe, knocking him senseless for a short time and inflicting a deep though not serious wound. He had his injuries attended to and is recovering rapidly.

Barnardo Home Work.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, the 2nd Sept., to arrange for a garden social and sale of work at Hazel Brae, on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wallis will preside.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Ladies' Jerseys.

We are now showing the trade the largest variety of Jerseys we ever possessed. Our stock embraces all the latest styles in the market. R FAIR.

Oysters

Now on hand at the C. P. R. Restaurant, served up in the best styles.

Trebell's Pop Factory Burned.

Shortly before nine o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in the pop factory of Mr. J. Trebell, Harvey Street. The alarm was sounded and the fire brigade with great promptness proceeded to the place. The building, a frame one, was by this time enveloped in flames, and it was found that Mr. T. G. Hazlitt's lumber yard, adjoining the building, and stocked with millions of feet of lumber, would fall a prey to the flames, while Mr. Trebell's house, and several others adjoining were in great danger. Mr. Hazlitts mill was shut down, and before the firemen came, about two dozen of his men aided by others, worked with a will. Two hand engines from the mill and pails gathered from the neighborhood, were sent with good judgment, and the flames were prevented from spreading until the firemen with the engine arrived. Hose were attached to a hydrant on Water street, and a good stream was soon playing on the fire, which was quickly extinguished. The building was almost totally destroyed, only a few boards left standing. The majority of the machinery and stock was saved. The building was owned by Mr. James Fox, and was not insured. His loss will be in the neighbourhood of $300. The machinery and stock was insured for $1,000. It is not yet known how much has been destroyed. Great praise is due those who were instrumental in extinguishing the flames. Had the lumber once ignited well an extensive conflagration would have been the result

True Blues' Picnic.

The picnic under the auspices of McWilliams Lodge of True Blues, held at Campbelltown on Tuesday, was a very pleasant affair. While going to and coming from the grounds on board the Golden Eye a splendid time was spent. Dinner and tea were partaken of at the town of trees, while between meals games and sports occupied the attention of all. The party reached home about nine o'clock, after having spent a joyous day on land and water.

Broke His Leg.

Mr. A. P. Morgan yesterday received a telegram from Barrie, stating that Thomas Kewin, driver of Mr. Morgan's fast trotter, "Little Ned," who took the horse to that place to compete in the races being held there to-day, broke his leg while exercising the horse in the morning. It is supposed he was thrown from the sulky, but particulars are not known. Mr. Morgan left for Barrie on the first train, to look after his man and horse.

Diphtheria.

Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, states that there are at present a large number of cases of this dread disease in town. Fortunately it is of a very mild character, and yields readily to treatment. No deaths from the malady have occurred recently, and the acceptable change in the weather from intense heat to comparative cool, is checking it.

Market Items.

The market this morning was about the average, vegetables being the principal offering. Prices remain about the same, and were quoted: Butter, 15 to 19c.; eggs, 11 to 13c.; chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; potatoes, 70 to 75c. per bag; apples, $1.00 to $1.20 per bag; cabbage, 2 to 5c. per head; tomatoes, 45c. per peck; beets, carrots, onions, etc., 5c per bunch; plums, 40c. per pail.

The Nicholl's Hospital.

The following donations to the hospital in August are thankfully acknowledged by the Lady Superintendent:—Flowers from the W. C. T. U.; Mrs Cameron, flowers; Mrs. Morrow, milk; Cakes from St. John's South Ward S.S.; "A Friend," old linen; Miss Sanderson, books.

Willow and Wicket.

The "Sawbones" alias Medicos, of Toronto, will play the P. A. A. A. team here on Friday, instead of Saturday as stated some days ago. On Saturday a team picked from the county will engage the attention of the Sawbones. Both these matches will be good cricket and should be seen.

Shooting for Silverware.

On Tuesday afternoon Messrs. H. W. Kent and E. J. Hartley, two prominent poppers of the local Gun Club, shot a match for a valuable silver cup on the Riverside Park range. Clay blackbirds were used, the trap being set at 20 yards. Mr. Hartley won the match and cup, scoring 7 to 4 out of a possible 10.

Concert in the Park.

The band gave their weekly performance in the park last night. Although the evening was cool and the concert had not been previously announced, there was a fair attendance, though not as large as on former occasions. The music was of the usual excellent order.

Horticultural Society Show.

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society will be held in the roller rink, Water street, on September 7th. Preparations are being made for an exhibition on a large scale, and its success is almost certain.

School Opened.

The Peterborough Public Schools and the Collegiate Institute opened this morning well attended. After the promotions had been made, new classes formed, and lessons assigned, the pupils were dismissed. To-morrow the routine work will be taken up.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership which during the past five years has existed between M. Giroux and M. Sullivan, dry goods merchants, was to-day dissolved by effluxion of time. Mr. Giroux retires, and Mr. Sullivan will carry on the business in the future.

A Curious Case.

A Tyendinaga young man has brought an action against a woman to recover a stocking full of money, which he alleges she appropriated when nursing his mother, now deceased. Belleville Police Court is busy with the case.

Thursday, September Ninth.

The date of the Riverside Lacrosse Club's first excursion is Thursday, September 9th. Friends of the club should bear this in mind, and make preparations to attend.

Life, Love and Death.

The following are the vital statistics of the town for the past month, as registered with the Town Clerk:—Births, 15; marriages, 6; deaths, 13.

Monthly Rifle Match.

The monthly match of the Peterborough Rifle Association will be held at the butts to-morrow afternoon.

Fresh White Fish, Trout and Bass, arriving daily at Ostrom's, George St.

Sir Charles Dilke in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 30.—Sir Charles Dilke, who is traveling as J. C. Tatlow, and who was here last week, left Friday for a shooting and hunting trip to Lake Winnipeg. From there he and his companion, Earl of Kingston, will go over the Canadian Pacific to British Columbia, and finally to San Francisco and Australia.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story, by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have not skipped gauge better, possibly nothing equal. In combining the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Maplewaver, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, subject and ugly, good and brave; Cyril Stanton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and De Brankcome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

The Coming Concert.

The benefit concert to be tendered Miss Annie Delaney on Thursday next, promises to be of an exceptionally high order, and undoubtedly will be a grand success. The Boston Pilot, in speaking of Miss Helen O'Rielly, soprano, who will take part in the concert, says:—

"Miss M. Helen O'Reilly, a pupil of Mr. John O'Neill, of the New England Conservatory, whose reputation as a soprano of exceedingly fine quality is already well established, won fresh laurels by her singing at a recent concert in Fall River, Mass. Miss O'Reilly's voice is clear, expressive and flexible, and her rendering of Benedict's "Carnival of Venice" produced great enthusiasm. In the long runs and trills, and in the chromatic passages, her rippling, sparkling execution was faultless. The sympathetic quality of her voice found beautiful expression in "Souvenirs de jeune age," from "Pre aux Clercs," Herold, which Miss O'Reilly was induced to repeat.—

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" half do do	90
" pebble—tie or buttoned	.90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

Presentation.

Mr. J. P. Eastwood, who for the past six years has taken an active interest in the welfare of the Murray Street Baptist Church, having occupied during these years the positions of Librarian, Secretary, Treasurer and Teacher, previous to his departure for Toronto was presented with a complimentary address accompanied by a beautiful bible, by the teachers and pupils of the Sunday school. The presentation occurred just before the close of the school on Sunday, Mr. Lacey, superintending the givers. Mr. Eastwood made a suitable reply, thanking his late co-workers and pupils for their present and kindness toward him.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

The Cavan Township Council met at the Council Chamber on Thursday, 12th August, 1886, all the members present, the Reeve in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Councillor McNeil reported having let several road work jobs.

Dep-Reeve Thorndyke reported having examined the worklet by a committee of the Hope Council and himself, which he found satisfactory and recommend payment for the same.

Councillor McNeil introduced a by-law for the purpose of levying Public school rates, and Councillor Boyd, a by-law to levy rates on the whole ratable property in the township for the current year. After routine the by-laws were finally passed.

Mr. Isaac Larmer was heard, with regard to improvements on the east quarter line, 4th concession. He expended on this road $40 granted by the Council of last year, but the sum granted was not sufficient to make a good job.

Coun. Boyd and Coun. Fallis were appointed a committee to look into the matter.

On motion of Coun. Neil, the Reeve was appointed a committee to fix damages caused to Miss S. J. Hutchison's crop, by drawing gravel from her premises.

Mr. Jas. McLean was heard with regard to building a road through the long swamp, between the 13th and fourteenth concessions.

On motion of Coun. McNeil, the Reeve and Coun. Fallis were appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the Manvers Council, regarding the gravelling of a portion of the boundary between Manvers and Cavan, the clerk to notify the Manvers Council of the appointment.

A number of orders were issued on the treasurer, and the Council adjourned till Monday, Sept. 6th.

Zion Smith.

(From our own Correspondent.)

At a meeting of Gordon Lodge, held last Thursday evening, it was decided to hold a picnic at Bridgenorth on Sept. 3rd, Friday next. Extensive preparations are being made for the event and should the weather be favorable a pleasant time may be looked for. In addition to the usual picnic festivities, there will be a platform erected for dancing, while excellent music will be provided. All are invited to attend.

Personal.

Mr. D. Cattanach has resigned his position as agent, in Peterborough, for the Confederation Life Assurance Company.

Mr. J. P. Eastland, recently with Mr. E. H. D. Hall, left town on Monday for Toronto, where he has taken a responsible position with Messrs. Lount & Marsh, barristers, etc. His many friends will wish him all success in his new position, which he, no doubt, will ably fill.

Mr. A. Dixon and Miss M. Dixon left for the back lakes to-day to visit Mr. W. A. Sanderson's camp.

Mr. Geo. Hickson, travelling agent for the West Shore Railroad, gave us a call yesterday.

Mr. Jas. Bogue has received the appointment of Inspector and Superintendent of Masonry, Canada Atlantic Division of the C. P. R., and leaves this evening for St. Polycarpe to assume his duties.

Mr. G. F. Orde, who for the past two years has occupied the position of ledger-keeper in the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, has accepted a responsible and lucrative position in the American Exchange National Bank, Chicago, and on Saturday will leave for his new field of labor. Mr. Orde's departure will be regretted by a large circle of friends. It will be hard to fill his place in the Athletic Association, the reputation of which he vindicated on more than one occasion, winning numerous medals in fast time. The Football Club, in him, will also lose a good man.

CHARLESTON RUINED.

THE EARTHQUAKE AT CHARLESTON.

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE EARTHQUAKE.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 1.—An earthquake such as has never before been known in the history of the city, visited over Charleston last night shortly after 10 o'clock, causing more loss and injury to property and far more loss of life than the cyclone a year before. The city is wrecked; the streets are encumbered with ruins of fallen houses and twisted telegraph and telephone wires, and up to an early hour it was almost impossible to pass from one part of the city to another. The first shock was by far the most severe. Many of the people, with their families, passed the night in the streets, which even this morning are crowded with people afraid to re-enter their homes. More than 60 persons were killed and wounded, chiefly colored. Among the whites killed and fatally injured are M. J. Lynch, Dr. R. Alexander Hamrand and Ainaly Robeson. Fires broke out in different parts of the city immediately after the earthquake and some are still burning, but there is no danger of their spreading. There is no way of leaving the city at present.

There are fissures in the earth noticed from which fine sand, apparently from a great depth, exudes a sulphurous smell.

Experiences of the People.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 1.—The first shock of earthquake was felt approaching last night at 9.50, and before the people could realize what the trouble was they found themselves being thrown around and their houses falling down on them. Everyone ran screaming into the streets, and in a few seconds the city was wild with human beings crazed with fright. Exclamations could be heard on all sides, such as "My God, save us," "God have mercy upon us," and people could be seen kneeling every where in groups offering prayers. The first shock was followed immediately by another, though of less effect, redoubling the screams and shrieks, and from the time of the beginning to daylight shocks were felt at intervals of half an hour, each succeeding one being less distinct.

Three or four fires started in as many districts with the first shock and the city was soon illuminated with flames, thus leading all to believe that what was left by the earth quake would be devoured by fire. However the fire department was so well divided and handled that the fires were gotten under control by daylight. [illegible] ten to twenty residences and stores were destroyed. The loss by fire and earthquake cannot be readily estimated, but can be placed safely at $5,000,000. As far as could be ascertained, during the night fifteen to twenty were killed and a much greater number wounded in all sorts of ways.

Shocks equally severe were felt at a distance of thirty-five miles, and have done inestimable damage to railroad and telegraph property. Charleston is entirely isolated from the outside world.

Owing to the demoralized condition of everything here, it is impossible to give correct figures other than this: The number of casualties will probably prove to be from 50 to 60 killed and over 100 injured. The loss to property will probably reach from eight to ten million dollars. Three-fourths of the [illegible] in the city will have to be rebuilt.

At 11.50 p.m. another shock passed over the city rather more severe than any since last night at 9.55, knocking down several houses.

Sixteen Shocks at Columbia.

COLUMBIA, S.C., Sept. 1.—There were sixteen distinct shocks from the earthquake here last night and up to 5 o'clock this morning. The first shock was fearful, and houses were shaken as though made of pasteboard. It seemed as if everything must topple. The rumbling in the earth was loud and horrifying in the extreme. Clocks stopped, bells were rung, and damage done to some buildings, principally by toppling chimneys. Two rooms in the governor's mansion were wrecked. There were numerous cases of nervous prostration.

The Effect at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—Two distinct shocks of earthquake were felt this morning at 7.60 and 9.20, city time. A number of houses were reported to the fire wardens as in danger, and from all parts of the city and surrounding neighborhood come reports of small damage by shocks, such as falling of chimneys, parting of walls, smashing of crockery, etc.

More Shocks.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 1.—Shocks of earthquake were felt here to-day.

SUMMERVILLE, S.C., Sept. 1.—Ten more shocks were felt here to-night, some quite severe.

Scientific Data.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 1.—Major Powell, Director of the United States Geological Survey, says the [illegible] well observed by W. J. McGee, of the Geological Survey, and after the culmination of the first shock, phenomena were timed. A rough substitute for a seismoscope was improvised out of a tumbler of water placed on a stand in the centre of a room and the high head board of a bedstead served as a rude seismometer. Following is the record:

Time of culmination of first shock (75th meridian), 9.50 p.m. Duration of first shock, estimated [illegible] seconds. Time of termination of same, 9.55. Time of termination of preliminary tremors, 10 p.m. Several slight tremors followed, but were not timed. Time of recommencement of continuous tremors, 10.05. Time of culmination of second shock, 10.05. Duration of second series of tremors, 10 min. 13 secs.

Direction of vibration—Northeastern direction from N. 10 degrees E. to E.; i.e. very little north of east, but there was one indeterminate vertical component in the undulations very perceptible in the reclining of liquids and of articles of furniture. Roughly the upward impulse in each vibration appeared to be a third or a half of the lateral impulse. The rate of vibration was measured by the high swinging head-board of a bedstead during the second shock and found to be 115 or 120 per minute.

Amplitude of vibrations—During the second shock, head-board 6½ feet high, swung through an arc of from 1 to 1½ of an inch. It was estimated that the amplitude of oscillation during the earlier shock was twice or thrice as great.

During 1886 there were recorded the following earthquakes: In the United States and Canada: Canadian provinces, 8; New England, 5; Atlantic States, 2; Mississippi valley, 2; Pacific slope, 34; total 51. During the 12 years, 1873 to 1885, there were prevailing in the United States and Canada 51 earthquakes. Many of these disturbances were so slight as to be unperceived by a majority of the people. The list is more complete to the densely populated and frequently shaken Atlantic slope than to other portions of the country. The Mississippi Valley is comparatively populated, but the explanation of earthquakes usually accepted by geologists is something like this: The earth is believed to be composed of a solid crust of rock of variable thickness in different regions, of great mass, supported internally in a manner not fully understood, but it readily yields to accretion of deformation like wax. Gradually [illegible] the resulting [illegible] ing [illegible] the [illegible] is relieved by [illegible] consequent [illegible] vibrations. [illegible] important are:

WHAT SHALL WE BURN?

In Ontario, it must be conceded the supply of wood for fuel is gradually and surely decreasing. For practical purposes in most manufacturing districts, wood is already exhausted. A few years ago Peterborough citizens burned very little coal, now, except in summer, coal is the chief article used for fuel, and its use is extending year by year. And this, be it noted, is the case in a town right in, what we may term, the heart of the best wood district in Ontario. Crude petroleum is used to some slight extent as fuel, but its use is not likely to be general either here or elsewhere.

Within the past few years another article has come into use, and where it can be found it promises to exercise an important influence. We refer to the natural gas which is found in some districts in the United States, especially in Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh, which is the centre of a great manufacturing district, is now supplied with this form of fuel, which springs up in volumes from wells in the vicinity. Pipes are laid in all directions through the city to convey the gas, which is used for heating and manufacturing purposes in about 200 houses and more than fifty mills and factories. These pipes are from four to eight inches in thickness, and the pressure of the gas at the wells is from 150 to 230 pounds per square inch. In Pittsburgh alone, twenty-five million cubic feet is used daily, and is supplied at a cost of about twenty cents per thousand cubic feet.

It is held by experts that it could be supplied at about one-fourth the present cost and would then give a large profit to the owners of the wells. Its present rate is not lower than the price of coal, but has superior advantages. It is clean, odorless and smokeless. For manufacturing purposes it is decidedly superior to coal, especially in the puddling process, steel furnaces and the making of glass. In a large establishment one man can attend from twelve to twenty boilers, and he can at the same time keep his fire room clean and tidy with little trouble. Indeed, gas as a fuel gives the greatest satisfaction, and the only fear is that the supply will become exhausted. As a matter of fact, however, gas wells have been flowing for centuries in the Caucasian range of mountains, and they still continue to pour out their products without diminution. In other parts of Asia gas has poured forth from the bosom of the earth and continued ceaselessly for centuries. In New York, in Pennsylvania and Ohio, where natural gas has been struck in boring for petroleum, their flow has also steadily continued. In fact we may reasonably infer the flow of gas will be as steady as that of petroleum, as we see no reason to fear an entire cessation of this useful natural product. Wherever gas wells are to be found, manufacturers will naturally prosper and increase, and where this article can be used for fuel, it is apparent the production of iron, steel and glass will be correspondingly cheapened. If gas were cheaper with us, we feel certain it would be largely used for summer cooking, as it is in Toronto and elsewhere.

Personal.

Miss M. Helen O'Reilly and Miss Maud Burdette, of the New England Conservatory of Music, who will take part in Miss A. Delaney's benefit concert this evening, have arrived in town.

Mr. T. Hurd, of QuAppelle, who has been in town for some time, left for home today by C. P. R.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Toronto, formerly with Messrs. Dumble & Henry, of town, passed his Solicitors' examination at Toronto recently, taking a good standing.

Mr. C. H. Pope, of Belleville, who was back on Crow Lake, duck-shooting with a Belleville and Trenton party, yesterday, gave us a call to-day. He says that ducks were plentiful, but hunters were almost as numerous.

A Dull Day.

The town was very dull to-day and business was almost at a standstill—even gossip was retailed only in the most meagre quantities, and very poor quality at that. Merchants—or their clerks—amused themselves in dressing their windows, catching flies, etc.

Beware of Man-traps.

A resident of the North Ward and the owner of a thriving orchard, has placed a placard high on his fence, warning boys not to enter his orchard, as it is loaded with man-traps and spring guns. The boys say spring guns may be all right, but what's the matter with tall apples?

Political Meeting.

We are informed that the Conservatives of Peterborough are making arrangements for a political meeting, to be held in town this month, and to be addressed by Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Meredith.

The harvest in New South Wales is expected to be the best since 1870.

The Italian frontier districts are declared free from cholera.

Fifth race, 1 mile—War Fellow won, Chanticleer second, Bob May third. Time 1.50. Sixth race, short steeplechase course—Tennessee won, Will Davis second, Rushbrook third. Time 3.10.

Racing at Charter Oak Park.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 1.—Charter Oak Park races. The 2.19 class was won by Bonita in three straight, Felix being second, Chas. Hilton third, Chas. Hogan fourth, Wm. Arthur distanced. Time—2.22½, 2.18¼, 2.20½. The free for all pacers was won by Gossip, Jr., with Jewett second and Westmont third. Time 2.15¾, 2.16¾, 2.15, 2.17, 2.19½. The 2.30 class, Frank H. won with Beaconsfield second, Anniversary third, Rifleman fourth, Spotted Beauty fifth. Time 2.23½, 2.27, 2.28.

Found Dead in a Barn.

HAMILTON, Sept. 1.—A message from Coperown says that to-day the body of a man, having on nothing but a shirt and boots, was found in the barn of a Mr. Howell. There was absolutely no clue to his identity. He is about 45 years of age, of medium height, fair complexion, with mustache but no beard, and well developed muscles.

Fire in Desjardins' jewelry store, Montreal, did $1000 damage.

Sir Richard Cartwright is stumping Haldimand in the interests of the Reform candidate.

Frederick Roecke of Baltimore and his 16-year-old son were drowned while bathing at Cape May yesterday.

Nine stores and fifteen dwellings in the village of South Royalton, Vt., were burnt last night. Loss $75,000.

An exhibition, especially for the industries of colored people, is to be held in Washington, D.C., during September.

A butcher at Cleveland attempted to take an apple from the throat of a cow and was bitten. He died from blood poisoning.

A drover from Port Hope is said to have had $200 in ten-dollar Bank of Commerce bills passed off on him recently at Buffalo.

The Irish Lacrosse team sailed for home by the Umbria on Saturday well pleased with their trip. A delegation of the New York Lacrosse Club saw them off.

William Danlop, aged 46, was found dead on the lake shore near Eganville on Monday morning. He had apparently been murdered. An inquest is in progress.

A farmer named Fladsbre has been found dead with a bullet through his heart in a field near his home in North Kerry. It is supposed he was murdered because of agrarian troubles.

Only twenty-five of the 500 employes of the Lee shoe factory, Athol, Mass., consented yesterday to sign a document declaring they would not join a union or strike. The others were locked out.

It is stated to be the purpose of Premier De Freycinet to remove from his cabinet three Radical members, including Gen. Boulanger, Minister of War, and M. Granet, Minister of Mails and Telegraph.

A number of men who were engaged in the recent riots in Belfast have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to nineteen months.

Jules Simon published a letter in which he predicts that France will eventually become a Conservative Republic, which he declares to be the only stable government for Frenchmen.

At Montreal yesterday the case of Captain Marshal, of the Salvation Army, which is considered a test case, was heard before the Recorder. After hearing the evidence His Honor took the case on deliberg.

Oliver K. cost George Forbes $4500 two years ago, and the horse has already won $20,000 this season. If Oliver K. wins the $10,000 purse at Hartford to-morrow he will be matched with Harry Wilkes to trot at Cleveland on September 17.

The most terrific thunderstorm ever known in Rochester, N.Y., occurred at noon yesterday. Three and one-half inches of water fell. Cellars were flooded in business houses and private residences all over the city. Damages estimated at $300,000.

Joseph Murphy of Baltimore was drowned in the surf at Atlantic City yesterday. Councilman John Doyle, who was bathing with him was rescued by one of the life guards. Murphy leaves a wife and five children.

Yesterday the body of Thomas Davis, a farmer owning 100 acres in the Township of Culross, Bruce County, was found hanging by his neck in the bush at the back of the farm. He had been missing for the last four weeks and was only found by chance. He was between 60 and 70 years old, and was one of the first settlers in the township.

Head and Cold

Is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's Nerviline exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A ten cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6d50w35

Toronto, August 5th, 1886

N. Washington, M D., Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Halifax.

DEAR SIR.—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "Ker Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skillful consideration Yours truly, GEO GOULDING.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in each case as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

RUPTURE CURED

IN FROM 30 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

This Cut Shows our Style only.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two expensive trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. S. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address

By T. WERNER REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole story.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

MOLLIE DARLING.

(Concluded.)

"Mollie, Will, I suppose you have recovered from that old disease of yours, but I see you have not. You flatter people as much as ever, and if you please you are her to be so forced. I am the same old Ned I was five years ago, only I have a long dress on and wear my hair on top of my head, instead of hanging down my back."

So interested and excited am I at this moment that I forget the presence of a third party, until Will says, "Allow me, Miss Gorman, my friend Mr. Bradely." We converse for a few moments and then I propose that we proceed to the billiard-room, as it is time for the curtain to rise. We are just inside the door when the curtain goes up, and Mollie makes her appearance before the foot-lights. She is supposedly carrying on a desperate flirtation with the milkman. Mr. Bradely and Will are intensely interested. Will says, "That is the pretty little servant who admitted us this evening. She is really handsome!"

For once in my life the spirit of mischief is aroused in me, and I determine to deceive Will still farther.

"Yes, indeed, she is, and she is very well educated also. I am very much attached to her. She has been working for me for over three years. We had her play the part of servant to-night in our comedy, and I think she does it very nicely indeed." I make this statement with a serious face just as Mollie begins to sing for the benefit of the infatuated milkman:

"Once I had a charming beau,
I loved him dear as life,
Proudly thought the time would come
When I would be his wife.
His pockets they were filled with gold,
And oh, he cut a dash,
With a watch and chain and a diamond ring
And a darling black mustache."

Mollie's voice rings out clear as a bell as she stand coquettishly eyeing her milkman. She sings the song through and is greeted with a round of applause.

A few moments later the curtain falls, and I am forced to leave my friends, as I make my appearance in the second act. By this time I have my plans settled as to the joke I will play on Will. I live three miles out of town and Mollie must come and make me a visit. While there she can play servant whenever Will calls, and we will have plenty of excitement, for Mollie will make a peculiar servant. So I inform Mollie of what I have done and my plan for the future. At first she demurs, but her love of mischief overcomes her scruples. She consents to go to bed after the play without seeing any of the company, and the next morning to depart bright and early for my house. The play comes to a successful end, and I apologize for Mollie's non-appearance.

Will and Mr. Bradely promise to call on me the following day. They call about 4 o'clock the next afternoon, and Mollie opens the door, shows them into the parlor, then brings their cards to me. Her face is like a "red, red rose." I ask her what she is blushing about?

"O, they kept looking at me and I felt so ridiculous. I thought I would never get out of the parlor without laughing aloud."

I go to receive my callers, and somehow during the half hour they remain no matter what the topic of conversation it is sure to wind up in something concerning my servant girl.

Will calls the next day and the entire conversation is about Mollie. That same evening Will again calls, and with a flush upon his honest face, tells me that he is uncommonly taken with Miss Lorden—that being Mollie's assumed name. He asks me to introduce him to her, and give him permission to call upon her. I said I had no objection after asking him had he considered the step he was taking, and did introduce him on the following day.

After that Will is a constant visitor, and one day Mollie comes to me all smiles and tears to tell me that they are engaged, showing me a handsome diamond ring he had placed upon her finger.

"And he hasn't the least idea who I am beyond what you told him. Oh! I am so happy, for it is for myself alone he loves me."

About this time rumors have reached the village that Will McIntyre is courting one of Miss Gorman's servants. There is a great ado over it. Will is disowned by his father and Geneveive has a series of supposed fainting spells.

Nothing daunted, Will has set the wedding day and Mollie goes home to make the necessary preparations.

We tell Will another white lie about Mollie's sick aunt, whom she must go and see. I am to accompany her, and she is to return the day before the wedding. This does not suit Will very well, but he is forced to submit.

So Mollie returns to Oak Hill, which is the name of her father's residence. I accompany her, and between us we tell her father of our little escapade and its result.

He is at first surprised, provoked and amused, but at last agrees to our plan for the future. The two weeks before the wedding day pass quickly. Mollie and I have our hands full superintending the making of the trousseau.

The whole village is acquainted with the fact that Mollie Tracy is to be married. Nobody knows to whom and they all on the qui-vive over the affair.

Judge Mallorie and Mollie's father are great friends, and the judge laments his son's low taste and receives Mr. Tracy's deepest sympathy. If the judge had returned any of these evenings after he left Mr. Tracy's house and glanced in at the library window he would have been astonished to see his old friend lying back in his easy chair in a tumult of laughter.

The day before the wedding I call to see Will and inform him of our safe arrival home. However, I forbid his seeing Mollie that day, as she is all upset and sick after her long journey. So much so that I did not take her home, but left her at Mr. Tracy's, for both Mollie and Mr. Tracy desire to have the wedding take place at his house. Will, however, refuses, saying he feels it would be an intrusion and prefers going to the church. That evening he received a call from Mr. Tracy, who insisted that the marriage should take place in his house.

"Why," exclaimed Mr. Tracy, "I feel as though I were her father, I am so much attached to her."

The next morning at eleven o'clock Mollie stands before me in her bridal dress, a matchless white velvet. I am putting the finishing touches to the arrangement of her veil. At last she stands arrayed for her marriage.

Somehow it seems to me that there is a gulf opening between us. Hereafter her love will be all given to another, he will be her confidant in troubles great or small, our girlish days will be forgot and I will be but a memory to her, a cipher of the days that are gone.

I cannot control my feelings, and with a flood of tears I clasp her to my heart, exclaiming:

"Forgive my crying on your wedding morn, dear, but it seems so hard to give you to another, it seems impossible that you can leave your life-long friends to follow where a stranger leads. Though I can but regret our parting, yet I wish you every happiness. I know that he will be kind to you. Always be patient, dear, no matter how hard your trials may be. Remember that woman, as a general rule, have more patience and power of endurance than men, because they have deeper faith, courage and love. In all things a husband and wife should agree. There is nothing better and nobler than when husband and wife, being of one mind, rule a household." Good-bye, dear; your father is waiting for you." And kissing her again, I open the door to find Mr. Tracy standing, watch in hand, waiting.

"You are five minutes late," he says, smiling. Extending his arm, we go silently down to the library, where Will is waiting for his bride, the supposed Mollie Lorden. Mr. Tracy escorts Mollie as far as the door and sends her in, saying, "She can explain matters best."

Just at this moment the judge and Geneveive arrive. They are to be the only guests at the wedding.

The clergyman is there waiting patiently. Geneveive is excited and for once in her life forgets to be languid.

"I think it's the oddest thing I ever heard of," she says, "I can't imagine what object there can be in not allowing us to know who Mollie is marrying."

I remind Geneveive that patience is a virtue, and if she will wait a few moments she will discover the reason.

At this moment the bridal couple enter, and the judge, who was in the act of sitting down, rises to his feet in such a manner as would make a stranger believe that he had sat on a cushion of darning needles. He is too surprised to make another move, so he stands there speechless and motionless. A faint "Will!" is all that is heard from Geneveive.

Will leads Mollie up to his father and says:

"Father, this is the woman I wish to marry. Until ten minutes ago I thought she was Miss Gorman's servant. I loved her when I thought she was a servant girl working for an honest living. I asked your consent to our marriage and you refused and disowned me. Now I find she is Mr. Tracy's daughter, and again I ask your consent to make her my wife."

There is a moment's silence and then the judge says:

"Yes, you can marry her, although it looks as though it made mighty little difference whether I gave my consent or not, seeing that you have the clergyman here and everything prepared." And then turning to Mollie he says, "God bless you, dear. I'd rather have you for my daughter that any one else," and kissing her, places her hand in Will's.

The Rev. Joseph Gill now steps forward, and Mollie Tracy becomes Mrs. William McIntyre.

We have a merry wedding breakfast and then Mollie puts on her neat traveling dress and departs for a short wedding tour.

So ends my story of "Mollie Darling," for, of course, her life was a happy one. —Anna E. Murphy, in Catholic Home.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Healing Qualities manifested under its benign influence, especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ring Worm, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Eczema, Rose or Salt Rheum and Swellings. Hip-Joint Disease, White Swelling, Hip Disease, Fever Sores, Scrofulous Sores or Swellings, Tumors, Tubercular Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), and even in advanced stages of the disease, when the patient has become reduced in flesh, and has night-sweats, and is troubled with severe coughing, it will promptly arrest the disease and work a perfect cure in a majority of such cases. Send 10 cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or 50 cents in stamps for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections. THEY CURE WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and sound health will follow. In Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Humors, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scaly or Rough Skin, and every disease caused by Blood-poison, it has shown its wonderful curative powers. By all druggists.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this Golden remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, furred tongue, you are suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

LOCAL NEWS.

Orange Lodges.

Some time since Mr. J. B. McWilliams, County Master of West Peterborough, L. O. L., received word from the Grand Master that a deputation of Orangemen from Ireland were coming to Canada, and that they would probably speak at Peterborough, and requesting him to call a meeting to consider the matter. A large number of local Orangemen met in the True Blues' hall last night and resolved to extend an invitation to the visiting Orangemen to lecture at Peterborough on the 23rd September, instant. The following committee were chosen to carry out the arrangements: Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, County Master; Wm. King, District Master; Richard Waram, District Master, Lakefield; Robert Weir, G. W. Hall, Alex. Hamilton, M. Jamieson, E. Hannell, F. W. Weir, J. J. Smith, C. W. Adams, Jas. Morrison and Wm. Preston.

The Horticultural Exhibition.

The directors of the Peterborough Horticultural Society held a meeting on Wednesday evening to make final arrangements for the exhibition to be held in the Roller Rink, Water Street, on Tuesday next, Sept. 7th. Prof. J. S. Parker, has undertaken to provide a musical programme for the evening, and a splendid entertainment, in addition to the flower and fruit exhibition may be expected. The best local talent will take part in this concert. The admission fee to exhibition, and concert too, has been placed at 10c. There should be a great gathering.

Cricketers.

The following team has been selected to represent the P. A. A. A. cricket club in the match to be played with the Toronto "Sawbones" in the Association grounds here to-morrow. R. B. Rogers, W. Strathy, T. Baker, Max Hamilton, B. A. T. Bell, S. Ray, H. Ray, J. Stirling, W. Salisbury, J. E. Hammond, and another not yet decided on. That they will give a good account of themselves is certain, and the team that beats them will have to play a great game.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

Grand Pic-nic.

A grand pic-nic will be held in the Separate School grounds, Murray street, on Tuesday, the 7th of September. Prizes will be given for athletic sports and games. Refreshments will be in abundance at moderate charges. The management is in the hands of a large and competent committee, and a pleasant day's enjoyment may be looked for. The proceeds will be in behalf of the building fund of St. Peter's Cathedral. Suitable music will be provided. Remember Tuesday, the 7th, and make no other engagement.

Roller Rink Re-opening.

On Wednesday evening the Lansdowne roller rink was re-opened for the season. The electric light beamed forth invitingly, and shortly after eight o'clock there were dozens of lovers of the pastime "rolling" over the smooth surface of the rink. Skating was enjoyed by a large number of young people, the spectators having their share of the sport.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

The Central.

The Directors of the Peterborough Central exhibition held a meeting yesterday afternoon and appointed judges for the coming Central. Other minor business relative to the exhibition was also transacted.

Ladies' Jerseys.

We are now showing the trade the largest variety of Jerseys we ever possessed. Our stock embraces all the latest styles in the market. R. FAIR.

Increasing the Time.

Now that the holidays are over, the dry goods stores have ceased closing at six o'clock. Seven is now the regulation hour to shut up shop.

Katchawanook Championship.

The Single Scull Championship of the Lake Won by Curran, of Orillia—Sutherland, of Lakefield, Defeated by a Length.

The single race for the championship of Lake Katchawanook, and a $50 gold medal presented by the village of Lakefield, took on Clear Lake course, Wednesday, was won by Robt. Curran, of Orillia, who defeated G. A. Sutherland, of Lakefield, by a length.

In honor of the event, the day was observed in Lakefield as a civic holiday, and that enterprising village, and Young's Point also, were well represented at the lake. There were also present a large party from Peterborough. The steamers "Cruiser" and "Fairy" made two trips each between Lakefield and the course during the day, both bringing large numbers of persons to to see the sport.

About five o'clock it was decided to call the race, and preparations were made for the start. By this time there were scores upon scores of canoes all along the sides of the course, a splendid one, a mile and a half straight away, while the steamers were well freighted with spectators. Unfortunately there was a stiff head wind blowing and the water was lumpy, which both tended to make the time slow. G. A. Strickland, of Lakefield, and Robert Curran, of Orillia, were the only contestants who appeared when time was called. The wings of the Lachine raft were the limits in progress. At 5.30 H. W. Kent, of Peterborough, who acted as starter, fired the pistol. The men caught the water well together, starting off at a rattling rate, both pulling a strong, clean stroke. Curran went to the front from the first, and it was in vain that his opponent tried to pass him. On the last quarter mile Strickland made several determined sprints, but Curran continued to lead, passing the flag a full length ahead, in 11 minutes and 27 seconds. The race was a pretty one from start to finish. The Fairy, which carried the referee, Mr. Smith, of Peterborough, followed the race. On returning to Lakefield Curran was presented with the medal, a very handsome one, by the referee.

Unfortunately for Strickland, he was handicapped by having a sore finger on his right arm pocketed the day previous, which prevented him from pulling as freely and vigorous as he could and doing justice to himself during the race. However, he pulled a good oar, and was defeated by a good oarsman.

Mr. Curran is a newspaper man, having with his father a joint interest in the Orillia News-Letter.

What We May Expect.

Sport to boom for the remainder of the week.

The "Sawbones" cricketers to arrive this evening

To be beaten by the P. A. A. A. eleven to-morrow,

And also by a county team on Saturday.

The Beaverton "Checkers" to play the Riversides to-morrow,

And not to get "three straights" anyway.

A bumper benefit house at the concert to-night,

Delightful music, a delighted audience,

And a satisfactory result.

Pupils to get used to school, but not to forget the holidays,

Earthquakes at the police court shortly.

"Mokie" to live freely,

And Scott Act cases to be the cause.

The wedding business to revive again suddenly,

And several pretty girls to be stolen from the town.

Warmer weather or sour grapes.

New Stores.

Work has been begun on the foundation for a new block of stores on Mr. George A. Cox's lot, on the corner of George and Charlotte streets. The building will be a large, substantial and handsome structure, with seventy-five feet frontage on George street, and extending back sixty feet on Charlotte street. The building will be three stories high and of white brick. It will contain one double store on the corner, facing both George and Charlotte streets, and four single stories facing on George street. Mr. Francis Mason will occupy the corner store with his flower and seed business, and will have hot houses in connection. The work of building will be pushed rapidly forward, and it is expected that the whole will be completed and ready for tenanting at the end of two months.

The Selected Players.

The following players have been chosen to represent the Riverside Lacrosse Club in the match with the Beaverton Checkers to-morrow:—

Jos Phelan	Goal.
E. Rogers	Point.
W. Wash	Cover-point.
T. Maher	Defence field.
A. Ross	" "
W. Mc Avella	" "
F. Larone	Centre.
T. Giroux	Home field.
J. Begley	"
C. Rutherford	"
T. Duncan	Second home.
S. J. Trew	First home.
M. McDonald	Field Captain.

Medallists.

The medals presented to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute were won by Mr. G. Armstrong and Mr. H. E. T. Haultain, the former taking the Governor-General's medal for general proficiency, and the latter the silver medal presented by Mr. John H. Burnham, of Toronto, for the Institute pupil taking the highest standing at the Toronto University matriculation examinations. The successful students are to be congratulated on their good fortune.

Collegiate Institute.

The announcement of the various promotions and of the names of the candidates successful in obtaining teachers' certificates, together with the names of those who have obtained medals or honours at the recent University examinations, will be made to-morrow, September 3rd, at 2 p.m. The Mayor, who is also chairman of the School Board, will preside.

Must Do Something.

By way of killing time, a powerful P. C. and the sub-Police Court Clerk had a set-to last night with soft gloves. The S. P. C. C. had his nasal organ profusely banged, when time was called. No person was killed.

Juvenile Salvationists.

A number of the junior members of the Salvation Army paraded some of the back streets in the west ward yesterday, and attracted considerable attention. They took the big drum and banners along.

Police Court.

There was a blank calendar at the police court again this morning. Evil-doers are holidaying, it would seem.

Rifle Practice.

Members of the local Rifle Association held their monthly match at the butts yesterday.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new Illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the Daily Examiner. It is a powerful sensational story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It combines the interest of the romance and the [illegible] holds it close through every chapter to the end. The leading characters are Maclaverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and [illegible] Colonel Carteret, her lover; Hallowes and Dr. Hamilton, villains of the first water. The tale is involved more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

The Concert To-Night.

Miss Annie Delaney's benefit concert will be the attraction at the Opera House to-night. Indications point to a highly entertaining musical treat. Miss M. Helen O'Reilly and Miss Maud Burdette, of the New England Conservatory of Music, will provide a programme which in itself will be worth the price of admission, according to the press musical critics, while in addition to this, Miss Delaney, whose ability as an instrumental and vocal musician is well known, assisted by the following able local talent: Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, Miss Bloomfield, Miss Loch, Mr. T. Dunn, and Mr. C. H. Geale will contribute. A select orchestra, under Prof. Doucet, will be in attendance. The seats are being taken rapidly, and parties wishing to reserve their seats should call on Mr. E. J. Hartley as early as possible.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" [illegible] kid shoe	$1.00
" [illegible] Oxford	1.00
" [illegible] calf tie shoe	1.15
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

P. A. A. A. Fall Sports.

The officers of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association are at present busily engaged in preparing for the Association fall sports, to be held on the grounds, Ashburnham, on Monday, September 27th, and posters will be issued in a day or so, publishing particulars. The programme of sports will be first-class, including twelve events, six of which will be open to all amateurs, while the other six are open to members of the Association only. Valuable medals will be given for each event, several of which will have to be won twice, viz: quarter-mile, half-mile, and mile rides.

Another Watch Stolen.

This morning Mr. Richard Moore, who is drummer in the Fire Brigade Band works for Mr. John Craig, Ashburnham, had a silver watch and chain stolen from him. He left his vest hanging on a peg in the shop while at work, with his watch in the pocket. He had occasion to go up to Mr. Craig's house for a few minutes, and when he returned he found that his time piece had been appropriated. He has an idea who the guilty party is, and if it is not returned suddenly Constable Craig will be put on his track.

Strange But True.

P. C. Pidgeon's breast-plate, buttons, boots and teeth shone with an unusual lustre this morning. On inquiring the cause, the cop stated that he had cleaned his silverware with clay taken from a drain near the Stove Works, ("great stuff, too") and the last two named articles by means of a brush. There's something in the wind. The clay referred to is said to possess magic qualities—almost as many as Moxie—in cleaning and polishing silverware, tinware, etc.

"John Knox and His Times."

Miss Templeton Armstrong will deliver her celebrated lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House, Monday evening, Sept. 6th. Of which lecture Rev. H. M. Parsons, Toronto, says: "It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the office of door-keeper, etc., will be filled by ladies. Officers of the Union will take seats on the stage. Doors open at 7.30, chair taken at 8.

Who is He?

The Brockville Recorder, in speaking of the A. C. A. camp, says:—"Among the Peterborough canoeists is a gentleman who has the distinction of being an Irish landlord. He had an offer to sell out shortly before the Irish question became such a burning one, and is now sorry he did not accept it."

This Evening's Concert.

The extensive preparations for this evenings concert fortells certain success. Boudoir Grand piano shipped from Toronto for the occasion has arrived and will prove a valuable addition. Tickets and plan of hall at E. J. Hartley's music store.

A SNUB BY THE CZAR

PRINCE ALEXANDER SURRENDERS HIS SELF GOVERNING TROPHY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 2.—On August 28 Prince Alexander sent the following telegram to the Czar of Russia through the Russian consul at Rustchuk:

SIRE: Having reassumed the government of Bulgaria, I venture to offer to your Imperial Majesty my most respectful thanks for the action of your consul at Rustchuk, whose official presence at my reception showed to the Bulgarians that Russia did not approve of the revolution, as not directed at my person. I also thank your Imperial Majesty for despatching [illegible] as every extraordinary to Bulgaria. [illegible] are on peaceable power is to a [illegible] my firm intention to maintain [illegible] forward your message to [illegible] from the grave upon which she is sinking. I beg of your Majesty that you will accept [illegible] Returning myself to place himself [illegible] with myself as speedily as [illegible] I shall be happy to give your Majesty [illegible] proofs of my unalterable devotion to your august person. Russia having given me my crown, into the hands of Russia's sovereign I am ready to render it.

The Czar replied to Prince Alexander:

I cannot approve of your return to Bulgaria, foreseeing from it sinister consequences for a country already so sorely tried. The minister of Prince Dolgorouki has become inexpedient. I shall abstain so long as your Highness remains in Bulgaria from any intervention in the land concession to which the country is reduced. Your highness must decide upon your own course. Reserve to myself to judge what my father's venerated memory, the interests of Russia and the peace of the East require of me.

Effect of the Correspondence.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The publication of the correspondence between the Czar and Prince Alexander has created a great sensation in political circles. The Czar's menacing reply to the Prince's submissive epistle is regarded by diplomats as insuring Alexander's abdication and Russian occupation of Bulgaria. It is feared war will ensue unless Bismarck intervenes.

Revolutionists and Royalists.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—Private telegrams received here this evening from Sofia state that a battle took place at Radomir, Eastern Roumelia, between regiments loyal to Prince Alexander and regiments siding with the revolutionists and that the latter were defeated with heavy loss.

Prince Alexander Going to Sofia.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Sept. 2.—Prince Alexander started for Sofia this evening. The Porte's aide-de-camp, Gadjin Effendi, the special ambassador, to intercede in behalf of the Bulgarian plotters

The Copyright Question.

BERNE, Sept. 2.—The conference for the protection of literary property will reassemble here on September 6, when the delegates will sign the convention. Austria, America and Russia will not [illegible] the convention yet, but their subsequent adhesion is considered certain. They will thereafter not be excluded from the copyright union.

Bulgarian Unlucky Year.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The St. James' Gazette says that 1886 began on Friday, will end on Friday, and contains fifty-three Fridays, four months in the year have five Fridays, five changes of the moon occur on Friday, and both the longest and shortest days in the twelve months are on Fridays. This might indeed be termed a Friday year.

COMING TO ITS CLOSE.

Presentation of Prizes to the Winning Riflemen at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 2.—The weather was fine and the shooting was good. The prizes were presented on the grounds in the afternoon by Sir John and Lady Macdonald. The president and Mrs. Kirkpatrick received and entertained a large number of guests in splendid style. Everything passed off well. Sir Fred and Lady Middleton assisted, and all the prominent people of Ottawa were present. Sgt. Lazier, who won last year the same prize, was enthusiastically received, also the Prince Edward Island team.

Named race—First, Indicator, b. g., P. McCherry; second, Rosa Obed, r. m., W. Lennox; third, George D., b. g., R. D. Dutton. Best time 2.45.

To-morrow's programme contains five events both trotting and running races, and promises first-class sport.

It is predicted that the coming winter will be unusually mild and open.

Absent Babyskins.

From Stone and Hardware, Aug. 15.

For years the English and French only rolled the manufacture of hairpins, and it is only within the last twenty years that the code have been produced in this country to any extent. The machinery used is of a delicate and intricate character, as the prices at which pins are sold necessitates the most rapid and cheapest process, which can only be caused by automatic machines. The wire is made or ready for the purpose and put in large coils, which are placed on reels, and the end of the wire is placed in a clamp which carries it to the machine while straightening it; from there it runs in another machine, which cuts, bends, and, by a delicate and instantaneous process, sharpens the points. Running at full speed, these machines will turn out 120 hairpins every minute. To economize it is necessary to keep them working night and day. The difficult part of the work is the enameling, which is done by dipping in a preparation and baking in an oven. Here is where the most constant and careful attention is required, as the pin must be perfectly smooth and the enamel have a perfect polish. The slightest particles of dust cause imperfections and roughness, which is objectionable.

A Queen's Beauty Box.

From the Magazine of Art.

Fashion seems strong as fate; the young Queen (Marie Antoinette) took the virus, and with the aid of her milliner, Mlle. Bertin, and her hair-dresser, Leonard, she reopened the mad dance in fashions so preposterous that, sending her portrait to her mother, the Empress Marie Therese, it was returned with the remark that there was some mistake, for the portrait of an actress had been received, and not that of a queen of France. This, however, was Marie Antoinette's idea of her position: "I am on the stage," she said, "and shall be hissed or applauded." Not only her mother, but her brother, the Emperor Joseph II., was annoyed by this weakness. When the latter came to see her at Paris he could not suppress his vexation. Seeing her one day laying on the rouge very thick, preparatory to going to the play, he said, pointing to a lady in the room whose face was blazing with paint: "A little more under the eyes; lay on the rouge like a fury as that lady does."

However, it is doubtful whether Maria Theresa herself could have resisted such a legion of devils as possessed the court at Versailles. They lay all round in ambush, and found their advantage in the young queen's craving for dressing her head. One day she saw the Duc de Lauzun in uniform, his hat adorned with a most magnificent plume of white heron's feathers. The duke being told the queen admired the plume, offered it to her. It was accepted and worn; whereupon the donor supposed he had made a conquest, and became so insulting that the queen said: "That man shall never come within my doors." [illegible]

How to Make a Crewel Case.

A very useful present for a friend who does much at embroidery is a case for crewels. Take a piece of soft crash; a nice piece of the kind used for dish toweling is better than the unbleached, because of the soft grey color which does not soil quite so readily as the unbleached; cut off about three-quarters of a yard and hem the edges. Take another piece of equal length, but about nine and one-half inches wider. Hem the sides and baste it on the wider piece, so that the latter will project equally on either side. Then run the outside and inside together at regular intervals of about an inch, to receive the skeins of crewel after they have been cut into working lengths. A flap for needles can be placed at one end. I have seen these cases made more ornamental by feather-stitching the divisions and hems, but, although they look prettier when empty, it would be hard to find a color that would harmonize with the various shades of crewel. A small one is very convenient for silks.

The Knights and the Church of Rome.

From the Canadian Baptist.

The Knights of Labor are no doubt awaiting with some anxiety an explanation of the ambiguous attitude of the church of Rome in respect to their organization. In Montreal Cardinal Taschereau issues a circular directing the bishops in his diocese that the Papal See has confirmed its previous condemnation of the constitution of the organization. In Baltimore Cardinal Gibbons says there is nothing in that constitution antagonistic to the views of his church. The latter cardinal further enunciates the common sense view that his church makes a distinction between those secret societies which exact a pledge of absolute secrecy and those which limit the pledge with a proviso that nothing will be asked contrary to the laws of the land, or the tenets of the church. It is not often that there is even the appearance of divided counsels in the infallible church, and some explanation will probably be forthcoming.

A Fish Eating People.

From the Christian at Work.

The Japanese eat very little meat. With a population of 30,000,000 the whole country contains less than one million head of cattle. Of these less than 600,000 are fit for food. It follows there are but two head of cattle for every hundred Japanese, whereas there are seventy-three head of cattle for every hundred Americans, men, women and children. About one-half of the cattle slaughtered in Japan is eaten by the foreign population, and the residue is consumed by the Japanese army and navy. Consul-General Van Buren reports that the people live mainly upon fish, which includes cod, salmon, mackerel, herring, carp, eels, skate, mullet and cat-fish, while plaice are plentiful and cheap. The consul also states that one-half of the people eat fish every day, and the rest two or three times a week. So as to secure a variety, many of the fishes are eaten raw. The Japanese, however, live mainly on vegetable food. They have an acorn which grows on a small bush four feet high, and which is plentiful, cheap and very nutritious. This nut, it is said, should be naturalized in this country, as it has the merit of being free from bitter and astringent qualities. The Japanese, however, are not a strong people. They are a small and feeble race physically, as compared with Europeans. They have, however, a high civilization of their own, and are intelligent and industrious. The meat-eating races are, after all, the most virile and vigorous. It is the beef and mutton-eating Englishmen and the Americans, who consume so much animal food, which are populating the earth. The rice and fish-eating nations of the East are not distinguished for either bodily or mental vigor.

Hidden Under the Shingles.

From the Wall-street News.

A traveler over a country road in Ohio had his attention drawn to the fact that about every third farmer on the route was reshingling his barn, and in his innocence he remarked to the driver of the rig:

"It is probably because shingles are so cheap?"

"Not exactly," was the reply. "The county voted $5000 to build a poor-house, and these barns all belong to the supervisors."

"But, I—I don't see the connection," persisted the traveler.

"Oh! there isn't any. We've been trying for the last five years to find the connection, but we can't do it. If we could we'll bounce the whole gang."

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AS TO HOW THEY WERE CAUSED.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Cecil Raikes, Postmaster-General, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government had under consideration the establishment of a mail route from Ireland, by way of British North America, to India and the far east.

J. Gordon, Parnellite, asked the Government why County Clare had been placed in the sphere of General Sir Redvers Buller's [illegible]

The Right Hon. Hicks-Beach replied that although there did not exist in Clare that state of lawless intimidation which prevailed in Kerry, still there was much intimidation in Clare and much activity among the agitators.

Lord Randolph Churchill will to-morrow ask precedence for the supply bills.

Mr. Parnell has given notice that he will move the following amendment to Lord Randolph Churchill's motion: "The necessity for measures to ameliorate the condition of the people of Ireland is so urgent that the House declines to surrender to the Government the usual facilities enjoyed by members of the House."

Mr. McDonald, member for Sligo, resumed the debate on Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address. He attributed the troubles in Belfast to the incitement of certain reverend firebrands, and the speeches of Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain.

Major Saunderson (Conservative) denied absolutely that the Orangemen originated the riots, which he said were the legacy of Mr. Gladstone's blood-stained policy, which extended from Khartoum to Belfast. He damned Mr. Sexton's assertion that the Orangemen had taken an oath to exterminate the Catholics. Orange lodges, he said, were always opened with prayer, and one of the petitions was that Irish Catholics might be rescued from the error of their ways. (Laughter.) If Parliament handed them over to the Parnellites, Orangemen would be justified in resorting to force. Orangemen objected to being disarmed by politicians who received foreign money for their support.

The Speaker here called Major Saunderson to order, saying his remarks were irrelevant.

Continuing, Major Saunderson indignantly denied that he had incited civil war. "No rebellion, not civil war," shouted Mr Sexton. Major Saunderson reiterated that if Parliament handed over the loyalists to the tender mercies of the Parnellites, the former would be justified as a last resource in applying to arms.

Mr. Sexton rose to a point of order. He asked whether Major Saunderson's remarks were allowable.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt supported Mr Sexton.

Lord Randolph Churchill thought if Major Saunderson's expressions were objectionable the words ought to be taken down.

The Speaker said he did not think it necessary for him to interfere.

Major Saunderson, in resuming, said he hoped the result of the Government's action would be to teach the Belfast mob, whether Protestant or Catholic, that the law must be obeyed.

A Campaign in the Recess.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—A number of prominent Radicals of the House of Commons, with the assistance of the Parnellites, have matured a scheme for a vigorous Home Rule campaign during the Parliamentary recess by means of pamphlets and lectures. Arrangements are also being made for a number of popular meetings.

Landlords Must be Exterminated.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—United Ireland says, the era of the extermination of landlords has commenced in Ireland. "We don't owe them anything," United Ireland says, "and we don't feel any pity for them. The Irish landlord is the modern impersonation of the Irish tenants are fighting literally for dear life. Final victory is assured to them."

The Situation at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 2.—The official total of deaths is thirty-three. The wounded will probably number 100. Business is still suspended, the whole attention of the people being given to providing for refugees and making residences safe. Bricklayers have exhausted their rates to six dollars a day. There were shocks last night at 8.30, 11.30 p.m. and 5 a.m. All were light. Confidence is gradually returning, but much apprehension is still felt.

Sir Wm. Dawson's Partial Prediction.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Daily Telegraph refers to Sir William Dawson's address before the British Association, in which he asked "Whether the great force which formed the Atlantic had finally exhausted or created" and then replied: "It is possible after a long period of quiescence has elapsed there may be a new settlement of the crust, especially on the western side of the Atlantic, and possibly with renewed volcanic activity on its eastern margin."

The West Ontario Pacific Junction.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The first sod was turned on the West Ontario Pacific Railway and work commenced near Thamesford yesterday morning by a large force of men and teams. The contractors are having large shanties erected at that point for the accommodation of the men. Messrs McFarlane & Gentry are engaging all the men and teams that offer and are preparing to commence work both here and at Woodstock.

A Shifty Religionist.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—It is stated that some time ago Visu, the notorious burglar, renounced Catholicism, and on being watched by the warden, whose suspicions were aroused by this strange act, it was found that the convict only attended the Protestant church to enable him to speak to one of the keepers, with whom he was familiar. Some letters, written by Visu to friends outside, were found in the possession of the keeper, who was forthwith discharged, and Visu then renounced Protestantism.

A SEA SERPENT IN A RIVER.

The Extraordinary Monster That Was Seen by Navigators o. the Hudson.

RONDOUT, N.Y., Sept. 2.—The sea serpent which was witnessed disporting itself in the waters of the Hudson River near Kingston Point Sunday has again been seen. Capt. Fisher of Rondout went to Kingston Point yesterday, and the man in charge of the wreck of the steamboat, Daniel Drew, told him that he saw the serpent the night previous. It was making its way north with head extended about five feet out of the water. It stood from its course long enough to give chase to two young men who were rowing in a small boat. They reached the shore in safety, but were terribly frightened. The monster, as the watchman describes it, grew furious when it saw the young men had escaped. It leaped the water into foam with its tail, which seemed about seventy-five feet distant from the head. Its head was as large around as a flour barrel, and the eyes of greenish hue looked "devilish." Before starting up the Hudson River again it squirted from its mouth a stream of foaming stuff resembling a long shaving from a pine plank. Capt. Conkling, of the propeller John H. Cowden, also saw the serpent. He gave it the "right of way" in the channel. It was seen this morning abreast of Flat Rock lighthouse by a number of persons whose description of the monster does not vary in the least.

SCEPTICISM.

According to the etymology of the word there is nothing terribly dangerous in scepticism. A sceptic is one who simply keeps his eyes open, and scepticism is nothing more than the confirmed habit of looking into things.

Of course, it may be asked, are not sceptics unbelievers? To this we must answer, some are, some may be, but the unbelievers who do most harm in the world can certainly not be classed with sceptics. Unbelief arises very often from immorality, and sometimes it is due to negative dogmatism. But it is scarcely a legitimate inference to assert that all who question the existence of a Divine Being, are fools.

There is really nothing in the sceptical attitude per se which is not legitimate and even praiseworthy. It is the various pseudo scepticism of sham doubters, who know not the difference between a false argument and a true one, which we ought to deprecate. In other words, honest doubters who enquire and study and think for themselves, and whose hearts and minds and eyes are trained to practice logical methods in the pursuit of truth, should be most heartily encouraged. No untrained amateur has any right to posture as a sceptic. And even the qualified, thoughtful philosophers had best refrain from attempting to exercise their rights, if it appears, on trial, that they cannot do so without limiting the sphere of their practical usefulness. Conduct, as Matthew Arnold says, is the main thing. It is less important how we think than how we act amid the circumstances which surround us.

Des Cartes, if we may judge from his discourse on "Method," must have been the ideal of what a skeptic ought to be. He had been trained for the work from his early childhood. He had eyes, and he knew how to keep them open. He determined to take nothing upon trust, but to examine into the ground of his most assured convictions. With all this he knew full well the dangers of the work which he set himself to accomplish, and therefore, before attempting to pull down the structure of opinions in which he had been bred, he took measures to provide himself with a temporary shelter, in which he might live his life uninjured. For all practical purposes he regulated his conduct by the authority of the most judicious, holding himself free at the same time, to test all opinions from his speculative stand point. If men would make Des Cartes their standard, and exercise their scepticism with the like caution, the world at large would gain immensely, and scepticism would grow in good repute.

At the root of much of the popular unbelief lies the idea that creeds need looking into. They do, indeed. In fact, they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by a rigid, searching scrutiny by men well trained and properly qualified to give an impartial judgment and a true decision. Christianity does not fear honest and instructed scepticism. But until the church and world produce sceptics of Des Cartes' pattern, well trained and cautious, Christianity may well ignore the swarm of silly theorists and rapid agnostics who usurp a position which they are not entitled.

THE Hon. William MacDougall says that the "boodle men in Sir John A. Macdonald's party will, if they have not already done so, drive every honest voter in the country into opposition." Mr. Goldwin Smith says:—

"Most of us have learned pretty well to acquiesce in the fact that the Dominion Government is a government of corruption. Men, places, provinces, interests, churches, organizations of every kind, are bought in different ways, some more coarsely, some more subtly, in order to form the basis of a system which is administered, after its kind, with great ability, and is closely bound up with the personal ambition of its veteran chief."

Hon. Peter Mitchell says in effect that in the course of a lengthy public life he has never known a time when a parliamentary career was made to such an extent as at present, a means of dishonourable personal gain by supporters of the dominant party.

All these are "independent" men, who have in most instances showed a leaning towards the party in power. "Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis, 'tis true."

THE Tories are the facing both ways party. In Quebec they hounded Mr. Jolly out of his premiership because he was a protestant; in Ontario they are using the "no Popery" cry for all its worth. In the west the Tory party has hypocritically placed "British connection," ostentatiously in the first place in its platform; but here in the East, Mr. Patrick Baskerville, M. P. P., (Tory) at a public banquet, refuses to put the toast of "the Queen."

In the Imperial Parliament Lord Randolph Churchill has given notice that the Government will propose the abolition of the secret service fund. Sir John A. Macdonald and his colleagues profess regard for imperial precedents. Here they have an important example. Will they follow it? We shall see.

Her Majesty's Jubilee.

From the Montreal Star, Aug. 31.

Col. Oswald, who only returned from England yesterday, says that the Colonial Exhibition which has attracted so many colonists to London, has had the effect of inspiring a great revulsion of feeling toward the colonies, and a great effort is being made to have the celebration of the Queen's jubilee next year an occasion for demonstrating the strength of the colonies by having representatives of all arms present from the different dependencies of the empire.

The Fly as a Purifier.

Allentown (Pa.) National Educator.

Of what use is this troublesome customer? The fly does his part in the great and important work of purification, seeing with his 10,000 eyes things that would pass unnoticed by us, eagerly devouring his appropriate food. This he finds in the smallest atoms of animal and vegetable matter, too small to be noticed by the tidy housekeepers, which otherwise would be permitted to putrefy, contaminating the air. We may imagine that he circles about in the air with no definite object in view, but if we will carefully watch him we shall be convinced that he has an object, collecting his food, atoms of impure or decaying matter which otherwise would enter our lungs, adding to the impurity of our blood. This filth is collected on his wings and head, for as we see him light he scrapes his wings and his head with his legs and feet, passing the gathered morsels from foot to foot, the front pair passing his dinner to his mouth. The fly also teaches us the value of sunlight, not only to cheer but to purify the air, for he has too good sense to live in a dark room. When the parlor is darkened he seeks a decent place for his release."

A Reckless Wish.

From the New York Sun.

"Oh, dear," sighed Widow Jones, "if John had only made a will, there wouldn't be all this trouble about the property."

"Do the lawyers bother you?"

"Bother me! They almost worry me to death. I declare, I sometimes wish John hadn't died."

Protect the Dumb Beasts.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

The Niagara cranks are still at work trying to outdo each other in daring feats. As long as they risk only their own lives there is not much reason for public concern, but it is now proposed to have an intelligent horse, Bloudin, walk a tight rope suspended over the Falls. This is a kind of cruelty that should be stopped, for the horse is not a free agent If left to himself he would have sense enough not to undertake any such foolhardy venture Such an animal deserves protection not accorded to the barrel and other cranks.

Current Events.

Gen. Boulanger, French Minister of War, has started on a tour of the South-Eastern frontier.

The bi-centennial of the take of Pesth from the Turks by the Austrians was celebrated yesterday.

A conflict with great slaughter is reported between the Royalists and Revolutionists in Bulgaria.

The Vatican authorities have decided to send Mgr. Agliardi to China in the capacity of envoy extraordinary instead of as nuncio. France has accepted the compromise.

The International Grain Market of Vienna has issued an estimate of the crops at 75 per cent. on the continent generally. Hungary is estimated at 97 per cent., Roumania 100, Egypt 90, Poland 105, Northern Russia 85 and Central Russia 55.

While master builders were in session on Wednesday at Barcelona a scussing a masons' strike gunpowder was exploded under the tables occupied by the conference. Six of the builders were injured.

The city of Lilles, France, is suffering severely from tropical weather. There have been six deaths from sunstroke among the troops and twenty-three persons prostrated by the heat are lying in the hospital.

Among the contributions announced for the relief of the Charleston sufferers yesterday was $500 from the New York petroleum Exchange and $210 from the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union, holding annual session at Lancaster, Pa

Five hundred men employed in the breweries at St. Louis struck yesterday, the bosses refusing to withdraw the order requiring employes to leave the union if it did not raise the boycott in the small breweries by September 1.

On Sunday night the barn on the old Sangster property, three miles from Winterbourne, Ont. was struck by lightning and totally destroyed along with all the season's crop with the exception of a field of oats, which had not been housed. The horses were saved, but the pigs and poultry were burned to death. The loss is estimated at $3000. There was no insurance on the building.

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a celebrated watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole serial.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

BABY, the heir to Five Million Pounds.

"There is murder going to be done."

I felt the leather hangings on the walls

I found myself seized by the collar.

We were in prison.

The above Story will shortly be begun in the Daily Examiner.

Unrequited.

When the sun it is high o'er the earth, love,
And the sweet woodland sounds greet mine ear,
Then my heart is happy with mirth, love,
And I long that to me thou art dear.
It is sweetest of music, thy voice, love,
And the sun shining down on thy face
Is a picture that makes me rejoice, love—
When the sun it is bright in its place.

When the shadows of night gather round, love,
And the sounds of the woodland are still'd,
When the gruesome quiets abound, love,
Then I weep for the hopes unfulfilled.
And I sigh that my heart is so weak, love,
My heart that is thy heart for aye,
And I grieve for the words thou'lt not speak, love,
At the shadowy close of the day.

Oh! the sun is so strong in its light, love,
And the moon sheds its beams, oh! so soft,
That my heart it is swayed by their might, love,
As the maid who hath listened too oft.
So in sunshine I'll welcome thy smile, love,
In sunshine I'll greet thee with cheer—
But the shadows are mine to beguile, love,
With the veriest regrets and a tear.
—Flora M. Montgomery.

A Very Annoying System.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Mail and Express writes: The employes of the treasury have been in hard luck for a good while, owing to the martinet placed over them in the position of chief clerk. Anybody who wants to be a treasury clerk should read this. This chief clerk has to deal with the rules and regulations of the office. He is the man who stands between the secretary and his clerical force. Mr. Youmans is the gentleman who represents Secretary Manning in this capacity, and Youmans is just about as unpopular with the gentlemen and ladies of the department as a man can well be. By the side of Youmans the memory of Col. Webster and his military system rises like a vision of departed joys. The last named official used to require a military salute from the messengers and watchmen. Youmans requires every employe who leaves the building during office hours to have a pass. This pass must be shown to the watchman at the door or the employe be restrained by force or reported for breaking guard. The passes are granted by the chiefs of bureaus or divisions. In the monthly report rendered it seems that the third auditor's office headed the list with one hundred and sixty passes in March. This was too much for Youmans. At first he thought of having the whole office locked in after hours, but it was doubtful whether this punishment, so efficacious when he taught school, would work. He concluded to reprimand the officials who had granted the passes. It was decided to take away the authority of the chiefs of divisions in the third auditor's office to grant passes, and by way of making the punishment fit the crime compel these chiefs to take out passes themselves from the auditor or his deputy. Now when the division chief wants to go across the street the clerk presents himself before his chief uncovered. There he stands until the chief deigns to notice him. Then something like the following occurs:

Clerk—Please Mr. ——, I would like to go out for a few minutes.

Chief—Eh? What! It seems as if everybody is going out to-day. What are you going out for?

Clerk (indignantly)—I—I haven't been out this month, sir.

Chief—And that's why you want to go out, eh?

Clerk—Oh, no. I have a little private business which makes my presence necessary. It is pressing.

Chief (grumbling)—I suppose you couldn't attend to your private business out of office hours. Well, here's your pass. I hope you'll enjoy the matinee.

The retiring clerk receives this sarcastic raking stern fire in silence and hurries off. If it is a woman she cries a little in her anger and mortification, but gets her coat and bonnet, and, feeling like she could scratch somebody if that somebody were Youmans, she breaks for the door. Here a rough fellow blocks the passage.

"Got a pass?"

"Yes, I've got a pass."

"Show it, then, and don't stand here blocking the passage. [Examining the paper.] This is good for half an hour.

"Dear me! I shall never be able to get back in that time," despairingly.

"If you don't you'll be reported," growls the watchman, and he hails the next.

Imagine ladies and gentlemen submitting daily to this sort of thing and you will understand what a dog's life the government employe leads under such regulations as prescribed by the chief clerk of the treasury. Instead of discharging at once the deadbeats and loafers the whole force is placed on the deadbeat and loafer level.

Dr. Pighead—Madame! I am sorry to say that I don't think you will live two hours. Mrs. Magendie—O, doctor, it is very hard. Dr. Pighead—Very; to leave such a husband as yours. Mrs. Magendie—And only to think; there's my sister-in-law who knows that mourning is so becoming to her. I'm sure she's been hoping for some of the family to drop off.—Rambler.

Matilda Snowball, who is employed in the family of Col. Yerger, complained about her friend Sam Johnsing. "He borrowed a dollar from me las' week and I can't get hit back." "Why don't you marry him, Matilda? And then you can get it out of his pants at night when he's asleep."—Texas Siftings.

Street Scenes in Naples.

The street scenes of Naples are a study in themselves, and would entertain a traveler for days even if he never entered a building. The curious garbs of the ecclesiastics, who seem to form a large proportion of the inhabitants, the grotesque appearance of the street venders, with their wares piled up above their heads, and hanging to all parts of their bodies, the brilliant dresses of the middle-class women, and the fantastic costumes of the beggars, who are picturesque in their very nakedness, give variety to the scene. The cat's-meat man, with his viands strung on a long pole, from which he detaches a piece and carves it with his knife for each of his four-footed clients, is a most extraordinary sight. The public scribe, protected from the rays of the sun by an umbrella, as he sits at a table inditing a love-letter, perhaps, for a Neapolitan damsel as beautiful as she is illiterate, is useful as well as picturesque. Another remarkable personage is the cigar scavenger, who at night goes about with his lantern hunting for old stumps, which he sells to manufacturers to be converted into the filling for fresh cigars. To these may be added the zampognari or bagpipers, and a host of other curious characters, ranging anywhere from a cardinal, attired in crimson and riding in a gilded coach, to a baby, bound up, after the manner of Neapolitan babies, in the straitest of swaddling-clothes, and looking more like a roll of linen just come from a draper's shop than a human being.

The advent of the zampognari in Naples always heralds the approach of one of the more important Church festivals. They come from their distant homes in the mountains of the Abruzzi to Naples and the surrounding towns to celebrate the Immaculate Conception and the advent of Christmas. Wearing pointed felt hats, wrapped in long brown cloaks, under which occasionally appears a goat-skin jacket adorned with large metal buttons, their legs encased in tight-fitting breeches as far as the knee, and their feet adorned with rags fastened by leather thongs about the ankle and calf, they are most picturesque objects. Thus attired, the zampognari go from house to house, singing and playing before the little gilded images of the Virgin and the Child, and stopping before the street shrines, where they repeat their monotonous song. On Christmas Eve, when there is a spirit of liberality abroad, the zampognaro usually receives a large number of coppers, and as much in the way of food and drink as his stomach can accommodate. When the festival is over they return to their mountain homes, there to pass their time as laborers or shepherds until the next occurs. The bagpipes of the Abruzzi frequently act as models, their picturesque costume adapting itself readily to artistic purposes.—M. L. Vandyne, in Harper's Magazine for April.

To Maintain One Life

you must invent twenty, but truth can never be strengthened by bolstering. The testimony every lady who has used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" for nervous debility and female weakness carries conviction with it. The facts are stated in such a way that no one can doubt them. All those peculiar pains and sinking sensations which ladies suffer from, can be overcome by means of this wonderful preparation. If you are a sufferer from female weakness, don't fail to employ it. 6d50w35

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

LOCAL NEWS.

Cricket.

The "Sawbones" cricketers arrived last night and registered at the Oriental. The team is composed of Dr. Cameron, Dr. Pyam, Dr. [illegible], Dr. Cates, Dr. Scadding, Dr. Winder, Dr. Bray, and Dr. Burt, of Toronto; Dr. [illegible], of Uxbridge; Dr. Stevenson, of Acton, and Dr. Vavasour, of Chatham. Play will be started on the P.A.A.A. grounds shortly after 10 o'clock, everything being propitious. Hemsted lost the toss for the first time this year. The doctors went to bat, and up to the time of writing, were still at it, and had scored in the neighborhood of 250 runs. The Peterborough players were fielding masterly, while the bowlers were all "off." Dr. Scadding scored 95, Winder 81, and others were working well up in double figures. It looked as if they had the match.

Elevating the Electric Lamps.

During the past few days a force of men have been engaged in taking out the electric light poles on Brock street, re-placing them by poles over sixty feet high. Seven have been put in between the Court House hill and George street. The men have commenced to take out the poles on George street, and will put in their stead the longest poles procurable. The wires are thought to be inconveniently low along the street, and by raising them it is hoped that greater illuminating power will be gained.

Hazel Brae Garden Party.

A garden party and sale of work, on behalf of Dr. Barnardo's Home, will take place on the Hazel Brae grounds on Thursday evening, Sept. 9th. Contributions of cake, fruit and flowers are urgently solicited. Contributions to be left at the Metropolitan Grocery up to 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday. All are invited to attend. An enjoyable evening is expected. Gates opened at 7 p.m.; programme concludes at 10 p. m. Admission, 10c.

East Riding Exhibition.

The eighteenth annual exhibition of the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society will be held in Norwood, on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 12th and 13th. About $1,000 will be offered in premiums. Reduced fares will be given to visitors to the exhibition travelling over the C.P.R. Prize lists will be sent on application to the secretary, Mr. W. E. Roxborough, Norwood.

Hazel Brae Home Social.

A large number of the lady friends of the Hazel Brae Home met in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Thursday afternoon and made arrangements for the holding of a lawn social and sale of fancy articles at the Home on Thursday next, Sept. 9th. The ladies are entering upon the project with spirit, and a successful affair, no doubt, will be the result.

Rowdyism.

Complaints have been made to the Chief of Police that a number of roughs were in the habit of frequenting the corner of Park and Weller streets, where they lounged around insulting passers-by. During the past two nights a special has been stationed at this place and vicinity, but the offenders complained of have kept out of the way.

Grist Mill Burned.

On Wednesday Mr. W. H. Kinaman's grist mill and storehouses at Canton, near Port Hope, were destroyed by fire. The building was a three and a half storey frame. The fire is supposed to have originated in the upper storey from a heated shaft journal. The buildings and stock were insured for $8,500.

The Newest and Best.

For the best teas Morrow & Tierney cannot be beaten. They have just received a large stock of new season teas, in which they are offering special inducements. Camping parties' supplies and fancy groceries a specialty.

Battery Drill.

The members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery held drill last night. The gunners are getting in readiness to depart for Kingston, where they will go into camp on September 7th, Tuesday next.

Junior Cricket.

The junior members of the P. A. A. A. Cricket Club are arranging with the Campbellford juniors to play a game here shortly. Saturday, 11th inst., has been fixed as the date. The boys are bound to have a little more fun this season.

Heintzman Pianos.

Square, Grand, and Upright, may be seen at E. J. Hartley's music store, Hunter street. Inspect these pianos before purchasing. d2t

To the Ladies.

A Grand Concert.

Miss Annie Delaney's Benefit Concert a Brilliant Success.

The concert given in the Opera House Friday evening by Miss Annie Delaney, assisted by her colleagues of the new England Conservatory of Music and their own talent, was a splendid success, and must have been most satisfactory to the fair manager. The Opera House was well filled with a most orderly audience, which appreciated to a high degree the talent provided. From beginning to end the entertainment was of the choicest character, undoubtedly one of the best concerts ever given in town, and great praise and credit is due Miss Delaney for the manner in which it was conducted. The programme opened with a stirring overture by an orchestra of six pieces, led by Prof. Doucet, which rendered valuable services during the evening. Miss Delaney followed, giving a piano solo, by Rubenstein. On her appearance she was greeted with applause, but when she had completed the "Waltz Caprice," the applause was tremendous. Miss Delaney's rendition of this piece and the other selections given by her during the evening, were most brilliant and captivating. Her manipulation of the Heintzman Boudoir Grand was delightful, and it was evident that her training at the Boston Conservatory has added to the dash and spirit of her playing. Miss M. E. O'Reilly, of the New England Conservatory of Music, took the next number. Her song seemed to thrill the audience, her full, pleasant and elastic voice of great compass sparkling in runs and trills of the most classic composition, with an ease and elegance that denoted great ability. She was loudly applauded, and responded by a bow, apparently the Boston style. In her second song, "Von Dir," with violin and flute obligato, she carried the house by storm, and was most enthusiastically applauded, and was tossed a bouquet. The selections given by Mr. T. Dunn were appreciated, as they always are, but seemed to be enhanced by good company, and were especially excellent. His singing of "The Fog Bell" was magnificent, and an encore was insisted on. Miss Bloomfield Read next in order on the programme, and contributed in a pretty and difficult piano solo in fine style, and was accorded a hearty applause. Miss Maud Burdette, also of the New England Conservatory, was a favorite at first sight. In her song of "Bright Star of Love" with violin obligato by Pro. Doucet, this young lady was particularly successful, her full, rich and sympathetic contralto, captivating the audience, and she was the first to receive a bouquet. Her second selection was even more effective than the first, and was listened to with delight. Mr. C. H. Geale, sang in capital style and with pleasing effect "True till Death" and "Swanee River," with background chorus. Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, sang sweetly and with good taste "L'estasi" and was encored with applause and a bouquet. She graciously responded by giving "Bessie, the Maid o' Dundee." Miss Annie Delaney and Mr. T. Dunn contributed two delightful duets, "I Live and Love Thee" and "How Gently, Dave," which were given with fine expression in excellent voice, calling forth universal applause. The last named brought the programme to a close, and was a fitting finale for a grand concert. Miss Loch and Miss Delaney acted as accompanists and performed their parts splendidly throughout. After the orchestra played the National Anthem the audience separated evidently delighted with the evening's entertainment.

The piano used was one of Heintzman & Co.'s celebrated Boudoir Grands, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. E. J. Hartley. Its rich tone and finish was greatly admired. It is one of the smallest grands made by the company, and is a pretty instrument.

Monthly Rifle Match

Of the Peterborough Rifle Association—R. H. Smith the Most Successful Shooter.

The monthly match of the Peterborough Rifle Association was held at the butts on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance and the shooting was fair, but owing to a very uncertain wind from the west prevented as good scores as there otherwise would have been. Mr. R. H. Smith succeeded in shooting the straightest, and led the list of competitors. The following are the scores:—

	200 y.	500 y.	600 y.	Total.
R. H. Smith	16	19	18	53
D. Cameron	19	19	14	52
G. Fitzgerald	21	21	9	51
F. Hall	20	18	6	44
W. H. Hall	17	14	13	43
Dr. Bell	16	12	11	41
A. Bladen	19	15	6	40
Dr. Brennan	13	17	7	37
T. Rutherford	17	10	3	30

Personal.

Rev. F. H. Wallace is expected home from Ocean Grove to-morrow.

Mr. D. Sim and wife have returned home from the Northwest, after spending three months in the Turtle Mountain region, north of Brandon.

Inspecting the Jail.

Mr. Jas. T. Mann, from the Provincial Treasurer's Office, Toronto, arrived in town this morning from the east, and during the day made an inspection of the County jail. He expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the clean and well kept condition of the County prison. Mr. Mann leaves for Lindsay this evening, on his way home.

Sons of England.

A meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, will be held this evening at seven o'clock, sharp, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of our late brother, Samuel Hamilton. All members will please attend. By order of the Worthy President, F. Brownscombe, Secretary.

Lacrosse.

The Beaverton "Checkers" arrived on the noon train to-day and put up at M. Halpin's hotel. The boys are in fine form and look as if they could play anything. They commenced play with the Riversides about three o'clock.

New Lady Teacher.

Miss Nellie Greenwood, B. Sc., of Cobourg, has been engaged as teacher for the Collegiate Institute, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Robinson.

Statute Labour Cases.

Several parties who have neglected to pay their statute labour tax will be brought before the Police Court to-morrow morning.

Band at the Rink.

The Fire Brigade Band will play at the Lansdowne Roller Rink to-night.

Police Court.

The Police Court was again a blank this morning, not even a vag or a d. d.

"Five Million Pounds."

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be commenced shortly in the DAILY EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Ma deverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction.

What We May Expect.

The band at the Lansdowne rink to-night,
And scores of skaters to take the floor.
The electric lamps to be hoisted on higher poles on George street,
And to give greater light in consequence,
Prof. Parker to give a piano recital in his rooms to-night,
And classical music to be given before an appreciative audience.
Cricket to continue to-morrow.
And the County cricketers to suffer under under the treatment of the medicos.
Several statute labour cases to come before the P. M. to-morrow.
Otonabee Lodge to hold a special meeting to-night.
The goat to gambol greatly amid high degrees to be conferred on deserving brethren.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1 25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

"John Knox and His Times."

Miss Templeton Armstrong will deliver her celebrated lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House, Monday evening, Sept. 6th. Of which lecture Rev. H. M. Parsons, Toronto, says: "It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the office of door-keeper, etc., will be filled by ladies. Officers of the Union will take seats on the stage. Doors open at 7.30, chair taken at 8.

How to Improve Roads.

Henry County, O., has been well nigh ruined by mud. With lethargic horn of a sense of despairing helplessness the people plod unhopeful to their heavy burdens. Year after year the mud blockade has almost stopped the wheels of business for months of weeks at a time, amounting in all to nearly one-fourth of the year. Everybody prays for good roads, but nobody puts his shoulder to the wheel. Our roads can be very materially improved at an expense entirely within the means of even this tax-burdened people. By all means let us have stone roads as soon as possible; but first let us prepare a place to put the stone, to insure us against the chances of losing it in mud unfathomable. For the sake of illustrating, let us suppose that we are going to make an entirely new road. After the road is located we will stake out the track, which should not be more than 20 feet wide. After this is done, let a competent and trustworthy civil engineer stake out two lines for tile drain, each a few feet from the center line of the roadbed. Then tiles should be laid to a perfect grade, not less than an average depth of three feet, and carried to the nearest outlet, no matter what the distance nor what the expense. This is an absolute necessity, as without efficient tile drainage there can be no good road built in Henry County, either of stone, gravel, or any other material that is accessible. After the tiles are laid as above directed, proceed to raise the roadbed about 15 inches in the center and 8 or 9 at the outside, by scraping upon it the surface soil. No clay should be allowed on the road. It should then be made perfectly even and smooth. No hillocks or hollows should be allowed under any circumstances. It will then be a good plan to go over it several times with the heaviest rollers and make it as compact as possible. Then dig your side ditches with the same care as to grade and outlet as was done with the tiles. These open ditches need not be deep, but should be so graded that no water will stand in them to soak and soften the bed of the road. They will carry off the water that falls upon the road, while the tiles will carry that which comes up from below.

In order to keep this road in good condition, appoint a man to go over it every day in the wet season, and draw off the water from puddles that may form on the bed of the road and fill them up, and also to keep the side ditches in good working order. The road should be completed as early as the middle of August, so that it may be well settled before the fall rains set in. Let the above principles apply to old roads. The roadbed need not be raised more than two feet above the general level, unless in crossing a low place.

After you have constructed your road in the above manner, you have a foundation upon which you may build your stone or gravel road, which you may delay doing until you feel able to bear the expense. When you wish to put stone on the road, make it twelve inches thick at the center and six or eight at the side; the width should be from twelve to fifteen feet. This done, you have a road that will be a pleasure to travel on at any time of the year. Farmers can then sell their produce when the price is most satisfactory.

SOME MORE SHOCKS.

CHARLESTON AND OTHER PLACES AGAIN SUFFER.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 3—At about 11 o'clock to-night another shock of earthquake was felt along the Southern Atlantic coast. It was not attended by any damage so far as can be learned, but it was strong enough to cause a stampede from their instruments of the telegraph operators in Charleston, Augusta and Columbia and perhaps at her places. They soon returned, however, and resumed business.

The shock was felt from Jacksonville to Washington. It was plainly perceptible in Washington but not so strongly as on Tuesday night.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 3.—At 11.02 to night a decided shock of earthquake was felt here.

AUGUSTA, Ga. Sept. 3.—At 11.56 p. m. another shock was distinctly felt.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 3.—Another distinct, but not severe earthquake was felt here at 11 p m.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 3.—At 10.03 to-night a distinct shock of earthquake was felt here, lasting five seconds.

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Sept. 4.—A sharp shock of earthquake was felt here at 12 o'clock last night.

RENO, Cal., Sept. 3.—A slight earthquake was experienced here last night.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 3.—A sharp shock of earthquake was felt just before 11 o'clock to night. Two buildings fell. A white woman, name unknown was killed by the falling of a wall.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 3.—At 11.03 to-night a shock of earthquake was felt here. In some places in the upper part of the city it was as severe as that of last Tuesday night.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 3.—At 11.05 to-night another earthquake shock was felt in this city.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 3.—At 9.30 this morning a slight earthquake shock passing from south to north was felt here. Twenty seconds later a second shock almost imperceptible occurred.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 3.—Yesterday citizens of Bowdrie township, north of this city, were startled by a noise like the explosion of a steam boiler. On examination it was found to have been caused by an eruption in the farm of Christian Lunkenbach. When the noise occurred a cloud of smoke and dust was thrown sixty feet in the air, in which were bits of dirt, stumps and roots. A deep hole was left in the earth, which has not been explored.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The following despatch was received by cable to-day from Queen Victoria:

BALMORAL, Sept. 3.
To the President of the United States:
I desire to express my profound sympathy with the sufferers by the late earthquakes, and await with anxiety further intelligence, which I hope may show the effects to have been less disastrous than reported. THE QUEEN.

ALEXANDER AT SOFIA.

The Prince Received With Every Demonstration of Joy.

SOFIA, Sept. 3.—Prince Alexander arrived here this morning. He made a triumphal entry into the city, escorted by the municipal authorities of Sofia, who had gone two kilometers outside the city to await his arrival. Addresses of welcome were presented to Alexander in the great square in front of the palace. All then proceeded to the cathedral, where a grand Te Deum mass was celebrated. Artillery salutes were fired at the garrisons and the troops were reviewed. The ceremonies concluded with a reception to the foreign diplomatic representatives. Prince Alexander has ordered the release of all political prisoners. The ministry has been reconstructed, M. Stambuloff remaining as premier. Rejoicing continues without abatement throughout Bulgaria.

Abandoned by the Alliance.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Daily News says: Prince Alexander has been abandoned and isolated by agreement of the three emperors. Nothing could exceed the humility of his letter to the Czar, which is only equalled in degree by the brutality of the Czar's answer.

The Standard says Prince Alexander has committed a serious blunder, the only unworthy act with which he can be reproached. It is carrying the comedy of courtly dissimulation too far to pretend that the Czar did not approve of his deposition. England has done her best to promote peace in the Balkans. If she fails, Austria and Germany will either suffer grave injury or make heavy sacrifices. They may yet rue the day they abandoned Alexander to curry favor with the Czar.

Encouragement for the Revolutionists.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Telegrams received here from Sofia state that the Czar's reply to Prince Alexander's letter has produced a profound impression throughout Bulgaria. The despatches say that the Czar's proclaimed hostility has paralyzed the movement in favor of Prince Alexander's return to the throne and encouraged the Revolutionists. Prince Alexander's abdication is believed to be imminent.

His Abdication Inevitable.

VIENNA, Sept. 3.—The Austrian press generally pronounce Prince Alexander's letter of the 30th to the Czar a fatal mistake and argue that his abdication is now inevitable.

Good-bye to the Battenberg.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—The Republique Francaise, commenting on the published correspondence between the Czar and Prince Alexander, says: "After the Czar's reply the House of Battenberg may be considered to have ceased to reign in Bulgaria. That reply also humiliates England, whose lamentations nobody regards. Events in Egypt proved England's incurable egotism. France must answer an entente cordiale with Russia both on the Mediterranean and in the far east against British invasion."

THE LIBERAL LEADERS AT PICTON.

An Ovation to the Hon. Edward Blake and Hon. Oliver Mowat.

PICTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—The number of people assembled in Picton to welcome the Hon Edward Blake and the Hon Oliver Mowat has probably never been exceeded in the history of the town. The streets from the steamboat landing to the rink (the place of speaking) were packed with people. An address of welcome was presented to the Hon. Mr. Mowat by the corporations of Picton and the Young Liberals of the County of Prince Edward.

Speaking commenced about 2.30, the first speaker being the Hon G W Ross, followed by Hon. O. Mowat, the Hon Mr Blake speaking last. Mr Blake was in good form and spoke with vigor for nearly an hour and a half. The Skating Rink holds 5000 and was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Wm. Armstrong & Co's. Corruption.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Lord George Hamilton, first Lord of the Admiralty, replying to interrogations in the House of Commons this afternoon denied that any agent of the United States had access, through the firm of William Armstrong & Co., to the designs for naval vessels under confidential consideration by the British Government.

The Women Favor Home Rule.

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—Mrs. T. P. Sullivan, wife of the Lord Mayor of London, and a deputation of Irish ladies will go to Hawarden on Sept. 7 to present to Mr. Gladstone a gold-mounted declaration in favor of Home Rule and Ireland. The document bears the signatures of five hundred thousand Irish women.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

LORD CHURCHILL TRYING TO RUSH BUSINESS.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Lord Randolph Churchill moved that precedence be given to the supply bills.

Mr. Dillon moved Mr. Parnell's amendment, urging that consideration of the situation in Ireland admitted of no delay.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt pointed out that if the amendment should be carried it would be useless, as the Opposition was powerless to compel the Government to introduce new measures now. He would support Lord Randolph Churchill's motion.

Mr. Parnell said he did not blame Sir William Harcourt for the course he had taken, but it was only by persistent application of the principle of "try, try again" that the Parnellites had ever got anything.

Lord Randolph Churchill replied that the Government had already stated its intentions in regard to the land bill. If Mr. Parnell desired to describe in a fuller manner the way in which he wished the question to be dealt with, the Government would undertake to give a special sitting for that purpose before the close of the session.

John Morley expressed himself as quite satisfied with the Government's promise.

Mr. Parnell's amendment was then withdrawn.

Mr. Labouchere moved an amendment, declaring that Lord Randolph Churchill's speech in Belfast was calculated to provoke breaches of the law, and ought to be withdrawn. He insisted that Lord Churchill was morally answerable for the killing and wounding of so many persons in Belfast.

Major Saunderson moved an amendment to Mr. Labouchere's amendment denouncing the presence of British subjects at the recent Irish convention in Chicago.

Lord Randolph Churchill said the Government would oppose both amendments.

T. P. O'Connor attacked Lord Randolph Churchill for shirking a reply to Mr. Labouchere.

Mr. Saunderson's amendment was rejected without a division.

Mr. Labouchere's amendment was rejected by a vote of 232 to 192. The House then agreed to the report of the address.

Mr. Parnell hopes to introduce his Land bill next week.

The Speaker in Vesty.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Pall Mall Gazette says the scenes in the lobby and in the chamber of the House of Commons last evening during the closing debate on the proposed amendments to the address in reply to the Queen's speech form a leading topic of conversation among politicians in London to-day. Alluding to Speaker Peel's very sharp and summary rulings the Gazette says the general impression is that Mr. Peel was testy because suffering from ill-health, and that there is no ground for supposing that he was acting in collusion with the Government or pursuing a predetermined course of action in calling members to order in such a peremptory style.

Racing in the States.

GRAVESEND, L.I., Sept. 3.—Brooklyn Jockey Club races. First race, ¾ mile—Forensi won Birch second, Pearl Jennings third; time 1.20½. Second race, 1½ miles—Tea Strike won, Lizzie Dwyer second, Barnum third; time 2.11. Third race, one mile—Dead heat between Markham and Horsefoot, Florence M. third; time 1.49. In the run off Markham won; time 1.53. Fourth race, 1¼ miles—Peekskill won, O'Fallon second Pontiac third; time 2.12½. Fifth race, six furlongs—Ittilala won, Bedford second, Miltes third; time 1.16½. Sixth race, one mile—Frank Ward won, Hermitage second, Wessel third time 1.46.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

There is great suffering in Summerville, S.C. consequent on the earthquake shocks.

Listowel has purchased ground for a public park.

Guelph has had twenty-four Scott Act trials and only one conviction.

The assessment of Galt totals $1,538,750 and the rate for 1887 is 9 cents on the dollar.

Farmer Jenkins of East Whitby has a field of oats which will go 100 bushels per acre.

The 5-year-old son of John Saffel, Chatham was drowned in the Thames a few days ago while bathing.

Mrs. John Macdonald of Zorra, aged 82, was cooking dinner when her clothes caught fire and she was burnt to death.

Mr. C. B. Farmer of Morrisburg, Ont., has a covered trunk 213 years old. It was made in the year 1674, in the reign of Charles II.

Nineteen firms connected with the New York Cotton Exchange yesterday subscribed $4000 for the Charleston sufferers.

The will of the late Joseph E. Temple, probated at Philadelphia yesterday, bequeaths over $200,000 to public institutions.

A shanty near Williamport, Pa., occupied by sixteen Hungarians, was burnt down yesterday. Nine men were burnt to death.

Active communications are passing between the Powers relative to the restoration of Prince Alexander.

M. De Giers, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, has arrived at Berlin, and will remain two days.

Messrs. O'Brien and Redmond arrived in Dublin last evening. They were met by large crowds with bands of music, torches, etc.

The British man-of-war Agamemnon, conveying surgeons, food and tents, has gone to the relief of the sufferers by the recent earthquakes in the Moca.

Sir John A. Macdonald is expected at Simcoe about the middle of the month, and a picnic will be held on the occasion in Campbell's Grove.

The first steamer with Canadian fruit for the Colonial Exhibition will leave Montreal Sept. 24. She will have specially constructed refrigerators.

James Gillies of Carleton Place has subscribed $1000 toward the erection of the new St. Andrew's Church in that place, and also made the congregation a present of a site valued at $2000.

Mail Clerk McDonald, employed on the Northwestern Railway between Barrie and Hamilton, was arrested at Barrie yesterday on a charge of robbing the mails. He pleaded guilty and was committed for trial.

Rev. Mr. McGregor, of Tilsonburg, was on the scaffold of the new Presbyterian church there, when in taking a step he fell to the ground, a distance of forty feet, and received such injuries that fears are entertained for his life.

On Thursday the express train from Guelph for Palmerston on the W., G. and B. Division of the G.T.R., ran into a flock of several hundred sheep at the Irwin Bridge public crossing between Fergus and Alma, killing and wounding fatally sixty-two.

Col. R. M. Batcheider, depot quartermaster, has been ordered to Charleston by the Washington authorities to issue and distribute tents to the homeless, and to render such aid as it may be in the power of the department to extend.

George Mulligan, President of Branch 1, Emerald Beneficial Association, Hamilton, resigned his office Thursday night after being prominently connected with the order for years. Mr. Mulligan has lately undergone a protracted attack of malarial and when he recovered he was totally blind.

So far several hundred persons in Quebec have signed the petition which is to be presented to the Government, asking for the volunteers, who served in the Fenian raids in 1866, some public recognition either in the shape of land grants or medals, or both.

The Dominion Government is arranging for the purchase of 600 acres for a model farm at the crossing of St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway, on the Rideau, about two miles from the city. One of the owners of the coveted property declines to sell and the Government threatens to expropriate his property.

Archbishop Fabre blessed the corner stone of a new church at l'Epiphanie, Que., the other day. A political meeting had been convened on this occasion, but Mgr. Fabre having expressed a desire that no political speeches be delivered during his visit, the meeting did not take place.

Robert Wass died Tuesday at Hamilton. He was a mester by trade, and while at his work a fortnight since, a splash of molten iron fell in his ear. He took little notice of it at the time. On Sunday last the iron fell out, and from that time to the hour of his death he was in terrible agony. Several medical gentlemen were consulted, and they came to the conclusion that no escape was forming on his brain.

—Cold Milk will now be kept on hand with other soft drinks at Rochester Fruit Store. E. G. STONE.

Telegraph Operators.

There evidently is one kind of business for which women seem to be well fitted, judging from the number engaged in it, and that, says the N. Y. World, is telegraphy. Strolling about the city and dropping into almost any telegraph office from Harlem to the Battery there may be seen the female operator, and, as a general thing, she will be seen to be young and pretty and wide-awake to her business. She will sometimes have about her a number of subordinates of the opposite sex in the form of smiling youths and messenger boys, over whom she queens it with a right royal will and an air of authority that is charming to behold. Generally these young women are very pleasant and obliging; only occasionally will one come across a terror, whose very look will freeze him to the marrow. However, they all seem to give satisfaction to their employers and to attend well to their work, and appear to be rapidly monopolizing the telegraphic business. Far out on the western plains, wherever there is a road station, almost invariably the traveler sees a pretty lace or muslin curtain at the window, a bird cage hanging up aloft, and some flowering plants on the narrow sill, or a vine trained up over the red door (these stations all along the line of the road are painted a dull, dark red), and other signs of the feminine presence, and if he looks out as the train stops he will be nearly sure to see a bright, neatly-dressed, white-aproned young women come to the door and stand gazing out at the train, and watching the passengers with a half-pleased, half-sorry air. This is the local telegraph operator, who has taken up her lonely life out here on the alkali desert amid the sage-brush, and whose only glimpse of the world she has left behind her is this brief acquaintance with the trains which pass and repass two or three times during the day. These are true types, all of them, of our brave American girl, whose courage is equal to any emergency.

Full Warning to Beer-Drinkers.

For some years a decided inclination has been apparent over the country to give up the use of whisky and other strong alcohols, using as a substitute beer and other compounds. This is evidently founded on the idea that beer is not harmful, and contains a large amount of nutriment; also, that bitters may have some medical quality which will neutralize the alcohol which it conceals, etc. These theories are without confirmation in the observation of physicians. The use of beer is found to produce a species of degeneration of all organs; profound and deceptive fatty deposits, diminished circulation, condition of digestion and perversion of functional activities, local inflammations of both the liver and the kidneys, are continually present. Intellectually, a stupor amounting almost to paralysis arrests the reason, changing all the higher faculties into a mere animalism, sensual, selfish, sluggish, varied only with paroxysms of anger that are senseless and brutal. In appearance the beer-drinker may be the picture of health, but in reality he is most incapable of resisting disease. A slight injury, a severe cold, or a shock to the body or mind will commonly provoke acute disease, ending fatally.

Compared with inebriates who use different kinds of alcohol, he is more incurable and more generally diseased. The constant use of beer every day gives the system no recuperation, but steadily lowers the vital forces. It is our observation that beer-drinking in this country produces the very lowest kind of inebriety, closely allied to criminal insanity. The most dangerous class of ruffians in our cities are beer-drinkers.—Scientific American.

The Smart Boy.

There were two bright little girls off for a holiday with their Western uncle, a big, good-natured man with a diamond breast-pin, and his voluble son, a lad about the age of his little cousins, whom he constantly pestered by his rude and dominating behavior. The boy was a product which it is the despair of all Europe to produce, and our travellers had great delight in him as an epitome of American "smartness." He led all the conversation, had confident opinions about everything, easily put down his deferential papa, and pleased the other passengers by his self-sufficient know-it-all air. To a boy who had travelled in California and seen the Alps it was not to be expected that this humble mountain could afford much entertainment, and he did not attempt to conceal his contempt for it. When the stage reached the Rip Van Winkle House, half-way, the shy school-girls were for indulging a little sentiment over the old legend, but the boy, who concealed his ignorance of the Irving romance until his cousins had prattled the outlines of it, was not to be taken in by any such chaff, and, though he was a little staggered by Rip's own cottage, and by the sight of the cave above it which is labelled as the very spot where the vagabond took his long nap, he attempted to bully the attendant and drink-mixer in the bar, and openly flaunted his incredulity until the bar-tender showed him a long bunch of Rip's hair, which hung like a scalp on the nail, and the rusty barrel and stock of the musket. The cabin is, indeed, full of old guns, pistols, locks of hair, buttons, cartridge-boxes, bullets, knives, and other undoubted relics of Rip and the Revolution. This cabin, with its facilities for slaking thirst on a hot day which Rip would have appreciated, over a hundred years old according to information to be obtained on the spot, is really of unknown antiquity, the old boards and timber of which it is constructed having been brought down from the mountain House some forty years ago.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine for May.

The petroleum wells of Upper Burmah have been worked for 2,000 years and still produce abundantly. They are generally four feet six inches square and are sunk to a depth of 250 to 300 feet. The Burmese have never learned the secrets of refining, and their exports have not been large.

CREMATION AND EARTH TO EARTH BURIAL.

There is no matter more difficult of improvement and yet none more necessary and important than the question of funeral reform. It must be conceded that society and custom have contrived to lay upon us, in this connection, burdens very hard to be borne, but it seems impossible to break away from the cruel thraldom imposed upon us in the time of bereavement. The evils, we fear, will continue until there shall have been formed amongst us a society with the special object of reforming our present funeral customs, and whose members will pledge themselves to simplicity, economy and common sense in the conduct of all burial rites with which they may have connection.

We assert without fear of contradiction that there is at present both unnecessary and unchristian display, and useless, nay, sinful, expense incurred in the burial of the dead. We could cite many instances where the living have keenly suffered from the evil effects of custom, and from the morbid desire which the poor always have to imitate their superiors in the pomp and circumstance of modern funerals. The dread of being considered mean or unkind, or penurious, often makes many a family submit to imposing ceremonial, mournful trappings, gorgeous hearses, and all the costly and useless accessories which mark modern interments, but which they despise and hate, and to which in their inmost hearts they are most strongly opposed. But to bring about those sensible improvements which all thoughtful and intelligent persons deem necessary, is, in this matter, most difficult. We have to contend against fashion, custom and vested interests, three opposing forces most potent, and none of which can be overcome without most powerful and persistent effort.

In this matter the press can effect much good by educating the masses and insisting on the recognition of those first great principals which lie at the very root of funeral reforms These may be described as follows:—The recognition of the fact that the burial of the dead is a work of piety, a religious and meroiful act, on which the christian church everywhere has set the stamp of her approval. Another principal (and it is to this we would here call special attention, is thus expressed, the return of the body as naturally and with as little delay as possible to its elemental dust. Cremationists assert that there are numerous evils inseparable from the principle of interment. This we do not for a moment hold to be correct. The source of the evils described to interment is to be found, not in the burial of the dead, but in that unreasoning sentiment which prompts us to keep bodies as long as possible, and bury them in such a way that the earth can have no access to them. Wicker coffins would do away with many of these evils. The very principle of burial pre-supposes the re-solution of the body readily, by the direct agency of the earth to which it is committed, and the power interent in the earth itself to effect that resolution harmlessly. If it is sought to prevent this agency of the earth by enclosing the dead in imperishable coffins, brick graves and vaults, then are we found to struggle vainly against the inevitable. And this action has tended more than anything else to accumulate in our cemeteries and graveyards, especially in large cities, a vast stove of human remains in every stage and condition of decay, thus forming the fruitful source of disease and danger to the living.

Now, the remedies for such evils is not cremation, as its advocates assert. It is rather to be found in a sensible recognition of, and a timely submission to, a well-defined law of nature, "Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust," and in enforcing the provisions of that law as God intended it should be carried out.

We want a law passed by our legislatures which shall not only deal with the whole subject of the management of cemeteries, but provide in future:—(1) For burial within the earth as the only legal mode of disposing of a dead body, and for the use of wicker or other readily perishable coffins; (2) For a limitation of time beyond which it should be illegal to keep a dead body unburied; (3) For the illegality of strong coffins, brick graves and vaults, and of all contrivances having for their effect to retard re-solution, and to confer on the dead a tenure, practically illimitable, of the soil which is necessary to the purposes of the living.

Such a Bill, besides being a measure of great social, economical and sanitary importance, would also be, as Mr. Haden says in advocating similar legislation for England, "a positive and grateful relief to everybody." It is because we are without legal formula that, when a death occurs, we know not what to do, and have no choice other than to put ourselves into any hands that will tell us. Hence the undertaker and all the mischievous and costly contrivances which fellow in his train, and which custom, or fashion, or folly imposes upon us. It is most surprising that in these days of sanitary precautions of every kind, no safe or proper disposal of the dead should have been provided for by public enactment.

The Convocation at the Collegiate Institute.

Successful Students Presented with Medals and Scholarships—Promotions Published along with those Successful in Obtaining Teacher's Certificates—Promises of $40 Prizes.

The teachers, pupils and a number of ex-pupils of the Collegiate Institute assembled in Mr. Smith's room Friday afternoon, to do honor to those who had been successful in distinguishing themselves during the past term. Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Chairman of the Board of Education, presided

DR. TASSIE, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, after making known the object of the meeting, proceeded to read the names of those who had been successful in winning medals, scholarships and honors at the university matriculation examinations and in the Institute course, and also the names those who obtained teachers certificates the recent examinations, all of which ha already been published in the Examiner.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE, who was present, spoke briefly on the great privileges now enjoyed by pupils as compared with the past, and impressed upon his hearers the necessity of taking advantage of these privileges. He referred to the necessity of good writing and reading and promised to give a $10 prize to the best reader at the end of the year.

Mr. STEVENSON followed. He said he was pleased to see the schools progressing, and in speaking of the improvements that had been made to the building, asked the pupils to use their endeavors to preserve them. He also referred to the necessity of good writing and offered a prize of $10 for the best writer at the close of the term. He also encouraged the pupils by informing them that he was sure the Board would give a medal for the candidate standing highest at the second class teachers' examinations.

The meeting was then dismissed.

Personal.

Mr. R. Shortly and wife have returned from a trip to Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa, where they spent a fortnight in visiting friends.

Mr. W. C. DeBotham, of New York, left for home on Friday, much improved in health having spent three months in town visiting friends. He says he spent a very pleasant holiday.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring less trusses made in York State costing me $20. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This Cut shows one Style only.

This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child under 5; and 9 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

THE LATE JOHN B. GOUGH.

In a sketch of John B. Gough, who died as he had lived upon the platform, and who was to the last one of the most popular of public speakers, and, after Father Mathew, the most famous apostle of temperance, it was stated that although a very generous man, he declined to lecture for the benefit of enterprises and societies of all kinds, which constantly applied to him. It is to be hoped that nobody regrets his refusal or thinks him to have been less generous because of the refusal. There is no more common or more unpardonable form of mendicancy than that which asks this kind of alms. Mr. Gough received a very large income from his public lectures, and of this money he was not avaricious. On the contrary, he gave liberally, and often, doubtless, to the very objects for the benefit of which he was vainly asked to lecture. A man practices his profession or pursues his business for his livelihood and the support of his family, and he determines for himself the amount and the direction of his gifts and charities.

That is what the charitable society forgets which asks a singer to sing, or an actor to act, or a painter to paint a picture, or a lecturer to give a lecture, for its benefit, upon the score of charity. One of the hard-working guild of lecturers some years ago replied to a solicitation of this kind by asking the chairman of the committee what business he pursued. "I am a dealer in jewelry." "Well, Mr. Chairman," said the lecturer, "I am very much interested in a little society like yours in my own town; now let us be fair: I will give you the profits of my business for one evening for your society, if you will give me those of your business for one day for the benefit of my society."

The good chairman stared and smiled. The lecturer continued: "Have you applied to our friend Mr. Sheepskin, the attorney?" "No; what for?" asked the chairman. "Why, to aid your society by contributing a day's fees?" The chairman smiled, and looked puzzled. "What I mean," said the lecturer, "is simply that there is no more reason why you should ask me to give you the entire profit of my business for a certain time than to ask anybody else to do the same thing. The fact that I am a lecturer is not a reason that you should make the application to me rather than to a lawyer, or a merchant, or an artist. Do you ask Mr. Booth to bestow his receipts for next Saturday upon your society because your society is poor and wants money to buy carpets and cushions? Do you ask the proprietor of the Herald or Times to drop into your treasury all the money that they may receive for advertisements and sales on the first day of June? Do you ask Mr. Choate to hand you over his professional income, as nearly as he can compute it, for Monday, the 22d? To ask me for money is one thing; but to ask for a blank check with my signature is quite another." The lecturer smiled as benignantly as the chairman, but did not look in the least degree puzzled. "Oh!" said the chairman. "Precisely," returned the lecturer.

There is sometimes a queer lapse of good faith in one of the parties to the business to which Mr. Gough devoted his life. A member of a lyceum committee, in his private capacity of merchant, negotiates with another merchant for a piece of cloth, or a case of shoes, or a cargo of flour. But he finds that he has miscalculated the market, or there is some mishap, and he loses by the bargain. Does he thereupon repair to the other merchant, and say to him that he hasn't made as much as he expected by the venture; that, in fact, he has lost money, and in view of that sad mischance the merchant will perhaps agree to take half of the price agreed upon? No; the worthy member of the lecture committee has never been guilty of such an act as that. If he cannot take the chances of trade, he is not fit to be a trader.

O wise young judge! And what was it you were saying just now, not to the flour merchant, or the shoe dealer, but to the lecture merchant? Were you or were you not saying to him that you were very sorry that the audience had been so small and the expenses so large, and the treasury was so low that perhaps—perhaps—in view of everything—so hard to sustain a course of really good lectures—that—that, in fine the merchant would perhaps take off half the price stipulated, because you, O wise young judge! have not made as much money out of him as you hoped to make?

To decline to do this, Mr. Gough, like other eminent masters of the platform, did not hold to be a mercenary view of his calling. If it was not mercenary for the baker to ask sixpence for his loaf or the milkman a fair price for his milk, neither was it mercenary for the lecturer to ask an equally fair price for his commodity and his labor and his time. It is, indeed, open to any man to give bread and milk to his neighbors without price. But he cannot support his family by that course. All the merchants in town, if they choose, may give away all their goods. But they cannot be reproached with venality if they prefer to sell instead of to give. Mr. Gough, so far as he turned his powers and gifts to making money, was a merchant, and was amenable only to the laws and usages of honorable business, and those who asked him to renounce half his fee, or who requested the gift of all the profits of a future transaction, were unquestionably well-meaning, but they were unmindful of the laws and usages of honorable business.

Mr. Edwin P. Whipple, one of the most accomplished and popular pioneers of the modern lecture platform, said that he once declined to suffer in the way that we have described, and the controverted ten dollars was at last paid. He departed homeward congratulating himself upon the triumphant vindication of a sound principle. But, said he, with a sly smile of appreciation, that money was an apple of the Dead Sea—it turned to ashes. It was a counterfeit bill. Doubtless it was intended by the austere committee as a stern rebuke of the mercenary disposition of the lecturer.—George William Curtis, in Harper's Magazine for May.

Philosophy of the Forehead.

A very retreating forehead which is low and slim low usually accompanies want of intellect. If slightly retreating, or what appears to be retreating from the fullest of the forms over the eyes it signifies imagination, susceptibility, wit and humor.

Slow persons with dull intellect, have very projecting foreheads.

Perpendicular foreheads, rather high and well rounded at the temples, rarely fail to go with solid understanding powers of concentration and love of study.

A low, arched forehead, which is full at the temples, is indicative of sweetness and sensitiveness, and when combined with great fullness over the eyes gives an impressionable, idealistic nature.

High, narrow, wholly unwrinkled foreheads, over which the skin is tightly drawn, shows weakness of will-power and a lack of imagination or susceptibility.

Foreheads not entirely projecting but having knotty protuberances give vigor of mind and harsh, oppressive activity and perseverance.

Persons possessing poetic, ardent and sensitive natures not unfrequently have a bluish vein forming the letter "Y" in an upon, smooth and low forehead.

Perpendicular wrinkles between the eyebrows, when of equal lengths, signify anger, but if the wrinkles are of unequal lengths they show deep thought and concentration.—Philadelphia News.

you must invent twenty, but truth can never be strengthened by bolstering. The testimony every lady who has used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" for nervous debility and female weakness carries conviction with it. The facts are stated in such a way that no one can doubt them. All those peculiar pains and sinking sensations which ladies suffer from, can be overcome by means of this wonderful preparation. If you are a sufferer from female weakness, don't fail to employ it. 6d50w35

Heat and Cold

Is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's Nervoline exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A ten cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6d50w35

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Blood Boils, Hollo, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or "Thick Neck," and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plate, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections, "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

LOCAL NEWS.

"City Depot."

Hunter street is bound to become the second leading business street of Peterborough. To that portion of this growing thoroughfare, more especially west of George street, where within the past twelve months so many new places of business have sprung into existence, there has just been added another important establishment. Mr. W. VanEvery, who has become so well known to the citizens of Peterborough through his connection with the "Golden Lion" dry goods store, and who still retains his interest in that firm, has opened out a large new grocery and provision store, to be known as the "City Depot," in the Dickson Block, two doors from the Oriental Hotel. Mr. VanEvery is, we believe, no stranger to the grocery trade, in fact he has "gone back to his first love," having had a lengthened experience in the business, both in Port Hope and in his native home, near the city of Hamilton. The premises which Mr. VanEvery now occupies has been so metamorphosed by improvements that the casual observer in this locality cannot fail to be struck with surprise. Good taste and judgment has been shown in the alteration which Mr. VanEvery has had executed throughout the premises, and the fine large plates of glass which now show off the front of the store to advantage, together with the handsomely remodelled interior, gives the whole building an entirely new and attractive appearance. Mr. T. G. Hazlitt, in making the improvements about the store, has certainly spared no pains to make the "City Depot" a model shop for neatness and convenience. Mr. Van Every informed our reporter that it is his intention to keep in stock full lines of groceries, provisions, flour, feed and everything in his line suitable for man and beast. His aim will be to buy close and sell cheap, and his customers' interests will be his constant study. The public are requested to read his opening announcement which will appear in a few days, for although the "City Depot" was opened to-day for business, it was not in full blast, but next week will see this new establishment under full sail.

Prof. Parker's Piano Recital.

An audience of about one hundred ladies and gentlemen by invitation assembled at Prof. Parker's new and handsomely furnished rooms in Lynch's Block, Hunter street, on Friday evening, the occasion being the first of a series of piano recitals to be given by Prof. Parker during the ensuing season. A programme of unusual excellence was provided, the selections all being of the highest order. The first number on the programme was "L'Invitation Pour la Danse," given by Miss Roper and Mr. J. S. Parker with great brilliancy and taste. Mr. D. B. Macduff, who on this occasion made his debut before a Peterborough audience, took the next number, contributing a beautiful violin solo, "I. Lombardi." Mr. Macduff's rendition of the piece was simply grand, and from the first proclaimed that a master hand was manipulating the instrument. The strings instead of uttering the usual harsh sounds common to most violins, poured forth full, clear and musical notes, with precision, taste and expression. Mr. Macduff was loudly applauded, and responded to an encore. He also gave several other selections during the evening. Mr. J. S. Parker gave a stirring piano solo, "Barcorolle," in his usual brilliant style. Miss Gray also contributed a pretty and difficult piano solo of Mendelssohn's composition. Mrs. W. A. Sanderson sang very prettily "Star of Love," with violin obligato by Mr. Macduff. Miss Hall and Mr. Parker delighted the audience with "Caliph de Bagdad" on the piano Mr. W. H. Manning gave a capital tenor solo, Mr. Macduff playing a violin obligato. One of the most entertaining selections of the evening was a piano solo, "Nearer my God to Thee," by little Birdie Carey, given with great precision and taste. A piano solo by Prof. Parker, "Allegro, from 3rd Sonata," Beethoven, and the National Anthem brought the programme to a conclusion. On motion of Sheriff Hall, a vigorous vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Parker, and the audience dispersed highly pleased with the entertainment.

Willow and Wicket.

Merciless Treatment of the P. A. A. A. Cricketers by Doctors - The "Sawbones" Defeat Peterborough by 322 to 56.

Two sets of cricketers had a surprise party yesterday—the Peterboroughs and the "Sawbones." Few expected to see the "Sawbones" win, and certainly no one, from the past record of the players composing the eleven, could have expected from them the mammoth score of 318—one of the largest scores ever made in Canada. For the first time this season Peterborough had to take the field first, and as the wicket was a batsman's one, this gave the medicos a great advantage. The first two men, Smith and Bascom, showed good cricket for their runs, Smith showing especially good form. The next three wickets were not long in falling, but when Scadding and Ross got together, the Peterboroughs had such a bout of leather-hunting as they never had before, and as they hope, never to have again. Scadding hit; short pitch and far pitch, good length and bad length, straight and loose balls—all were the same to him—he hit them, and not always with a straight bat. As an exhibition of gallery hitting, his play reminded us of some of C. J. Thornton's performances, some of his hits were so brilliant. The next time Dr. Scadding comes around with a team the match had better be played on a twenty-acre field, with all the fielders far out. Ross' 106, not out, was a wonderful innings, seeing that the player never got more than 30 runs in an innings befor. He was at the wickets a long time, and although he gave two or three chances, his was a very creditable exhibition of cricket. The Peterboro' bowling was very far from good, and we are unable to find words to express the wretchedness of the fielding. Nearly every one on the team dropped easy catches. Scadding was missed from his first ball, and Ross before he had made 15 runs. We are glad to be able to chronicle instances of individual good fielding, excellent catches by Canning, Baker and Hugh Ray—the last an especially fine one—somewhat relieving the monotony of the miserable general performance.

Peterborough got only 56. The innings consisted of a good stand at the beginning, a melancholy procession, and another good stand towards the end. Bell and Ray made 31 before they were parted—Ray being the first to go—but by the time the score had reached 57, eight wickets had fallen. Baker made nine singles—only that and nothing more—which is something remarkable for him. Montgomery (who had not had a bat in his hand this season until yesterday) and Morris made a good stand, bringing the score up to 90. Montgomery was left not out with a very steadily played 19. The bowling and fielding of the "Sawbones" was very good indeed; their fielding especially being in marked contrast to that of the home team, catches by Vavasour being worthy of special notice. In the second innings the "Sawbones" took their turn at Cather hunting. Bell and Montgomery opened, and before, Montgomery unfortunately ran himself out, the score had reached 43 of which he had made nine very steadily. No further loss occurred until the call of time, Bell and and Max Hamilton giving by far the best exhibition of batting of the match. The play of both was very fine—both sending the ball well along the ground, or out of reach of the fielders. Bell got 97 and Hamilton 26, both not out.

That wicket was a magnificent one is proved by the fact that 527 runs were got for 21 wickets. The ladies provided a splendid luncheon to which the players did ample justice, and for which the hearty thanks of the association are due.

SLIPS.

"I wish Charlie Logan was here," was often heard yesterday when Scadding was sending the ball in the direction of Cobourg or Lakefield.

The P. A. A. A. had better have a larger field for the "Doctors" to operate in next year.

Smith is the only man on the team who is not a "Sawbone." He belongs to the "Gooderham Works" Club.

Mr. B. T. A. Bell's score for this season's play at the conclusion of yesterday's game was 1,001.

Robbery in Ashburnham.

The Residence of Mr. Narcisse Mercier Entered and Two Watches Taken.

About eight o'clock last night thieves entered the residence of Mr. Narcisse Mercier, Ashburnham, and while several members of the family were in the house, ransacked two rooms up-stairs, taking almost everything of value they could carry away easily. About nine o'clock Miss Mercier went up-stairs to her room and found everything in it tossed around in confusion. A trunk and writing desk were both wide open, while their contents were mixed up and scattered over the floor. On investigation it was found that two watches, a silver one initialed "L. M.," with a silver chain, and a gold one, with a gold medal on the guard, together with a purse and some small change, had been taken from the trunk. A pen-knife was the only article taken from the desk. In the room in which the articles were found and in the adjoining rooms well-burnt matches were found lying around the floor. How the thieves entered the house and carried on the search while several persons were in the house, is not known. They left no clue to their identity. This is the second case of robbery or sneak-thieving that has occurred in Ashburnham this week.

Football.

All members and those wishing to join the Football Club in connection with the P. A. A. A., are hereby requested to attend the annual meeting of the above club, on Monday evening, Sept. 6th, at the Grand Central, at 7.30 p.m., sharp. Large attendance earnestly requested.

To the Ladies.

Miss Gilchrist, our dress and mantle maker, returns from her holidays to-day and will commence duties on Saturday, the 4th September. R. FAIR.

Their First Defeat.

The Riverside "Checkers" Defeat the Rivercrides by Two to One in Playing to Time—A Splendid Match—Hip and Trap for the Bedding Cup.

As was anticipated, the Riverside Lacrosse Club lost their first match in playing with the Beaverton "Checkers" on Friday afternoon. However, they surprised everyone by the splendid stand and brilliant play they made in defending their goal and endeavoring to pierce that of their opponents. Although the "Checkers" are the best and most scientific players in the district, they found great difficulty in defeating the Riversides, who even outplayed them at some points.

THE GAME

was called at three o'clock, and the teams spread out across the field, a fine lot of athletic young fellows. The suits worn by the clubs were almost similar, except that the red in the Checkers' guernseys was brighter than that of the Riversides. The men took their positions on the field as follows:—

RIVERSIDES.		CHECKERS.
J. Phelan	goal	Wm. Joyce
Dr. Brennan	point	D. McKinnon
W. Walsh	cover point	E. Davidson
T. Meagher	defence field	D. McMillan
A. Ross	" "	R. McGuire
W. McAvella	" "	P. McMillan
F. Larone	centre	D. M. Smith
T. Giroux	home field	Mc. Cameron
J. Begley	" "	J. Gordon
C. Rutherford	" "	A. Cameron
T. Duncan	2nd home	J. Miller
J. S. Trew	1st home	J. Birchard
M. McDonald	field captain	D. McKinnon
Ruf. Stevenson	umpire	W. A. Robinson

Referee—Harry LeBrun.

THE FIRST GAME.

F. Larone and D. M. Smith faced. The former secured the ball and sent it straight for the Checkers' citadel. After a short struggle McKinnon captured the sphere and sent it to the other end of the field, where it remained some time. After travelling over the field several times, A. Cameron, alias "Saple Sandy," got the ball in his basket, and by a clean shot put it between the Riversides' flags, after 11 minutes' play. In this game the home team hardly seemed to realize their strength and played defence almost altogether.

THE SECOND GAME.

In this game the Rivercrides determined to play to score, and they succeeded well. Larone again took the ball on the face and sent it in the right direction. D. McMillan caught it and played it down the other way. After a lively scuffle, in which the ball travelled from one end of the field to the other, and in which some pretty team play was shown by the visitors, Meagher secured the rubber. He made a fine throw to Duncan. He quickly tipped it to Trew, who, by a true shot, pierced the Checkers' goal. Time 5 minutes.

THE THIRD GAME.

The Checkers thinking it was about time to look to their laurels, played with unusual vigor. The were, however, well met, and the game lasted thirty-three minutes and a third. Smith secured the ball at the start and sent it toward the Riversides' goal. McAvella stopped it and passed it to Giroux, who sent it straight for the Checkers' flags. Joyce stopped it, passed it to Davidson, and from his stick it went up the field, near the other goal. He passed it to Gordon, who made a straight shot for the flags. Phelan stopped it, and McAvelia sent it down to the other end. McMillan brought it back and gave it to "Saple." Dr. Brennan took it from the lively little home fielder, and it travelled to the other end. After this the ball received terrible treatment, in which Dr. Brennan distinguished himself. McKinnon, Davidson, and the McMillan brothers played an almost invincible defence, while Walsh, Maher, McAvelia and Ross were too much for Beaverton home. Time after time it was sent from one end to the other, while pretty team play was exhibited on both sides. Giroux and Begley, True and Duncan, on home, worked like tarks to get a game, but the Checkers, though several times sorely pressed and often worsted, kept the ball away from their flags.

While the ball was in the vicinity of the Riversides goal, Saple Sandy captured it and a second time scored for the Checkers.

A DRAW GAME.

The fourth game had been in progress only a few minutes when time was called, Joe Phelan, having been disabled while throwing the ball away from the flags. He was accidently struck in the eye by Miller who attempted to check him.

The time at which it was decided to stop play having arrived, the referee proclaimed the match over, it being won by the Checkers, by two goals to one. After the usual cheering the contestants and spectators left the field.

CHECKS.

The game throughout was by far the finest of the season and reminded the spectators of days gone by.

The "old" twelve were nearly all present as spectators.

A Checker took Mr. Harry LeBrun for his check and gave him the body. No apology was necessary.

The Checkers are a fine gentlemanly lot of players and are deserving of the high respect in which they are held as upholders of the national game.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.25

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

"John Knox and His Times."

Miss Templeton Armstrong will deliver her celebrated lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House, Monday evening, Sept. 6th. Of which lecture Rev. H. M. Parsons, Toronto, says: "It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the office of door-keeper, etc., will be filled by ladies. Officers of the Union will take seats on the platform. Doors open at 7.30, chair taken at 8.

To the Ladies and Gentlemen of Peterborough.

During the present and coming week I will be in your midst exhibiting from house to house and taking orders for my patent Shirt Bosom Board: The board for "doing up" all shirts that require to be starched. I have shown it and sold a great many in neighboring towns. The ladies of these places have hailed its appearance with expressions of joy. Just splendid. The exact thing that is needed, very cheap, etc. No wonder they did, for it does away with all trouble or difficulty in the ironing of that garment, and gives the best of satisfaction to the ironer and wearer. Those who have used it would never again do without it. They say they can't afford to, for it saves time and temper, and gives pleasure to all concerned. It will last a lifetime. A good receipt for starch given with each board. Agents wanted. Apply to T. J. WATTS, Stirling.

Cricket Continued.

Cricket was continued on the P. A. A. A. grounds this morning. The "Sawbones" placed the same team in the field with one exception, Smith being replaced by Dr. Burnham. The doctors objected to Mr. B. T. A. Bell (now a member of the P. A. A. A.) playing for the home team. The local cricketers, who had hard work to pick up an eleven, were justly indignant, but rather than spoil the sport, agreed to play. Hammond won the toss, and the local team went to bat. It was retired for 151, of which, Hallett contributed 30, Willoughby 29, Ray 17, Long 13, and Rogers 10.

Hazel Brae Garden Party.

A garden party and sale of work, on behalf of Dr. Barnardo's Home, will take place on the Hazel Brae grounds on Thursday evening, Sept. 9th. A Powerful Story.

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be continued next Friday in the EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Machiaverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Brankcome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction. Be sure and get the DAILY EXAMINER of next Friday.

STEPS DOWN AND OUT.

PRINCE ALEXANDER ABDICATES THE BULGARIAN THRONE.

SOFIA, Sept. 4.—When Prince Alexander reached Sofia he was met by a vast concourse of citizens headed by the mayor. The latter presented to the Prince an address of welcome. It expressed loyalty and submission on the part of the Bulgarians and expressed grief over the recent events. Prince Alexander, in reply, said his confidence in the future was unshaken. He summoned all Bulgarians to assist him in preserving order. The Prince entered the town in triumph. His cortege was preceded by a troop of Roumelian hussars followed by infantry. Gaily attired peasants who had ridden out to meet the Prince followed. The dense masses which lined the streets cheered the procession as it made its way toward the cathedral, where the Te Deum was sung. A parade followed during which Prince Alexander left his suite and galloped toward the troops amid the deafening cheers of the multitude. All the consulate buildings, except that belonging to Russia, were decorated with bunting and flags in honor of the restoration.

The Prince Announces His Abdication.

SOFIA, Sept. 4.—Prince Alexander has publicly announced his intention of abdicating. He says he cannot remain in Bulgaria on account of the objections of the Czar. Before leaving he will establish a regency.

Prince Alexander made the following address at a reception given him by the officers of the army:

"For seven years I have labored for the independence and interests of Bulgaria. My constant special solicitude has been for my army and officers. I consider them my family, my children, and I have felt myself secure in my personal position when I have seen myself surrounded by officers who had been my comrades in our struggles for the glory of Bulgaria."

Here tears came from the Prince's eyes. Recovering his composure, he resumed:

"On that sad night, having heard a noise, I asked first whether troops were there. 'Yes,' was the reply. Then I felt tranquil, for I had confidence in my army. Notwithstanding the unfortunate events which followed, I have not been disappointed in my officers. They rose to the level of the situation and proved themselves capable of coping with the troubles which followed my departure. Thanks to Popoff and Mutkoroff (here the Prince embraced those officers), the honor of Bulgarian officers has been resscued. I see around me the officers who are devoted to me, and I can quit Bulgaria addressing praises to those officers, and with the conviction that order will not be disturbed. In whatever circumstances I might find myself I would place my influence at the service of Bulgaria. I will pray to God for her. My heart will ever be with my officers, and I shall be the first to ask to be admitted among them as a volunteer in a campaign for Macedonia. I cannot remain in Bulgaria, for the Czar will not permit me, because my presence is inimical to the interests of the country. I am forced to quit the throne."

M. Popoff exclaimed: "We have been and shall ever be with you. Courage, forward."

Prince Alexander replied: "The independence of Bulgaria requires that I leave the country. If I did not Russia would occupy it. I will, however, consult with the superior officers and constitute a regency which will endeavor to protect the interests of my officers. In any case, I rely on the army."

Prince Alexander imparted his intention of abdicating to the German and Russian Consuls. A grand council, among the members of which are MM. Stambuloff and Karveloff, is being held to arrange for the regency. The Prince will probably leave within two days. The officers of the army are greatly excited and talk of detaining the Prince. They have resolved in any case to refuse to receive a Russian envoy. They will hold a meeting to decide what course to adopt. The city is tranquil.

How the Abdication is Regarded.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Post's Berlin correspondent says Emperor William proposed Prince Alexander's telegram to the Czar as the best means of effecting a reconciliation and that the Czar's reply was therefore a direct blow at the Emperor. The correspondent says the news of Alexander's abdication causes the utmost indignation against Russia among the German army officers.

Advices from Vienna says the news of Alexander's abdication was received with consternation there, the Prince's action being looked upon as the beginning of a serious stage of the Bulgarian question. It is believed in Vienna that the abdication will not deter Russia from attempting to occupy Bulgaria, a proceeding which Austria cannot allow. Despatches from Sofia say the Russian party there, headed by the Russian consulate, show signs of great activity, and are preparing an address to the Czar. It is expected that Prince Alexander will go to Servia, thence to Darmstadt and then to England. M. Popoff and numerous Bulgarian officers have decided to accompany him.

A FALL OF FIFTY FEET.

A Policeman and a Street Fighter Struggle Until Both Roll Over a Precipice.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 5.—A sensational and probably a fatal accident occurred about 11 o'clock last night. Edward Hennig had engaged in a street quarrel and when the officers arrived he took to his heels. Constable Woods gave chase and finally drew his revolver and shot at the fugitive, the ball taking effect in Hennig's left forearm. Hennig stopped and stood at bay just on the brink of a precipice fifty feet high. They clinched, and after a short hard tussle both men disappeared. When the other officers arrived no one was in sight, but a faint cry from over the cliff attracted their attention. Looking down the two men were seen stretched motionless at the bottom of the cut. Woods was unconscious and both were terribly injured. Hennig is resting easier to-night, but Woods is suffering intensely and may die before morning.

A CELTIC LEAGUE.

Conference for Organization at Moray Bridge, Sutherlandshire.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A conference will be held at Elgin Bridge, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, September 23, for the purpose of forming a Celtic League. There will be present Dr. Parr Jones and Principal Jones, of Bala College, who will represent Wales; Commoners Sexton and Chance, who will represent Ireland, and Commoners Macdonald, Conaybara, Sutherland and Cameron, representing the Highlands. The gentlemen having the movement in charge have received from many parts of the kingdom communications in which the writers promise to join the league.

Every department in the Golden Lion is being rapidly filled with the choicest goods to be procured in the English French and German markets. R. FAIR.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

CHARLESTON STILL IN A STATE OF CONSTERNATION.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 5.—Charleston is quiet to-day and the Sabbath silence is only broken by the singing at the different religious meetings which have been held in the open air. Hardly a church in Charleston is considered safe for occupancy and the ministers of the different denominations have for the present held their services in the different public parks and in the grounds adjoining the churches. There is no doubt that the estimates of the loss by earthquake are far below the mark. The city appraiser, who has gone over the whole city, and is familiar with the value of property, estimates that it will cost at least $5,000,000 to put Charleston in a position as good as that which it occupied a week ago. There are many persons who are suffering for want of bread and meat. Their wants, however, begin to be known and will be quickly met. The Government tents have been erected in encampments in different parts of the city, where full attention will be given to sanitary requirements, but it is calculated that at least 5000 persons will need shelter for weeks to come, and it is proposed to erect huts on the public grounds for the accommodation of those for whom tents will not suffice. Ample accommodation will be provided for the colored refugees as well as the whites.

More Shocks.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 5.—At 9.30 Saturday night another earthquake shock of about five seconds' duration, the first of the day, startled the people. It was not nearly so severe as the shock on the preceding night.

There was another shock at 11.05 to-night. It was not very severe, and the duration was about ten seconds.

Rumblings in a Mountain.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 5.—News was received at Asheville to-night from Mitchell Co., that the earthquake phenomena were very startling in the vicinity of the pinnacle of the Black Mountain. The subterraneous rumbling were tremendous and continued 15 minutes. Immense rocks were hurled down the mountain into the valleys. People fled from their houses into the woods.

SIR EDWARD THORNTON DISGRACED

The Late Minister at Washington Superseded at Constantinople.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—During the past fortnight both the press and the clubs have been unanimous in declaring that British interests at Constantinople werein thoroughly incompetent hands. The notification that the Government has to-day summarily recalled Sir Edward Thornton from Constantinople and appointed Sir William White to be Ambassador in his place, has therefore given rise to a general feeling of relief in England. Sir William's appointment would clearly indicate that Lord Salisbury intends to pursue a very active policy in Eastern matters. The new envoy, who spent many years of his life as consul-general at Warsaw, has become imbued with the strongest anti-Russian feelings, which have been since intensified by his six years stay at Bucharest, where the Czar is a person in gratissima. Sir William is exceedingly popular at Constantinople, where he acted as British delegate to the convention of the great powers, which met there last winter to consecrate with their sanction the new state of things consequent on the insurrection in Eastern Roumelia. On that occasion he figured very prominently as Prince Alexander's chief defender against the efforts made by Russia to bring about his deposition by the Sultan, and the warlike, aggressive tone with which he repelled the personal attacks on the Prince made by the Russian ambassador, M. de Nelidoff, thoroughly gained him the good will of the Turks and the confidence of the Sultan. Sir Edward Thornton, who has spent almost the whole of his long diplomatic career, extending over forty years, in the Western hemisphere, is regarded as the impersonification of respectable mediocrity, and appears to have been utterly oblivious of the intrigues at Constantinople of his clever Russian colleague. It is many years since a British ambassador has been so summarily superseded and publicly disgraced.

Unloading Telegraph Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—The Hugh Allan estate, Mr. J. Crawford and other large holders of Montreal Telegraph stock are selling out, Mr. Crawford having disposed of 1750 out of 2000 shares. The reason assigned is that holders of stock are not desirous of entering into another big telegraph war, which is threatened by the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company.

The Grievances of Miners.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—A demonstration which was participated in by 40,000 miners, was held at Molberwell, Scotland, yesterday. Mr. Bradlaugh and others made addresses. It was resolved to form a federal union, whose object will be to redress the grievances of miners.

News and Notes.

The directors of the Isle of Jersey bank have been acquitted.

Three new cases of yellow fever were reported yesterday at Biloxi, Miss.

Gen. Lloyd Aspinwall of New York was stricken with apoplexy at Providence, R.I., on Saturday and died at noon.

Sir John Stewart offered to sell to his tenants his Tyrone estate on the twenty years' purchase plan, provided they buy it all.

M. Leroux, cashier of the banking house of the Rothschilds, died while attending the funeral of Baroness Rothschild on Saturday.

Special performances will be given in all the principal theatres and places of amusement in New York for the benefit of the Charleston sufferers.

Argument in the Sproule murder case was concluded on Saturday and judgment reserved. A decision will be rendered on Sept. 13, to which date the Supreme Court adjourned.

The British Government has decided to permanently increase the Belfast police 500 men and to erect new barracks in the quarters where disorders are most likely to occur.

Samuel Morley, formerly a member of Parliament for Bristol, died at midnight on Saturday. He was a prominent champion of Protestant non-conformity and made many liberal donations to that cause. He was born in 1809.

Prince Bismarck, who is suffering from an attack of sciatica, is much chagrined because Lauenburg, hitherto the constituency of his son Count Herbert Bismarck, has returned a Liberal to the Reichstag.

Heavy bush fires are prevailing in the vicinity of Whitemouth and Rat Portage, causing great destruction. A heavy rain fell Saturday evening, which, it is believed, will have an important influence in suppressing them.

The German Colonel who has been travelling throughout France under the name of Saxon, and who was recently arrested on suspicion of being a spy, has been released, the authorities being unable to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant his further detention.

While Prof. A. N. Shewan, Headmaster of the Preparatory High School, Montreal, was opening a bottle of ginger ale it exploded, and the cork, striking him on the ball of the eye, injured him so severely that it is feared he will lose his eyesight.

The agreement between the City of Stratford and the Grand Trunk relative to the locomotive works, which has been signed and sealed, stipulates that the house of assembly of the company shall erect the principal locomotive works west of Toronto in Stratford, and maintain them there for thirty years, in the matter of the car-wrights the company is allowed five years to decide. If, on the expiration of that time, the company has not given notice of intention to erect the works it loses all claim to the subsidy, $30,000. The works on the locomotive shops is to commence in two months.

NELSON-LADY HAMILTON.

FROM HUMBLE MAID TO COMPANIONSHIP WITH QUEENS.

The Romance of the Great Admiral's Career —A Woman Who Raised Everything for Nelson and for England—A Gold Standard

From the London Times.

Another Life of Nelson is not necessarily another contribution to the country's waste-paper basket. Much as we have learned of the nation's darling hero, there still remains something to be told. Southey, in his charming but perfect biography, satisfied our particular and did homage to a people's love. Sir Harris Nicolas, in his more voluminous collections of the despatches and letters, made due provision for the graver requirements of posterity; but neither the one nor the other, possessing the key that could easily us very far into the recesses of Nelson's history—hidden retreats, possessing to many minds attractions—are to be found in the more open and classic field of his glorious public career. For every one who prefers a visit to the state apartments at Windsor Castle, there are a thousand who would willingly desert the magnificent halls to linger for a moment in the quieter rooms duly inhabited by a Queen. That which is nearest to us touches us most, and hence it is something more than vulgar curiosity that renders us so eager to ascertain the domestic movements of the great. Humanity takes delight of itself in soaring to the contemplation of a demigod. It meets itself again, and is contented and instructed when tracking the deity upon the earth, and watching his impulses upon the path of passion common to all.

According to our notions, Nelson realized the ideal of a hero as completely as any true chipped at any time in any land. His public was of the simplest; his love of country was fervent and self-subjugating; his gentleness was equalled only by his valor; and his eagerness, which has perhaps never been rivaled, compounded with the genius that inspired it, Delicate in body, and insignificant in appearance, he electrified all within his atmosphere, and secured love and devotion that could accomplish any thing, because in his presence they could recognise no difficulty or check. That Nelson was not a complete man. Dazzling as was his moral nature, the bright sun had still its disfiguring spot. Humility, the capital lesson in our passage through time to eternity, is never so effectually taught as when the most illustrious present themselves to the most abject stained and degraded by gratitude sin. It is the blotted page of Nelson's history to which our attention is now chiefly called. We must take courage and survey it.

Romance has been beaten in its own domain by the surpassingly romantic history of Lady Hamilton. Before no other woman, probably, could Nelson have so completely fallen; upon no other woman of her time were fascinations of every kind so lavishly bestowed. Her life reads like a fable. She was the daughter of Henry Lyon, or Lyons, a laboring man, living at Preston, in Lancashire. He dying when she was still a child, the mother removed to Hawarden, in Flintshire, and there supported herself as best she could. As to bestowing any thought upon her offspring, to talk of it is absurd. The family belonged to the dragged-up class of the community, and when, by dint of industrious, perseverance and uncommon tact in later years Lady Hamilton contrived to command with the most notable people of her day, the difficulty with which she managed to spell correctly testified to the meagreness of her early acquisitions. It is presumed that she was born in the year 1764, and the first years of her life after quitting home was spent in ordinary servitude. Her first situation was as nursery-maid in the family of Mr. Adkins, of Hawarden, the brother-in-law of Mr. Alderman Boydell; but she afterwards went to London and held the same situation in the house of Dr. Budd, who then resided in Ormond Place, Blackfriars, and was one of the physicians of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Her fellow-servant here—the maid—singularly enough became Mrs. Powell, the celebrated actress of Drury Lane Theatre. Years afterwards, when Lady Hamilton was in the meridian of her glory and had renown by her achievements and beauty, she visited Drury Lane Theatre with her husband, and Mrs. Powell performed with the occasion. The admiration of the house was divided between the accomplished actress and the still more famous visitor. You may explore the history of domestic servitude in vain for a parallel coincidence.

Leaving the service of Dr. Budd, Emma Lyon descended a step or two, and became the servant of a dealer in St. James' market. Here she attracted the attention of a lady of quality, and she was invited to wait upon, or want of a better expression, we may say, a higher sphere." With much history in the house of a fashionable lady, with an ardent temperament, an extraordinary capacity, and a strong will, she took up such books as fell in her way, and grew into a determined novel reader. It is but fair to the memory of Lady Hamilton, who will have but little of our reader's sympathies after the next dozen lines are read, to say that her difficulties and temptations at this period of her career, and to show how far grossness and society itself were guilty of many offenses. The trash of a circulating library was not the only poison that crept into her soul. She was already a lovely woman, full of energy and animation, endowed with great powers of mimicry, an exquisite singer, an incomparable voice. Without education and surrounded by flattery and vice, we need not wonder if the servant yielded to temptations against which the well-born and well-informed are not always proof.

We are told that she first became the mistress of Captain, afterwards Rear-Admiral John Willett Payne, but that she soon deserted this gentleman for the protection of Sir Harry Featherstonaugh, Bart., of Up Park, Sussex. The baronet was fond of the beautiful Emma Lyon, who excelled in whatever she attempted, took to riding in amazing perfection, and rendered herself one of the most remarkable horse-women of the period. Up Park, however, was under the influence of its new mistress, the scenes of heartless dissipation; the domestic peace was soon ruined, and the "protested" bills upon the world, into which she was thrown, proved. Friendless and without a home, to whom perhaps creditable to the discarded woman to earn her livelihood by any honest means that offered. One Dr. Graham was delivering lectures at the time in the Adelphi, which Emma and her wanton friend Romney Leigh engaged to the quack as an illustration. What may have been the merit of the lectures we could be no doubt respecting the fascination threw life and light upon them. Romney, Royal Academician, pronounced it perfect, and took it for the subject of his most celebrated pictures. Hayley, the friend of Cowper, in his Life of Romney, tells us that the attitude which nature bestowed upon this graceful her to delight "in the two kindred arts of music and painting; in the first she wanted a great practical ability; for the second, a most exquisite taste, and such expressive powers as could furnish to an historical painter an inspiring model for the various characters of infinite delicate of attitude, that he might on occasion to represent;" from which statement we may conclude that she [illegible]

High Schools and Collegiate Institutes.

The next Entrance Examination to High Schools and Collegiate Institutes will be held on December 21st, 22nd and 23rd.

For the information and guidance of intending candidates the following schedule of the limit of studies in the various subjects is given:—

Reading.—A general knowledge of the elements of vocal expression, with special references to emphasis, inflection, and pause. The reading, with proper expression, of any selection in the Reader authorized for Fourth Book classes. The pupil should be taught to read intelligently as well as intelligibly.

Arithmetic.—Numeration and notation; the elementary rules; greatest common measure and least common multiple; reduction; the compound rules; vulgar and decimal fractions; elementary percentage and interest.

Literature.—The pupil should be taught to give for words or phrases, meanings which may be substituted therefor, without impairing the sense of the passage; to illustrate and show the appropriateness of important words or phrases; to distinguish between synonyms in common use; to paraphrase difficult passages so as to show the meaning clearly; to show the connection of the thoughts in any selected passage; to explain allusions; to write explanatory or descriptive notes on proper or other names; to show that he has studied the lessons thoughtfully, by being able to give an intelligent opinion on any subject treated of therein that comes within the range of his experience or comprehension; and especially to show that he has entered into the spirit of the passage, by being able to read it with proper expression. He should be exercised in quoting passages of special beauty from the selections prescribed, and in reproducing in his own words, the substance of any of these selections, or of any part thereof. He should also obtain some knowledge of the authors from whose works these selections have been made.

Orthography and Orthopy.—The pronunciation, the syllabication, and the spelling from dictation, of words in common use. The correction of words improperly spelt or pronounced. The distinctions between words in common use in regard to spelling, pronunciation, and meaning.

Writing.—The proper formation of the small and the capital letters. The pupil will be expected to write neatly and legibly.

Geography.—The form and the motions of the earth. The chief definitions as contained in the authorized text-book; divisions of the land and the water; circles on the globe; political divisions; natural phenomena. Maps of America, Europe, Asia, and Africa. Maps of Canada and Ontario, including the railway systems. The products and the commercial relations of Canada.

Grammar.—The sentence: its different forms. Words: their chief classes and inflections. Different grammatical values of the same word. The meanings of the chief grammatical terms. The grammatical values of phrases and of clauses. The nature of the clauses in easy compound and complex sentences. The government, the agreement, and the arrangement of words. The correction, with reasons therefor, of wrong forms of words and of false syntax. The parsing of easy sentences. The analysis of simple sentences.

Composition.—The nature and the construction of different kinds of sentences. The combination of separate statements into sentences. The nature and the construction of paragraphs. The combination of separate statements into paragraphs. Variety of expression, with the following classes of exercises:—Changing the voice of the verb; expanding a word or a phrase into a clause; contracting a clause into a word or phrase; changing from direct into indirect narration, or the converse; transposition; changing the form of a sentence; expansion of given heads or hints into a composition; the construction of passages; paraphrasing prose or easy poetry. The elements of punctuation. Short narratives or descriptions. Familiar letters.

Drawing.—Drawing books, No. 4 and No. 5 of the Drawing Course for Public Schools.

History.—Outlines of English history; the outlines of Canadian history generally, with particular attention to the events subsequent to 1841. The municipal institutions of Ontario, and the Federal form of the Dominion government.

At the December examination the marks assigned for English history will be 75 as heretofore, but 25 additional marks will be awarded as a maximum bonus for Canadian History. In July, 1887, and subsequently, English and Canadian History will be valued as prescribed in the regulations.

Examination papers will be set in Literature from the following lessons in the new Ontario Readers, the only series now authorized for use:

as well as physical beauty of the model, was appreciated and admired by Romney. The poet was as bewitched as the painter; both drew inspiration from the subject, and we have sonnets as well as portraits extant to perpetuate the loveliness that drove both mad

We have said above that the existence of Lady Hamilton reads like a fable. Every step we take leads us further from what we are accustomed to regard as real life, and deeper into the realms of fiction. We have seen the laborer's daughter, a poor servant girl, a rich man's mistress, the painter's hired model. We pursue her history. Whilst acting in the last named capacity she became acquainted with Mr. Charles Francis Greville. Mr. Greville was the nephew of Sir William Hamilton, and famous in his generation "for his taste in objects of art and vertu." He offered a home to Emma Lyon, and the girl accepted it. But he did more! He attempted to cultivate the wild luxuriance of an undoubted genius, and to a certain extent with signal success. Could he have sharpened her moral perceptions as happily as he improved her mental endowments, he might have lost a mistress, but he would have spared the world much shame, and the woman he professed to love infinite degradation, and long and unavailing sorrow. She had masters for everything. Her knowledge of music was intuitive. Receiving instruction in the art, she soon sang to perfection. An anecdote told of the lady at this period is too characteristic to be omitted. Mr. Greville took her one night to Ranelagh, the Vauxhall of our fathers. Excited by the scene, and carried away by the admiration of those who surrounded her, she insisted upon a public exhibition of her vocal powers. She sang and met with rapturous applause. Upon returning home Mr. Greville, alarmed, remonstrated with the performer upon the impropriety of her act. He knew not the consummate powers of the actress with whom he had to deal. The rebuked penitent retired to her room, discarded the finery in which she was dressed, reappeared in a humble garment, and begged to be dismissed. Reader, imagine the tableau, and form your own conclusion. Be sure the sorceress was not dismissed; she remained with her protector, and became the mother of three children, who called her aunt. Her own name had been changed from Lyon to Harte; for what reason we are not informed

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring less trusses made in York State, costing me $16. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child ever; and 50 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

By T. WEMYSS REID.

A New Story by this gifted young author. The principal scenes are laid at a fashionable watering place.

The first chapter opens with

A THRILLING EPISODE,

which at once engages the reader's sympathies. This interest is not allowed to flag for one moment throughout the whole story.

The author has evidently drawn his Characters, Plot and

Situations from Real Life,

as they are pictured with the realism of a photograph.

The following Illustrations ably portray a few of the characters and incidents:

Stenographic Experts.

There are some marvels of stenographic reporting performed in the senate and house each day, and about the most fascinating sight in congress is to see these men covering page after page with curious characters almost as fast as the eye can follow. Each day the Congressional Record comes out with a verbatim report of the proceedings of the last session. Not infrequently the Record reaches the size of a good-sized book, and to the uninitiated the wonder is how the ten reporters succeed in preparing such a mass of matter in so short a time. It is all the result of a system which has grown up with years, and which is well-nigh perfect. There are five stenographers in each branch, and they hold their offices year after year irrespective of the rise or fall of the political dynasties. The senate pays for its reporting with a lump sum of $25,000 for each year. The contract is made with Mr. J. D. Murphy, who is acknowledged to stand at the head of the profession in this country. Mr. Murphy is a short, stout man, with iron-gray hair and full beard. He has a little desk in front of the clerk's stand and does the greater part of the senate reporting himself. Mr. Murphy does his work easily and without any apparent trouble. No matter whether Mr. Beck, or Mr. Hawley or some of the other lightning talkers are going ahead under full pressure, or the slow-spoken and ponderous Evarts is plowing along in debate, it is all the same to Mr. Murphy. He gets all there is said.

The reporters in the senate sit at their desks, because the chamber is a small one and there is usually perfect quiet. In the house, however, the five reporters sit here and there with their note-books, following this or that speaker. The chief of the house corps is J. J. McElhone. He made his reputation in the famous debate, when there were fully a dozen of men speaking at once. Mr. McElhone jumped to his feet, note-book and pencil in hand. He did not take his eye from the paper, but when the scene had passed he had every word of it. The report in the next day's Record was absolutely correct; not an actor in that famous scene ever complained that he had been misquoted. Mr. McElhone is a tall man, with a decidedly Hibernian cast of features. His head is small and round, and his gray hair stands straight up all over it. He is regarded as the swiftest and most accurate of all the house reporters. None of the stenographers write out their notes. In the house the men take "tricks" of ten or fifteen minutes each, at the expiration of which they rush down-stairs, where there are a dozen or more stenographers in waiting. They read the debate as they have taken it, and these assistants in turn take it in shorthand and subsequently reduce it in writing for the printers. The house reporters are paid $3,000 a year.—N. Y. Telegram.

A Dinner Saved Him.

Of the late M. Labiche, one of the authors of the comedy "Le Voyage de M. Perrichon," it is related that while he was its mayor in 1870 the village of Sauvigny was entered by a Prussian cavalry regiment, the colonel of which demanded rations and a levy of $30,000. Labiche refused to give either. "Then have you a marriage?" "Yes." "Get it ready and follow me to the commandant." "What for?" "To be judged, condemned and shot. Hurry up!" The carriage was brought and they set out. Labiche was smoking a cigar. As they drove he offered the colonel another and then said:

"M. le colonel, if any one five years ago had told me you would do this I would have been incredulous." "Why, man," said the colonel, "you are dreaming. I now see you for the first time." "Pardon; for the second time. I had the pleasure of dining with you and pouring out wine for you, too." "Where?" "At the German embassy. I had the honor of sitting at your right. We conversed like friends. Your amiability charmed me. I exclaimed to myself: 'What a fine fellow! He will make a mark in Berlin society.'" "But it was not I." "No? Then it must have been your brother. You have the same beautiful mustache, the same elegance, the same distinction, the same Great profile. Come, my dear colonel! No false modesty! Wasn't it you?" The Prussian mused. "And you say your town cannot support my regiment?" "Alas, no!" "Your word of honor?" "The most sacred." Back went the carriage and the regiment marched on, and the colonel, pressing Labiche's hand in friendly farewell, said: "It was I. But devil a bit of you should I have remembered."—Paris Letter.

The manufacture of lager in America only dates back about forty years, but it has gone ahead and spread itself like the mustard seed in the parable. There are now about 2,200 breweries in this country, and they sold last year over 13,000,000 barrels of malt liquors. Of this New York and Brooklyn consumed over a quarter. The next largest places were Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, in the order named. An estimate of the capital invested in the trade would probably reach $150,000,000. Ninety-five per cent of the brewers are Germans.

Sleeping Positions.

A medical paper has a new health-preserving racket—that of sleeping with the face downward. These plans and specifications for sleeping are getting a little too numerous. We always try to live up to them. When some old medical nothority who has got his cemetery full and retired from active slaughter shouts that a person should sleep with his head toward the north so that the electric currents will pass through his body on the proper route, we sleep that way. If another nose-grown practitioner, with as good a record for fatality, solemnly asserts that the only authorized and fully-guaranteed way to slumber is with the head towards the south, and gives the same reason as the other, we just move the pillow aft and turn in. When still another rival of the pale rider, with his back broken by lifting on the rate of mortality, announces that the only way to get along peacefully with the electric currents is to sleep with the head to the east or west, so that they will slide over the body and butt against the headboard of the bedstead, we promptly, even gladly, comply. Every time the word comes along the line for a change it finds us a ready and willing victim. They are coming rather too fast, however. It begins to look as if we could not get through a whole night without veering around to some new direction or position. It will soon be necessary to get up three or four times a night and go down and get the mail and see what the latest chart on sleeping is. Some genius will have to bring out a bedstead with clock-work attached, that will keep it continually moving around and make it occasionally get up on its hind castors and turn a couple of handsprings.

The Queen has received a present from the United States of a quarto volume, bound in sealskin, with linings of damask satin, and a hand-painted inscription. The work is regarded as a triumph of American bookbinding, and copies have been presented to the German Emperor, and to the Emperor of Russia. The Queen's copy has been placed in the library at Windsor Castle.

Church Changes.

Rev. T. S. McAul, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist Church on Sunday, from which he delivered interesting and instructive sermons to large congregations.

Rev. Mr. Carmichael, of Baltimore, Ont., preached in St. Paul's Church on Sunday. His discourses were able and eloquent and were listened to by large congregations.

Miss Templeton Armstrong, who will lecture in the Opera House this evening on "John Knox and his Times," preached in the George street Methodist on Sunday evening. The large edifice was seated to its utmost capacity and many had to turn away unable to get a seat. The lady lecturer and preacher deliver a stirring and eloquent sermon from the text "Behold the man," contained in the 5th verse of the 19th chapter of St. John's Gospel.

Rev. Mr. Crage, of Hiawatha preached in the George street Methodist Church on Sunday morning, delivering an interesting and impressive sermon.

The Rev. William Smythe, of the Guelph Conference, occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Mr. Smythe was born in the township of Cavan, and has been home on a visit with friends.

Highly Appreciated.

Mr. Sawyer, Principal of the Peterborough Business College, has received the following letter:—

Mr. D. J. Bansell Sawyer:

DEAR SIR.—I guess you will think that I am never going to answer your letter. I don't know that I ever saw anything that took my eye so much as your drawing did. I never expected anything so nice as that. I am greatly obliged to you. I hope to be under your management next January.

Yours very respectfully,
P. W. SHUTTLEWORTH.

Thornbury, Sept. 1st, 1886.

An Unfortunate Horse.

On Saturday evening Mr. A. Letellier, baker, Lake Street, lost a good horse under somewhat peculiar circumstances. He has been accustomed to feeding the horse judicious quantities of a batch of bread that might become sour. But on Saturday a lad employed was too generous to his charge feeding him freely of soured bread. Symptoms of illness at once showed themselves. The animal was taken to Dr. Crevier, V. S., who gave an unfavorable prognosis asserting that the beast would die of acute indigestion, within half an hour. In fifteen minutes the horse was dead.

A Hint to Teachers.

Now that there are many cases of diphtheria in town, it becomes the duty of the several teachers in our schools to make the strictest scrutiny to see that no children from any infected family are allowed to attend the schools. It is only by such precautions, among others, that the spread of the disease can be avoided. The town is highly favored in respect of this disease. It is much more severely epidemic in other places. In Napanee, on account of its prevalence, the schools have not yet opened.

Sons of England Funeral.

The remains of the late Samuel Hamilton, who died in Toronto on Friday, were interred in the Little Lake Cemetery on Sunday with Sons of England honors. The deceased was a member of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, the members of which lodge, headed by the band, attended the funeral in a body. This is the first death that has occured in the lodge since it was formed. The funeral was largely attended.

The Doctors Have a Taste of Their Own Medicine—The County Cricket Team Defeat Them by an Innings.

The proverbial uncertainty of cricket was perhaps never more fully exemplified than on Saturday, when the score from that on Friday scored 218, was dismissed by the same bowling as on the previous day for the small score of 48. Otherwise many like it have been recorded. Before the match began unfortunate accidents took place. Mr. R. T. A. Bell, at present a guest of the Hon. R. B. Hamilton, and a regular member of the Cricket club, being objected to by Dr. Cameron in name of his brother Sawbones. This is the first time we ever heard of such objection being raised on the cricket field. It certainly showed a most unwicket-like spirit, which we were sorry to see, more especially considering the enormous score the objectors had piled up on the previous day. Most of the Peterborough men were in favor of refusing to play, but as two players from Norwood and one from Lindsay were present to take part in the game, the match was played. The home team was, of course, weaker than on the previous day, but they managed to give the visitors a thorough beating.

The home team batted first, Hamilton being bowled first ball. Rogers, scorning pads, gloves, and centre, hit at everything and missed nothing, making 17 in short time, while Ray, who played patiently, after making 9, played on. Hall, the 6th wicket, Halbert (a former Peterborough player) and Long made a good stand, putting on nearly 60 before they were parted, Long being the first to go for a well-played 13. Partnered by Willoughby, Halbert did not stay long, being bowled for a useful and well-played 30, with the score at 100. Willoughby and Stirling stayed well, the former doing the most of the run-getting. Before a separation was effected the score was over 140, Stirling being then well taken at point. Willoughby played well for 27, including one 4; Fraser got 15, Stratton showed nice form by his 10, and the innings closed for 170, 30 of which were extras, the fielding of the "meds" being rather loose.

The "Sawbones'" first innings was a procession, varied by some brilliant hits from Scadding. Hamilton clean bowled two wickets in his first over, and five wickets were down for sixteen runs. Scadding got 18 in eight hits, but the rest did not trouble the scorers much, Ray getting Scadding Bray, and Ross out in one over. The bowling and fielding in this innings were really good, which accounts for the small score.

In their second innings, the "Meds" just tied the Peterborough score. Ross played well for his 22; Scadding had some grand hits in his 24, while Bascom played by far the best cricket of his side for his 29. Stratton got four catches that with which he dismissed Scadding, being a really grand one. Rogers also had a very fine catch in the first innings, Bray, being the victim.

Quite a few spectators were present, who, on account of the objection raised against Mr. Bell, were much more demonstrative than usual.

It will be seen that the home team won by an innings:—

SLIPS.

The earthquake must have affected the Peterboroughs on Friday.

Hamilton, on Saturday, hit the wicket so hard without removing the bails that the batsman, Dr. Caven, walked away from the wicket, thinking he was bowled.

Sam Ray says Mr. J. H. Long is a phenomenal fielder.

"The Child's Bible."

Mr S. S. McCann is in town introducing to the Christian public a beautiful edition of the "Child's Bible." This Bible is peculiarly adapted to the use of the young, while, in narrative, it follows the text of the Holy Scriptures, all dry details, lists of hard names, chronological matters, etc., are omitted. No great doctrinal truths are dropped, but the book presents the Scriptures in a form which any parent, desiring to instruct the young in Biblical knowledge, would select. An index of subjects makes reference very convenient. This volume is printed in bold type, on toned paper, and contains 400 wood-cut illustrations. It also contains an introduction by Rev. Dr. Vincent, the orator, who is so popular with the young. The "Child's Bible" should be in the hands of every parent with a child, to instruct in the important truths of Holy Scripture.

Police Court.

Another Batch of Scott Act Cases Disposes the Court's Attention.

After a month of holiday, the attention of the Police Court was this morning required to dispose of [illegible] for a charge [illegible] and [illegible] for alleged breaches of the Scott Act.

Mr. J. E. McIntyre, charged by Inspector Cochrane with a violation of the Scott Act [illegible] 1st June and September 1st, was then called.

Mr. R. Smith appeared for Mr. McIntyre, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

The Magistrate imposed the usual fine of $50 and costs.

Wm. Lasher, was charged by J. D. Baptie with having used grossly insulting and abusive language to him on Friday evening.

Mr. Baptie testified that on Friday night, when he was standing in his shop door, Mr. Lasher came up and called out to him, "Well, Baptie, are you looking for some man to swindle. You swindled me out of $200." He continued to talk in this way, and to call him all the vile names he could think of.

Mr. Lasher was sworn, and testified that when he was going home on Friday night he saw Mr. Baptie standing in his shop doorway. "I asked him if he was looking to see if he could find some other person to swindle, and called him a black scoundrel. I said I hoped soon to be in a position to show that he had swindled me. I did not call him a bitch or other vile names. I don't use such language.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed.

John Wilson, charged by Inspector Cochrane with having committed a violation of the Scott Act between 1st June and 1st September, was called before the court. He pleaded not guilty.

Geo. Germain, of the C. P. R. hotel, on a similar charge, was also called before the court, and pleaded not guilty. A large number of witnesses were examined in both these cases. All but one denied having got liquor from either Wilson or Germain. One witness stated that he had a drink of beer at the C. P. R. Both cases were enlarged till this afternoon.

What We May Expect.

South Monaghan Exhibition, Agricultural Hall at Centreville, on Thursday and Friday, the 30th of September and 1st October.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

No Blowing—Solid Facts!

You can enrich yourself by purchasing your goods at the Bon Marche's Big Bargain sale now going on, and as the chance will only last a few weeks longer, you should purchase before it is too late. A large supply of winter goods of all kinds for those wishing to buy now, will be sold at prices that should set people wild after them. On Saturday, September 4th, a big Auction Sale will be held in the store, and all should make it a point to attend, as there will be a regular cyclone of bargains that day.

"John Knox and His Times."

Miss Templeton Armstrong will deliver her celebrated lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House, Monday evening, Sept. 6th. Of which lecture Rev. H. M. Parsons, Toronto, says: "It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the office of door-keeper, etc., will be filled by ladies. Officers of the Union will take seats on the platform. Doors open at 7.30, chair taken at 8.

Reception.

The congregation of St. Paul's church propose tendering Rev. E. F. Torrance a reception on his return from Europe. It is announced that the reception will take place in the Church Sunday School rooms, on Wednesday evening, September 15th. The ladies of the congregation have the matter in hand.

Social.

A social, under the auspices of St. Paul's Church Ladies' Aid Society, will be held at the residence of Miss Stewart, on the river road, Otonabee, on Thursday evening.

Camp at Kingston.

The Local division of the Durham Field Battery will leave town to-morrow morning for Kingston, where they will go into camp.

Company Drill.

Companies No. 1, 2, 4, 5 and , of the City Battalion will drill this evening in the drill shed.

Town Council.

A meeting of the Town Council will be held to-night, at which, it is probable, the rate will be struck.

Richmond Hill Captures all the Aurora Prizes.

There was a firemen's tournament at Aurora yesterday. Richmond Hill succeeded in carrying off the first prizes in every event on the card, even to the lacrosse match.

The Terrible Tramps.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 3.—To-night three tramps who had attempted to steal a ride on freight train No. 19, from Toronto to Montreal, were detected by Brakeman Jack Ross of Toronto at Brighton. The tramps were ejected from the car, when one drew a revolver. Ross closed with him and took possession of the weapon. All three tramps then set upon Ross. It was in the dark, and none of the train hands were near to render aid. They recovered the revolver, when one fired a shot at short range. His aim was inaccurate and the ball missed its mark. The three fled without waiting to see the result of the shot. Two tramps, supposed to be of the number, were arrested at Napanee at noon to-day, and are held for identification.

Horticultural Show.

THE FALL EXHIBITION

Of the County of Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society will be held on Tuesday, the 7th of September

1886, in the Water Street Roller Rink.

On Tuesday Evening, a Choice Musical Programme will be presented

Under the direction of Mr. J. S. Parker. Mr. McDuff will give selections on the violin, and some of the best local talent will assist.

To avoid confusion that has been experienced in the past, positively no entries will be received on the day of the Exhibition.

Entries will be received by the Secretary on the 6th of September, at the Roller Rink, from 2 to 8 p.m. Parties at a distance may send their entries to the Secretary, P. O. Box 283, to reach him not later than the 6th.

Any person not a member of the Society and paying each article to be exhibited the sum of 25 cents, shall be entitled to compete for prizes.

Admission to the show and entertainment, 10 cents.

A Serial Story.

A new Illustrated Story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Hundred Pounds," will be continued next Friday in the EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It continues the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds its close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Maulverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction. Be sure and get the DAILY EXAMINER of next Friday.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1886.

THEY COME TO TERMS.

Parnell and the Government Arrive at an Understanding.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—It is reported that Mr. Parnell has come to terms with the Government, and that he has arranged to withdraw that part of his land bill which relates to revaluation in exchange for the Government's acceptance of the part relating to the suspension of evictions. Parliament will, it is thought in consequence of this, adjourn on Sept. 15.

Considering the Estimates.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The House of Commons this evening took up the consideration of the estimates. The debate was slightly prolonged by the Parnellites. The first subject of contention was the allowance for a volunteer force in Ireland, and the second related to the army clothing contracts, which had been given to a Pimlico factory to the detriment of a Limerick factory. In both cases the Government promised to consider the matter in the interests of Ireland. Both estimates were eventually agreed to, the motions for their reduction being rejected on division.

THE NIAGARA MILITARY CAMP.

C Company on the Grounds—List of the Corps to Arrive.

NIAGARA, Sept. 6.—C Company, I.S.C., arrived in camp this forenoon, having had an exceedingly pleasant trip across the lake on the Chicora. They looked bright and smart and were heartily welcomed by the townspeople. After pitching tents the remainder of the ground was staked out, under the superintendence of Lieut. Sears, for the camps of the different corps who will arrive tomorrow. The camp is laid out facing the south instead of east, as formerly, and has already assumed a busy appearance. There will be no regimental canteens, only a brigade canteen in charge of Sergt. Davis, the genial C Company canteen sergeant, who is also caterer for C Company sergeants' mess. The camp will be composed of the following corps who will arrive tomorrow: Artillery—Toronto, Hamilton and Welland field batteries. Infantry—The 12th, 34th, 35th, 36th and 77th battalions. There will be close on 2000 men in camp, and they will occupy 360 tents and 8 marquees. Two field days are on the program, for which 30,000 rounds of blank cartridge have been provided. The same number of ball cartridge for rifle practice is on hand. The volunteers will doubtless pick up many pointers in drill dress and discipline from the men of C Company.

Canada's Railway Commission.

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—The recently appointed Canadian railway commissioners have met for organization, and have decided to send to the High Commissioner's office in London for copies of the reports of the English act establishing a court of railway commissioners as well as the report of the English and other railway courts. The commission will hold another meeting in Ottawa shortly, but the first meeting for taking evidence will be held in Toronto about Oct. 10.

A Civil Servant Missing.

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—Daniel Dunn, of the Interior Department, got leave of absence on the 30th ult. and left to spend his annual holidays. He went to Gananoque and there hired a boat to go out on the river for a sail. Since then he has not been heard of, and it is supposed he has been drowned, as the boat was found with both oars gone.

Destructive Fire at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 6.—Flint & Holton's lumber yard was set on fire here this afternoon by a spark from the smokestack. About a million and a half feet of lumber, valued at from $20,000 to $25,000 was burned. No insurance.

The Western Ontario Pacific Railway.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 6.—A bylaw granting $10,000 to the West Ontario Pacific Railway extension from Woodstock to London was carried to-day by 527 majority.

STEEL STEAMERS ON ONTARIO.

A New Line to be Placed on the Lake and the St. Lawrence.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle of Saturday gives some information concerning a new company that has been organized to run a line of steamers on the Lake Ontario and St. Lawrence route. It is to be known as the Ontario and St. Lawrence Navigation Company. Its officers are: Col. C. L. Stowell, Rochester, President; Charles L. Fisher of Montreal, Vice-President; and F. L. Stowell of New York, Secretary. The capital is $500,000, in 5000 shares of $100 each. There has been paid in 20 per cent. of the capital. The shares are held principally by New Yorkers. It is proposed that the steamers shall run between Lewiston and Montreal, calling at Toronto, Charlotte, Oswego, Clayton, Alexandria Bay and other points both going and returning. The steamers are to be built of steel, expressly for the requirements of the route. They are to be furnished with electric lights, and fitted with all the luxuries and comforts of a first-class hotel. The contracts call for a speed of at least twenty miles per hour. The boats are designed to surpass anything of the kind hitherto floated on the great lakes. They will possess a handsome appearance, and outwardly resemble some of the ocean steamships. The length will probably be about 256 feet, with an extreme beam over all of about forty-two feet. They will carry two spars, schooner-rigged, and the steel hulls will be double and divided into water-tight bulkheads. The hulls will be of unusually staunch construction, and the machinery the very best money can procure. Compound engines will be used and will be very powerful, as it is designed that the steamships shall not stop for wind or weather. This company," said the President, "is backed by ample means, and if no unforeseen circumstances arise the steamships will be running next season. It is the intention of the company to start with four steamers and add others as occasion may require."

British Electoral Statistics.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The returns published show that when the general election of 1885 took place in Great Britain there were 5,606,753 voters on the registers. Of these 4,391,769 belonged to England and Wales, 566,560 to Scotland and 741,123 to Ireland. A total of 1,333 candidates were nominated, of whom 668 were elected. The maximum scale of expenses allowed by the corrupt practices act was $4,373,250 for England and Wales, and $4,177,290 was returned as having been spent; $264,775 was allowed for Ireland and $318,715 was reported as having been spent; $627,230 was spent in Scotland, but it is not stated how much was allowed for that kingdom. Three million seven hundred and thirty-four thousand and six hundred and ninety-three voters were polled in England and Wales at an average of $1.10 each; 447,386 in Scotland at an average cost of about $1.40 and 451,456 in Ireland at a cost of about 75 cents each, making a total of voters polled in the United Kingdom of 4,633,737 at an average of about $1.10 per voter.

Since the Chambly election the Tories have been aptly named the smallpox party.

BRITAIN DISGUSTED.

WITH THE ABDICATION OF PRINCE ALEXANDER OF BULGARIA.

BELGRADE, Sept. 6.—A despatch from Semlin says King Milan of Servia, who, with his Prime Minister, was on his way to Gluckenburg, has, on account of the gravity of the situation created in the Balkan States by Prince Alexander's abdication, abandoned the journey and arranged to return to Belgrade.

Newspaper Stories.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says he is reliably informed that Prince Bismarck promised M. De Giers a free hand in Bulgaria in case England showed a willingness to help Alexander and Turkey, and that both Germany and Austria would remain neutral.

The Daily Telegraph says: "Every one for himself," is the new motto of the European concert, and the results is discord more or less veiled. We are a maritime power. Looking to the dark, lowering future, we cannot too soon take all needful steps and only rely on ourselves."

The Chronicle blames Prince Bismarck for creating the present critical situation, and says the clouds in the Balkans are darker and more lurid than ever.

The Daily News doubts whether Russia will go to the length of occupying Bulgaria even though assured of German neutrality. It would be unnecessary to do so, it says, as the moral victory gives the czar all he asks and practically makes Bulgaria a Russian province.

England's Position.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that a change in the Government of Bulgaria can only occur in accordance with the Treaty of Berlin and with the consent of the signatory powers to that treaty. England, he said, had no separate interests in reference to Bulgaria. The election of a new prince of Bulgaria must be unanimous. [Cheers.] The Government, said the speaker, had hoped much from the ability and great qualities of Prince Alexander and they deplored the treachery and violence which had interrupted his reign. His final decision to abandon his work in Bulgaria was greatly regretted.

MEMORIAL CHURCH AT PENETANG.

The Corner Stone Laid by the Archbishop of Toronto on Sunday.

PENETANGUISHENE, Sept. 6.—The martyrdom of the Jesuit Fathers De Brebeuf, Lallemont and their companions, who for twelve hours of a hideous night in the year 1645 for their faith's sake suffered devilish tortures at the hands of the Huron Indians was fitly commemorated yesterday by the laying of the corner stone of the Memorial Church built on the scene of their suffering as a national monument in their memory. The town was filled to overflowing with visitors, among whom were His Grace Archbishop Lynch, Toronto; Mgr. O'Bryen, Papal Ablegate; Lieut.-Gov. Robinson; Vicar-General Laurent, Peterboro; Dean O'Connor, Barrie; Dean Harris, St. Catharines; Father Gearin, Flos; Father Hayden, St. Catharines; Father Gibbons, Lafontaine; Father McBride, Toronto; Father Michel, Lafontaine; and Father McCabe, Penetanguishene; J. S. Adams, W. Williamson, Dr. Canniff, J. B. Clarke and W. J. Macdonell of Toronto.

The new church will have a charming site, on a slight eminence, and overlooking Georgian Bay. The ceremony was performed at 2.30 by Archbishop Lynch of Toronto. Addresses followed from the Archbishop, the Lieutenant-Governor, Father Harris, and Mgr. O'Bryen. In the evening the Lieutenant-Governor, the ablegate, the priests, and a few invited guests took supper at the house of Father Laboureau, the energetic parish priest, to whom the success of the work is largely due.

PITCHED THROUGH A HOUSE.

Fatal Accident to a Southeastern Railway Train Near Chambly Basin.

CHAMBLY BASIN, Que., Sept. 6.—A terrible accident occurred here at the railway station at 5.15 p.m. to-day. The Southeastern Railway mixed from Farnham to Longueiul was leaving a car, and being unable to give it headway on account of having too much of a train, the whole went on the switch and shoved five cars, which were on the same switch though the main road and down a five-foot ditch and through a wooden house occupied by two families. Five of the inmates were buried. Four were rescued without serious injuries, and after hard work the fifth, a boy 4 years old, was found dead, buried under the ruins. The dead child was the son of Arthur Robert, proprietor of the house. Three of the family escaped unhurt, but an old woman named Demers will probably die by the accident.

BABY FARMING AT MILWAUKEE.

A Woman Charged With Putting Infants to Death at so Much Per Head.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 6.—The finding of a dead infant with a darning needle thrust through its heart has led to the disclosure that a regular business of putting babes to death at so much per head has been carried on in this city. Mrs. Pauline Nuttlestadt, proprietoress of a private lying-in hospital, fled a few weeks ago upon ascertaining that the authorities had accumulated evidence criminating her. She traveled under an assumed name in Michigan, but was overhauled at Reid City and brought back last night. The police say she has confessed the murder of the child and claims to have been promised $300 by its mother for putting it out of the way. The authorities are investigating the deaths of numerous other infants born out of wedlock and supposed to have been put to death by her.

A Spy Following Davitt.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Sept. 6.—Michael Davitt on his trip through Northern Michigan was followed by a shorthand reporter in the pay of the British Government. All of his speeches and some of his private conversations were taken down in full by the agent of the English authorities. Mr. Davitt's utterances were temperate, and the English authorities will find it hard, unless the speeches are misrepresented, to make out a case against him from anything he said while in Michigan.

Murders in Burmah.

RANGOON, Sept. 6.—Father Biet, Superior of the Catholic Mission in British Burmah, recently went to visit a well-known usurer at Ramoo. While the priest was at the money lender's house three Burmese robbers broke into the house to steal the usurer's money. He resisted them stoutly and they killed him with knives. The robbers then turned upon the priest and murdered him because he had witnessed the crime.

Killed By a Bridge.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 6.—A most peculiar accident occurred here to-night in which a canal driver on the boat J. H. Westcott lost his life. The driver attempted to push the bridge from the boat to the tow path but could not hold it. The hook which fastens the bridge to the boat caught him in the throat tearing it open and throwing him into the water. The bridge fell on him, breaking his neck.

Cummings v. George.

From London Sporting Life, Aug. 25.

A capital start was effected by Jack White, and George proving the quickest on his toes, immediately dashed to the front. Going in rare style, he increased his advantage a good yard, but Cummings set himself going rounding the hospital corner, and at the end of the first quarter was only about three-quarters of a yard to the bad. Along the men sped at a rare bat, amidst loud cries of "George!" "Cummings!" Encouraged by the shout of his partisans, the Paisley man quickened up a bit, and running up the back stretch closed up, and coming down the straight a hot-un, was only half a yard behind George at the expiration of the half-mile. Both were now putting in all they knew; excitement ran at fever heat. Inch by inch Cummings closed up, and getting to George's shoulder in the straight the pair raced past the three-quarter mile post neck and neck. At this juncture a well-known peeler shouted "A hundred on Cummings." Running on with unflinching gameness, Cummings, on the outside of his man, spurted on passing the Stand, and went to the front, taking the outside position at the next corner. A terrific struggle ensued up the back stretch, and a perfect roar went up from the crowd. George stuck to his work with rare judgment, spurted in brilliant fashion, and caught Cummings at the first Hospital corner. Gamely the Paisley man essayed to hold him, but, after one of the toughest struggles ever witnessed George got his head in front. The scene at this point beggars description, the cheering being absolutely deafening. One more gallant effort on the part of Cummings, but it proved his last. George never relaxed his efforts, and Cummings, cracking sixty from home, left George to breast the tape alone, in 4 min., 12½ sec.—the fastest time on record.

The official times were as follows:

	M. S.		M. S.
¼ mile. George	0 58½	¾ mile. Level	3 [illegible]
½ mile. "	2 1[illegible]	Mile. George	4 [illegible]

In the last mile race between the pair the times were:

	M. S.		M. S.
¼ mile. George	0 58½	¾ mile. George	3 [illegible]
½ mile. "	2 2	Mile "	4 59 1-5

The betting was opened by Ben Hyams offering to lay 5 to 4 against George, and by Charley White offering to take 20 to 20. Gradually George advanced in favoritism, and after some spirited wagering at evens, odds on George came to 5 to 4 and 6 to 4, and before the pistol cracked 7 to 4 was laid, this being the starting price.

The four miles will be decided at Preston Pleasure Gardens on Saturday, Sept. 11, and the ten miles on Saturday, Oct. 2, at Aston Grounds, Birmingham. On account of these matches we hold $50 a side. The final deposit of $75 for the four miles falls due on Sept. 8.

THE HALDIMAND CANDIDATE.

Mr. Merritt the Tory candidate in the Haldimand by-election, now pending, is a man after Sir John's own heart—he has a political conscience, elastic and pliable to a degree that must commend him to the Chieftain's much graces immensely. He is now endorsing with all his might the policy of the Race and Revenge Government of Sir John. The one grand merit of the government is the hanging of Riel—that act wipes away all the past record of guilt, which has been piled up through nearly nine years of the most reckless, wicked, and extravagant misgovernment that ever blighted a civilized country. Yet Mr. Merritt, who served as a volunteer in suppressing the North-West rebellion, recently wrote to a local paper, the Caledonia Sachem, as follows :—

"The Prince Albert settlers, principally the whites, are blamed by the half-breeds as having started the recent agitation which ultimately led to the rebellion. Some of the best friends of the Government in that district yet declare that unless the department of the interior is managed in a different manner from what it has been by the present minister, it will not be long before there is another rebellion to cut this country off from the Dominion, and that this time it will be the white settlers who will fight for their rights as represented by the property and by the right to local self-government, the same as is enjoyed by the other provinces. The majority of the people are thoroughly loyal to the Dominion, and it will be our own fault if we drive them as a whole to open revolt."

"One of the most aggravating factors to white, half-breed or Indian is no less a person than his Honour the Lieut.-Governor of the North-West Territories, Mr. Dewdney. Since leaving Ontario I have not met a single person who has a good word to say for this gentleman, who, up to the last moment of the rebellion, assured the Government that all was quiet and there was no fear of an uprising. I have never been in any community where there was such a deep-rooted feeling of detestation against any man as against this lieut.-governor."

The man who only a short time ago wrote these words of severe condemnation is the man who now, as Tory candidate, is lauding Sir John and his policy to the skies. Nobody, but Sir John and Mr. Merritt, knows what is the price of the latter's taking the "sharp curve," but we all know that the price of his apostacy comes out of the people's pockets. Nothing could be more like Sir John—first bribe the candidate directly or indirectly with the people's money, then bribe the electors to elect the bribed candidate.

A PROMINENT political gentleman, just returned from Haldimand, assures us that that riding is flooded with money to be used in the interests of the Government candidate. There is a risk, however, in using it. On Monday, one Walsh, a Haldimand Tory briber was arrested and lodged in jail, and his trial is set down for to-day. The Reformers are determined that, as far as is in their power, they will not allow the use of money for bribery. Still, so great is the horde of outside Tories, that some of them will be able to defy the utmost vigilance. The bribers will be severely punished when detected.

TAKEN this contrast of Tory and Reform methods. The Dominion Government sells the public lands to political supporters exclusively—under the rose—at $5 a square mile, while the Ontario Government sells the public lands openly, by auction, to the highbidder, be he Grit or Tory, and the average price obtained is $5 to $6 per square mile. In other words the Tory way is to sacrifice the public interest to secure political support to gain power to perpetuate the outrage. The Reform way is to deal with the public interests on open and above-board business principles, to get the best value for the public domain and to derive political capital from the public appreciation of a faithful discharge of stewardship.

THAT the people of Ontario value provincial rights, is shown by the unremitting and continuous support given, for the past fourteen years, to Hon. Oliver Mowat, whose championship of these rights has been the most eminently successful feature of his brilliant political career. Sir John has, for the past score of years, been making a determined onset against provincial autonomy, as guaranteed by Confederation Act. He is opposed to federation, and used his best endeavors to prevent its consummation. Now he is endeavoring to make Ontario a party to the the sacrifice of her own rights. This province is appealed to, under the name of race prejudice, to assist in crushing Quebec. Sir John, his satellites and organs, have declared war against the latter province, in order that her subjugation may be made the medium of robbing the majority of their rights and placing them under the domination of the minority. If he succeeds with Quebec, his chances for realizing his dream of complete centralization will be nearer realization and he will try his hand on the other provinces. This enlightened province is, however, too much awake to her own interests to lend herself to the promotion of the wily Chieftain's political schemes, at the expense of her own rights. And she has too high a sense of justice to be a party to depriving other provinces of the rights she values so highly.

"Knox and His Times."

Miss Armstrong Deals with the Subject.

As was to be expected in Peterborough there was a small attendance in Bradburn's Opera House last night to listen to the lecture of Miss Ida Templeton Armstrong on the subject of "John Knox and His Times." Mrs. James Kendry occupied the chair, and there were on the stage besides, Mrs. Jas. Stratton, Mrs. (Dr.) Fife and Rev. G. H. Davis. After prayer by the latter, and the song "Bringing in the Sheaves" by Miss Johnston assisted by a small chorus, the lecturer was introduced. She began by sketching the condition of Scotland previous to the introduction of Christianity and after that important event especially at the beginning of the reformation period. At length the Bible came into the hands of the people of John Knox arose. The light of the Gospel came to him slowly and he was surprised by teractive participation in the work of reformation. In his 41st year, but after he had put his hand to the plow he knew neither fear nor faltering. The lecturer eloquently described his work, his persecutions and his suffering. In England his devotion to the pure gospel led him to refuse a bishopric. When Mary came to the throne of Scotland, she tolerated Protestantism but secretly practised Romanism. Knox ,fulminated his thunders against her, resisting all her blandishments, and refusing to surrender one iota of his loyalty to the gospel to secure the royal favour. The priesthood trembled at him. Knox was a man ahead of his times. He aimed not merely at a religious reformation, but also at an intellectual reformation, that would make the spiritual work permanent. His scheme of national education was ahead of the age, and it laid the foundation of the intellectual pre-eminence that distinguishes the people of Scotland. The new faith was established in Scotland without the sacrifice of a single life. Knox laboured twenty years in danger and difficulties, but his indomitable spirit overcame all opposition. His ware no half measures ; he went to the root of the matter and knew no compromise with wrong. No man left a deeper impress upon the history of his country than John Knox. He was stern and unbending, but it was on the side of right. In an eloquent peroration the speaker paid a fine tribute to the sturdy character of the great Scottish Reformer. Her lecture throughout was well compiled, and her comments showed her grasp of the subject. One thing that greatly detracted from its effectiveness was its manner of delivery. Whether owing to the confusing echo of the largely empty hall or not, she was very indistinctly heard. The same drawback attended her speaking in the George street church on Sunday night, many in the rear part of the church failing to hear her. Her too close attention to her manuscript and her partially recumbent attitude on her desk, left no room for declamatory effect. The text of her lecture was excellent, and if it had been equalled by the manner of delivery, would have afforded a rare intellectual treat.

THE LADY LAIRD.

We are anxious as we proceed to see what glimmering of light we can upon this dark and melancholy picture. We need all the relief the subject affords, and cannot spare one sunny ray; the shadows fall deep and thick enough anon. In the midst of her renewed splendour the unfortunate woman remembered her mother and her home. Through life she continued attentive and affectionate in her conduct towards that mother, and so far vindicated humanity from all but unconscious disgrace her conduct otherwise threatened to inflict upon it. Mrs. Lyon, converted into Mrs. Cadogan in order to fit the poor woman for her equivocal elevation, came to her daughter whilst the latter enjoyed the possession of Mr. Greville, and partook of her child's good fortune.

Such good fortune, however, seldom abides. The affairs of Mr. Greville, however, like those of Sir Harry Featherstonaugh, fell into disorder; though in the case of the former, the French revolution and not the mistress is chargeable with the disaster. In 1789 Mr. Greville reduced his establishment, called his creditors together and parted with his mistress. We are loth to go on.

We have stated that Mr. Greville was famous "for his taste in objects of art and virtu." He had an uncle, already named Sir William Hamilton, who was famous in that way too. Sir William Hamilton was a native of Scotland, born in 1730, and Minister at Naples for the long period of thirty six years. He was a distinguished antiquary, remarkable for his taste and appreciation of the fine arts. He possessed also scientific acquirements, and had some knowledge of mineralogy. He was a trustee of the British Museum, a Fellow of the Royal Society and a Vice President of the Society of Antiquaries. He was also a distinguished member of the Dilettanti Club, and appears among the portraits in their room of meeting at the Thatched House Tavern. A portrait of him, by Sir Joshua Reynolds, one of his intimate friends, may be seen in the National Gallery. He is known as an author by his works. With the King of Naples he was a great favorite, and largely shared with him the enjoyment of the chase and other sports, to which the sovereign is well known to have been egregiously addicted.

Now, after such a catalogue of unquestionable virtues, one may fairly be prepared to treat the possessor of them with unqualified respect. How easy it is, however, in this degenerate world of ours, to be scientific, to be the connoisseur of every society in the land, and to have your portrait painted, with a title to nothing but the loathing of your fellows, may be seen in the history of this very man. Mr. Greville, on a large consideration, parted with his niece to his uncle, the Right Hon. Sir William Hamilton, K.B.; and the representative of his majesty, having completed his bargain with his nephew, set out for Naples, accompanied by Anna Harte and her mother.

Italy was a scene fit for the development of this extraordinary woman's powers. Upon this sunny and dissolute soil she was at home and revelled. The external graces, that are not so slow to adapt themselves to the dullest realms beneath a soft and southern sky, gave voluptuousness to a form already perfect, and made still more exuberant a spirit rich to overflowing in its passionate character and marvellous resources. All that could heighten loveliness of form and give solidity to intellectual strength came at the artist's bidding. In the midst of luxury and wealth, she had but to command in order to possess. The improvement that took place in the mind and person of this unscrupulous beauty under the tuteage, guidance and instruction of Sir William, could to have been extraordinary. Her singing, we learn, rivalled the performances of the great musical celebrities of her time, and when she acted Siddons, could not surpass the grandeur of her style, or O'Neil be more melting in the utterance of deep pathos.

With a common piece of stuff, it has been stated—"She could so arrange and clothe herself, as to offer the most appropriate representations of a Jewess, a Roman matron, a Helen, Penelope or Aspasia. No character seemed foreign to her, and the grace she was in the habit of displaying under such representations, excited the admiration of all who were fortunate enough to have been present on such occasions. The celebrated shawl dance owes its origin to her invention; but it is admitted to have been executed by her with a grace and elegance far surpassing that with which it has ever been rendered on the stage of any of our theatres."

Prudent and calculating for a moment, the adventuress resolved to turn the great gifts of nature to account. The ambassador and his mistress went back to England in 1791, and upon the 6th day of September in that year, the two were married in St. George's Church, the ambassador being sixty two years of age, his wife just twenty seven. The world, after all, is not particular. Society welcomed the bride with open arms, and adulation followed her steps. There was but one drawback to a perfect triumph, but it was serious enough in its way. The insidious court of Queen Charlotte refused to receive the renowned courtezan, though she came conducted with the name of the king's representative. The happy couple returned to Naples with the lamentations of fashionable life, which, we are informed, "was greatly relieved by Lady Hamilton's displays as a singer and an actress," but with a rebuke in bestowing which it is to be regretted that society as well as royalty did not have a share.

Upon the reappearance of Sir William Hamilton at the court of Naples it became a question how far the Queen of that country could condescend towards an English lady who had been refused by her own sovereign; but Maria Caroline of Naples was far too shrewd a woman, and much too daring in the use of her instruments, to suffer a small matter of etiquette to stand between her and the friendship of a rare ally. Lady Hamilton was not only received at the court of the Queen of Naples, but to all intents and purposes became the prime councillor and chief adviser of the Queen, who having a fool for a husband, herself usurped all the authority of an independent sovereign. It is not too much to say that these two women, the sister of the unhappy Marie Antoinette, and the nursery maid of Dr. Budd, for years wielded the destinies of Naples, and seriously affected the character of the wars that ended with the peace of Europe in 1815 when both were dead. No account of celebrated women can be perfect which shall omit the history of this pair. Both were endowed with powers of mind far beyond the average of their sex; both exhibited energy and understanding that inspired them to bold and decisive, if not always laudable, deeds; both were as remarkable for their personal beauty as for their self-reliance, their knowledge of men, and their determination to make the most of their information. To say that Maria Caroline loved Lady Hamilton is to misstate a fact; there was no love in the royal composition; but her ungovernable and undying hatred of the French inclined her, no doubt, in the first instance towards the wife of the English Ambassador, and the subsequent devotion of the favorite secured an attachment that is confessed and reiterated through whole pages of a vehement and over-strained correspondence.

In the year 1793, two years after the marriage of Lady Hamilton, Nelson being then thirty-five years old, was appointed to the Agamemnon. He had himself married in 1787, and from that time until 1793 had resided, with his wife, chiefly at Burnham Thorpe, the place of his birth. In June, 1793, he sailed in the Agamemnon for the Mediterranean, under Lord Hood. It will be remembered that when Lord Hood reached the Mediterranean art this juncture of affairs he took his station off Toulon, and opened a negotiation with the French for the surrender of the town, arsenal, forts, &c., to the British forces acting on behalf of Louis XVIII. Toulon surrendering, Nelson was ordered to carry the despatches to the minister at Turin, and afterwards to proceed to Naples with despatches for Sir William Hamilton. He was, moreover, urged to N. Washington, M. D., Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Hamilton.

DEAR SIR,—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever but your treatment has proved the first real cure. I have no hesitation in recommending it to those afflicted with this disease which had for years in question caused me many a life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skillful consideration. Yours truly, GEO GOULDING,

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines.—hundreds like it:
St. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1884.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, advertisements looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two physician trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.
This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 90 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Criminals and Their Homes.

"Every once in a while people read in the papers how some man who had just done a job has skipped, leaving no trace behind him," said a central office detective to a New York Herald reporter. "The first thing they do is to blame the detectives. Then, a year or two perhaps afterward, they hear that the man has been caught. Then they praise the detectives for their skill and perseverance as much as they blamed them before. They were wrong to blame the detectives in the first place, and I'm not sure that they were right in praising them so highly afterward. In ordinary circumstances any criminal is sure to be caught.

"You say there are many crimes never unraveled. That's so. But in most of them the police get to know who did the job as well as they know who stole Broadway, but they can't get the evidence, and so they lie low and wait. In a few exceptional cases it's best not to punish anybody.

"If a man runs away the police can pinch him nine times out of ten just by watching his home. Shakespeare never said a truer thing than when he said: 'There's no place like home.' It was Shakespeare, wasn't it? Well, every man, no matter how bad he is, has a home of some kind that he's going to visit, although he knows that the visit may land him in state prison for twenty years, and as soon as he thinks the coast is clear he's going to that home. All the police have to do is to find out that home, watch it, and nab their man when he shows up.

"There's that man who shot the negro janitor. He got west and was doing well, and nobody knew where he was. But he had to come back to New York to see his friends. There's Jimmy Riley. He broke seven of the strongest jails in the country—Sing Sing was the last of them. What did he do when he got out of Sing Sing? He went straight to 10th avenue, where everybody knew him. Now he's back at Sing Sing. Talk to Capt. Washburn about Hell's Kitchen and places at the foot of West 39th and 40th streets in his precinct. He'll tell you that whenever he wants one of the crooks who hang out there he has only to go there to get him. They never try to hide in any other part of the city. Do you remember that burglar who killed a policeman way back in the sixties, when he was caught breaking into an arms store in Broadway? Well, he thought it safe to come back to New York after nearly twenty years, and the first thing he knew he was on trial for his life. He would have come back sooner, too, if he hadn't been prevented by being locked up in different prisons out west.

"Another thing that helps the detectives in catching big crooks is their inter-marriages. It is a saying that every Hebrew in Baxter street belongs to one of three families. It's about the same with crooks. About every big one among them is connected by marriage or blood ties with the others."

A Straw Man on the Track.

Engineer Jack Cunningham is a tender-hearted fellow, who would rather leave the country than draw blood. He cries every time he kills a calf. The other evening, the boys put a straw man, all nicely fixed, on a bridge near Alamosa. Jack whipped around the curve with his passenger train, reversed his engine, opened the sand-lever, applied the air-brakes full force, and shut his eyes to keep out the horrible sight; the train stopped, after it had passed over the poor unfortunate, and Jack wanted his fireman to go back and see who it was. Conductor German came ahead, and told Jack to come back and see the result of his carelessness. This broke Jack all up—but he went. He had to buy a whole cigar store in Placer. They "set" the dummy again, and caught Al. Springer. He is a little superstitious, and would not stop, saying the broken bones and clotted blood would keep him awake for months. He was so sick, he could not eat his supper.—Colorado Paper.

A Wonderful Spring in Florida.

"The finest spring of water I ever saw," said a passenger from Florida, "is down in Hernando county, on the gulf side. The land is high and rolling and not flat and swampy, as most of Florida is, and as most folks think it all is. The Wekowechee River in that county is twelve miles long, and about the prettiest stream I ever saw. It is made entirely by one spring, and this spring is sixty feet in diameter. You can row a boat right into it, but you can't made a boat stay in the center, as the force of the water rising throws it gently to one side. A small steamer can navigate the river, whose banks are high and covered with foliage. This spring has the purest water that ever flowed out of the earth. It is seventy feet to bottom, and you can see a dime [illegible] as plain to you can in a glass of water. In this river you can see fish twenty feet away. Not [illegible] of organic matter can be [illegible] spring water. This [illegible] and nothing by the way have been [illegible] Chicago gentleman [illegible] Hernando county, and they will make a fortune out of it. It is the most beautiful spring in America."—[illegible]

WEATHER NOTES.

August, on the whole has been a very warm month the thermometer only once coming as low as 45°, on the morning of the 24th. We had some very hot days during the second week the heat on 10° and over in the shade, on 4 consecutive days, and again for the latter end of the month on the 27th. being 92° and the 28th suddenly rising to 96° being the hottest with only two exceptions in July, leaving the average temperature of the month at 64°. Rain fell on 5 days to the depth of 3 inches and 56-100 of an inch, A severe thunder storm passed over us on the 23rd, when rain fell in one hour to the depth of 1 inch and 95-100 and in 3 hours falling 2 inches and 20.100. Fog on 4 mornings, but no frost. Had the ground been wet on the 16th, there would have been white frost, as I have seen it with the thermometer at 44°. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month: northeast 2 days; northwest 6 days; north 3 days; south 4 days; southeast 7 days; southwest 6 days; and east 3 days.

The crops in this section are mostly secured only a few straggling patches of oats and peas to wind up the harvest.

Mr. Aaron Mann's steam thresher from Smith is doing a large amount of work in this township. It is now a foregone conclusion that at no distant day they will to a large extent supersede the ordinary horse power threshing machine.

An Impostor.

During the past week an elderly lady, giving her name as Mrs. Peck, Alias Camm, has been selling several small articles around town. As a means of selling the goods she tells a pitiful tale of the loss of property she and her husband have sustained, leaving them in very destitute circumstances. She also refers her customers to several persons in town, who she claims are interested in her case. These it seems know nothing of her and caution the public not to believe her story. She told in Mr. Bunnel Sawyers house that her husband gave Mr. Sawyers his education, but she could not persuade her hearers to believe the yarn.

A Powerful Story.

A new illustrated story by T. Wemyss Reid, entitled "Five Million Pounds," will be continued next Friday in the EXAMINER. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It enchains the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it close through every chapter and to the end. The leading characters are Mauleverer, with a fortune of five million pounds; Daisy, his niece, sweet and fair, good and brave; Cyril Fenton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction. Be sure and get the DAILY EXAMINER of next Friday.

Sullivan's New Goods.

As will have been seen by advertisement in the columns of the EXAMINER, the dry goods firm of Giroux & Sullivan was dissolved on August 31st. Prior to the dissolution a most successful clearing sale almost literally cleared out the whole stock of goods. Mr. M. Sullivan, who continues the business, took advantage of the occasion, and has laid in an entirely new stock of fall and winter staple and fancy dry goods. He has bought on the most advantageous terms, in the best wholesale markets and has secured terms which will enable him to sell his wares at the very lowest figures. He is prepared for an immense fall and winter trade, and the extent, variety and completeness of his stock, the low figures at which they will be sold, warrant him in soliciting a liberal share of public patronage. The dealings of the old firm with the public in the past have been such as to win the confidence of the public, and Mr. Sullivan is bound to maintain and improve upon that reputation. The public are respectfully invited to call and inspect Sullivan's superb stock.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES FOR 1886.

The Protestant Rate Placed at 15 5-10 Mills on the Dollar, and the Roman Catholic Rate 16 2-10 Mills on the Dollar.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening.

Present—Mayor Stevenson in the chair, Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, Yelland, Moore, Rutherford, Menzies, Hartley and Kendry.

After routine the Clerk read the following

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. J. E. McIntyre, asking the Council to transfer his billiard license to William Ross.—Granted.

From W. A. Morrow, enclosing school estimates.—Received.

From Mr. James Renton, asking a hearing.—Received.

From Mr. E. Barnham, asking the Council to refer his assessment to the Court of Revision for re-consideration.—Referred to Court of Revision.

From James Fembly, asking for street improvements.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

ACCOUNT.

An account from J. E. Belcher for the town's share of re-planking the Otonabee bridge, $303.00, was presented, and referred to the Finance Committee.

CHARITY.

On motion, Mr. Renton was heard. He explained that he was in very destitute circumstances, owing to having been robbed in 1885. His rent was due and he had no means to pay it; his goods were seized and would be sold out if the Council did not do something for him. After considerable discussion the matter was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE REPORT.

The following report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was read by Mr. Rutherford, chairman of the Committee:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg to report that, in accordance with instructions given your Committee with regard to the petition from T. G. Hazlitt, asking for fire protection, we have interviewed the Waterworks Company and from them have received the following proposition, which your Committee recommend the adoption of by this Council. That is to say, that hydrants be placed as follows: One on the corner of College and Murray streets, one at the intersection of Murray on the race, one on the corner of London and Waterford streets, and one at the intersection of London on the race.

Respectfully submitted,
A. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

Peterborough, Sept. 6th, 1886.

THE PROPOSITION.

The proposition of the Waterworks Company was to the effect that the company would continue their mains so as to provide protection for the manufactories on the Dickson raceway, provided the Council placed hydrants as follows: One at the corner of College and Murray, one at the foot of Murray on the race, one between Murray and London streets on the race, one at the corner of London and Waterford streets, and one at the foot of London on the race; and on condition that the Dickson Company give them power to lay their mains on the race.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved the adoption of the report.

MORE PROTECTION WANTED

MR. MCNAUGHTON asked why the Committee did not report on the hydrants required and petitioned for in the south ward. He thought the poor man's petition should be considered as well as that of the rich, and that the petition presented by a number of residents in the south ward should have been reported on by the Committee. He also charged Mr. Moore with favoring the rich.

MR. CAHILL said he was in favor of protecting the manufacturers of the town but he also wanted the other portions of the town protected.

MR. CAMILL then moved seconded by Mr. McNaughton that the report be referred back to committee with instructions to consider and report on all the previous petitions asking for hydrants.

MR. KELLY also spoke in favor of the amendment.

MR. MOORE explained that it would be useless to refer the matter back, as the Water Works Company would not extend their mains in the south ward as the petitioners referred to asked.

MR. CAHILL said the company would when they were assured that hydrants would be placed where the mains were laid. He would oppose the adoption of the report till the petition of Rev. Mr. Torrance and others, put in some months ago, was considered.

MR. RUTHERFORD said the petition Mr. Cahill referred to had been considered by the Council and it was found that it had no authority to accede to the request.

On the amendment being put it was lost and the report was adopted, Messrs. Cahill and McNaughton being the only dissenting members.

FINANCE REPORT.

MR. DAVIDSON, Chairman of the Finance Committee read the following report.

Town debentures	1.6	Town debentures	1.6
	15 5-10		16 2-10

MR. DAVIDSON in submitting the statement pointed out that the loss in liquor licenses this year would cause an increase of 1½ mills, hydrants, one mill, and the Nicholl's hospital, 1 1-10 mill, all of which were voted on and sanctioned by the people. Otherwise the rate would have been lower than last year.

MR. DAVIDSON then moved the adoption of the estimates, and a by-law striking the rate of assessment for the coming year at 15½ mills on the dollar received its several readings.

MR. RUTHERFORD while pleased with the favorable financial standing of the town, took objection to the amount estimated for charities, $2,000 and thought that there was a radical misunderstanding with regard to the Nicholls Hospital. He thought the town would have to give up having anything to do with the hospital if it was to cost so much.

MR. MCNAUGHTON agreed with Mr. Rutherford with regard to the Hospital. He thought that the town should have more to say in its management.

It was shown that the Mayor represented the Council on the Hospital Trust.

MR. MOORE said it was a pleasant surprise to him that the rate was less than the Committee had expected, and asked Mr. Davidson how the decrease had been effected.

MR. DAVIDSON said that it had been lowered on the assurance of the Mayor that the Scott Act fines would be returned.

THE MAYOR said he was confident the fines would be handed over, but there would still be a loss in the town's revenue owing to the Scott Act. He was confident the population of the town would decrease for years to come on account of it. He wanted to know how it was that the town only received $250 on the 5 per cent. increase in taxes paid after November 1st, when the amount to be collected after that date was $1,400.

MR. CUMMINGS was heard, and explained that he had cheques on hand which made up the difference, and which had not been considered as cash.

MR. RUTHERFORD said the Mayor was going out of his way to attack the Scott Act, which he was confident would benefit the town. There were those in town who were now able to pay their taxes, who would not be able to do so if the Act were not in force.

MR. KENDRY was confident the return of Scott Act fines would be made to the town, and would amount to $200.

MR. MCCLELLAND objected to the method of dispensing charity.

After a short discussion the by-law received its third reading and was finally passed without amendment.

The Council then adjourned for one month.

A Trio of Burglaries.

An Epidemic of Midnight Marauders—Mulhern's Mill, Hobson's Tannery, and Ullyott's Office Entered by Nocturnal Nomads.

The burglary business that has been carried on, more or less, since a day or so before the circus came here, seems to have revived into an epidemic last night. During the still hours of the night, when the electric and gas lamps gave no light and the moon had gone down, some sneak thieves worked their way into several places, two in Ashburnham and one in town, evidently with the intention of replenishing their pockets from the tills of those they visited.

MULHERN'S MILL DIS-TILLED.

Between one and two o'clock this morning thieves entered the office of Mulhern's mill, on Rogers' race, Ashburnham, by breaking a pane of glass and removing a stick that held the window up. Having effected an entrance, the thief or thieves evidently looked through some small drawers and finding nothing valuable in them, pried open the till, which they carried away with all its contents, amounting to about 40 cents in money and 10 cents in stamps. The safe, or vault, in the stone wall, was not tampered with. A curious thing about the robbery is that the thieves carried away with them, in the till, the key of the safe, and Mr. Mulhern is unable to open his safe or get his books out. A miller was at work all the time the robbery was going on, and knew nothing of it till he chanced to go into the office and saw that the till had been taken and that the window was open. The thieves left no cards.

NELSON'S TANNERY TAPPED

During the night, Mr. Geo. Nelson's tannery almost across the road from the mill, was also entered. The thieves crawled up the roof of the sweating shed and entered a window. The office door was broken open and every place likely to contain money had been inspected. There was none there and none was taken. The party evidently left by the engine house window, as it was left open. Heel marks were left on the roof of the shed.

ULLYOTT'S OFFICE OPENED.

When Mr. James Telford, caretaker of Mr. Ullyott's warehouse and office, McDonnel St., went to his duties this morning, he found that he had been anticipated by the enterprising burglar, who had gained an entrance to the premises through the cellar, by breaking open the door and reaching the first floor through a trap in the floor. In the warehouse they broke open a valise belonging to Mr. Bruce Ledgate C.E., and scattered the contents about, without taking any of them. The office door was pried open with a half inch chisel and all the drawers ransacked and the public scattered about. The safe was not tampered with, the burglar or burglars evidently being but office amateurs. A chest of drawers in a room used by the cottage occupied by Mr. Telford was not disturbed, the thieves doubtless fearing discovery. They were in search of money only, for nothing in the office or warehouse beyond a pair of moccasins, in the latter place, has been missed.

The robberies were evidently not the work of professionals, as their work was done with considerable clumsiness, although he or they were certainly bold enough for anything. It is supposed that some local sprigs of lankness have attached themselves to the profession. The police will have a good opportunity to distinguish themselves in ferreting out the operators.

FALSE ALARM.

It was rumoured that Mr. Calcutt's brewery and Mr. Hazlitt's office had been entered. On inquiry it was found that the report was false. Mr. Calcutt says that it is known that the employees of the brewery belong to the Gun Club and keep away, fearing a feed of shot.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1886.

SALATHA SHARES THE FATE OF GENESTA.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—This has been the greatest yachting day that New York has ever seen, and another day of glory for Boston, for her latest and prettiest production of naval architecture, the sloop yacht Mayflower, has won the first race of the international series, against a powerful antagonist. The British cutter Galatea, with a steady whole sail breeze from the southward, permitting both yachts to carry all light sails, was beaten 12 mins. 40 secs. actual time, or 13 mins. 2 secs. corrected time, the Mayflower having given her 26 seconds' time allowance according to the New York Yacht Club rules under which the races are sailed.

The contest was eminently fair for both yachts, inasmuch as half the course sailed gave almost all windward work, while the other half was with free sheets. Although the cutter was defeated she has shown herself as fast a faster yacht than the Genesta in a light breeze, and one that may be very hard to defeat in a strong breeze and sea way.

Ten o'clock was the time set for the start, but up to that hour a heavy veil of haze hung over the city and harbor. Not a breath of wind stirred the foliage, while the sun shone fiercely down, as if to mock the efforts of the yachtsmen. At 10.30 a light breeze from a little east of south came in from the seaward clearing away the haze and rippling the waters of the bay. Quickly the two contestants and the immense flotilla of steamers clustered about the starting point. The preparatory whistle screeched out its warning at 10.45 and 10 minutes later came on for the start—both yachts carrying the same sail—main sail, club top sail, jib and fore stay sail had been manœuvered into good positions, and down they came for the imaginary line at a five-knot gait, the Mayflower apparently ahead, and close to the judges' boat, not close enough, however, for with a twist of her long tiller Capt. Bradford shot the handsome Galatea into windward and crossed the line a second ahead amid the wildest applause. Mrs. Henn in a yachting costume with a scarlet "Tam o' Shanter" cap stood in the companion hatchway, her husband standing on deck cool and confident. Capt. Stone steered the Mayflower, with "Joe" Ellsworth at his elbow and Gen. Paine near the wheel. The official start was:

Galatea 10, 55, 11; Mayflower 10, 55, 12.

Both yachts stood across the channel in the starboard tack and began their battle for the America's cup. Tacking close under the Long Island shore at 11.30 they made the stretch over for Staten Island. The Mayflower held the windward position, and with the last of the ebb-tide under her lee bow she managed to keep it, and began out-footing the cutter at once. At 11.02 the Galatea set her jib topsail, and at 11.12 the Mayflower tacked close under quarantine, the cutter following suit a minute later. The breeze was freshening every moment, and the prospects for a fine race were encouraging. The large fleet of accompanying steamers made trouble for the yachts at times, and they had to be chased away by the judge's boat. When the Mayflower tacked to port at 11.21 she had Fort Lafayette under her lee-quarter, while the Galatea was yet under Fort Wadsworth. The Boston sloop crossed her bow fully a quarter mile to windward. At 11.59 when the Galatea tacked to port near buoy 16, the sloop was leading her fully by three-quarters of a mile. Both then made short boards for buoy 8A, the first turning point, the Mayflower fetching around first at 1.01.51 and the cutter at 1.07.07. Both yachts were close hauled on the starboard tack, almost laying their course for the light ship. The Mayflower slowly but surely, outfooted the cutter and tacking for the outer mark at 2.27.30 came grandly along for it, on the port tack. The official turning was:

	H. M. S.		H. M. S.
Mayflower...	2 25 03	Galatea.....	2 44 13

The Mayflower with her big balloon jib topsail bellying out in the now strong breeze, came hurrying by buoy 8A on the home stretch at 3.34, just as the Galatea was passing the point off Sandy Hook. The latter passed the buoy at 3.46, and, both gybing over to port, came grandly down to the finish on the flood tide. Finding the spinnaker would draw Lieut. Henn ordered it set to starboard at 4.13. Capt. Stone finding the cutter overhauling him followed suit, and set the Mayflower's spinnaker five minutes later. Surrounded by nearly 500 steam and sailing craft the Mayflower came tearing along through the narrow path of water and crossed the finish line amid much enthusiasm, about a mile and a half in advance of her English competitor. Galatea received as hearty a welcome when she arrived, and when the judges told Lieut. Henn that he was beaten by 12 minutes 2 seconds, he laughed and shouted back: "I thought it was half an hour." Three cheers and a tiger were given by the yachtsmen for the gallant little Irishman and his charming wife. The following shows the actual result of the race:—

Name.	Start.	Fin.	Elapsed Time.	Corrected Time.
Mayflower	10.55 12	4.52 02	5.56 51	5.30 45
Galatea	10.55 11	4 55 52	5.59 51	5.30 46

Thus the Mayflower beats the Galatea 13 minutes 40 seconds actual, or 13 minutes 2 seconds corrected time.

The next contest will be sailed on Thursday over a course twenty miles to windward or leeward, starting from Sandy Hook lightship. The Mayflower's total gain from start to lightship was 9 mins. 13 secs, from lightship to finish 3 mins. 28 secs. Total, 13 mins. 40 secs.

An American Colonist Arrested.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 7.—Edward Meyer was given $2500 in drafts by his employer, Thomas Maxwell of St. Louis, to purchase horses. He skipped to Canada with the money, and was arrested here. He will be prosecuted for bringing stolen money into Canada. Two thousand dollars of the amount has been recovered.

Changes in the Earthquake Area.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 7.—One of the curious results of the earthquake here is the change in the topography of the country. Many houses on the sand-hills, the aristocratic part of the city, which before could not be seen from the city, are now in full view, while other landmarks have disappeared. These curious changes were noticed yesterday for the first time, and attracted much attention. In taking a bird's-eye view of the city from any point, these remarkable changes will at once be recognized, and they prove that there has been a considerable settling of the earth.

End of the Haldimand Campaign.

CAYUGA, Sept. 7.—The campaign in Haldimand ended to-night. Meetings were held in nearly every town in the county this evening. Never before in the history of any political fight in this part of Ontario have so many public men and political workers been engaged in the battle. The voting takes place to-morrow.

GOOD-BYE BULGARIA.

DEPARTURE OF PRINCE ALEXANDER FROM THE COUNTRY.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Prince Alexander has twice met the officers of his army, who called to persuade him to remain on the Bulgarian throne. On each occasion he besought them to refrain from opposing his departure. The officers promised to follow the Prince's wish. Prince Alexander will leave Sofia on September 13.

The Russian consul here has informed Prince Alexander that the Czar will accept the proposals made by the Bulgarian notables as to the conditions of the Prince's abdication and that the Czar will recognize the regency, the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia and the independence of the country and will appoint a Russian military plenipotentiary resident at Sofia. Prince Alexander to-day visited the camp and bade farewell to his officers, to whom he delivered an address.

Germany Blind to Russia's Faults.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—The North German Gazette disputes the assertions of the British press that Austrian and Russian interests in the Balkans are conflicting. "They can easily be reconciled if they are conflicting," the Gazette says, "and to reconcile them is Germany's aim. Prince Bismarck can unhesitatingly express the conviction that Bulgaria is of no importance to Germany. As Bismarck plays his cards on the table with the friendly imperial powers, it is erroneous to suppose that any estrangement will arise between the three empires when the question of Prince Alexander's successor is up for discussion, inasmuch as under Alexander's reign no enmity existed between Russia and Austria, although Alexander in a secondary sense ruled under Russian influence. The German nation shares in the conviction of its government that events in Bulgaria do not affect the national interests of Germany and that German policy follows the right path. There need be no fear of Bismarck sitting between two stools. On the contrary he has chosen a sure foundation and has three stools for his policy."

Indignation at Rustchuck.

RUSTCHUCK, Sept. 7.—The Czar's reply to Prince Alexander's letter of August 30 was not made public here until yesterday. It raises a storm of popular consternation and indignation. Many officers of the army advocate resistance if Russia forcibly opposes Prince Alexander against the will of the people.

Ready to Take Up Arms.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Another meeting of army officers was held to-night, when they again favored the retention of Prince Alexander. The commandant of Widdin Garrison telegraphs that he is ready to march on Sofia to suppress any cabinet that acquiesces in the Prince's abdication.

On His Way to the Frontier.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Prince Alexander has started for the frontier. Russia agrees to all the principal points of the demands of notables, and further declares her intention of notifying the great powers of these engagements. The Bulgarian Government has addressed a demand to the powers signatory to the Berlin treaty to guarantee Russia's promises.

M. Stambuloff, Karaveloff and Murtkevitch constitute the regency council. The Stambuloff cabinet has resigned and a new ministry has been formed, including these: Premier and Minister of Interior, M. Radoslavoff; Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Naccovics; Minister of War, M. Nicolaieff.

WHO WILL HAVE THE DUKE?

The Grace of Portland Objects to Too Much Notoriety.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—A weekly paper called Society recently invited its readers to compete for a prize to be called the Portland, by sending in communications of the query, "Who will have the Duke?" The object was to obtain the names of as many ladies as possible who were suitable to marry the young Duke of Portland. It is understood that the invitation met with great success. Society arranged to reap the benefit of the sensation by publishing the names it had obtained in to-morrow's issue. The Duke of Portland not relishing the possible results of this publication of which he became aware to-day, chartered a special train to London, came here and had notices sent to the proprietors, printers and editor of Society prohibiting the intended publication.

VEILED THREATS.

No Evictions in Ireland During the Winter, or

DUBLIN, Sept. 7.—At the fortnightly meeting of the National League to-day Mr. O'Brien announced that £3000 had been received from America since last meeting. Mr. Kenny in a speech said: "On no condition will we allow our fellow-countrymen to be thrown into the roadside during the coming winter. We will oppose such attempts by all lawful means, and these failing we will resort to other means, which cannot possibly fail, if Mr. Parnell's bill proves unsuccessful."

THE HATED ENGLISH YOKE.

A Sensational Report in a French Paper from Northeastern India.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The Journal Des Debats publishes a sensational report about an alleged uprising of the people of Northeastern India against British rule and in favor of Russian invasion. The report says that a number of Indian Princes have followed Dhuleep Langli's example in joining Russia and in exhorting the people to throw off "the hated English yoke." The Journal Des Debats says grave events are imminent in Central Asia.

Mr. Parnell's Land Bill.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Mr. Parnell has completed his Land Bill, which consists of only four clauses. He will introduce the bill on Thursday or Friday, and will endeavor to obtain a discussion of the measure before the debate on the estimates is finished, so as to be able to press it upon the Government for consideration.

The Daily News says that the Government will treat the rejection or acceptance of Mr Parnell's bill as a vote of confidence or want of confidence in the Government.

The Belfast Riots Commission.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—In the House of Commons to-night, during the debate on the bill for inquiry into the Belfast riots, Mr. Sexton asked the Government to enlarge the commission in the interest of the Catholics. Hugh Holmes, Attorney-General of Ireland, said he thought the commission competent to deal with the matter as at present constituted. The bill passed its second reading.

A Grocery at Thorold Burned.

THOROLD, Sept. 7.—About 11 o'clock last night a fire broke out in the storehouse in rear of A. Schwaller's grocery and hardware store, completely destroying the rear premises together with the contents, which consisted of oils of various kinds, hardware, crockery, sugars and meat. The stock of the front store is badly damaged with smoke and water. The Welland House hotel, adjoining on one side, and E. Culverhouse's jewelry establishment on the other, are also badly damaged with water. All losses are partly covered by insurance.

BRAZEN AT BELLEVILLE!

An Incendiary Fire Causes the Loss of $40,000.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 7.—A disastrous fire, involving a loss of about $40,000, occurred last night on Front-street. It originated about 9.30 in the paint shop in rear of Tickell & Sons' furniture warerooms, the same place in which a blaze occurred about 2 a.m. of same day. The flames spread to the main building and to the adjoining buildings which were occupied by W. R. Carscallen, druggist; Dickson & Brown, sign painters, and Dr. Farley. A considerable quantity of the contents of the store was saved. The firemen who were still on duty on the fire in Flint & Holton's mill answered the call as soon as possible. The fire is believed to have been incendiary in origin. The losses and insurances are as follows: Tickell & Sons, from $18,000 to $20,000, insured in various companies for $14,000; John Bedford, $6700 on building, insured for $4000, which will cover the loss. Dr. Farley, loss $400, covered by insurance in the Western. Dickens & Brown, $100, no insurance. W. R. Carmichael's loss, from $6000 to $10,000; insurance unknown. E. Harrison, on building, about $3000; insured, but amount unknown.

THE NIAGARA CAMP.

All the Corps Under Canvas—To-day's Programme—Serge Jackets Wanted.

NIAGARA, Sept. 7.—All the corps have arrived in camp. The artillery brigade is in command of Major King, Welland F.B. To-morrow the field officer of the day will be Major Burnet, 39th Batt. The 12th Batt. will furnish the main guard and the duty bank. The brigade is to parade at 10.30 in the morning in drill order, with the artillery on the right without their guns. C Company, I. S. C., furnished the main guard to-day, Capt. MacDougall in command. The men looked extremely well, the accoutrements being perfect in fitting and cleanliness. The volunteers will doubtless be greatly benefitted by having this corps as a model. It is a pity the Militia Department cannot see their way clear to issuing serge jackets for camp. It will absolutely painful to witness the men doing fatigue, such as pitching tents, carrying blankets from stores, etc., in their heavy tunics. Nothing of interest occurred to-day; the weather is fine and warm.

NOT OF THE FAITH.

Protestant Invalids Cured at the Shrine of St. Anne.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—A religious sensation has been caused in Goulbourn Township since the last pilgrimage to St. Anne de Beaupre. Among the 1100 pilgrims who were exclusively adherents of the Catholic faith, were several others of different denominations who took advantage of the cheap trip to see the ancient capital, and some also it is said to be present at the shrine of Ste. Anne when the pilgrims broke up their prayers. Among others who went to the shrine and who were not Catholics, were two married ladies and the invalid daughter of one, all of Goulbourn township. The little girl and her mother were both suffering from affliction, the former having been almost a cripple for years past and after offering up prayers before the shrine they withdrew from the edifice and to the great surprise of their friends a marked change is said to have been perceptible in their condition. The little girl is, it is reported, restored to perfect health.

THE DEAF MUTE CONVENTION.

Addresses by Principal Mathison and the Minister of Education.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—There was a good attendance on to-day at the Deaf Mute Convention. Mr. R. Slater delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the deaf mutes of Toronto, and President Green followed with an oration in the sign language. Principal Mathison received an ovation, and spoke at length, congratulating all concerned on the success that had crowned their efforts at the meeting, and promising to do all in his power to make the next convention, two years hence, a still greater success.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, entered the room and was loudly cheered. He was introduced by Mr. Mathison, and this afforded an opportunity for a motion to present a vote of thanks to the Ontario Government for liberal provisions made in behalf of the deaf. Mr. Ross replied briefly, thanking the mutes for their kind reception, and expressing the pleasure it afforded him to witness the proceedings. He knew that good work was being done at the Belleville Institution under the able management of Mr. Mathison.

An essay on "Language," by Prof. Ashley, concluded the forenoon's business.

After the members had been photographed in a group in Queen's Park, the afternoon session was opened. The Minister of Education was elected an honorary member. Prof. Coleman read an essay written by Mr. Eccles, a mute, on "Handling Money," which elicited a lively discussion. An interesting address by Prof. Denys of the Belleville Institution followed, and after the usual votes of thanks the convention adjourned to meet two years hence.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS.

ANNUAL AT-HOME OF THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Quality, Not Quantity, the Distinguishing Feature of the Exhibition—Large Attendance of Visitors—A Charming Musical Innovation—The List of Lucky Exhibitors.

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, held in the Roller Rink, Water street, on Tuesday afternoon and evening, was not, as a show exhibition, equal to the displays of other years. There were not so many exhibitors, and the number of entries was not as great. The exhibit of plants and flowers was rather limited, but special mention should be made of the beautiful collection of Mr. Geo. M. Roger, which constituted the chief of the display in this department. There was a very fair display in the fine art department—several good pieces in water colors and in oils. In the latter a large landscape in oil, by Mrs. Thos. Brooks, constituted a capital amateur production, as well as a pastil picture—"The Ruins of Carthage"—by the same lady. In water colors Mr. P. E. S. Cooper showed two fine landscapes. In crayon drawing Miss Clementi and Mr. Edward Duff, of Hazel Brae, exhibited to advantage. The specimens of ornamental and plain penmanship produced by the Peterborough Business College were splendid examples of the capabilities of the institution in this respect. The other exhibits in this department do not call for special mention—indeed, in respect of some, silence is charity. The ladies' department was meagre, but there was much merit in many of the articles shown.

During the afternoon there were few visitors, but in the evening the hall was well filled. A pleasant innovation was the perpetration of music at brief intervals. Mr. J. A. Roper, president of the society, who presided over the performers, prefaced the programme with a few remarks, pointing out what the society had done in beautifying the Court House Park, and urging the public to aid the society by becoming members and exhibitors. He then, at intervals, introduced the following

PROGRAMME:

Piano and Violin Solo, "Califa de Bagdad"—Mr. Parker and Mr. MacDuff.
Song, "Climb to the Threshold"—Mr. Gegie.
Piano Solo, Improvisation, Schubert—Mr. Parker.
Violin Solo, Polish National Dance—Mr. MacDuff.
Song, "The Children are Asleep"—Miss Cottingham.
Violin Solo, Scottish Airs—Mr. MacDuff.
Song, "Birds are Dropping"—Miss Stevens.
Song, "Jessie Dear"—Miss Weir.
Song, "Hazel Dee"—Mr. Manning, with violin obligato by Mr. MacDuff, composed for the occasion by Mr. Parker.
Song, "Hepsie"—Mr. Chambers.
Song, Gypsy Countess—Miss Stevens and Mr. Chambers.

The programme was presented under the direction of Mr. Parker, whose voluntary services as well as those of the other performers are highly appreciated by the society and the visitors, who enjoyed highly the delightful musical treat presented.

WILD IN THE WOODS.

A Family of Four Supposed Crazed Cannibals Captured.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 8.—For several days parties have been searching on Panama Creek, Washington Co., for four persons known as the wild family, consisting of a man, woman, girl, aged about 18, and a child. Yesterday the search ended in the capture of the entire family. The man, "Wildie," has long hair down his face, and the man much hair on the body. That on the girl's face was very fine. The color of the faces of all is ashy gray. The parties cannot talk, but the woman makes a peculiar noise, something between a grunt and a groan, which the girl appears to understand. On top of the heads of the man and woman are slight evidences that they have been scalped by Indians years ago and became insane and have wandered in the woods ever since. Doctors propose to perform an operation on the party in hopes of restoring their minds. The man struck Mr. Andrew Scott, one of the party after him, with a club, wounding his arm.

THE DEAF MUTE CONVENTION.

Constitution and Bylaws Adopted—Election of Officers.

TORONTO, Sept 8.—There was a full attendance of deaf mutes at Shuttlebury Hall today at the opening meeting of the convention. Mr. McCullough, Secretary of the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association, was invited to open the proceedings with prayer, Prof. Coleman rendering the words in signs for the benefit of the mutes. After an address by Prof. Greene, the constitution and bylaws were adopted. The following gentlemen were elected officers: S. G. Greene, president; R. O. Slater, 1st vice-president; P. Fraser, 2nd vice-president; Mr. Nurse, secretary; J. B. Ashley, treasurer. It was decided to call the convention the Ontario Deaf Mute Convention and to meet every two years. By request of Mr. Mathison, Principal of the Ontario Institution, the next meeting will be held at Belleville.

The following honorary members were elected: Hon. A. S. Hardy, Mr. Christie, Inspector of Asylums, &c., Principal Mathison, Prof. Coleman, Mr. McCullough, Secretary Toronto Young Men's Christian Association; Mr. and Mrs. Nasmith, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. and Miss B. Terill.

France Must Have a Mandate.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—The Republique Francaise insists that the French troops must remain in the New Hebrides Islands to prevent a recurrence of the massacres of Europeans by the natives. It says: "England, which annexed the Fijiee Islands without any protest whatever, has the least reason to complain of France's action in the New Hebrides." The paper also asks M. de Freycinet to make public the nature of the satisfaction he has promised England France would render for that outrage.

Business Dull on 'Change.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Discount was easy during the week at 2½ for three months and 1 for short. On the Stock Exchange business was very limited, partly owing to absence of members on holiday vacation. There was a slight fall in prices under the influence of the unsettled political situation in the east. American railroad securities were inactive till yesterday, when they became buoyant, and there was a large demand for most issues.

More Disorder Around Belfast.

DUBLIN, Sept. 5.—At Ballymacarrett, a suburb of Belfast, to-day, a mob attacked and severely handled four policemen and wrecked a house in which the men had taken refuge. Military aid had to be summoned to effect the rescue of the policemen. Two rioters were arrested. An Orange funeral procession to-day was attacked by Catholics and there was much throwing of stones.

Circular From the Education Department.

The Minister of Education has issued a circular announcing that every recommendation made by the Local Board of Examiners has been adopted, and that in addition several candidates whose marks were so high (although they failed partially in one or two subjects) as to warrant him in passing them. The cases of others whose standing is doubtful have been referred to the local boards for consideration. The circular also discusses at length the character of the examination papers.

Racing on Coney Island.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Sept. 7. First race, ¾ mile—Little Minch won, Princess second, Ray Rebel third; time 1.15. Second race, 1 mile—Becky B won, Shamrock second, Frank Ward third; time 1.44¼. Third race, 1 mile—Connemara won, Abry second, Fearless third; time 1.43½. Fourth race, 1½ miles—Jim Daughney won, Una B second, Elgin third; time 2.53½. Fifth race, 1½ miles—Lucky B won, Exile second, Louisette third; time 2.46½. Sixth race, 1½ miles on the turf, Ferona won, Elizabeth second, Ernest third; time 1.58½.

Is This English?

From the Boston Record.

A Boston lady who has just returned from a long western trip says that the most entertaining feature of the whole excursion was Lord X., a dignified elderly Englishman, and his baby-like night-gowns. Lord X. traveled with a valet, of course. He retired to bed on the palace car quite early, and every night withdrew to the masculine preserves at one end of the car and had his valet undress him and rig him for the night. When all was done he marched down through the aisle to his section at the other end of the car, magnificently arrayed in a baby-blue flannel nightgown that hung to his feet and had a beautiful frill at the neck. Upon his head was a white-knitted nightcap; and his rosy countenance and his yellow side whiskers helped, with the valet following behind with his lordship's day clothes on his arm, to make up a picture never to be forgotten.

Cremation Preferable to Burial.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

The following proceedings are alleged to have taken place at the interment of a man named Young, at Minster, near Ramsgate. The remains of the deceased were conveyed to Minster Workyam Chapel, where part of the service was read. The funeral then proceeded to the churchyard, where it was found that the grave was too small. The gravedigger set to work to enlarge it, and subsequently the coffin was lowered, but jammed before it reached the bottom. A further pause then occurred. The coffin was then raised up, and eventually the gravedigger, in cutting away the side of the grave, came foul of another coffin, and the contents the remains of the wife of the man being buried. The spade went through the coffin and cut away a portion of the remains, which were thrown up at the feet of the mourners, a daughter of the deceased being among them. After some time the grave was sufficiently enlarged and the funeral proceeded.

Where it Would Not Show.

"I want this advertisement where it won't show," said a lawyer, as he entered the office of a newspaper. "It's got to be published to comply with the law, but it pertains to a divorce case, and we don't want any more publicity than we can help. Let me see; your paper is Democratic, isn't it?"

The editor replied that it was.

"Then run this 'ad.' under the church notices. It will never be seen there by your subscribers," said the lawyer.

Hazel Brae Garden Party.

A garden party and sale of work, on behalf of Dr. Barnardo's Home, will take place on the Hazel Brae grounds on Thursday evening, Sept. 9th. Contributions of cake, fruit and flowers are urgently solicited. Contributions to be left at the Metropolitan Grocery up to 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday. All are invited to attend. An enjoyable evening is expected. Gates opened at 7 p.m.; programme concludes at 10 p.m. Admission, 10c.

A Powerful Book. A handsomely illustrated volume, entitled "Five Thousand Miles Around Home," will be published next Friday by the Examiner. It is a powerful serial story. We have published none better, possibly none so good. It combines the interest of the reader in the first lines and holds it almost through every chapter and is finished with a climax of the supremest power. Dainty, like name, sweet maid fair, good and brave; Cyril Easton, her lover, who saves her from the gallows; and Dr. Branksome, a polished villain. The tale involves more than one mystery and a great tragedy, incidents to the old story, ever fresh and new, of a true and honest love. No serial has been printed in years that is likely to produce a greater sensation than this. Don't miss the opening chapters. The stories we are publishing are chosen with the greatest care, and include the masterpieces in current fiction. Be sure and get the DAILY EXAMINER of next Friday.

Catarrh of Many Years Standing Cured.

Toronto, August 5th, 1886

N. Washington, M. D., Throat and Lung Surgeon, Toronto and Halifax.

DEAR SIR.—I am pleased to be able to express my extreme satisfaction at the result of your "New Method" of inhalation which has cured me of catarrh of a very troublesome character. In fact all the usual remedies failed to give me any relief whatever, but your treatment from the first gave me great relief and in a short time entirely cured me of a most terrible disease which had for years threatened my life. I can honestly recommend anyone who may be suffering as I was to your skillful consideration. Yours truly, GEO GOULDING.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines.—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently. Two months ago I called in at your York Street counting me $60. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This Cut shows one Style only.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or deeper. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in each case as the depositor may from time to time require is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in convenient denominations of $100, $200 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being best invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debentures holders, they having a first claim or over page on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The special statement shows that the amount so invested was over $600,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, of half-yearly or fully half-yearly ends, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

She Was Well Provided For.

Gray suits and white hats have gone out of the good graces of a gentleman of this city, and the suit at least which is possessed of too painful associations to be worn with comfort. "Well," said I, "I don't give his name, but rather suggest that individual might find this an admirable chance to fit himself out with clothes. Some time ago a young lady of unexceptionable family came here in search of work with a family recently. The family consisted of her to the care of a most estimable gentleman, who paid her the honors of the introduction. The other day she had a letter coming out on a visit, and she wrote to this gentleman, considering that it might be an equal pleasure to him to see her safe to her friends. This gentleman consulted a lady, and the result was that on her advice he came to the conclusion he'd go and meet her on the road. Her sister had given him a description of her, in case of any such movement, and he telegraphed to her that he would meet her, dressed in a grey suit and a white hat, and she must look out for such a costume as she neared San Francisco. I don't think women are much to be trusted. Most of them have a habit of setting on foot a practical joke against a man, getting scared before it is carried through, and telling him all about it in time to prepare him for it. That's bad enough, of course, but some of them are capable of worse than that. This fellow regrets that he confided in a woman. The train came booming along, and far away up the road at a station it stopped at, a man in a grey suit and a white hat boarded it, and in a minute or two had introduced himself to a young lady in a traveling rig as described in the letter. They sat very pleasantly together and grew quite chummy. At Fort Costa another fellow in a grey suit and a white hat got on the train and addressed the couple. There was some little confusion, but it was deftly explained, and the newcomer joined the party. At Sixteenth street a third fellow in a grey suit and a white hat got on board, and was horrified to see his friend in the described traveling rig seated between two grey suits and white hats already. The last was the real fellow, and he has not got over it yet. His discreet lady friend had put up a little job on him and sent two other fellows ahead of him. They never speak as they pass by, and you know a man never forgets the insult a mere woman pays him when she gets off a successful joke upon him. As for the girl—well, she rather liked it, for obvious reasons.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Japanese Puzzled by a Negro.

"When I was in the country (of Japan) in the interior, a foreigner was a curiosity, equal to the first Chinaman or Jap seen by us here. On a visit made to the summit of Fuji-yama in the Summer of 1871 I went to the famous hot springs at Hakone; at nearly every teahouse our party was as much of an exhibition as Jo-Jo, or the woman with big feet, is here. A colored servant, dark as Erebus, whom I had with me, was a phenomenal subject to the innocent Japs. The men and women would come up to him, try to rub the black off with their hands and be surprised they could not and laugh over it with the contagious and hilarious glee the people so much enjoy."—Philadelphia Times.

The available coal of Alabama, collected into one lump, would be forty-five miles long by twenty-five miles wide by ten feet thick. A breaking off of 5,000 tons daily from the lump would leave a large part of it untouched at the expiration of 5,000 years.

A Practical People.

Germans are certainly practical people, especially in military matters. A Prussian military committee lately conducted, at Spandau, a series of experiments on the penetrative force of different types of projectiles. Of course, for this purpose, no target could equal flesh and blood. Accordingly the war minister placed at the disposal of the committee a number of horses, which were started at full gallop and shot down with highly satisfactory results. This is pretty well, but the sequel is infinitely more edifying. They have in Prussia, it seems, a society for the protection of animals, and this body had the temerity to remonstrate with the war minister on the subject of the experiment. The result, however, was that the society itself was prosecuted, and has been fined 50 marks and costs for an insult to the army.—London Truth.

There are three prime essentials to road building in this locality. They are; first, drainage; second, better drainage; and third, the best drainage possible.—T. C. H., in Napoleon, Ohio, Signal.

LOCAL NEWS.

Fair Day.

Yesterday was September fair day. Mr. John Doherty weighed one pig exhibited on the market.

No Meeting.

The Board of Education did not sit last night, there being no quorum present at the appointed time.

The Band at Hazel Brae.

The Fire Brigade Band will be present at the Hazel Brae garden part on Thursday evening next, September 9th.

Hotel Burned at Port Hope.

The Turner House, Port Hope, owned by Mr. J. J. Turner, of town, and occupied by J. Cornish, was destroyed by fire last night. Mr. Turner's loss will be in the neighbourhood of $3,500.

St Luke's Harvest Festival.

The annual harvest home festival and tea-meeting in connection with St. Luke's Church, will be held in the school room on Thursday, Sept. 23rd. A concert, under the direction of Prof. Parker, will be given in the evening. Further particulars will be given later on.

Church of England Synod.

The Provincial Synod of the Church of England opened at Montreal to-day. The delegates from this section are: Rev. Rural Dean J. W. R. Beck; Rev. Rural Dean Allan, of Millbrook; Rev. C. J. Smith, of Port Hope; Rev. A. J. Fidler, of Whitby; and Rev. W. Logan, of Fenelon Falls. Rev. Mr. Beck left yesterday evening for Montreal.

Lacrosse Excursion.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club will hold its first annual excursion to-morrow, to Idyl Wild. This trip down the river on the Golden Eye promises to be one of the finest of the season. The lacrosse boys have done a good season's playing, and they deserve a bumper benefit excursion. Let every person who can take a holiday avail themselves of probably the last and the best excursion of the season.

A Case of Canadian Cholera.

A report was current yesterday that Asiatic cholera had broken out in Otonabee, which, owing to the choleric condition of the weather, was readily believed. Probably the foundation for the rumour was the illness of Mr. Miller, brother of Mr. John Miller, of town, who died this morning after a short illness from Canadian cholera. One of the attending physicians says his case was a most violent one, and showed every symptom of Asiatic cholera. The deceased, who was a prosperous farmer, was well known in town, and had many warm friends in the community. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

The County Wins.

The following appears in the report of the proceedings of the Court of Appeal for Tuesday:—

"Grand Junction Ry. Co. vs. Peterborough.—Judgment. Appeal dismissed with costs. McCarthy, Q.C., and W. Cassels, Q.C., for the appeal. Moss, Q.C., and E. B. Edwards, (Peterborough) contra."

—This scores the fourth success of the county in this case. Mr. Bickford, for the company, says he will carry the case to the Privy Council.

Football.

The members of the P. A. A. A. Football club held a meeting in the Grand Central on Monday night to organize for the seasons kick. There was only a fair representation present. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

PRESIDENT—Dr. Geo. Burnham.
VICE-PRESIDENT—A. St. A. Smith.
SECRETARY—P. S. S. Cooper.
CAPT.—C. A. Lawford,
H. A. Hammond, Fraser, Committee—J. Morris and H. Kerby.

It was decided to commence practice immediately in the Association grounds every morning at 6.30 and also in the afternoon. The first practice was held this morning. The first match occurs on 9th october, with Toronto. Those who wish to kick this season should make early application to the Secretary, and begin practice at once.

Measuring by Our Yardstick.

No better proof can be given of the successful sales and large crowds of buyers which Carton has attracted to the Bon Marche during the past month, than the strenuous efforts which have been made by other houses in town, to try and imitate him with "Cheap Sales" and "clearing out" advertisements. "Imitation," they say, "is the sincerest flattery," and the Bon Marche has much pleasure to feel flattered at the vain attempts to imitate its popular sales. The Bon Marche still leads in drawing crowds of buyers, and the secret of its success is, that every buyer is so satisfied with what they buy that they tell their neighbors and their neighbors come and purchase at once. Nothing can surpass the value that is still being offered in all classes of goods at the Bon Marche. And shoppers should remember this fact if they want the very best bargains in town.

St. Peter's Cathedral Pic-nic.

A Gay Gathering in the Murray Street Separate School Grounds—Splendid Sport, Festivities and Dancing.

The pic-nic held in the Murray street Separate School grounds, on Tuesday, in aid of the building fund of St. Peter's Cathedral, was a grand success. About five hundred persons assembled in the pretty little park where they enjoyed themselves in true pic-nic style. A spacious table, neatly spread, laden with inviting edibles, and attended by a number of the ladies of the cathedral congregation, had more than magnetic attraction about meal time, and was well patronized. Beneath the spreading boughs of the stately pines a large dancing platform was erected, which, during the whole afternoon, was occupied by merry-hearted young men and their fair partners. On an elevated platform and almost hidden among the branches of the trees, the Fire Brigade Band orchestra had seats of honor. From their perch they sent down and out showers of music that lent new charms to the dance, and which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Refreshment booths and tables were posted in the most conspicuous and coolest places, while at the rear of the grounds, between an avenue of trees, an air-gun shooting gallery was operated. In the sport Rev. Father Conway, parish priest, proved the most skillful, and made some splendid shooting. In the other sports, as well as this, the Rev. Father was very energetic in keeping up the interest in them. About four o'clock Mr. J. D. McIlmoyle and Dr. O'Sullivan, who managed the sports, and succeeded, by energetic work, in presenting a fine programme, called on the boys' race, which was first on the list. Great interest was centred in the sports and each event was well contested, especially amongst the young people, twenty entering in two events. The following is the list of the sports, together with the names of the prize winners:—

PROGRAMME OF SPORTS.

BOYS' RACE (for boys under 14 years.)—1st Ed. Guerin, 2nd Walter Phelan. Twenty entries.

STANDING HIGH JUMP.—1st L. O'Connor, Eanismore; prize, a $2 whip. Four entries.

BOYS' RACE (for boys under 16).—1st E. Wilson and E. Guerin, 2nd J. Battler. Twenty entries.

PUTTING THE SHOULDER STONE.—Prize, box of biscuits; 1st John Clancy. Four entries.

MEN'S RACE, 200 yards.—1st E. Rogers. Three entries.

HALF-MILE RACE.—1st M. Bird. Two entries.

BOYS' RACE (for boys of 8 years and under).—1st Mark Carroll, 2nd Milton Grove, 3rd W. Clancy. Fifteen entries.

When the sport had been run off it was time for tea, and a general move was made toward the tables. After tea dancing was again indulged in, until it was time to say good night, and the picnicers separated, evidently highly pleased with the day's doings.

A large number who were unable to be present during the day came in to tea.

In addition to those before mentioned the success of the picnic was largely due to the efforts of the ladies who had charge of the tables and refreshment stands and the supervision Committee. The ladies were Mesdames J. Redmond, J. Duffis, W. Back, J. Crowley, T. Coughlin, J. Shea, and T. Crowley, and Misses Powers, Crowley, and Barrie. The gentlemen were Messrs. Jas. Haulon, W. S. Devlin, P. Lynch, J. Duffis, S. Redmond, P. Hallahan, B. Hayes, D. Hayes, D. Crowley, T. Coughlin, T. Slattery, M. Crowley, B. Crowley, T. Crowley, J. Kennedy, S. Shaughnessey, J. Huges, P. Fitzgerald, and M. Maloney.

The picnic as well as being a success in of pleasure was also financially so, upwards of $300 being realized.

Police Court.

The Hearing of Scott Act Cases Continued.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 8.

The charge against Joseph Brault, for violation of the Scott Act was heard at the Police Court yesterday afternoon and was dismissed with costs.

The charge against Geo. German, the hearing of which was enlarged from Monday, was called.

Inspector Cochrane, who on a search warrant searched Germans premises during the day, took an oath that he found four bottles of wiskey behind German's bar, while the beer pumps in the bar were in working order, and primed.

The Magistrate reserved judgement till Friday,

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

John Erheart, brought in by Chief Cooper, was charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place, admitted the charge and was fined $2 and costs.

Registered Letter Robbed.

For the past twelve months Harry and Charles Connors, formerly of Peterborough, but now of the city of Winnipeg, have, according to arrangement made regular monthly remittances of money towards paying for the maintenance of their aged father, a resident here—being cared for by the ladies of the Protestant Home. On the 5th July last they wrote a letter, enclosing the usual amount, but it did not reach its destination here; and nothing has been heard of it until to-day; when a letter dated 1st Sept. 1886 from Mr. W. W. McLeod P. O. Inspector, Winnipeg, was received here, enclosing the last letter, from which had been taken the 3 cent stamp. The envelope was open at the end, and was minus the money. Accompanying it was a memorandum from the Inspector saying that "the accompanying letter found in its present open condition without its presumed contents is one of a number recently stolen from the Winnipeg Post Office.

Correction.

An item appeared in yesterday's issue in which reference is made to Mrs. Camm and her methods of disposing of her goods. This lady calls at our office to state that all the names used by her were legitimately employed, except that of Mr. Sawyer, and this arose from confusing the latter's name with that of Mr. W. H. Trout, formerly of the Mechanics' Institute, to whom she meant to refer. The similarity of business now engaging both men led to the error. She also states that the assertion that she is soliciting favors in Mrs. Beck's name, is entirely false. She attributes the origin of the slander, she asserts she has suffered, to a private person, to punish whom, steps have been taken.

Immense for "Max."

Mr. Max Hamilton, selected to play on the Ontario Association cricket eleven against the English Gentlemen, upheld the reputation of the Peterborough club. In the field he made two splendid catches in long field, and going in eighth, held his bat one hour and twenty minutes against several changes of the best bowlers ever on a Canadian crease. He put together 13, the second largest score, and with Harley's, the only double figures. The Englishmen made 169 in their first innings, and the Canadians 72. Deducting extras, Hamilton made one-fifth of the score.

Special Prizes.

Supplement to the Weekly List of the Peterborough Gazette.

Several public-spirited gentlemen anxious to make the Peterborough Central a success, have donated special prizes. While these interested in the success of the exhibition are grateful, it is felt that this list might have been made longer by the contributions of those who will be largely benefitted by the presence of the exhibition in town. The following is a list of the contributors of special prizes:—

The buyers present were: Messrs. W. Clurton, W. H. Wrighton and B. Green, town; J. D. Flavelle and R. Leary, Lindsay; and H. Cook, Belleville.

The Board showed, cable, 46s.; Brockville 9¾c.; Niagara Falls, 9 to 10c.

The bidding was lively, and the price realised for the board was the highest reached this season. Mr. Cook, of Belleville, made the highest bid, 10c., and secured the entire offerings of the Board.

At the conclusion of the market Mr. W. Clurton, who visited the English markets while on a visit to Great Britain and the continent, gave an interesting account with regard of the markets in England.

Personal.

Prof. J. A. Doucet left town this morning for Toronto, to attend the Industrial Exhibition, where he will be engaged during the week in playing the R. S. Williams pianos on exhibition there.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, town, has successfully passed the Law Society's examinations for solicitors.

Miss M. M. White, head milliner of Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, has returned to town, after visiting the wholesale market in the interest of her department. She returns with a superb stock of the latest styles of millinery, which is due time will delight the lady customers of the Golden Lion.

Mr. Wm. Clurton, Miss Clurton and Mrs. Broughton have returned home from their European tour. During their absence they visited the chief places of interest in Great Britain and on the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrow left town last evening for Toronto and the west for a ten-days' visit.

C. P. R. Telegraph.

Two new telegraph machines have been placed in the up-town office of the C. P. R., and the C. P. R. Company is now ready to transact telegraph business over their wires. Mr. A. Sharp, of Singhampton, will operate the instruments.

Veterinary Calls.

Doc. Stevenson, V. S., requests us to state that he will, until further notice, be found either at his office on Chambers street, or at Morgan's hotel, but not at his residence, having closed up house for a short period.

Attention!

We would call attention to the offer made by Joseph Griffin that during the next thirty days he will sell the whole of his summer stock of boots and shoes at cost. A few lines will actually be sold below cost. Look at the following quotations:—

Women's Pebble Oxford Shoes	70c.
" buff do do	80
" pebble—tie or buttoned	90
" India kid shoe	$1.00
" patent Oxford	1.20
" polished calf tie shoe	1.25
" do do Oxford	1.25
" do do buttoned	1.35

All the above goods are solid leather. All other goods will be sold equally cheap. Now is the time to secure bargains.

Every department in the Golden Lion is being rapidly filled with the choicest goods to be procured in the English French and German markets. R. FAIR.

DIED.

MILLER.—At Otonabee, on Wednesday, 8th of September, W. W. Miller, eldest son of the late James Millar, Esq., aged — years.

Miscellaneous.

"The plaintiff says," recited the judge, "that you often deserted her; that you subjected her to shameful treatment; that even you often struck her brutally. You call yourself a man and strike a woman of 25." The wife, who is in the court-room, weeping, with her face in her hands, raises it suddenly at this and exclaims: "I beg pardon, Monsieur le President; only 24 years."—Paris Figaro.

Senator Spooner of Wisconsin tells a good story of his 4-year-old boy. He had started out on a shopping tour with his father and mother, and had appealed first to one and then to the other for some money. His father asked him what he wanted of money, and pressed for an answer until the youngster said: "Well, papa, what would you do if a robber stepped up to you and said, 'Your money or your life,' and you hadn't any money?"—Washington Letter.

There was one angry woman in Macon yesterday. Before she finished breakfast a sewing-machine agent called on her. Thirty minutes later a female book agent called and talked two hours. In the afternoon a rat-trap agent called, and just at nightfall an advertising agent threw into the front door a cake of soap wrapped in a bundle of colored circulars. That woman's husband became very unhappy when he reached home at night.—Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

One of the managers of a Home for Destitute Colored Children tells a funny story about the way Washington's Birthday was celebrated at that institution. She went out there in the afternoon to see how things were going on, and found a youngster as black as the inside of a coal mine tied to a bedpost with his hands behind him. "What's that boy tied up so for? she asked the attendant. "For lying, ma'am; he is the worst lying nigger I ever saw." "What's his name?" "George Washington, ma'am," was the paralyzing reply.—Washington Graphic.

"Russia is building a strategic railway to the Austrian frontier." You know what a strategic railway is, don't you? Buys its right of way from the farmers for an annual pass, then gets all the land condemned and takes up the passes, then gets a State grant of two or three counties for the directors, buys its iron on long time, and pays for its grading with construction bonds, then issues equipment bonds to pay for rolling stock, borrows all the money in the country on the mortgages, calls in everything outstanding and exchanges it for a deficit, changes its name from the "North & South Air-Line" to the "East & West Short-Line," divides the swag among the directors, and runs the road with the deficit. It may be new in Russia, but it's an old thing with us. Country's just full of strategic railways. —Brooklyn Eagle.

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD.

Commencement of the Triennial Session at the City of Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—The triennial session of the Provincial Synod of the Church of England in Canada was opened to-day in Christ Church Cathedral. The Bishops of Niagara, Algoma, Huron, Montreal, Toronto, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Coadjutor of Fredericton and Harris of Michigan and the Metropolitan with their chaplains were present. Bishop Sullivan of Algoma preached on the unity of the church with Christ. In the afternoon the Lord Bishop of Fredericton delivered his annual charge, after which he announced that he had something to say with regard to the Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction and he asked that in the interests of the entire church an official communication of consecration of bishops in England should be sent to the church throughout the world. The Archbishop had done so and the list was then read. For prolocutor, Rev. John Langtry of Toronto, Rev. Canon Bigstock, St. John, N.B., and Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick were nominated. A vote was taken between Rev. Mr. Langtry and Mr. Kirkpatrick, the former being elected by 100 votes to 40. The prolocutor nominated Dean Carmichael as his deputy. Canon Newman and Dr. L. H. Davidson were elected clerical and lay secretaries respectively. Some objection was taken to the latter's appointment, as he was not a delegate to the Synod. James Hutton, Montreal, was elected Treasurer; T. P. Butler and Charles Garth, Montreal, Auditors, and S. Bethune, Q.C., and Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, Assessors. Another religious service was held in the Cathedral to-night, at which the Most Rever end the Metropolitan preached.

KILLED IN A SCUFFLE.

Mysterious Death of John Sharkey, a Laborer at Ottawa, During a Drunken Quarrel.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 8.—In a drunken fight on York-street about 4 o'clock this afternoon a man named John Sharkey, a laborer about 28 years of age, and only a few months out from Ireland was killed. It seems that the deceased, who had been on a spree in the morning, laid down for a sleep in his boarding house about noon and slept until 3 o'clock, when he was awakened by a fellow boarder named Wm. Smith, who said he was getting beaten all round and wanted Sharkey to help him. Just after they got outside the house Smith attacked a lad named Portagese who called to Alex. Macdonald to come and help him. At the same time Sharkey approached to separate Smith and the lad. The whole four were scuffling together when Sharkey suddenly fell like a log without a cry of any kind. After he had fallen Macdonald jumped on him and kicked him. It is thought that the fatal blow was struck before he fell and opinion is divided as to whether it was struck by Smith or Macdonald. The former was arrested on the spot; the latter got into an express and was driven some miles away, but in an hour returned to his house, near where the fight occurred, and was arrested.

Camp Life at Niagara.

NIAGARA CAMP, Sept. 8.—The camp is now running in full swing. Early morning parade takes place at 6.30 and there is drilling both forenoon and afternoon. The brigade paraded this morning and the commanding officers were called to the front by Col. Otter and given to understand what was wanted and what it is intended to have carried out. The Brigade Major was at not all satisfied with the main guard this morning but things can hardly be expected to be quite right the first day and no doubt the Major's criticisms were not thrown away. The next few days will be devoted to squad and company drill. The non-commissioned officers of C company are acting as drill instructors for the different infantry corps. Two fine bands are in camp, the 12th and 35th. The latter gave some selections from Mikado in good style.

He Got in With a Crash.

HAMILTON, Sept. 8.—Edward Meyer, the St. Louis, Mo., man, who was arrested here yesterday, this morning pleaded guilty at the Police Court to bringing stolen money into Canada. He said he got $2500 in St. Louis from Mr. Maxwell, his employer, to purchase horses, got in with a girl, took the money and came to Canada. Mr. Maxwell said that Meyer had bought for him for years and had always been honest. He thought he had been led astray by the girl he spoke of. Meyers, when arrested had given up $2200 of the stolen money. The prisoner was remanded until to-morrow.

Mr. Blake at Stayner.

SCENES IN CHARLESTON.

The Wild, Weird Cries and Appeals of the Panic-Stricken Negroes.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 8.—The superstitious colored brother added greatly to the horrors of earthquake scenes, and frequently frightened the calm whites with their wild prayers, lamentations, shrieks and groans. It is past the power of the pen to convey any idea of the scenes enacted in the camps of the colored people when the ground rolled beneath their feet and the tremendous roar of the earthquake smote their ears. Squares away you could hear their yells and screams. As soon as the authorities could collect their scattered senses they made strong efforts to quell the excitement among the ignorant blacks, for it was contagious and helped to dig may and demoralize the white people. The negroes, sang, shouted and prayed incessantly, and every shock was followed by a howl of terror and groveling on the ground in convulsions of fright. There were a dozen or more of these meetings in progress all the time. In Citadel square the first object that arrested everybody's attention was an assemblage of colored boys, about a half dozen in number, who had fallen to the ground in a paroxysm of religious frenzy. They were groveling with their faces down in the grass and were singing a hymn in a loud voice. The hymn was: "The Angel's A-rappin' at the Door," and the refrain, may rapidly, was "Oh, tell ole Noe to bil' 'on de ark." This song was repeated over and over again until the frenzied singers ceased from utter exhaustion. In a few minutes they were fast asleep.

Near the boys was a large tent which had been gaily decorated as for some festive occasion. In the door stood a very old colored woman, swaying backward and forwards, her lips only moving but uttering no sound. The crowd in front of her watched her with intense anxiety. Suddenly she burst out with the hymn, "Oh Radin' Jacob, Let Me Go," and the crowd joined in the mighty refrain. The women swayed their bodies forward to the right and to the left alternately, just like a sacred dance, clapping their hands in the ecstacy of emotion. Finally one man dropped to the ground "converted." The lamp was hastily brought from the tent and he was surrounded by a crowd of women who held his hands. He cried aloud for mercy, and eventually swooned away and was almost as rigid as a corpse. The work of conversion then went on, and in less than half an hour about ten men and women had succumbed to the emotional sensations of the occasion. Similar scenes were being enacted all over the square. The people appeared to have selected their hymns with a view to the appropriateness of the occasion. One crowd would sing to the top of their voices such a hymn as this:

"Sometimes I'm up, sometimes I'm down;
No man like Jesus.
Sometimes I'm almost on de ground,
No man like Jesus."

Again, such hymns as these were chanted in refrain: "I once was lost, but now am found," etc.; "The Son of Man is bound to die;" "I heard the angel moan a little while ago;" "I done hear Mary weep;" "I went to go right down under the ground," and "Oh, could we touch the hem of his garment?"

The prayers offered up were simple in every sense of the word, but they evidently came from hearts that were pained with fear. One of these prayers was as follows:

"Oh, my brothers and sisters, what is the matter now; oh, Lord, look on last Tuesday night. Some native and some is dead and gone! Oh, my handsome God, clear me, look down on us. We know what the little finger of the Lord can do. Sometimes the world can kick up in thunder, but do take care of our brothers. Ain't the black lamb and the white lion done lie down together in peace? Move along my brothers, move along! God gimme grace to move along, ain't I dun promise to be baptize?"

A MOURNFUL CEREMONY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—On the definitive abdication of Prince Alexander a Turkish and Russian commission will be appointed to form a provisional government to conduct Bulgarian affairs pending the election by the National Assembly of a new ruler. The Porte has formally declared that Turkey will never consent to any proposal, contingent or other, that Russia shall occupy Bulgaria, Eastern Roumelia or any part of Turkey.

A Dramatic Departure.

SOFIA, Sept. 8.—Prince Alexander has signed the deed of abdication and has departed from Sofia. A compact mass of people witnessed his departure from the palace and thousands lined the route taken by him through the town. The Prince stood up in his carriage bowing to the people and saying "Good-bye, my brethren." The populace were much affected. Tears sprang to many eyes and hearty wishes were expressed for the prince's speedy return. Prince Alexander will go first to Lom-Palanka.

A manifesto was issued by the prince before his departure.
